TEACHERS ENJOY FALL SUPPER

Winchester teachers convened at the home of Mrs. Esther Laughner at 15 Lawrence street last Tuesday afternoon for their annual outdoor supper.

Victuals consisted of the customary outdoor fare of hamburgers, frankfurts, rolls, salad, baked beans, coffee and doughnuts. Prepared over a massive charcoal grill, the novelty foods were thoroughly edible and quickly dispatched.

Miss Lydia J. Whittemore, president of the Winchester Teachers' Club, was the official hostess, assisted by Miss Elizabeth MacPartlin and other members of the program committee: Esther Laughner, Helen Niedringhaus, Nancy Carroll, and Barbara Haley. Presiding over the charcoal were Joseph Aversa, Ray Dickman, Larry Cooper, and Otis Jackson.

The informal gathering furnished an opportunity for new members and their wives to chat with the old timers in the pleasant early fall evening.

Mrs. Laughner offered the use of her home and grounds when it became apparent that a change from last year's enjoyable picnic spot at the Dellickers was necessary because of illness in the family.

MARY WITHAM SINGERS GAVE PROGRAM IN MEDFORD

At the Medford Women's Club House on Thursday evening of this week the Mary Witham Singers presented a delightful program of songs and readings for the Thursday Fortnightly Club of Medford.

Mrs. Witham's interpretations were as always sensitive and artistic and her singers responded with sympathetic understanding. Beauty of tone and excellent balance of parts were notable. The accompanist Grace Norian, gave excellent support. Alternating with the songs there were incidental readings, brief selections of poetry, by Constance Morrill, and the charm of her presentation was particularly delightful.

The singers who took part were as follows: First Sopranos: Mildred Abrahamson, Sabina Brandt, Elizabeth Gardner, Sophia Gardner, Mary Hyde, Evelyn Strong, Frances Walton.

Second Sopranos: Nellie Hultgren, Elizabeth Mouradian, Mary Norian.

Altos: Olive Bird, Caroline Fitts, Ethel McEwen, Marian Wright, Madeleine Zimmerman.

The Rev. Her full skirt extended into a long train and her fingertip-length veil of silk illusion edged with Chantilly was caught to a coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet, combining white baby chrysanthemums and baby's breath, was tied with white satin streamers.

The matron of honor wore a decolette dress of teal blue taffeta with a headpiece of gold baby chrysanthemums, matching the gold chrysanthemums which were combined with the same pale yellow flowers in her bouquet.

The bridesmaid wore a gold taffeta dress styled like that of the honor attendant. She wore the same gold chrysanthemums in her hair and carried the same flowers.

Stuart Bemis of Woburn was Mr. Olsson's best man.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony, at which the parents and grandparents of the bride assisted in receiving with the parents of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Albert E. Bolton, Director of the Workshop, presided at the morning meeting and two of our Winchester Women took part on the program.

Mrs. Warren C. Whitman of Winchester, Legislative Chairman of the State Federation of Women's Republican Clubs, spoke on the subject "Battle Cry of Freedom." Her talk was a stirring appeal to Republican Women to be on the alert, pointing out incorrect statements, telling the truth about them, and seeing to it that our Congressmen and Senators live up to their campaign promises. Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes, president of Winchester Women's Republican Club, took part in a discussion entitled "Programs With A Punch." Others on the discussion panel were Mrs. John W. Chamberlain, president of Belmont Women's Republican Club and Mrs. Alan C. Virtue, representing Norwell Women's Republican Club.

The ladies were interviewed by Mr. Daniel E. McLean, Director of the Political Organization of Republican State Committee. The talks by the different presidents were most inspiring and thought provoking. Mr. McLean also spoke briefly explaining the "Referendum" as a Democratic inspired measure to embarrass the Republican Party in 1950. He urged the women not to sign petitions to have the referendum placed on the ballot.

A distinguished guest present at the morning meeting was Senator Leslie Cutler, our only woman Senator. She spoke briefly about the part women are playing in politics today and encouraged more women to take an active part in their government, starting with their own towns.

Poor health forced her to give up indoor work, and for many years she had not been well, devoting herself to household duties and the care of her fine gardens. She leaves a niece, Mrs. Donald Wilkins, and a nephew, Ernest Seller, both of Winchester.

ARMY RECRUITERS TELEVIEWED WORLD SERIES

Through the enterprise of Cpl. Joseph L. Mitchell, non-com in charge of the Army Recruiting Station in Medford, which also covers Winchester, a telecast of the World Series games is being given daily on the Common.

Cpl. Mitchell believed a telecast of the series would not only be a convenience to many who do not have television sets but would also aid local recruiting. He contacted Mrs. Kenneth B. Toye, chairman of the Winchester Military Manpower Committee, who made several local contacts which assisted in making the telecast possible.

Erskine H. Kelley of Park Radio loaned the fine television set used in the telecast and the Army Recruiting Service furnished a sound truck. Through the cooperation of Manager Lawrence S. Munroe of the Winchester Edison Office current was supplied from an Edison outlet near the common. Chief Charles J. Harrold of the Police Department gave the telecast his blessing because of its aid to recruiting.

Local recruiting is a source of great satisfaction to the Army authorities and to the Winchester Military Manpower Committee. The committee credits Cpl. Mitchell with being of real assistance to recruiting in Winchester and the fact remains that since he took over the local office and the Winchester Military Manpower Committee started to function in September, 1948, Winchester has met its enlistment quota each month, tripling previous yearly enlistment records in the year just past.

He concluded by saying that we are Republicans because we believe thoroughly and sincerely in our free enterprise system, that we believe in freedom for the individual and that government can be conducted for the common good and not for a special few. ### NATIONAL - EMPLOY THE PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED WEEK

A campaign to help handicapped workers find jobs will be carried on from October 2-8, as Winchester joins the Nation in observing National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week. Chairman of local NEPH Week activities is Charles D. Roche of Winchester. Proclamations calling for the observance have been issued by President Truman and by Governor Dever.

Local employers will be asked to survey their present job requirements in order to find possible openings for handicapped persons. Physically disabled persons not now working will be urged to register with the local office of the Massachusetts State Employment Service, where their qualifications for work can be evaluated.

"We believe that there's a job for every handicapped worker, if employers will consider the abilities and not the disabilities of the handicapped," said Charles D. Roche. "When properly placed, disabled workers as a rule are enthusiastic, hard working, and satisfactory workers. Their accident record is low, and their production record high."

"This is not a charity drive. When an employer calls the State Employment Service for a handicapped worker, he can be sure that any applicant sent to him will be just as well qualified for the job as an unimpaired worker."

At present, 18 handicapped applicants are registered with the local State Employment office, according to Stephen J. Flynn, local office manager. Of this number, 13 are veterans. Employers with potential job openings should get in touch with Stephen J. Flynn, manager at 25 Montvale avenue, Woburn, Massachusetts or phone Woburn 2-2280.

Other members of the local NEPH Week committee include Robert F. Murphy, Commander Winchester Post No. 97 A. L. and Thomas E. Duddy, Commander Aberjona Post No. 3719 V. F. W.

WINCHESTER HARRIERS TRIPPED WOBURN

Winchester High School's cross country team outlegged Woburn High over the local course last Friday afternoon, 21-36, with Kenney Blake beating Woburn's captain, Larry O'Connor, for individual honors. Following is the order in which the runners finished:

Blake led by twenty-five yards at the final quarter but O'Connor, with a fast finish, just missed nipping Kenney at the tape. This fast finish enabled Blake to break the old course record of 13:03, and set a new mark of 12:58.

This was a big win for Winchester because Woburn is the defending champion of the Pilgrim Division of the Middlesex Cross Country League. Winchester's second team also annexed their second win, 15-50, and Bumgardner again led home the team.

WINCHESTER WOMEN WINNERS IN SENIOR TOURNAMENT

The United States Senior Women's Golf Association held its twenty-fourth championship on the south course of the Westchester Country Club, Rye, N. Y., last week.

Quoting from a New York paper, "women are supposed to be touchy about their ages, but this group admitting to at least fifty summers, seems to be a refreshing exception. A limited membership of two hundred senior women from all parts of the United States makes this yearly event a most enjoyable one."

Pairing with Mrs. R. F. Beard, this year's champion, from Villa Nova, Pa., our own Mrs. A. Allen Kimball played alternate shots in a Scotch Foursome, to card a 44, 42-86, to win low gross honors. Mrs. Kimball also won 2nd. low net in Class A for thirty-six holes for a Grandmothers prize. Mrs. Alan F. Howard, Class A, won 2nd. low net on Thursday also for Grandmothers. Mrs. Henry E. Reeves, Class B, won 3rd. low net on Wednesday. Mrs. Bonnie Sprague has in her possession for one year, a beautiful silver pitcher with her name inscribed along with the previous winners in the fewest putts contest. Mrs. Forrest L. Pitman came in with 4th low net in Class C. Mrs. Maurice Brown, who has been a member of the Association for many years, was tied for 4th. low net but missed out in the draw.

The above six women made a five day trip away from home to compete with and meet the other members of this senior group and all agree the trip to have been a most worth while journey.

FINAL WINCHESTER BOAT CLUB PARTY

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 14

The annual Chowder Party business meeting of the Winchester Boat Club is scheduled for Friday evening, October 14th at 6:00 p. m. at the Club. This is the final event of the season where everyone fills up on steaming bowls of clam chowder and all the fixins and when the old officers of the Club are retired and the new ones elected. As in the past, the business meeting will be brief and to the point and will be followed by an evening of entertainment. Bart Sullivan's entertainment committee has done a swell job this season and we are sure that the entertainment will provide a fascinating climax to a very smooth social season. Reservations must be made before October 12. Be sure to let the Steward know you are coming.

The Winchester Boat Club's Snipe Fleet dinner will be held Sunday evening, October 16 at 7 p. m. at the Club. This party is open only to Fleet members and their crews and families, plus any boat club members who own boats. There will be a fine feast followed by the presentation of the coveted cups won by the fleet's skippers, plus what John Powers predicts will be some gay entertainment. Please let Fleet Secretary Ned Morse know you plan to attend as early as possible. It is to be a catered dinner and we must plan reservations well in advance of the scheduled date.

Fleet Chatter
With but two races to go the battle for the Alden Sherman Memorial Trophy has settled into a two boat contest between two-time winner, Daw Blamire and Rodney Long. These two skippers are only a point apart and this week-end will determine on whose mantle the trophy will teeter.

WATERTOWN WANDERINGS BY GERRY

WATERTOWN OUTCLASSED WINCHESTER

37-13 Defeat Worst for Locals Since 1940

Watertown High was too good for a green Winchester High eleven last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field, outclassing the locals 37-13 for the worst defeat a Knowlton-coached team has suffered since Dedham won 34-0 in 1940.

For all the top-sided score the game was a thriller to watch with Winchester very much in the competition throughout the first half with Watertown having a 24-13 lead at that time.

Fumbles and the inability of the inexperienced local boys to cope with the visitors' fine aerial attack slammed the door in the second half on any chance Winchester might have had to pull up even with Watertown which fielded the best team it has yet shown in the five years of its resumption of competition with Winchester.

Toward the end of the first quarter Paul Amico arched a long punt down the field to the Watertown 20. The locals piled up two running plays and on third down had Stackpole trapped on a pass play back around his ten yard stripe.

The Watertown boy sidestepped two tacklers and spiraled a long pass to Johnny Charsheedian who was finally brought down from behind by Dannie Devlin on Winchester's 20.

Charsheedian was stopped without gain on a sweep and a pass was grounded before Lopez threw one to Parrella at the Winchester five, the Watertown boy juggling the ball but managing to retain possession as he ran into the end zone. Winchester blocked the try for goal at placement.

The second quarter wasn't far along when Amico fumbled and Watertown recovered on its 30. Hemphill bucked for four, and then Phil Stackpole, on a quick opening play, hit off his own right tackle and broke into the clear, outlegging and out-dodging the Winchester secondaries to score, aided by a decisive block at the Winchester 40.

Sabino kicked the goal, but Watertown was offside and the try from five yards further back was no good.

Devlin made a good runback of the kickoff to his 49, but on first down he was spilled back on his 43 for a five yard loss.

Amico faded back to pass, but found no one clear, and had to run with the ball, turning in one of the most thrilling Winchester performances of recent years, when he dodged, ducked, sidestepped and changed pace to go 57 long yards through the entire Watertown team, scoring standing up. Langdon Smith kicked the goal and Winchester was within striking distance, 12-7.

Watertown countered immediately. On the third play after the kickoff Stackpole passed to Charsheedian out in the right flank and the Watertown speedboy ran for a touchdown, good for 49 yards. The try for goal was no good.

Amico got the kickoff back only to his 18, but in three tries smashed out to his 39, where Dannie Devlin, on a sneak, broke through the center of the Watertown line and sliced between two surprised secondaries to sprint 61 yards for a touchdown. Smith's try for the extra point was wide of the uprights.

Watertown scored again immediately after Hemphill ran the kickoff back to his 40. On second down Stackpole faded and tossed off a long forward that was gathered in by Vasquez, unmolested about the Winchester 15 and converted into an easy touchdown, the Winchester safety being nowhere in sight.

Two fumbles and a muffed pass prevented Winchester from rolling with the resumption of play after the half, but the locals were in the driver's seat until just before the end of the third quarter when Charsheedian was spilled after taking an Amico punt on his 26.

A 35 yard Stackpole to Renzi pass from the Watertown 31 to the Winchester 34 was quickly followed by another Stackpole heave to Charsheedian. Devlin finally belting the little speedboy outside at the Winchester 2.

The local boys piled up Hemphill as the quarter ended, but on second down Parrella sliced over inside tackle. Sabino's kick hit the cross bar and bounced back.

A 33 yard Amico to Devlin pass started a Winchester advance from the local 26 to the Watertown 16, featuring some fine line bucking by Amico and a 7 yard pass from Amico to Bob Mason.

On second down Amico passed again, this time squarely into the arms of Center Dave Wright of Watertown who got some good blocking and ran the ball back from outside the Watertown 10 for a touchdown. A clear case of Watertown clipping on the Winchester 28 brought the ball back to the locals' 43.

A 17 yard Charsheedian dash, followed by a Stackpole to Parrella pass went to the goal line, but another 15 yard penalty put the ball back on the 45.

Stackpole hit Vasquez at the Winchester 28, Watertown again was penalized back to the 33 for too much time and then Lopez passed to Charsheedian who was finally downed on the 1 yard line. Hemphill fumbled, Lopez drove over and Winchester recovered, the ball going out to the 20 after the touchback.

Amico immediately passed to Devlin who was finally hauled down at the 45. Another pass to Dannie advanced to the Watertown 36 where Parrella just barely deflected a long touchdown pass from Amico to two Winchester men at the Watertown 5.

Watertown then knocked the ball from Devlin's hands on an attempted pass play and recovered at its 44. Paced by a 20 yard dash by Parrella and passes from Stackpole to Zona and Paul Stackpole the Scarlet reached the 12, from where Hemphill, on a cut back over center drove for the score. Phil Renzi finally kicked the goal.

Watertown made 8 first downs and 171 yards by rushing with Winchester making 7 first downs and 188 yards on the ground. The winners completed 9 of 18 passes for the huge variance of 301, with Winchester completing 6 out of 14 passes for the respectable total of 101 yards. Winchester didn't draw a penalty, but fumbled four times disastrously. Watertown fumbled once and lost 50 yards in penalties.

The summary:

WINCHESTER AT WINTHROP SATURDAY

Winchester High will try to get back into the win column tomorrow afternoon, after its Watertown shellacking, playing Winthrop High at Winthrop.

The beach city boys haven't enjoyed any great success thus far this season, dropping their last two starts to Lexington and Amesbury. In the Lexington game however Winthrop was without the services of five of its regulars, Jewish boys who were kept out of action by the observance of a Hebrew feast day.

Winthrop is reputed to have a pretty fair passing game, and if so, Winchester will have to watch out, for to date, at least, the locals have looked woefully weak against the overhead game.

Watertown passed Winchester to death last Saturday and most observers left the field feeling the local boys had no semblance of pass defense. Pictures of the game, however, show that the defense was there, but was not functioning, largely because the Winchester ends and secondaries are young and green and do not react quickly enough to stop fast-developing plays, even though they are in position to do so. Veteran backfield men would most likely have intercepted two of Watertown's vaunted passes for touchdowns, and the passer in the key play of the visitors' first scoring sequence would doubtless have been spilled back near his own goal line not a sizeable official inadvertently gotten between him and Winchester's Captain "Paulie" Amico and another local tackler. Without attempting to minimize Watertown's fine victory and speedy last Saturday game, the visitors last Saturday were distinctly not 24 points better than Winchester, though they were the better team.

Coach Knowlton announces one definite change in his Winchester starting lineup at Winthrop with "Stogy" Gilbert replacing Johnny Richmond at the wingback slot. Walt Murphy and "Whitey" Caputo were both bugged up in the Watertown game, Murphy being badly clipped and receiving a hamstring pull while Caputo has a leg injury. If they are not ready, Bob McElhinney will start at Murphy's end position with Dave Hutchins moving out from his guard spot to replace Caputo. Sandy Burbank will fill Hutchins' guard slot in this event.

The game will start at 2 o'clock as will all of Winchester's games from now on with the exception of the Thanksgiving morning game with Woburn. Incidentally reserved seats will come in quite handy that a. m.

Tony Cirurso, hard working center on the Winchester High School football team has received a merit award for athletic ability and sportsmanship as the result of his fine all around play in the Milton-Winchester game three weeks ago.

Tony was one of ten boys picked by the Len Masters Program on Station WTAO in Cambridge as having been outstanding in Greater Boston football on September 17. He has received an individual citation to this effect from Len Masters and his name has been placed on WTAO's Howard Rust Sports Honor Roll, from the members of which will be chosen the recipient of an individual football trophy at the conclusion of the season.

Ciruso is a junior, playing his second year of varsity ball. He was a reserve fullback at the opening of last season, but was finally changed over to a center by Line Coach John Gorczynski and was used to spell "Gunner" Abrahamson toward the end of the season, seeing relatively little service because Abrahamson was a regular four-period performer.

This year Cirurso has started all three games to date at the pivot post and has played a steady and effective game. He weighs in at 180, and plays both basketball and baseball as well as football, being ticketed alike by coaches and fans as a hard-working dependable performer.

Roy E. Josephson of 25 Sheridan Circle, has completed a two-year day course in Electric Wiring and Maintenance at the Franklin Technical Institute, Boston, September 30.

GAGAN AT SOX-YANKS GAMES

Raymond A. Gagan, Jr., better known to local sports followers as "Butch", and a rabid Red Sox rooter, was among those from Winchester who saw the final series between the Red Sox and Yankees in New York last week-end.

"Butch" got over Friday night and was reconnoitering around Yankee Stadium trying to get a strategic spot for tickets when a group of New York girls, picking him for a Sox devotee, started needing him on Boston's chances.

"Butch" came right back and after some good natured ribbing on both sides, decided to stay with the gals, one of whom knew Joe Page, the Yanks great relief pitcher. A photographer took "Butch's" picture playing cards with the gals, who finally got him tickets for both games near the Yankee's bull pen.

The fact that he was in strictly hostile territory didn't bother "Butch" a bit. He rooted loudly for the Sox, so much so that during the second game an irate Yankee supporter hove a pop-bottle at him.

Page was in the bull-pen at the time and saw the whole business. The girls had introduced him to Gagan on Saturday and the big relief pitcher immediately went to "Butch's" defense, telling him to keep rooting for the Sox who might win a pennant for him some day and promising to flatten any one who hove any more glassware at the Winchester boy.

"Butch" stood alone in his glory during the Red Sox 7th and after the game went with his girl friends to the Hotel Commodore for dinner where Page did an extra-curricular relief job by taking the check for $35 away from Gagan and setting the bill.

"Butch" didn't come back to Boston on the Red Sox train, preferring to fly home for a quicker arrival. He's still a Sox fan and "some day," he says, "But you know all about that!"

WILCOX WON CLUB CHAMPIONSHIP

In a 36 hole match at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday, W. L. "Tyke" Wilcox beat David W. Shean, Jr., 2 and 1, to win the coveted Club Championship.

Wilcox gained an all but prohibitive lead at the end of the morning round, being 6 up as the competitors completed 18 holes. A very high wind hampered play during the morning, but seemed to bother Wilcox less than Shean, who lacked "Tyke's" steadiness.

During the afternoon round "Dave" made a great comeback, cutting down his opponent's lead until it looked like he might possibly square the match.

Six strokes, however, is quite a handicap and Wilcox was playing too well himself to be overhauled, the match ending on the 17th, 2 and 1.

The extent of Shean's afternoon comeback is indicated by the fact that he was one under par for his second 18. Unfortunately few saw what turned out to be a fine match.

Richard Moriarty, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Moriarty of Sheffield road, has been promoted to the rank of Corporal in the Manlius Battalion of The Manlius School, Manlius, New York.

It is good news to learn that the School Committee and Park Commissioners have been discussing the condition of Manchester Field, and very much to be hoped that from this discussion some positive steps will be taken, and soon, to improve the playing surface of this important playground. Control of the field was voted to the School Committee, but the school authorities have looked to the Park Department employees to care for the field. Apparently the present discussions concern what will be done by whom in the future. Criticism of the present condition of the field has posed some questions for both the School Committee and Park Commissioners and the latter group is reported as of the opinion that Manchester Field should be put in finished condition before it is turned over to their department for care. They contend among other things that the football field is not level and that the track is not completed. No one can gainsay either allegation. What is to be done? The field is deteriorating so rapidly that if nothing is done to better conditions a major resurfacing job will have to be done next year. The baseball diamond especially is in very poor shape, as we pointed out at the conclusion of the past baseball season. An entire and proper top-surface needs to be put on the track. It is our contention that somewhere along the way some one should have been on the job to see that the field was properly surfaced and the track completed according to specifications. It looks as if this job belonged to the School Committee, and the Park Commissioners apparently are not going to be responsible for putting the field and track into the condition they should have been put in when they were constructed. The town has spent a lot of money on Manchester Field, about $90,000. It would seem that an investment of that size should have been worth watching during the development stage and once completed, worth protecting from undue deterioration. It is good to see that the school authorities seem to be coming to this view. Let us hope they will not wait too long before taking definite action.

INJURED IN WAKEFIELD J. V. GAME

Dudley Samoiloff, promising sophomore end at Winchester High, had to leave the game Monday afternoon between the Wakefield and Winchester second teams at Wakefield when he received a bump on the head while attempting to make a tackle. Samoiloff was returned to high school by Coach Henry Knowlton and attended at school by the School Physician, Dr. William Barone. The latter ordered Dudley to the Winchester Hospital where he was examined and treated by Dr. Jost Michelsen. He was kept at the hospital as a precautionary measure, but his injury is reported as clearing up nicely and he is expected home by the time the Star is out today, with nothing to prevent his return to the gridiron as soon as his recovery is complete. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff of Highland avenue, and grandson of the eminent artist, the late Herman Dudley Murphy of Winchester and Lexington.

U. S. S. KEARSARGE, AIRPLANE CARRIER

WINCHESTER WOMEN TO VISIT AIRCRAFT CARRIER U. S. S. KEARSARGE

Editor of the Star:
By invitation of Commander Samuel H. Read, Jr., PIO First Naval District, on 13th October we will spend a day aboard the "U. S. S. Kearsarge" learning how our men live on a carrier, and trying to absorb some of the complexities of an aircraft carrier.

Inasmuch as the ship is in Boston to be overhauled, Lt. Com. Blackburn, PIO on the Kearsarge, advises the writer that the ship will not be 100% "spit and polish". However, as most of us are going through the Fall changeover in our homes, this will hardly bother us.

The Commanding Officer of the "U. S. S. Kearsarge," and our host, is Commander Harlan T. Johnson, graduate of the Naval Academy class of 1931; from 31-Feb. 42 he served in the USS Texas, Childs, Ranger, Lexington, Trenton, Yorktown; from Feb. 1942 to September 1945 he was a Prisoner of War in Japan; 46-48 Chief of Staff Officer and Supt. of Aviation Training, Nats, Pensacola, Fla., and Student Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Va.; and in September 49 became C. O. U. S. S. Kearsarge.

The present Kearsarge was commissioned 2 March 1946. 3rd vessel of the U. S. Navy to be so named (name comes from the mountain in New Hampshire). Her standard displacement is 27,100 tons; length overall 855 feet 10 inches; speed 30 knots plus; complement 2,500 men; armament, twelve 5 inch 38 caliber dual purpose guns plus smaller AA batteries.

The Army is again coming to the rescue in re transportation, and through the courtesy of Major George F. Wason, now C. O. Boston Army AF Recruiting station, the buses will leave the police station at 9 a. m. sharp. We must be off the ship by 2:30 p. m. as the crew goes on liberty at 3 p. m. and they would hardly appreciate our roaming through their quarters at that time! A full program is being mapped out; our good friend, PNC O. A. De Nino will join us with his worthy camera and, unless otherwise tied up, you will have the opportunity of meeting Commander Samuel H. Read, Jr., of whom you have heard the writer speak so often.

The writer would like to publicly thank Mrs. Philip J. Woodward for the splendid report on the trip to the Quantum Naval Air Base. Her report appeared in the "Navy Recruiter" and received much favorable comment from Navy personnel.

We have been informed by Mr. Charles Murphy that the excellent wiring job done at the time the AGF Band visited Winchester, was the work of Mr. Frank Politano. As his name was not submitted to the writer at the time, thanks were not extended to him. We now wish to belatedly correct this. Thanks a million, Mr. Politano. And so, ladies, we again "Go Navy." The writer - and the Navy Department - have been impressed by the seriousness with which you undertake these trips. The writer feels Captain Roy A. Gano, Director, Navy Recruiting Service, Washington, D. C., is speaking to you when he writes:

"The work being done by you and your committee is outstanding and is deeply appreciated. Your efforts in bringing the Services before the public - as well as taking the public to the Services - has been of material aid, not only to recruiting, but to the security of the nation."

When I say "Well Done" I speak, not only for myself, but for the entire Naval Establishment."

It is with "the security of the nation" in mind that we prepare to visit the U. S. S. Kearsarge.

Very Truly Yours,
Gladys N. Toye,
Chairman Military Manpower
Committee

PROCLAMATION

National Employ The Physically Handicapped Week

WHEREAS, it has been estimated that some 10,000 citizens of Massachusetts are physically handicapped, and
WHEREAS, some 6,000 of this number are handicapped as a result of their service in World War II, and WHEREAS, all of these handicapped individuals are seeking employment for which they are fitted, and WHEREAS, a number of these handicapped persons are citizens of our community, and
WHEREAS, all of these handicapped citizens, veteran and non-veteran, deserve self-supporting, self-respecting jobs in which they can make useful contributions to our community, state and nation, and
WHEREAS, the cities and towns of Massachusetts wish to lend all possible aid and assistance to the handicapped, and
WHEREAS, the President of the United States has designated October 2nd to 8th as Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, and
WHEREAS, the Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has given his approval to the aims of Handicapped Week,
NOW THEREFORE, I, James F. Dwinell, Jr., Chairman of the Board of Selectmen of the Town of Winchester do concur in this designation of October 2nd to 8th as Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, and I call upon all local officials, employers, organizations, and all citizens to assist in every way possible, to the end that attention of the community will be focused on the fact that disabled veterans and handicapped civilians are fully capable of productive work in many different occupations.

I urge all citizens and in particular, the employers of our community, to cooperate actively with our Local Interagency Committee for the observance of Employ the Physically Handicapped Week.

And I further urge that all employers place their job openings with the Employment Office operated by the Massachusetts Division of Employment Security located at 25 Montvale avenue, Woburn, so that all handicapped workers may be given an opportunity to prove that when placed in the right jobs, they are not handicapped but instead are safe workers who make good production records because they stay on the job.

Diabetes Detection Drive

The American Diabetes Association has undertaken a Diabetes Detection Program designed to find and bring under treatment the many diabetics who are in need of medical attention.

The National Program has been approved by the American Medical Association. Local activities are supported and directed by committees appointed by state and county medical societies. National attention will be focused on diabetes during Diabetes Week, October 10-16, 1949. Continued attention to diabetes is necessary because of its high incidence and the ill effects which so often can be prevented by early diagnosis and adequate treatment.

The increasing importance of diabetes in this country has been realized by the medical profession for a number of years. Pilot surveys during and since the last war have shown that a large number of patients have diabetes without knowing it. They may be protected against future complications of this condition if they can receive the benefits of recent discoveries, particularly in the field of dietary treatment and the new forms of insulin. The American Medical Association and its component state and county medical societies are aware of this challenging opportunity and their diabetes committees will strive to extend public information about diabetes.

There are probably 2,000,000 diabetics in the United States and their number is steadily increasing. About 1,000,000 have been identified and most of these are under treatment. The other 1,000,000 have not yet had their disease discovered. The number of potential diabetics is even greater. Over 4,000,000, or about 3 per cent of our population, may eventually become diabetic.

Diabetes is a major chronic disease. In numbers affected, it is outranked only by heart disease and its related blood vessel and kidney disorders and by cancer and rheumatism. It is eighth in rank among the causes of death.

Diabetes may strike at any age, although it is most common after 40. It is unique among the diseases common in middle and later life in that insulin provides a specific means of control. No comparable specific treatment is available for any other major disease.

The major task in diabetes today is to find the 1,000,000 unknown diabetics. Early discovery of diabetes pays enormously. The disease is usually mild at the beginning but, if untreated, is likely to progress. If treatment is given in time, the threat to life and the risk of crippling complications may be avoided.

All Winchester physicians are participating in the Diabetes Detection Program. A simple urine test, performed in the doctor's office or laboratory, will detect the presence of diabetes. Detection tests will be performed without charge. All Winchester residents are urged to avail themselves of this opportunity. The sample should be collected in a clean, small bottle of which the name and address of the person is clearly and firmly attached. Specimens are to be taken to attending physician or family doctor or to any local physician you may wish to choose. In the event that diabetes is detected you will be notified. Don't hesitate! Plan now to have your urine examined during the week of October 10-13.

"Pete" Hutchins, regular tackle on last year's Winchester High School football team, has been chosen as one of the tackles on the Dartmouth freshman "A" football squad.

After a year of fooling around as a reserve lineman in his junior year big "Pete", under the expert tutelage of John Gorczynski, blossomed into a pretty fair tackle toward the end of his senior year, many rating him one of the most improved players on the local squad. He was also one of the mainstays of both the band and orchestra's trombone section while in school.

"Pete" got back to Dartmouth scaling better than 215 pounds, but has reduced to "skinny" 210. He will be with the Indian cubs when they come down to Newton to play the Boston College freshmen on October 21, and is looking forward to the Harvard freshman game later in the season when he hopes to oppose his old team-mate, "Pete" Dillingham.

"Pete" is the big brother of "Dave" Hutchins, playing both guard and tackle on the current Winchester High eleven. Both boys are sons of Major and Mrs. John Q. Adams of 7 Lewis road.

EXPOSITION OF TEACHING AIDS PLANNED

Mr. Frank Weaver, Director of audio-visual aids for Winchester public schools, plans an open meeting later in the fall, at which time parents and other interested citizens may meet with the teachers to learn about audio-visual aids.

Mr. Weaver's tentative plan is to have available at that exposition, not only the Winchester equipment, but also displays and demonstrations of new equipment by representatives of the distributors.

SENIOR FORUM HOLDS REGISTRATION SUPPER AND SERVICE

The First Congregational Church Social Hall was the scene of a gala occasion last Sunday evening as 104 High School young people and 20 adult advisors and guests congregated for the opening of the Forum season.

The young people assembled at 4:45 for a half hour of getting acquainted under the leadership of David Archibald, Gordon Bird, Jr., and Nancy Kittell. The tables had been beautifully decorated by Mildred True and her committee, with autumn leaves and gourds, and the tables designated with names of trees by Cynthia Morse. The young people were assigned to the tables with tags using the names of the tables, so that each person had a chance to meet new friends. At 5:30, a delicious turkey supper was served by Dorothy Parker and Marjorie Zinn and their crew of helpers. Following the supper, singing was enjoyed. Leon Fernandez, the Forum President, then introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Dwight C. Smith, Pastor of the Mt. Vernon Congregational Church in Boston, who addressed the young people on the subject, "The Salt of the Earth."

The Forum advisors were then introduced: Mr. and Mrs. Leon Fernandez for the Senior Class; Dr. and Mrs. Howard Ulfelder for the Junior Class; Mr. and Mrs. K. Foster Cleaves for the Sophomore Class; Dr. Eugene Follard for the Dramatic Club; Dr. F. M. Mine Blanchard for the Glee Club and choir; Mrs. Carl Richmond for the Decoration Committee; Mrs. Ross Cunningham and Mrs. Thomas Hill for the Service and Race Relations Committees; Mr. Lyndon Burnham for the Forum Flashes; Mr. Kenneth Harvey for the Forum Orchestra. Mrs. Carl Morse and Mrs. Ernest L. Parker were given an enthusiastic applause for the delicious supper which they had helped the girls prepare. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Morse have been announced as advisors to the Freshman Class.

Dr. Chidley was introduced and spoke to the young people briefly, expressing his belief in the future of the church as being secure in the hands of such a fine group of young people. Dr. John L. Lobingier, Executive Secretary of the Massachusetts Pilgrim Fellowship, was introduced and spoke briefly. Barbara Macaulay reminded the group of the first Pilgrim Fellowship Rally in Malden on October 23.

Registrations were made and dues paid to the adult advisors at each table. After some singing, committee chairmen then spoke briefly for the work of their committees and asked the members to sign up for the ones in which they were interested. Dick Rush spoke in behalf of the worship committee; Gordon Bird, Jr., for the Social Committee; Donald Cameron for the Deputations Committee; Carl Zimmerman for the Race Relations Committee; Betty Nelson and Mary Jane Davis for the Calendar Committee; Mildred True for the Decorations Committee; Harris MacDonald for the Flower Committee; Pat McDermott for the Transportation Committee; Norman Makechnie for the Publicity Committee; Bob Burnham for the Deacons and Ushers, speaking also for John Richmond who was sick and unable to attend; David Snow for the Forum Flashes, the monthly newspaper; Louise Kugler for the Dramatic Club; Virginia Bullard for the Square Dance Club; Marjorie Zinn for the Supper Committee; Douglas Hawkins for the Service Committee; Eddie Hammond for the Orchestra; Dotty Brandt for the Glee Club and choir; Lynne Stevens for the Employment Committee. All committees hope to meet for organization and mapping out of plans within the next two weeks. Glee Club meets Thursday evening at 6:45; Social Committee met Wednesday afternoon at 4:00; Service and Race Relations Thursday at 2:45; Worship and Calendar Committees function regularly Saturday mornings; Forum Flashes is meeting Sunday afternoon at 4:00 p. m. at the home of Mr. Burnham.

Following the signing up for committees, the young people went silently to the chapel for their candlelight service. Marjorie Morse was the organist, and Nancy Ross the soloist in the choir's interpretation of "Lord, I Want to Be a Christian." The whole service was beautifully arranged by Dick Rush, chairman of the worship committee, and was very impressive.

MARYCLIFF GUILD

Mrs. Moynihan has named the following to serve on her committee: Miss Ann Connor, the Mesdames Jack Guyant, Robert Blake, William Brady, Dominic Ruma and J. Leo Rooney.

MISSION UNION GUILD

The Mission Union Guild of the First Congregational Church will meet jointly with the Home Church Guild for their opening meetings of the year on Tuesday, October 11. It is hoped that a large number of the women of the church will plan to attend, not only the unusually fine program of the day, but also the morning sewing for the apron table of the forthcoming Village Fair. The Mission Union Board will hold its regular board meeting at 12:00 o'clock, which will be followed by luncheon at 1:00 o'clock under the joint chairmanship of Mrs. H. Kimball Archibald and Mrs. George H. Gresham. The 2:00 o'clock program in the Ladies' Parlor will be conducted by Mrs. Frank H. Knight, Director of the Home Church Guild. After the devotional period, led by Mrs. James H. Coon, Dr. Howard J. Chidley will speak on "Straws in the Wind, an Interpretation of our Times." It is always a great privilege for the women of the church to hear Dr. Chidley's brilliant analysis of the problems and trends of our present day.

JR. MRS. GUILD

On Monday evening, October 10, the Jr. Mrs. Guild of the First Congregational Church will hold a work meeting in the Kindergarten room at 7:45 p. m.

Mrs. Richard Caldwell sends out a last call for completed articles for the Fair table. Members are urged not to forget them.

Mrs. William Sleeper requests the members to remember the kiddies at Pleasant Hill. New or used toys, books, jewelry, or other playthings suitable for children between three and fifteen years of age are needed for the Christmas packages.

SOCIAL SERVICE GUILD

A very urgent appeal has come to the Social Service Guild of the First Congregational Church from Edna Blue, International Chairman of the Foster Parents Plan for War Children. With winter coming on, wearable and clean clothing and shoes are desperately needed by both adults and children of Europe. The number of people who lost a foot or a leg last year for lack of shoes is unbelievable, so any worn, but sturdy, or outgrown pair might save a limb. Clothing of all kinds is still badly needed, but it must be clean and usable.

So when you're getting out winter things and putting away summer clothes, won't you put aside what you can no longer use? If you bring these articles to the First Congregational Church, the Social Service Guild will sort, pack and express them to New York. Then Foster Parents Plan will ship these articles overseas and distribute them to the needy.

EARLY AMERICAN DECORATION CLASSES

Much interest has been manifested in the classes forming for painting and stenciling in the early American manner of tinware, trays, boxes, etc., under the instruction of George W. MacLean, to be held at McGarry and McShane's store, 82 Albion street, Wakefield.

These classes are primarily for beginners, but advanced students will be accommodated. An evening class for men is to be arranged. The store has an exceptional assortment of artists supplies as well as variety of tinware to be decorated. Additions will be made to the supplies as the demand is created.

OCTOBER 6TH-190 YEARS AGO!

Very few people appreciate the significance of October 6, 1759. The history books of our schools of today pass lightly over this period of the pre-Revolution days of our country. With the exception of historians, and those avid readers of Kenneth Roberts - America's greatest present day historian - October 6, 1759 would call to mind no important event in the history of our colonial struggle for existence.

This date marked the great climax to the Expedition to St. Francis - a military expedition under the leadership of Major Robert Rogers - in which the Indian Village of St. Francis was wiped out - in the hazy light of early dawn - as the first glint of the sun reflected on the squalid huts and smoke-fires of this northern stronghold of hostile Indians.

The Indians of St. Francis were the Renegades and hell-raiders of the many tribes of the Abenaki Nation - who had been driven back from the frontiers, due to the atrocities that had perpetrated on the white settlers. During the past hundred years, they had burned cabins and villages, - scalped and tortured women - brained little children and babies - and roasted Colonial officers over slow fires. Many prisoners were slaves to these fiends - kept for decades at St. Francis - to eat, sleep and live with the dogs of the village.

Major Rogers recruited a company known as "Rogers' Rangers" consisting of the hardest woodsmen, Indian fighters, and boldest frontiersmen, and embarked from Fort Crown Point, on the western shore of Lake Champlain - the night of Sept. 13, 1759. They traveled by bateaux and canoes only at night - and ten days took them to the northern coves of Lake Champlain - at the head of Missisquoi Bay. There they hid their bateaux - and took to a dense, jungle-like swamp - and travelled north and northeast for ten more days through the most difficult bogs and swamps that man could penetrate.

Crossing the St. Francis River - on October 4, 1759 - by means of a human chain of Rangers reaching from shore to shore, they stole northwest - fifteen miles up the northern bank of the St. Francis - to reconnoiter above the Indian Town of St. Francis and receive final instructions on their attack.

Before the first flush of false dawn - on the morning of October 6, 1759 - Rogers instructed his men. Two-hundred Rangers - with revenge and fire in their hearts - stood ready for Major Rogers' low whistle. Then - moccasined feet padded swiftly down the slope to the village. Hundreds of dried scalps rattled softly in the breeze from the poles outside the shanties. Then the Rangers struck - with musket, bayonet, hatchet and knife. The Village was wiped out in less than an hour - every male Indian of fighting age dead - squaws and children spared. It removed the greatest scourge to our colonies and opened up frontiers which were thus made safe.

Rogers and his Rangers departed early that morning - heading southeast to avoid the French and Indians hastening to overtake him from the St. Lawrence. His retreat through Memphrangoag and the Upper Cohasset intervals was most tortuous - until on October 31st he and his tattered and starving men arrived at Fort No. 4 on the Connecticut River (Charlestown, N. H. today).

Robert Rogers was a hero-he did the impossible. He was a great leader of Indian fighters. Kenneth Roberts' magnificent novel "Northwest Passage" tells this brilliant story in graphic, dramatic and colorful style - adhering to the strict records of ancient documents. So - remember October 6, 1759 - and let us be thankful for soldiers like Major Rogers - and for authors such as Kenneth Roberts.

A dream that was set aside during World War II, when both went into service, will become a reality for two brothers when the $250,000 Medford Meadow Glen drive-in theatre on the Mystic Valley Parkway has its gala premiere performance this Friday night, October 7.

With top city and state dignitaries scheduled to be present, the 1,000 car showplace on the banks of the Mystic River will be formally opened at 8:00 P. M. by Paul J. Longo and his brother, Frank V. Described as the largest such theatre on the East Coast, the Meadow Glen on Route 16 has managed to draw its full quota of visitors during construction, including professional theatre operators from throughout the United States.

In addition to a fully equipped nurseries where the younger members of the family can have their diapers changed or their bottles warmed, the Medford theatre includes such features as individual car speakers with selective volume control, an indirect lighting system which throws a soft glow on the ground for ease of walking, and an off-street private highway to speed traffic in and out of the theatre.

Highlight of the unique Medford theatre, however, is the smartly decorated cafeteria with its dramatic lighting, hand scroll ceiling, and 60-foot curved food bar.

CHARGED WITH LARCENY OF CAR

A 21 year-old Winchester young man and a Woburn boy, 16, appeared in the Woburn Court Monday, the older of the pair charged with the larceny of an automobile and the younger with being a delinquent.

Police say the pair stole an automobile from the Highlands district on the night of September 27. The car was recovered the following day when a filling station attendant near Hartford, Conn., became suspicious as the occupants attempted to sell one of the tires on the machine.

The Hartford police took the pair into custody and notified the Winchester police, having picked up the stolen car story on the telephone. Through a technicality the pair were released from custody in Connecticut, but later warrants were secured here by Chief Charles J. Harrold.

In court on Monday the case was continued until a later date for disposition.

NO PERMIT FOR WINCHESTER-MEDFORD HOUSE ISSUED

New York papers carried on September 22 a United News dispatch featuring the issuing of a permit in Medford for the erection of half a house in Medford on the Winchester line, with the other half of the dwelling to be in Winchester.

A check at the Building Commissioner's office disclosed that during the summer a contractor who was planning to build several houses in the Priscilla lane section of the town below Symmes corner applied for permits for the dwellings, one of which was to be on the Winchester-Medford line. Since that time nothing has been heard from him and no permit for the building has been issued here.

Buildings partly in town are not new here, there being already at least one, located on Forest street, part of which is actually in Stoneham.

WINCHESTER BOY SCOUT NEWS

Age Change Gives New Life To Winchester Scouting

Boy Scouting in Winchester has started with a "bang" this season, with dozens of new boys joining the organization, units full and overflowing, and everyone bubbling over with enthusiasm. Winchester Boy Scouts, Cubs, and Explorers can look forward to a season filled with plenty of fun and activity.

The big reason for all this new enthusiasm is the recent "Age-Change" ruling of the Boy Scouts of America. Now a boy can become a Cub when he is eight years old, a Scout when he becomes eleven, and a senior Explorer Scout when he reaches the age of fourteen. That's why Winchester Scouting units are welcoming a double "crop" of newcomers this season.

Winchester boys who haven't already "joined up" are cordially invited to join one of the Scouting organizations for his age group. He may join any unit he chooses, and he doesn't have to join the group sponsored by his own church, Cub Pack, or Troop, unless he wishes. Nor does he need previous Scouting experience. He doesn't have to be a Cub to join a Scout Troop, and he doesn't have to be a Scout to become an Explorer.

Winchester offers local boys a number of Scouting units from which he can choose the one he wants to join. The American Legion sponsors Scout Troop 1. The First Congregational Church sponsors Cub Pack 3 and Scout Troop 3. The Unitarian Church offers three units: Pack 6, Troop 6, and Explorer Post 6. The Rotary Club sponsors Sea Explorer Ship 6, Cub Pack 7 and Scout Troop 7.

are sponsored by the First Baptist Church. Pack 12 and Troop 12 are sponsored by St. Mary's Catholic Church.

The Scout Troops all meet on Monday evenings at their respective sponsoring institutions except Troop 12 which meets on Thursday evenings at St. Mary's.

Plenty of Fun for Older Boys

There's a completely new program for senior Explorer Scouts that promises plenty of good times and activities for boys who are fourteen years of age or over. For boys who like the tang of the sea, there's Sea Explorer Ship 6, and for boys who love the tang of the woods there's Explorer Post 6. Or, if he wishes, a 14-year old can join an Explorer Crew within a Boy Scout Troop where he can be a Troop leader, and yet enjoy a special program of senior activities under the supervision of his Explorer Advisor.

Big Cub Pow Wow in Winchester Tomorrow

Fellsland Council is holding a council-wide Cub "Pow Wow" and Cubbers' Get-Together for all Cub leaders tomorrow, October 8th, at the First Congregational Church. Registration time at the Parish House is 1:30 P. M. to 2:15 P. M., and closing time is 8:30 P. M. Den Mothers and Committeemen of Winchester, Cub Packs and parents interested in Cub work are invited to attend.

The afternoon session will be divided into four sections. (1) Games under the chairmanship of Mr. Phillip Savage. (2) Handicraft - Mr. Walter Shaughnessy. (3) Ceremonies and Entertainment - Mr. Allen Pulsifer. (4) Pack Administration - Mr. William Davies.

These sections will be held concurrently and those present at the Pow Wow will attend whichever section they are most interested in.

At 6:00 P. M. a Blue and Gold Demonstration Banquet will be staged by Pack 5 of Stoneham, and all those attending are invited to join Pack 5 at the banquet. After the banquet everyone will meet in a single evening session to review the afternoon's activities. The registration fee will include a program describing the Pow Wow as well as cover the cost of admittance to the banquet.

Is Boys In Troop 7?

After two meetings of Troop 7 at the First Baptist Church, Scoutmaster "Doc" Millican counted noses and discovered that he has a big Troop of forty-eight boys, with new candidates coming in each week. There are twenty-six new boys, alone, and "Doc" has the problem of turning these "greenhorns" into full-fledged Tenderfoot Scouts. But "Doc," one of the Winchester's most able Scoutmasters, says "the more the merrier," and he welcomes each new-comer with a hearty handshake and pat on the back.

Troop 7 has formed six new Patrols in the Troop. Phil Dresser is Patrol Leader of the Mohawk Patrol. Lee Staff is the leader of the Moose Patrol, and David Ripley heads up the Fox Patrol. The Panthers are led by Andy Robertson. Larry Worthen leads the Rattlesnakes, and Terry Tallman is Patrol Leader of the Apache Patrol.

The Troop held its first outdoor activity of the season last Saturday when seventeen boys hiked up to Pine Hill Camp. Troop 7's campsite on Ridge Street, Mr. Thompson has generously allowed the boys to use part of his property as a campsite again this season. The boys cooked their lunch, cleaned up the campsite, pitched a pup tent for practice, and topped off the day with a lively game of football.

Tomorrow, the ten Troop 7 boys who won the most points last season will leave on a special two-day Award Trip to Mt. Chocoma. The ten lucky Award Winners are Stuart Carlisle, Roger Foster, David Ripley, James Ekstrom, Lee Staff, Stanley Mullen, George Govostes, Terry Tallman, Andy Robertson, and Philip Dresser.

Camp-O-Ree at Camp Fellsland Next Weekend

Next weekend, October 15th and 16th, Winchester Scout Troops will send their best patrols to the big Council Camp-O-Ree at Camp Fellsland in Amesbury. Some groups will "get in" an extra night of camping by arriving Friday evening. The boys will compete to discover who are the best campers, tent-pitchers, fire-builders, hamburger-cookers etc. At the last Camp-O-Ree, Winchester Scouts did a bang-up job with Troop 3 and Troop 7 winning blue ribbons. The boys have promised that they'll do even better next week. Good camping, boys!

Two Winchester boys, Richard Young and Richard Zarse, are among the candidates for the freshman football team at Norwich University, Northfield, Vermont.

Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Young of 10 Wyman court, is a candidate for end. He is 5 ft. 10 in. tall and weighs 150 pounds. Zarse, a bigger boy, is also an end, standing 6 ft. 2 in. and weighing 180 pounds. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Zarse of 8 Fellsdale close.

GIRL SCOUTS

Leaders and Council members are urged to attend as many meetings as possible at the "College of Girl Scouting" at the Boston Latin School October 10, 14, 17, and 21 from 8 P. M. to 10 P. M. Those interested should sign up with Training Chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Cullen by calling WI 6-3232. If you need a ride say so; if you are planning to use your car, say so, and perhaps a car pool may thus be formed for the benefit of those of us who are going. It is a new feature here in Boston, and judging by the outstanding people on the program, it should be of great value to all interested in Girl Scouting! Looking over the list of the faculty, we see familiar names such as Mrs. R. B. Harding, Mrs. Barbara Metcalf, and Mrs. Francis Parsons of the Winchester Council; and also Mrs. James L. Faxon, Mrs. Thomas Jordan, and Mrs. Charles A. Waggoner, three Edey Trainers who have either visited our Council or given us training in at 87 Beacon street. Do try to go, as you will learn much and meet many! It is a wonderful experience to meet so many other women who are interested in the same project...our own American girls, as well as those of other nations!

INVENTS NEW METHOD OF SHAFT COUPLING

On September 6, 1949, the United States Patent Office granted patent number 2,480,976 on a "Shaft Coupling" to Charles J. Stuart, Winchester, Mass.

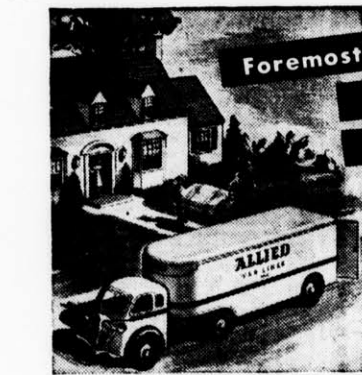

As is generally known, a shaft coupling is a device for fastening together the ends of two shafts so that the rotary motion of one causes rotary motion of the other. One of the most common devices of this type is the so-called "flange coupling" that consists of two flanged sleeves or hubs, each of which is keyed to the end of one of the two shafts to be joined. The sleeves are held together and prevented from rotating relative to each other by means of bolts.

Mr. Stuart's coupling is different in its construction from the aforementioned type, and is well adapted for connecting together rods, poles, tool-handles and the like. Simple in its design, it comprises a sliding telescoping assembly in which a slotted tubular member, mounted on the end of one of the shafts, receives in snug sliding engagement the end section of the other shaft. It should be noted that the latter contains projecting lugs that extend into and are shiftable through the slots of the tubular element; and it is this arrangement that prevents relative rotation between the telescoping members.

One of the difficulties heretofore encountered in these telescoping couplings has been the fact that the tube is weakened by the formation of the slots. As a consequence, the strains imposed by the lugs often caused the tube to split and break, unless it was made of relatively heavy metal. Mr. Stuart overcomes this limitation by means of a guard that fits closely over the tube and not only reinforces the shiftable connection, but also encloses and retains the lubricant therein around the moving bearing surfaces. The latter, therefore, are protected from abrasion by extraneous particles.

Furthermore, sufficient tolerance may be set up between the sliding parts in order to prevent a binding action in the event the shafts to be connected are not accurately aligned.

This patent has been assigned to Wellman Company, Medford, Mass.

AIR PROGRAM FOR KIDDIES

Good news is in the air for youngsters (and their parents, too), who, starting Sunday morning (October 9), will be able to take a weekly trip to Storyland. A chance to meet lots of old friends—Cinderella, Ferdinand the Bull, Briar Rose and many new characters, is coming on WHDH, when Nocki presents her "Keys to Storyland" in cooperation with the Massachusetts Department of Education.

Nocki, a storyteller with a fresh approach, illustrates her tales with original music. This week's story will be "Georgie"—about a ghost who leaves his house when the doors get oiled and goes to live with a cow.

"Keys to Storyland" will be part of the regular WHDH Sunday morning children's hour, with the "Children's Music Hall" preceding it from 8:35 to 9:00 and followed by "Animaland" from 9:15 to 9:30.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION

Graduates of the Winchester Hospital School of Nursing to the number of thirty seven had a memorable evening on Monday, October 3, when the Alumnae Association held its annual meeting at the Hospital. Dinner was served in the Staff dining room, followed by reports of the officers and elections for 1949-1950. Greetings were received from absent alumnae from as far away as California. The following officers will serve for the coming year: President, Mrs. William Ring (Susan Brown) of Winchester; First Vice-President Mrs. Maurice F. Kiley (Claire Weaver) of Wakefield; Second Vice-President, Mrs. John Volpe (Jennie Benedetto) of Winchester; Secretary, Mrs. A. C. Pattenella (Velma Neville) of Woburn; Treasurer, Mrs. Arthur H. Cameron (Kathleen Morse) of Winchester. A collection was taken towards the Association's contribution to the Building Fund, which is supplementary to the maintenance of the Alumnae Room, No. 306, on the private floor of the Hospital.

At the conclusion of the annual business, the audience adjourned to the living room of the Nurses' Home, which makes a most attractive meeting place in its entirely new furnishings. Here the entertainment of the evening was given by the Victory Troupers of the Clarendon Players of the Boston Y. W. C. A. Every number of the program was of high excellence, and the alumnae feel fortunate to have secured the Troupers, who were organized during the war and are continuing to respond to a few invitations such as that of last evening. The Troupers are one of the activities of the official drama workshop of the Y. W. C. A., under the Directorship of Valentine Bean, which does experimental laboratory productions as well as public performances, and gives training not only in acting but in business management, publicity, and other production problems. Last night's program included delightful piano numbers and gave special pleasure in the impersonations of the talented Lucille Tyler.

The Committee for the meeting was under the Co-Chairmanship of Mrs. Arthur H. Cameron of Winchester and Mrs. William G. McGoughlin of Stoneham, and had as other members Mrs. William Ring of Winchester, Mrs. A. C. Pattenella of Woburn, and Miss Helen Spencer of Woburn.

The Alumnae were informed that their help is being asked in the recording of Winchester Hospital history as material for a projected presentation of episodes in the thirty-seven years of the Hospital's service. It is hoped that parts of this history will be available for use in connection with the celebration of the enlarged and modernized Winchester Hospital next year.

Dick Smith, former three sport letter winner at Winchester High is a member of the Norwich University football squad this season. He is listed as a sophomore, is six feet tall and weighs 173 pounds. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Smith of Church street.

For the Enrichment of Life

Longfellow was right when he penned the words—"Time is fleeting."

If you want a Cadillac, and feel that you are entitled to one, you ought to make arrangements at once to have one delivered into your possession.

Each day you forego it, you will lose a goodly measure of happiness and satisfaction—for a Cadillac is a joy to possess, and a joy to utilize. Many say that it adds to the zest of their whole day's activities.

Certain it is that a Cadillac brings with it the utmost in performance, in comfort, and in safety—and that it contributes immeasurably to its owner's peace of mind. Few, indeed, can be happy without a Cadillac—once they have learned how greatly it enriches their lives.

If you are among the many who have the impulse to own a Cadillac, come in and see us soon. Each day you delay means a loss in satisfaction which no other material possession can hope to supply.

WINCHESTER HARRIERS
BEAT EVERETT VOKE

The Winchester High Cross Country team opened its 1949 season successfully with a victory over Everett Vocational Friday, September 23.

The race, run in a drizzle, developed a nip-and-tuck duel for individual honors between Co-Capt. Blake of Winchester and Capt. Johnson of Everett. They entered Manchester Field only 15 yards apart but in the last ¼ mile Blake aggravated a pulled stomach muscle and faded to 8th place as Johnson raced to victory.

The next seven runners, headed by Co-Capt. Wolfe, were Winchester men, however, and the final score was Winchester 20 Everett 43.

The second team began where they left off last year racing to a 15 to 49 victory. The first J. V. runner to check in was Bumgardner a newcomer to this year's squad.

DR. S. RALPH HARLOW
SPEAKER, FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH
OCTOBER 16, 10:45 A. M.

Professor Harlow was graduated from Harvard University and the Union Theological Seminary. He received an A. M. from Columbia and a Ph. D. from the Hartford Seminary Foundation. For two years he was pastor of the Spring Street Presbyterian Church in New York City, chaplain and chairman of the Department of Sociology and Religion at the International College in Smyrna from 1912-1922, Y. M. C. A. secretary with the A. E. F. in France in 1918 and Field Secretary of the American Board of Foreign Missions in 1922.

Mr. Harlow came to Smith College in 1923 to teach courses in religious and social ethics, courses which have been popular with the students. His first sabbatical, in 1930-1931, he spent as visiting lecturer to colleges in the Near East and Europe, and in the summer of 1931 he was Director of the International Students Union in Geneva, Switzerland. At the same time he was associated with the School of International Relations. During his second sabbatical leave in 1938-1939, he did a round-the-world trip as visiting professor to the Orient and Near East under the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, visiting colleges in New Zealand, Australia, India, as well as the Near East and the Balkans.

Mr. Harlow took his third sabbatical leave during the year 1945-1946 in service to the people of Greece. He returned to Pierce College as a visiting member of the faculty, conducting courses in sociology and post war problems, and working in close cooperation with UNRRA. He organized trips through the country for Pierce College students, who, of course, were Greek girls, to enable them to study at first hand the problems of their nation. His teaching duties were combined with rehabilitation tasks which both he and his wife had undertaken as soon as they were located at Pierce College.

For several years Mr. Harlow has been college preacher at such institutions as Williams, Amherst, Wesleyan, and Harvard University. Dr. Harlow comes under the auspices of the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church, who will attend a breakfast in the Parish Hall, at 9:15 A. M., and will sit as a body at the Church service. Mr. Murray S. Moore, President of the Club, will introduce Dr. Harlow.

UNITED NATIONS WEEK

United Nations week runs from October 17 to 24th. The four years this organization has been in existence have proved it to be a real instrument of peace. We are real to feel that the obstruction of the U. S. S. R. has made the accomplishments of the United Nations small or unimportant, but that is not so, given the overall picture and the long range view. It is the only world-embracing expression of public opinion and public opinion makes the laws in the last analysis. And in the near picture - the establishment of the State of Israel without a major war is an epic triumph. India and Pakistan were spared religious and communal warfare through United Nations mediation. Millions of people in all parts of the world are better off already because of the work done on problems of health, nutrition, education, refugees, child welfare, control of narcotic drugs, and many other related questions.

The United Nations cannot force a settlement of the present conflict between great powers, but it has already demonstrated that it can help to keep it within peaceful bounds. World peace can never be achieved without the agreement of world powers - with or without a Security Council with a veto - and the United Nations is the biggest international force ever in existence to bring moral pressure toward its achievement.

In Myron Berlow's window and the Winchester Drug Co.'s window you will see pictures of United Nations accomplishments, and in Filene's window this year's symbol and motto of the United Nations. At the library there are pamphlets and books to increase your knowledge, confidence and hopes of the United Nations if they need it.

WINCHESTER OPENS RED FEATHER DRIVE

1950 Community Fund Goal $52,000

This weekend will see the launching of Winchester's 15th annual Red Feather Campaign. Community Fund Sunday will be observed in all Winchester Churches with prayerful appeal to all citizens to respond generously to the urgent needs of the 341 Red Feather Services for their operating expenses in 1950.

With advance gifts and employee solicitations already well under way, hundreds of Winchester Volunteers will start ringing their neighbors doorbells this coming week. Workers of precincts 4, 5, & 6 gathered last night at the Library, and canvassers of precincts 1, 2 and 3 will assemble tonight for worker kits and "drive" instructions.

What the Red Feather means to Winchester is well illustrated by a few figures from the long list of Red Feather services to Winchester People. For example, over 3400 Winchester residents used a Red Feather service in the year 1948 and of that number, more than 1200 Winchesterites went outside the town of Winchester for aid from these agencies.

This year's Red Feather Drive is an accelerated campaign with house to house solicitations being made for one week only. Each Red Feather worker will be doing the same job in one week this year that a year ago took two or three. It's an all out effort to do the job quickly, efficiently, and right.

BROWN — RICHARDSON

The altar of the Church of the Epiphany was decorated with Easter lilies and there were candles on the pew. Saturday afternoon, October 8, for the marriage of Miss Anne Page Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Parrill Richardson of 28 Everett avenue, to R. Harper Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ernest Brown of Oak Park, Ill. The pastor, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, read the 4 o'clock service and the bridal music was played by the church organist and choirmaster, Enos Held.

Miss Richardson was given in marriage by her father and attended by her sister, Miss Mary Lee Richardson, as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Joan Ray of Winchester, Miss Annette Coughwell of Winchester and New York City, Mrs. Edmund Claxton of Marblehead, Miss Katharine Ash of Chestnut Hill, Pa., cousin of the bride; Mrs. Robert Paine of St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. H. Chesley Decker of Baltimore, Md.

The bride wore an off-the-shoulder gown of candlelight satin with long tapered sleeves and a full circular train. Her fingertip-length veil of ivory tulle was caught to a cap formed of headdress lace and she carried a bouquet of white delphiniums, stephanotis and ivy with a purple-tipped white orchid.

The honor maid wore a dress of royal purple taffeta with a scalloped collar of velvet forming a portrait neckline. Skirt inserts and the cord belt of the dress were also of velvet and she wore a braided bandeau headpiece of matching purple. Her flowers were lavender delphiniums and yellow spider chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids wore identical dresses, styled like that of the honor maid and of the same color. They also wore braided bandeaux to match their gowns and carried delphiniums and chrysanthemums with the yellow shade of the latter flowers predominating.

Gordon E. Brown was best man for his brother and the usher corps comprised Henry D. Sharpe, Jr., of Providence, R. I., Sidney W. Wray, Jr., of Bristol, Conn., Edson Chick of Canton, Conn., Hugh MacNair of Long Island, N. Y., and Howard Benson and Robert Anderson, both of Oak Park, Ill.

Yellow chrysanthemums decorated the home of the bride's parents for the reception which followed the ceremony. Assisting in receiving were the mother of the bride, the parents of the bridegroom, the maid-of-honor and the six bridesmaids.

After a honeymoon on Cape Cod Mr. and Mrs. Brown will live in Oak Park, Ill.

The bride is a graduate of Randolph-Macon Woman's College where she was a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority. Mr. Brown graduated from Brown University and from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. He is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity and is associated as salesman with the Container Corporation of America.

Chidley read the marriage service at 7 o'clock and a reception attended by 50 guests was held afterward at the home of the bride's parents. Miss Dorothy Ann Miller was her sister's bride attendant and the bride's brother, Robert C. Miller, was Mr. Powers' best man.

Mr. Powers and his bride went to New York for their wedding journey. Upon their return they will make their home in Winchester.

BUZZOTTA — RICCIOLI

At St. Agnes Church in Arlington on Sunday afternoon, October 9, Miss Carmella Marie Riccioli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Domenico Riccioli of Stowcroft road, Arlington, became the bride of Francis Peter Buzzotta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Buzzotta of Oak street. The 3 o'clock ceremony was followed by a reception at the Medford Women's Club with the parents of both the bride and bridegroom assisting in receiving. Music was by a four-piece orchestra.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Riccioli was attended by her aunt, Miss Josephine Lauricella of East Boston as maid of honor. Miss Marie Nasatasi of Malden, small cousin of the bride, was flower girl and another cousin, Ronald Tringale of East Boston was ring bearer.

Bridesmaids were Miss Elaine Sava of Dorchester, Miss Lorraine Zucco of Arlington, Miss Gloria Sarno of Somerville and three sisters of the bridegroom, Miss Emily, Miss Mary and Miss Virginia Buzzotta, all of Winchester.

The bride wore a gown, made by her mother, of white satin and French imported lace, with an overskirt effect draped to show touches of lace at the front. A separate long train of lace and satin matched her gown and she wore a matching veil caught to a tiana of seed pearls and crystal. Instead of the conventional bouquet she carried a white prayer-book with orchids.

The bride's mother also made the dress worn by the honor maid, which was of gold satin and nylon tulle styled like that of the bride. Her flowers were dwarf lavender gladioli and her headpiece a braided satin coronet to match her gown.

The bridesmaids were also gowned in satin, three wearing turquoise and three, deep rose. All wore braided satin coronets to match their gowns and carried golden tea roses. The small flower girl wore a frock made by the bride's mother which was a replica of the dress worn by the maid of honor. Her bonnet matched her frock and she carried a miniature bouquet of dwarf gladioli.

Samuel Buzzotta of Winchester was his brother's best man, and the usher corps included Michael Labriola of Arlington, cousin of the bride; Salvatore Lauricella of East Boston, uncle of the bride; Louis Pawzini, also of East Boston, and Angelo Amico, Peter Provizano and Gaspare Lentine, all of Winchester.

After a wedding trip to Arizona Mr. and Mrs. Buzzotta will make their home in Arlington. The bride studied commercial art at the School of Practical Art and the Butera School of Fine Arts. Mr. Buzzotta graduated from Winchester High School and attended Wentworth Institute. He is now employed as a tool and die maker by the Lawson Machine & Tool Company of Malden.

THE VILLAGE FAIR IT'S COMING!

November 16, Congregational Church

Has the thought of Christmas already started those frustrated feelings to run rampant over the length and breadth of you? Sit down, draw up a chair, and let me give you cause to relax and again enjoy this beautiful fall of the year.

We never fail, for once again - just in time for Christmas - the lively and busy women of the Congregational Church are stepping up production in each and every corner of the town to make for your enjoyment and pleasure the grandest Fair that ever resulted from the generous work of the women of a church.

Wee Willie Winkie running about town was slow motion when compared with Mrs. Charles Clark, chairman of the Fair. She is seen any morning after six dashing about town in her seven league boots, tying up loose ends here and there, pepping up recalcitrant workers, and joining with her committees (whom I shall tell you about later), to make this that sought after Fair that out-fairs Fairs. And that, my patient reader, is an aspiration worthy of remembrance.

This will again be an all-day treat for you and the family. Just imagine - no soup to heat - no sandwiches to make - and joy of joys - no stalwart breadwinner to poke his nose into the kitchen and say - "Pot roast? I had that for lunch." Isn't it wonderful - just hop into your smoothest blouse and skirt (the double duty kind - good morning, noon, and evening) and gaily call "See you at the Fair, family."

Of course I am not telling you too much today - but what would happen to John's Other Wife if he had met her - courted her - loved her and divorced her all in one edition!

Search your mail box early next Friday when the Star comes out - or dash to town quickly to buy one - for we shall have little choice bits to tell you.

SCHOOL NOTES

Dramatics, publication of the National Thespian Society, has in its October issue a picture of the cast of 'Through the Night', last year's Junior-Senior class play.

Mr. Thomas Drapeau, supervisor of buildings and grounds, reports that there is heat at the Mystic school now, it having been turned on last Thursday. Mr. Drapeau also reports the completion of double handrails on the outside stairway at Parkhurst school.

Winchester public schools will be closed on Friday, October 21, the date of the Middlesex County Teachers' Convention.

The School Building Committee of Northboro visited the Parkhurst school last Tuesday.

Elementary schools in Winchester will close at two-thirty on Wednesday, October 19, to allow teachers to attend a grade schools' meeting at the Winchester Public Library.

The next regular meeting of the Winchester School Committee will be next Monday evening, October 17.

FIRE DRILLS AT SCHOOLS

In connection with Fire Prevention Week this week the public and parochial schools of the town have been staging fire drills and have been visited by the town's new aerial ladder truck.

LEWIS PARKHURST MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

On Thursday, October 6th in the Auditorium of the school, the Lewis Parkhurst Mothers' Association had its first regular meeting. Mrs. Paul E. Nason, president, opened the meeting with a greeting of welcome to the many members attending. She then requested the organization to sing together "America". This was the beginning of a new custom of which all thoroughly approved. A very short business meeting was conducted. Mrs. Leslie J. Scott announced the big project to be sponsored by the association as being a Penny Sale to be held Wednesday, October 26th at 8:00 p. m. in the auditorium. This met with great approval and interest by everyone, and such enthusiasm promises great success.

Mrs. George A. Marks, President of the Winchester Mothers' Association explained the founding and workings of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation. Mrs. Marks was most assuredly qualified to speak on this subject, as she was on the original committee setting up the Foundation, and has remained a member of this committee ever since. How excellent her explanations were, was proven when not one member of the association could think of a single question to ask of her following her talk, and there had been many previously.

Miss Martha Cunningham greeted the mothers of Lewis Parkhurst children, and obviously showed great delight in the number of mothers present, and the mothers obviously showed great delight in meeting Miss Cunningham in her new role of Teacher - Principal.

The meeting was then adjourned and a social hour followed, at which Mrs. William F. Morton, Social Chairman, and her committee, served coffee and cookies. The teachers joined the group at the close of school, and a sociable time was enjoyed.

VIRGIL FOX ORGAN CONCERT BY
VIRGIL FOX

Mr. Clinton Jonas is the Winchester member of the executive committee of the Stoneham Town Organ Committee sponsoring the concert to be given by the brilliant American organist, Virgil Fox, at the town hall auditorium in Stoneham on Thursday evening, Oct. 27, at 8:15. It was in the same Stoneham town hall that Mr. Fox, then in the Army Air Corps, gave four outstanding concerts during the war in aid of the Stoneham war effort.

Mr. Fox is organist of the great Riverside Church in New York as well as head of the organ department of the Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore. His Victor red seal records are considered outstanding organ recordings.

Mr. Fox has acquired a playing skill which amazes all who hear him play the most difficult of all musical instruments. His manual and pedal techniques have been adjudged phenomenal by competent critics. His program for his Stoneham appearance is varied in its appeal and nicely chosen to permit Mr. Fox to display his great versatility.

STONEHAM COMMUNITY CONCERT POSTPONED

The first of the concerts to be given by Byron Janis, pianist, for the Stoneham Community Concert Association has been postponed from October 19 to Monday evening, November 21, to release Mr. Janis for appearance with the Boston Symphony Orchestra. The young virtuoso will be the first piano soloist to perform with the Boston Symphony under its new conductor, Dr. Munch.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

Only two weeks remain in The Salvation Army's Greater Boston Friendly Appeal throughout 46 cities and towns and district leaders, in a concerted plea, are asking campaign officials and workers in their areas for a consolidated drive for funds.

Herbert O. Alderson of Arlington, who is chairman of District 1, says contributions are increasing in his six-city jurisdiction.

To chairmen and residential chairmen of Arlington, Bedford, Burlington, Lexington, Winchester and Woburn, Mr. Alderson reminds them of the $18,000 district quota. He asks:

1. A complete canvass of every street and home.
2. Check housing lists to make sure residents have not been overlooked by solicitors.
3. Give people the opportunity to give.

4. Stress importance of The Salvation Army Service Fund and the work of the committee. That immediate aid, without red tape, is given regardless of race, creed or color.

5. Stress that a portion of the campaign funds are retained locally to be administered by the committee of local citizens.

6. Stress that this is a Friendly Appeal. That there is no pressure. That voluntary giving is one of the keynotes of a Salvation Army Annual Appeal.

7. Get funds in as speedily as possible to your treasurer.

8. Stress the Army's overall quota of $457,000 is only two-fifths of funds required to support 31 institutions, neighborhood centers and departments.

9. Donations, large and small, will be received.

10. Put District 1 over the top! Chairmen and residential chairmen are: Arlington - Leonard D. Wood, chairman; Mrs. Herbert O. Alderson, residential chairman; Bedford - Frank B. Dodd, chairman; Miss Cynthia Webber, residential chairman; Lexington - George H. Anger, chairman; Mrs. Edwin B. Worthen, Jr., residential chairman; Winchester - Dr. Forbes H. Norris, chairman; Mrs. William W. Davies, Jr., residential chairman; Woburn - Joseph Gorasi, chairman; Mrs. Alice G. Moore, residential chairman.

Fireman John Pearson is resting comfortably at the Winchester Hospital after a very serious operation performed on last Friday.

WINCHESTER HOCKEY CLUB
6, DEDHAM HOCKEY CLUB 3

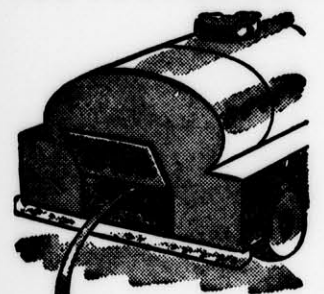

Winchester resumed its rivalry for local hockey supremacy with Dedham Hockey Club, last season's Greater Boston Amateur League champions, when the two teams tangled at the Skating Club on Thursday evening, October 6th.

With Scott Connor giving a fine exhibition in the nets, Scott Doub and Don Ellis playing good defensive hockey and this same Doub scoring three goals for the locals while Wimpy Burtnett caged two and Whip Saltmarsh one, Dedham never had a chance to threaten in this one.

STONEHAM HERE SATURDAY

Stoneham High, coached this year by a former Winchester football star, Tony DeTeso, comes to Manchester Field Saturday afternoon for a football game that has the followers of both schools on edge.

Stoneham is coming down to win this one and the Winchester coaches are a bit concerned over the fact that the local boys, after winning pretty regularly from the hockey towners in football, may take their Saturday visitors a mite too easily. DeTeso, taking over the coaching reins at Stoneham this fall after two very successful years at Wilmington, has instilled new life into his Stoneham squad and has won his last two starts from Ipswich and Lexington after dropping his opener to Concord as was expected. A fiery competitor in his own active gridiron days at Winchester and Tufts, DeTeso is the never-say-die type of athlete, and if his charges have imbibed any portion of their coach's enthusiasm and drive, Winchester will be in for a busy afternoon tomorrow.

The head coaches of Winchester and Stoneham, Henry Knowlton and Tony DeTeso, have much in common in their athletic careers. Both were three letter athletes in high school with football their first loves. Both made their respective high school teams as freshmen. Knowlton in 1924 and DeTeso in 1936. Both captained their high school eleven. Knowlton the 1927 team and DeTeso, with Pete Galuf, as co-captain, the 1939 eleven. Both teams tied for league championships. Knowlton's team being knotted with Melrose for the Mystic League crown and DeTeso's team tying with Belmont for the Middlesex League pennant. Both boys starred on their respective eleven; Knowlton as a 155 pound left halfback and DeTeso as a 135 pound center. Both were all-league choices at their positions.

Both Knowlton and DeTeso went on to college. Knowlton to Springfield and DeTeso to Tufts. Both starred in small college ball. Knowlton again as a halfback and outstanding kicker under Jack Rothaker and DeTeso as a demon center under "Fish" Ellis. Both were elected captains of their college teams as they had been in high school. Both were among the best in the small college ranks.

Saturday their teams will meet on the gridiron and for 40 minutes of playing time starting at 2:30 each of these former high school football stars will be trying his level best to outgeneral the other. Both want to win, naturally. Stoneham seems rather better than usual this year. Winchester is distinctly not so strong as last year. One thing is certain. Which ever coach wins, it couldn't happen to a better guy!

EDGES ARLINGTON, 3 to 2

With the recently formed Arlington Hockey Club striving hard to avenge the 12 to 4 defeat pinned upon it by the locals in mid-September, the game between the two last Sunday evening at the Skating Club was nip and tuck all the way.

Winchester's usual top scorers seemed to be all tied up by the close back-checking of the Arlington forwards and the excellent work in goal by Aiken. It remained for Nonnie Cogan and Deane Tolman to rise to the emergency, Deane getting the first and Nonnie the last two, to eke out the hard-earned victory by a 3 to 2 count. In fact it was Nonnie's finest performance since joining the club last winter. Of course Winchester's defensemen, Scott Doub and Don Ellis, gave a fine account of themselves, stopping many dangerous Arlington rushes. "Red" Cunningham took care of the local net in the absence of Scott Connor and came up with some brilliant saves.

Wimpy Burtnett ran into misfortune when he sustained a cut close to his right eye and had to be taken to the hospital for four stitches when the game was only half completed. He was lost to the locals for the remainder of the game.

Wilson gave a good exhibition of skating and stick-handling for Arlington, with Ray a close second, each scoring once.

STONEHAM GAME NOTICE

The football game being played at Manchester Field Saturday between Stoneham and Winchester High Schools is a game which should be played in Stoneham, but because no field is available there this fall has been shifted to Winchester.

Stoneham is the home team tomorrow and because their games are started at 2:30 the game here will start at that time and not at the usual 2 o'clock starting hour for Winchester games.

General admission at the gates will be 60 cents and Faculty Manager K. P. Elerin of Stoneham has announced that there will be no student tickets on sale at the gate. Tickets for seats in the reserved section at Winchester games will not be valid tomorrow. See ad on Back Page.

Junior High School

Coach Meurling is again emphasizing intra-mural sports for the Junior High School boys in his eighteenth year.

His tentative plans for the year are as follows: six teams in both grades for football, eleven teams in both grades for basketball, and some baseball and track.

Two extra attractions are the tumbling team, which leads up to an exhibition, and the eighth grade varsity basketball team.

The Art department, headed by Miss Hatch, is divided into the seventh and eighth grade classes. The eighth grade has painted some fall vegetable drawings. This week in connection with Forest Fire Prevention Week they will draw forest fires. The seventh grade is being taught how to letter.

Miss Hatch, an expert in pottery, is teaching, individually, those who wish to use the potter's wheel. After they have mastered the use of the wheel, the activity will be carried on separately in class.

The art room was re-decorated in soft green and yellow after consultation with Mr. Kepes.

Washington and Noonan School

Continuing in the series of grade teas at the Washington School, a first grade tea was given for Miss McManamy and Mrs. Backer, October 13, at the home of Mrs. Joseph Donovan, 14 Fells road. October 20 is the date for the second grade tea given for Miss Haley, Mrs. Backer, and the second grade mothers at the home of Mrs. Frank Thorp, 22 Bonad road. The tea for the third grade mothers and Mrs. Brown will be held October 24 at the home of Mrs. Leslie Tucker, 54 Hillcrest Parkway.

The Noonan Mothers' Association held a tea and reception for the teachers and new mothers on October 11 with Mrs. William Haggerty presiding.

Mystic School

With the cooperation of the parents, a Reading Readiness Program has just been completed by the first grade.

The first sixth grade dancing class of the year is being held in the school auditorium on Friday afternoon, October 14 under the direction of Mr. Russell Curry.

Students at the Mystic School no longer aspire to be cowboys, firemen, and nurses. The special science classes offered only to schools with building going on during school hours have made many of the children experts in construction engineering.

Wyman School

The officers of the Wyman School Chapter of the Junior Red Cross, elected from the fifth and sixth grades, are Harlow Russell, President; Dianne Williams, Vice-President; Susan Fletcher, Secretary; and John Chapin, Treasurer. The representatives to the council, two from each of the first four grades, are Jane Hood and Laurell Ingraham, Kindergarten; Biffie Sumner and Lynn La Rose, first grade; Shirley Bingham and Vicky Russell, second grade; Bobby Cooper and Patty Gervin, third grade; Brenda Cunningham and Judy D'Errio, fourth grade.

The last project completed by the Juniors was an Afghan, which will be sent to the Bedford Hospital this week.

CHILDREN'S OWN SCHOOL

The Fall and Winter Session of the Children's Own School began, for the seventh year, on September 26. Although the majority of children enrolled are from Winchester, children attend also from Arlington, Medford, Stoneham, Reading and Woburn. Much interest is being shown among greater Boston educators and clinical workers in the Remedial Reading Department, which was added to the regular school during the Spring.

During the summer, Miss Dorothy Gove, Director of the Children's Own School, visited the Remedial Clinic at the University of Chicago and attended the classes of Dr. Paul Witty at North Western University in Evanston, in her search for the most recent and helpful developments in this field of education. While in the Chicago area, Miss Gove visited, also, the National College of Education in Evanston, the Mary Crane Day Nursery at Hull House, a large and interesting private nursery school, as well as other educational centers.

New members this year on the Parents' Committee of the Children's Own School are: Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Davis and Mr. and Mrs. George LeMay of Winchester; Prof. and Mrs. C. R. Thomas of Arlington; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dearborn of Reading and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Scrivens of Woburn.

OPENING PROGRAM OF WELLESLEY CLUB

The opening program of the Winchester Wellesley Club's Mornings of Diversion was held at the Music Hall on Friday, October 7 with Eldon Winkler, executive director of the Wellesley Summer Theatre, as guest speaker. Coffee was served in the foyer at 10 o'clock, giving subscribers a chance to talk informally together before the lecture. Mrs. F. Milne Blanchard and Mrs. Parker Heath were pourers, and Mrs. Samuel B. Kirkwood was in charge of the fall flower arrangements.

Mrs. Albert D. Swazey, president of the Winchester Wellesley Club, welcomed the members of the audience and presented Mrs. Ralph T. Jope, chairman of this year's series of "Mornings", who introduced the speaker. Mr. Winkler, in addition to being in charge of the nationally known summer theatre and school at Wellesley College, is also a member of the college faculty and an associate editor of the Players Magazine.

His talk included a survey of developments in the theatre leading up to the current emphasis on realism and imitation rather than on make believe and illusion, the original concern of the theatre. He noted that with a weekly attendance at the theatre of only 250,000 people, and the fact that it cost $1,000 an hour to rehearse "Allegro", the theatre today can hardly be called a popular one. After comparing theatre, movies, radio and television, Mr. Winkler expressed the hope that through more experimentation, better opportunities for training its actors, and simplifying its present over specialized and over organized state, the theatre can develop its own particular style and place in the entertainment world.

The second program of the series will take place on Friday, October 28, when Gregory Tucker will play the piano and discuss some of the aspects of contemporary music.

'OPEN HOUSE' CALENDAR

Tuesday, November 8 - High School, Wyman School.

QUESTIONS ONE-SESSION SCHOOL DAY

Editor of the Star:

Our School Committee has again announced a single session for elementary pupils from January 2 to the middle of March, and this, if you please, in the interest only of the health and safety of these same pupils.

We have heard arguments that the one-session eliminates the dangers of street crossings for the child in going home and returning to school at noon, and also cuts down the number of wet feet.

Nothing is said about these same children released from school an hour and a half earlier, with time on their hands to roam the same streets it is so dangerous to cross under police supervision and to play around the square and double up their dangers.

With two sessions of school the afternoon dismissal sees the children heading for their homes not too long before dusk, and what time is left for play is consumed in their own neighborhoods.

I do not think we can have forgotten the driving storm we had last winter with the no-school signal strangely silent. The little tots trudged through the storm, and arrived at school soaked through. The Committee didn't seem to worry about "health and safety" on that one!

With regard to the children's health, is the Committee trying to tell us that little tots from six to ten years of age are benefitted by a steady grind of five hours of study? Time is of course allotted the children to consume some sandwiches or an apple, or something, as a daily noon-time menu for three months. Perhaps this is the health part of the program!

Little children are all nervous little bundles of energy, disliking to stay too long in one place, or to do the same thing for too long a time. They need the change the two-session school day has always given them. As I recall it, a number of child experts were of this opinion when they were discussing the single session idea in Boston.
I realize of course that you can always get experts on both sides of a question, and I believe the Boston Committee stated most of the mothers favored the one-session day. Perhaps our Winchester mothers want it too, though how they can advocate doing away with the break in the long school day that sends their younger children home for a hot nourishing lunch and parental checkup, with some healthful walking in the open air is hard to understand.

been planned jointly by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armstrong and Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell McCreery for a group of 19 foreign students from various countries for Sunday October 16th. These lovely October loveliest time and the group will be called for in cars by the hosts at the International Student Association Center in Cambridge and driven via the Fells to Winchester, where the two adjoining gardens of the two hosts are in full autumn bloom. Both homes will be open, and the main course of supper will be served at the Mc-Creery Home and dessert and coffee in the Armstrong's Music room, where the rest of the evening will be spent with open fire, music and conversation. It is to be an informal and mostly family party for the foreign guests, who relish a glimpse of American home-life, and a chance to talk informally.

ter International Student Association who is busily planning with the many families who are already thinking of Thanksgiving plans for other foreign students and other dinner or week-end festivities.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

The Wyman School Mothers' Association has accepted the resignation of vice-president Mrs. Wol-

GIRLS MISSING

Two 14 year-old Winchester girls were reported to the Police as missing from their homes, after one of them had told her parents Wednesday evening she was going to a near-by home as a baby sitter.
The girls were seen later that night in Medford and again Thursday morning near the telephone exchange on Washington street. They did not attend school however and their parents and police were in search for them as the Star went to press.

FIELD HOCKEY NOTES

Last week an instructive film made by the United States Hockey Association was shown to the hockey squad and hockey gym classes. This film was of special interest to Winchester girls because Harris MacDonald, Dee Barrett, Debby Symmes, and Ruthie Morse participated in the hockey drills filmed.

The varsity field hockey team scrimmaged Sargent Wednesday morning and lost by a score of 2-1. Winchester held Sargent for the first half but in the second half they came back to tally two fast goals. Bette Kneeland scored the lone Winchester goal mid-way through the second half.

MOUNT HOLYOKE CLUB

On October 18th the Winchester Mount Holyoke Club feels it is most fortunate to once more present Alice Dixon Bond to Winchester for the first of her series of "Book Talks". It will be held at the Winchester Library at 10 a. m. Fourteen members of this club met last Thursday at "Our Own Workshop" at Mrs. Walden Hersey's to make gifts for their Christmas Bazaar. From reports, a good time was enjoyed by all and a great deal of work accomplished in this charming environment.

The members of the club who came to work or to supervise or to run errands were Mrs. Frederick Hatch, Mrs. Hazen Ayre, Mrs. Fred Abbott, Mrs. Adin Bailey, Mrs. Campbell Ross, Mrs. Harold Smith, Mrs. John Clark, Mrs. James Willing, Mrs. Howard Morrison, Mrs. Richard Emerson, Mrs. George Ferguson, Mrs. Walden Hersey and Mrs. Sears Walker.

It has been suggested that members of this club might exhibit some of their personal handiwork at this workshop in case anyone might be interested in giving them orders.

ENGAGEMENT

An engagement of Winchester interest is that of Miss Mallory Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Mallory Webb of Lewellville Park, West Orange, N. J., to James Warder Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Seguire Johnson of New York City and "Deep Roots", Bridgehampton, L. I., formerly of this town.

Miss Webb, a graduate of Miss Porter's School, Farmington, Ct., attended the Beard School, Orange, Vt., and the Berkeley Secretarial School. She made her debut in 1946 and is a member of the Junior League.

Mr. Johnson, who attended the Hotchkiss School, Lakeville, Ct., was graduated from Admiral Billard Academy, New London, Ct., and in June, from Harvard, where he was a member of Pi Eta. He served in the Army Air Force during the war.

In the list of Winchester students attending schools and colleges published in last week's "Star" an error occurred under the "Boston College" heading. The student listed as William Haggerty attending Boston College should have read John Haggerty. Haggerty is the son of Mrs. Mary Haggerty, secretary in the office of the Building Commissioner and the Board of Health.

Patrick Lynch of Woburn, who died Wednesday night at his home on Mill street, after a long illness, formerly lived in Winchester on Russell road. His daughter, Mrs. Warren Downing, with whom he made his home, will be remembered by many in Winchester through her former association as book-keeper with Harold Tarbox, electrician.

DE PAUR INFANTRY CHORUS IN WINCHESTER
NEXT THURSDAY EVENING

The de Paur Infantry Chorus, the first important concert attraction to spring from World War II, will open the Winchester Smith College club's Community Concert Series next Thursday evening, October 20, at 8:30 at the Winchester High School auditorium. Since its civilian debut two years ago, after four year's service in the uniform of the U. S. Army, the de Paur Chorus has given more performances both seasons than any attraction on the Community Concert list. This unique group was organized in 1942 by men of the 372nd Infantry Regiment stationed at Fort Dix, N. J.

Part of the repertoire to be heard here is made up of music of the many lands the ex-soldiers visited. It also includes service songs of World War II as well as contemporary classics, spirituals and songs of different faiths.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB TO HEAR MR. WILLIAM E. MULLINS

Members and guests of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester will meet at the Music Hall Wednesday, October 19 at 10:00 a. m. to hear the first of a series of lectures on current events. Mrs. George W. French and her committee will serve morning coffee at 10:00 a. m. while Mrs. George L. Witham plays selections on the organ. The meeting begins at 10:30 a. m. with the president, Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes, presiding and assisted by Mrs. Philip J. Woodward, educational chairman. The speaker will be Mr. William E. Mullins.

Mr. Mullins is the State House political reporter for the Boston Herald and is an expert on both State and National politics. His predictions in the past have been amazingly accurate and his ability as a reporter is nationally known. Mr. Mullins was very well received when he spoke before the Men's Club of the Episcopal Church here last spring. In view of the forthcoming mayoralty campaign, the Women's Republican Club is looking forward to some very timely and interesting information.

Mr. Mullins' lecture is the first of a series of four lectures. The second speaker will be Mrs. Russell Cazmay, nationally known lecturer on current events and third president of the Women's Republican Club of Cambridge. She will address the Club at the Music Hall on Thursday, November 17 at 10:00 a. m. The third lecture will bring Mr. Thomas Temple Pond, former New England Chairman of the National Economy League and prominent Boston Insurance Executive, to the Music Hall Wednesday morning, March 15, at 10:00 o'clock. And on Monday, April 10, at 8:00 p. m. the ever-popular Mr. Philip Comings, news commentator, will speak at the Lewis Parkhurst School.

The members of the education committee have made arrangements for this fine series of lectures. Mrs. Philip J. Woodward is chairman of the committee and other members are: Mrs. Nelson K. Brown, Mrs. Theodore Browne, Mrs. Herbert T. Wadsworth and Mrs. Warren C. Whitman.

WINCHESTER JUNIOR DANCE GROUP

A meeting of the Winchester Junior Dance Group was held recently at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Theodore Chilcott. Plans for the coming year were discussed and it was decided to hold two dances, on December 28 and March 31, in the Music Hall. These dances are given for all Winchester boys and girls in the Junior and Senior classes whether they are students in the High School or private schools.

Support of these dances assures the young people of two very nice social occasions and permits the committee to make a contribution to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation.

Those assisting Mrs. Chilcott are Mesdames Harry Damon, Raymond Holdsworth, Frederick M. Ives, Jr., Franklin McDermott, Carl Richmond, Paul Roeray, and Russell Symmes.

WINCHESTER WHEATON ALUMNAE

On Thursday afternoon October 6th a tea for Winchester Wheaton Alumnae was held at the home of Mrs. Herbert F. Ross, 26 Lakeview road. Delicious sandwiches, cookies, nuts, mints, and tea were served by the hostess and her assistants, Mrs. Russell Symmes and Mrs. Donald Warren.

Those attending were: Mrs. Walter Keyes, Mrs. James Fitzsimons, Mrs. Hollis Dyer, Mrs. Charles E. Howe, Mrs. E. Douglas Littlefield, Miss Dorothy Critchfield, Miss Sylvia Parker, Mrs. Richard Novak, Mrs. Howard Bartlett, Mrs. William M. Burrows, Mrs. George Whitten, Mrs. Charles Whitten, and Mrs. C. W. Blanchard.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL NEWS

A cooperative arrangement for the training of X-ray technicians is now in effect at the Winchester Hospital and the Addison Gilbert Hospital in Gloucester, through Mr. Harlan Paine as Administrator in Winchester and Mr. Tucker Vye in Gloucester. Student technicians are received for three months' training experience either at Winchester or Gloucester, and are then transferred to the other hospital for an additional three months. The arrangement has many advantages; the students are given excellent training and experience during the six months and thus are better prepared for future service, and also in the course of the half-year are able to be of assistance to the senior staffs in the X-ray departments of the two hospitals. Moreover, any such cooperation is of significance in strengthening understanding between the units of the local hospital world. The young women accepted for this training have all completed basic academic courses in one of the schools giving such preparation. The six months of study and service in Winchester and Gloucester is in the nature of an internship.

The first meeting of the Volunteer Service Group of the Winchester Hospital, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Frank C. D'Eseaux, was held on Thursday, October 6, in the living room of the Nurses' Home with Mrs. C. Wesley Sewall of West Roxbury as guest speaker. The discussion was concerned with the organization and functions of an auxiliary for the enlarged Winchester Hospital. Mrs. Sewall brought to the group considerable experience from her years as President of the Massachusetts Memorial Hospitals Aides Association, and as present Chairman of the committee on the gift shop in the Robinson unit of the Memorial Hospitals, which will be opened about the first of November. Mrs. Sewall's emphasis was on the three-sided value of a hospital auxiliary: (1) its concrete help in the performance of the Hospital's functions, (2) its morale-building strength to the paid staff, and (3) its interpretation of the Hospital to the community. As a corollary of this last point, she emphasized the fact that any dependable organization of volunteer workers represents a cross-section of the service area of the Hospital, and so touches all groups within the population.

Mrs. Sewall has just returned from the hospital meetings in Cleveland, where there was great enthusiasm for what the 300,000 volunteer women workers are already accomplishing for hospitals throughout the United States. It is expected, she reports, that this number will reach one million before the end of another year.

MYSTIC SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

On October 5, the mothers of Miss Littlefield's second grade were entertained by Mrs. Lindsay Caldwell at her home at 39 Grove street. She was assisted by Mrs. George Billman and her committee. Mrs. Paul Dunn and Mrs. Arthur Agnew served at the tea table. Miss Littlefield answered questions concerning the second grade and its work. Mrs. Dunn spoke of the Clare Tree Major plays.

The fourth grade mothers gathered at tea on October 6 at the home of Mrs. Aldrich Forward, 74 Grove street. Mrs. Forward was assisted by Mrs. Allen Adams. Mrs. Paul Dunn and Mrs. William Hopkins presided at the tea table. Miss Jurgensen was present to meet the mothers and to discuss the fourth grade with them. On October 7, Mrs. Edward Robinson opened her home on Canterbury road to the mothers of the third grade and Miss Whittemore. Punch and sandwiches were served. Miss Whittemore then spoke on her plans for the children this year.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S COUNCIL MEETING

The Fall meeting of the Winchester Women's Council will be held on Thursday, October 20th at 10:10 a. m. at the Library.

The speakers will be Miss Corinne Mead and Mrs. A. Allen Kimball. Miss Mead will describe the duties and functions of the newly formed Social Agencies Group of which she was the first chairman. Mrs. Kimball, chairman of the Committee for the High School and enlarged Junior High School Building, will tell of the progress that committee is making. This is an item of intense interest to every citizen of Winchester whether or not he has children of school age. Any community is only as good as its schools and every resident surely wants to see the best schools that can be obtained at a reasonable and sensible expenditure. This meeting will provide an opportunity to learn what is being done about it. Everyone is welcome.

WINDOWS BROKEN AROUND TOWN

Many reports of broken windows and other broken glass were received by the police over the week-end. Some windows were broken at the old School Department Headquarters at the rear of the Wyman School, but the boys responsible were rounded up by the police. Several panes of glass and a window valued at $10 were broken at the shop of Mr. James Violante, 921 Main street, and two windows were broken in the Cross street railroad station. Three streetlights on Forest street and Forest Circle were broken, apparently with slugs from an air-gun. Sunday night a B B shot or a small calibre rifle slug broke a large window in the office of the New England Patent Leather Company, 50 Cross street, while the night watchman was in the office, and Monday night a similar missile broke a big plate glass show window at Seller's Market.

John Joseph McGowan who died Tuesday morning in New York City was the brother of Mrs. James Halwartz of Reservoir street.

DR. GEZORK SPEAKER AT HARVEST HOME SUPPER

At the Annual Harvest Home Supper of the First Baptist Church, which is to be held on Friday evening, October 21st, friends and members of the church will have an unusual opportunity to hear Dr. Herbert Gezork speak on the subject "In Front and Behind the Iron Curtain." Dr. Gezork is well qualified to speak on this particular phase of the European situation since he has just recently returned from a summer spent in Europe studying the conditions which exist at the present time.

Dr. Gezork was born and educated in Germany, and is a graduate of the University of Berlin and the Baptist Theological Seminary in Hamburg. In 1936 he came to this country as a voluntary exile, becoming an American citizen in 1943. In 1945, Dr. Gezork went to Europe under an assignment of the War Department, studying the effects of the war on the civilian population of Germany. In 1946, he accepted another appointment of the War Department and spent sixteen months as Chief of the Protestant Affairs Section in the U. S. Military Government for Germany. His work involved close collaboration with the Religious Affairs officers of the other Allies occupying Germany, and with German political and religious leaders. His report, since it is authentic, should prove of great interest to everyone.

The Harvest Home Supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock by the Philathea Class of the Church under the chairmanship of Mrs. Paul E. Ward. This year celebrates the one hundredth anniversary of the establishment of the Baptist Sunday School in Winchester, and the teachers and officers of the present Church School will have a place of honor in the festivities at the Harvest Home Supper on Friday evening. Recognition of this 100th anniversary will also be given at the Anniversary Sunday morning service on October 23rd when Dr. Wesner Fallow of Andover-Newton will be the guest speaker.

FIRST GRADE TEA

Mrs. Paul S. Comins of 9 Roberts road started off the Room Teas for mothers of the Lewis Parkhurst School on Wednesday, October 5th. This custom of Room Teas has been carried on for a number of years in other elementary schools, and has proved so successful that the new school has adopted the same. These teas are sponsored by the Lewis Parkhurst Mothers' Association. A room-mother is chosen from each grade as a contact between the mothers and the school. This tea for the mothers of children in Grade I to meet Miss Purington, was particularly successful, with nearly every mother accepting Mrs. Comins' kind invitation. Miss Purington spoke of the child's day in the first grade, and then answered all kinds of questions from the mothers. Following this was a social hour during which beautiful tea sandwiches were served by Mrs. Comins and her committee. At this time the mothers had a chance to ask Miss Purington individual questions, and to meet each other.

JR. MRS. GUILD TO HOLD BARN DANCE

Tuesday evening, October 25, will be one evening long remembered as the night the Jr. Mrs. of the First Congregational Church let their hair down, and staged an old-fashioned Barn Dance with piles of fun for all.

The hay stacks will be missing, per the Fire Laws, but there will be plenty of other properties scattered around to give the atmosphere of a barn. Don't miss the ingenious livestock display, for instance. A professional team of callers will instruct the novices, (of which there will be many) and there'll be round dancing for those lacking interest in square.

The committee in charge of the dance includes: Mrs. George Whitten, Mrs. Richard Davenport, Mrs. Charles Whitten, Mrs. F. Meredith Cooper, Mrs. Ormond Hessler, Mrs. David Choate, Jr., and Mrs. Harvey Haag.

So, if you have some old clothes to wear, a strong heart and a sense of humor, why not call some friends and all trip down to the Parish Hall on October 25 for a gala evening of fun.

SIGN RETURNED

A resident of the upper end of Highland avenue has been having difficulty keeping a for sale sign in front of his house and early Monday evening when the sign was found to be missing for the "stealth" time he called the police. Officers Clarence Dunbury and Irving Reardon quickly recovered the sign leaning against a tree at the corner of Park avenue and Highland avenue, also picking up four boys responsible for its removal. The boys were taken home and their parents notified. The sign was returned to its owner.

INTERESTING TALK AT MEN'S CLUB

Lack of parental supervision stands out as one of the leading causes of juvenile delinquency, Dist. Atty. George E. Thompson of Middlesex County, told members of the Men's Club of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, on Monday night.

W. Raymond Chase, president, presided, and introduced the speaker and also presented five boys who were sent to summer camp by the club. The five boys included two Negro youths, two Roman Catholic boys, and one lad from his own church.

"There are many causes of this delinquency," said Mr. Thompson, "but the one that stands out in my mind as peculiar to the times is lack of parental supervision or interest. In certain cases the lack of interest is intentional and deliberate. At times it results from the conduct of misguided parents who cannot judge values."

"Parents forget their home is the foundation of our democracy. They forget the youth of today is the parent of tomorrow," the District Attorney continued.

"Much is being done to remedy the situation. Public spirited and civic-minded citizens and church, schools, and similar agencies, are devoting their time and energy in an effort to channel the interest and activities of youth into organizations which permit supervision."

"They have done excellent work but it would be fatal if such agencies were to supplant home guidance as distinguished from supplementing it. The key to the solution of this problem is not in the hands of the district attorney or any other law enforcement agency. It rests primarily with the parents. They must be made to understand their first responsibility is to the home and children. Otherwise irreparable damage to the family and society may result."

"Of course we can't put the blame on parents in all cases. But parents can't shift to church, school, either all responsibility."

Others taking part were the Rev. John Snook, Jr., the pastor, who invoked the blessing. About 50 attended.

Mrs. Leslie J. Scott, Chairman of Ways and Means, and her large committee have worked out every detail of the evening, and all is in readiness. Mr. Lyndon Burnham and Mr. James Dinell will have charge of the drawings. Mr. William Sullivan will be the checker.

Come early - see all the prizes on the stage! We hope your ticket is the lucky one to win the prize you want.

DECORATED WITH LINGERIE

Monday forenoon Special Officer Flaherty of the Water Department notified the police that he had something a little unusual in the ways of woods ornamentation off Border road opposite Leslie road. Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy went to investigate and found that some one had festooned several oak limbs and bushes with articles of feminine wearing apparel, including three slips, 10 pairs of pants and 22 bras. The lingerie was taken to headquarters.

Two places in Winchester reported women's underthings stolen from the clotheslines, over the week-end, but that found on Border road did not come from either place. Several thefts of lingerie from clotheslines in Medford were also reported but whether the underthings used as decorations on Border road came from that city hadn't been established Tuesday morning.

TICKETS ON SALE MONDAY FOR COMDR. IRVING JOHNSON COLOR FILM LECTURE

Tickets for Comdr. Irving Johnson's color film lecture story, "Yankee's Wander-World," to be presented on Tuesday evening, November 22, at 8:15 in the Winchester high school auditorium, will go on sale next Monday, October 17, under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. Richard D. Bolster and Mrs. Philip P. Wadsworth. This is the annual money raising event of the Winchester Mothers' Association for the benefit of the Scholarship Foundation.

Comdr. Johnson, skipper of the "Yankee" will recount the experiences of his ship and its amateur crew which sailed from Gloucester on November 2, 1947, on its fourth world cruise - of eighteen months - the first since the war. On board were Mrs. Johnson, their twelve year old son, Arthur, a crew of young men and women plus the ship's surgeon.

The two reels of color film taken en route, which run for approximately one hour and thirty minutes, are unbelievably beautiful and thrilling. The cruise took them to Haiti, Panama, Ecuador, the Galapagos Islands (populated mostly by Ecuadorian convicts) San Salvador, Easter Island, Pitcairn Island of Capt. Bligh's "Bounty" fame, and Honolulu, to mention but a few.

They had many adventures with the natives of these South Sea islands, for instance the people on Pitcairn, swarming about Dr. Bothamley, the ship's surgeon, for everything from dental work (to which he was unaccustomed!) to advice on fits. The Yankee carried donated gifts to many isolated spots and the natives eagerly swapped their carved carvings and woven baskets for rat poison, cloth, flour, nails, paint and other commodities their islands can never supply.

The procurement and preparation of food on the Yankee's cruise will interest any housewives and mothers who have groaned inwardly at the prospect of getting ready for family picnics! The Yankee's cook proudly proclaims "My bread will rise in the roughest sea." Fish was plentiful for the catching, and wild pigs and goats were obtained free on some of the islands, easily solving the meat problem.

"Yankee's Wander-World" is a spectacular film lecture, and the moderately priced ticket for this world cruise will not only take you to places you may never otherwise see, but will also help youngsters to further education. For ticket information please call Mrs. Bolster, WI 6-2614 or Mrs. Wadsworth, WI 6-1891.

Upon arrival in Japan in July 1946 he was assigned to Headquarters Yokohama, Command. In May 1949 he was transferred to the Transportation Section, Headquarters Eighth Army. He entered the army in February 1943 at Fort Devens, Massachusetts. SFC Clark was promoted to the grade of Master Sergeant on the 12th of September 1949. His wife, Mrs. Helen H. #### VISIT STOP AND SHOP

Beginning today shoppers in the Stop & Shop Supermarket, 556 Main street, will be able to buy Stop & Shop's own baked goods in the bakery section of this local store. Until recently, these fine pastries have been sold only in a limited number of Stop & Shop Bakery stores, and their famous shop in the South Station. An entirely new line of foods from Stop & Shop's own ovens will replace the regular commercial bakery products formerly carried in the store.

The complete variety of cakes, pies, cookies, rolls, and Danish pastries is prepared in a main bakery operated by Stop & Shop and delivered daily to the bakery counters. This new supply of baked goods will mean finer, fresher pastries with all the advantages and speed offered by self-service.

All pastries in the Stop & Shop line are individually boxed to give customers ample opportunity of choosing what they like, and to add to carry-home convenience. In pre-packaging its own baked goods, Stop & Shop now gives its customers the superior quality and selection of a separate bake shop right in the self-service section of the store.

THEFTS FROM CARS

A number of thefts from automobiles took place in town over the week-end. Friday night four hubcaps were stolen from a '49 Olds sedan, owned by Mrs. Benjamin Cole of 76 Downing street, Reading, parked in the Winchester Theatre yard. Later a youth raking leaves in the theatre yard found the caps buried under a pile of leaves and they were returned to the owner.

Saturday night a radiator ornament was stolen from the Buick of Dr. D. K. Lewis of 76 Emerson road while the machine was parked on Main street near Blanchard's Lumber Yard, and the same night a fender guard was stolen from another '49 Olds parked at the theatre yard.

Some time during the night of Saturday a kit of linoleum-laying tools valued at $75 was stolen from an automobile parked in the yard of the owner, Howard G. Goodrow of 116 Forest street. The same night Robert M. Gardner of 571 Washington street reported that a pair of binoculars and a flashlight, valued at $55, were stolen from the glove compartment of his car, parked in the yard of his home. The hinges of the glove compartment had been forced to gain access.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE

Beginning next Sunday the University Theatre will play host to the song-filled, fun-filled, blarney-filled romance, "Top O' The Morning", co-starring Bing Crosby, Ann Blyth, Barry Fitzgerald and Hume Cronyn. According to all reports, it is as lilting and delightful a picture as has been seen in a long time, and provides Bing and Barry with a story written to order for their combined talents. "Top O' The Morning" has a setting as Irish as its name and tells the provocative story of the theft of the famed Blarney Stone from its niche in the town of Cork. Fitzgerald and Cronyn comprise the two-man police force of the town to which it sent American Insurance Investigator Crosby. His firm has insured the stone for a considerable sum and Bing is expected to solve the mystery.

Lundigan and Dorothy Patrick, the picture illustrates how a determined officer makes use of a few slim clues to aid in the search for his elusive quarry.

On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes Alfred Hitchcock's "Notorious" co-starring Ingrid Bergman and Cary Grant and "Three Is A Family" with Charles Ruggles, Marjorie Reynolds and Fay Bainter.

Gregory Peck and Ava Gardner team for the first time in the exciting new drama, "The Great Sinner," which comes Thursday. Unfolding the tense story of a man whose passion for gambling makes him reckless of life and love, the all-star cast also includes Melvyn Douglas, Walter Houston, Ethel Barrymore, Frank Morgan and Agnes Moorehead.

Walt Disney's "Seal Island," a sparkling Technicolor story of the Seal Islands up near Alaska; the March of Time, "Policeman's Holiday" and other short subjects complete the program.

OPPORTUNITIES IN NEW NAVAL RESERVE

The United States Navy has established a post-war Naval Reserve which combines the best features of the old Naval Reserve with a new streamlined organization offering the use of modern equipment and training techniques. Thousands of applications have already been accepted from Navy Veterans from all over the country. The new Naval Reserve is divided into two main branches, the Organized and the Inactive Reserve.

The Organized Reserve is composed of trained officers and men who will be available immediately for mobilization to fill billets at sea and ashore in the event of a national emergency. The Organized Reserve is divided further into General Duty officers and men, and special duty officers and men, and each of these divisions is subdivided into Aviation and Surface components. Members of this organization drill one night a week at a Naval Reserve Training Center or Naval Air Station and receive a full day's pay in rate for each drill.

These drills include practical work in the man's specialty, lectures, films, and trips to Naval and industrial activities. Members of the Organized Reserve are eligible to take a two-week cruise aboard a modern combat ship, or perform training duty ashore, with full pay and allowances. An individual is ordered to training duty only with his consent. Training in specialized fields, such as Electronics, Physics, and Internal Combustion Engines is open to officers and men in the Organized Reserve.

The Inactive Reserve is composed of officers and men who are enrolled in the Naval Reserve, but who are unable to devote as much time to Naval Reserve Activities as men in the Organized Reserve. Facilities for training and instruction are made available to these men on a voluntary basis. The Inactive Reserve is also subdivided into General duty, Special duty, Aviation and Surface components.

Full information on the New Naval Reserve can be obtained at the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Room 306, New Post Office Building, Lowell, Mass., every day from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. and on Saturdays from 9:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon, or at the USNR Training Center, Bedford Avenue, Lowell, Massachusetts.

The Fortnightly opened its new club year with a Dessert and reception to new members and a business meeting. Mrs. Harold H. Given, president, presided over a most enthusiastic session, and presented her report on the 58th Biennial Convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs held last April at Hollywood Beach, Florida. Mrs. Given and Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes attended as delegates of The Fortnightly. The topic of discussion was the promotion of World Peace through international friendship and understanding, and through the strengthening of our own democracy at home.

Club presidents from each of the forty-eight states as well as Hawaii were present. Other countries represented were Korea, Mexico, France and Jamaica. Both delegates spoke enthusiastically of southern hospitality, the warm greetings extended to the Convention by prominent national leaders and the excellent addresses. The influential strength of women's club organizations was strongly evidenced throughout the Convention program.

Mrs. Marshall W. Symmes, Federation Secretary, reported on the 57th Annual Meeting of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs held last May at Swampscott. A number of prominent speakers addressed this three day meeting. Mrs. Ruth Bryan Rhode, former U. S. Minister to Denmark, in her address "There is a Path to Peace" said, "The United Nations, quietly and in small but steady accomplishments is serving its peace-keeping function." She urged club women to support the United Nations as the one machine set up specifically to foster understanding among nations and keep peace once it is made.

The Fortnightly is joining with the Winchester League of Women Voters in presenting an Educational program in Winchester throughout United Nations Week, October 17 to 24.

A moving picture called "The People's Charter" and which led to the forming of the United Nations is to be shown in the Junior High School for the students. Mr. Eli Kaminsky, Secretary of the United Nations Council at Harvard will speak at the Senior High School Assembly.

Each of the five banks in Winchester will have free literature for you to help yourself to. Do take it and read it.

The churches have been asked to make announcements of United Nations Week.

Miss Mead will have a special display of literature at the library on United Nations.

There will be three windows in downtown stores with pictures showing progress already made, and in one there will be a fire engine which is the symbol of the United Nations.

One hears about the failures of a new idea, but when we realize it took ten years to get a Constitution we may feel encouraged about the accomplishments of the United Nations if we take the time to learn what is actually being done to bring about peace throughout the world, and of course when all is said and done that is really the function of the United Nations.

The Preservation of Antiques Committee, Mrs. Alice R. Andrews, chairman, announces a trip to the Royal House in Medford on Thursday, October 20th. A personally conducted tour by Mr. Shedd will begin at 2 o'clock in Medford. Members will meet at 1:30 p. m. on Waterfield road, between the Post Office and the Winchester station. Those wishing to take this trip please contact Miss Louise J. Bancroft, chairman of the trip, or Mrs. Alice R. Andrews, by next Monday.

Mrs. Gilbody, chairman of War Veterans Committee, requests that the following names be added to her committee:

Alice S. Jenkins
Marion A. Littlefield,
Edna F. Miller
Harriett A. Page
Gertrude E. Trott
Mary Wilson

Mrs. Ragnar T. Brandt is serving on the Scholastic Committee.

The entertainment was provided by Mr. Joseph Leonardo, lyric tenor, who delighted his audience with a program ranging from opera to cowboy ballads. He was beautifully accompanied on the piano by Miss Mary Burns, a graduate of the New England Conservatory.

After hearing him, all agreed with the prediction of music critics that this young man who is a student at Boston University School of Music is assured a place in the world of music.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS HEARS JUDGE WALTERS

The opening meeting of the Winchester League of Women Voters was held last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Howard Chidley. More than eighty members were present. It was a lovely afternoon after all, and the view of the lake and of the changing foliage added greatly to everyone's enjoyment.

The program consisted of a short business meeting followed by a reading of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights by fifteen members of the League. This was in recognition of the approaching "United Nations Week," October 17 through 24.

Following the reading Judge Golda Walters spoke most ably on the subject "Laws Every Woman Should Know." Judge Walters knows her subject thoroughly and explained briefly common law, property laws, making of wills, and marriage laws. The audience was most enthusiastic, and kept her busy answering questions for some time following her talk.

In closing Judge Walters gave a very moving tribute to the Universal Declaration of Human Rights as a standard by which future progress by mankind would be measured.

The United Nations Committee of the League, working with the International Relations Committee of the Fortnightly Club, is arranging for the observance of "United Nations Week" in Winchester. Under the able direction of Mrs. E. U. Edgar, Mrs. Bowen Tufts, and Mrs. George Brayley, the committee has arranged for window displays in the drugstores, and Filene's and Berlow's. The banks are going to distribute literature and announcements will be made from the pulpits. There will be a movie, "The People's Charter," shown to the Junior High School, and Eli Kaminsky, president of the United Nations League at Harvard, will speak in a High School Assembly.

The League's Structure and Administration of Government Committee, under Mrs. Henry Dellicker, is planning a study group on "The Town Manager Form of Government," so that its members will have some knowledge of the "pros and cons," if a change is seriously considered in Winchester.

Mrs. Malcolm Nichols gave a report on the work being done by the Carrie Chapman Catt Memorial Fund, a League activity. Under this fund, a member of the National Board of the League went to Italy at the request of the Italian women to instruct them in democratic procedure, and a number of German women brought here by our Military Government in Germany were entertained and shown American ways, social, educational, and political.

The president gave a brief report of the Fall Conference of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, which was attended by eleven local members. Mr. Norman McDonald, executive director of the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers Association, spoke to the conference and said that there were fashions in attitudes toward taxes as there are in clothes, and that the style in taxes today was expressed by the one word "Conciliation." Those who attended the Conference were Mrs. Philip Johnson, Mrs. Richard Wymann, Mrs. Horace Abbott, Mrs. Harold Hall, Mrs. Mortimer Downey, Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, Mrs. William Spaulding, Miss Grace Willis, Mrs. Robert Baylies, Mrs. Robert Drake, and Mrs. Carle Zimmerman.

Losers Fade After Dominating First-Half Play

Winchester High's surprising football team punched out two second-half touchdowns to down a scrappy Winthrop High eleven at Winthrop last Saturday afternoon, 21-6. Coach Knowlton's charges left the field at half time with a hair-line 7-6 advantage gained through the educated toe of Langdon Smith, place-kick specialist.

Statistically Winchester made 11 first downs and 256 yards on the ground, completing three of five passes for 85 yards more. The locals didn't draw a penalty and fumbled only once, recovering. Winthrop made seven first downs and 201 yards by rushing, failing to complete any of their three attempted passes. Winthrop fumbled twice and lost 15 yards in penalties.

Winchester advanced after the opening kickoff to the Winthrop 10 where it lost the ball on downs. The first Winthrop offensive march, stuttered when Dan Devlin intercepted an Evans pass and got back to the Winthrop 43. The locals had to kick and Amico's boot went for a touchback. Winthrop putting the ball in play at its 20. A long run by Evans on second down was nullified by a fast starting penalty, the ball going back to the Winthrop 16.

Brogna scampered to a first down at the 35, and then "Shellie" Bernstein broke through Winchester's line. Cutting and twisting, the little halfback worked his way into the open, some really effective blocking getting him past the last two Winchester defenders and 65 yards for a touchdown. Cirurso squarely blocked the attempted try for goal.

Winchester ran the Winthrop kickoff out to the 30. An Amico pitchout to O'Brien lost 3, which Amico got back before he dropped back and threw off a screen pass to Devlin. "Dannie" broke from a flock of Winthrop boys on the Winchester 30 and really outlegged several pursuers to the goal line for the equizing touchdown. Langdon Smith kicked in the extra point with Jost Michelsen holding. Winthrop had driven from its 28 to Winchester's 35 as the half ran out.

The second half had scarcely begun when "Stogy" Gilberto recovered a Winthrop fumble at the Winthrop 36. O'Brien was piled up for no gain, but on second down Amico on a veer-buck, broke through the Winthrop line and cut back through the middle to bull his way past several defenders and run for a touchdown. Smith again converted, splitting the uprights perfectly.

In the waning minutes of the third quarter Amico ran back an Evans punt to the Winchester 46. Spelled once by McGowan for four yards, Amico battered his way to the Winthrop 21 in four tries as the quarter ended.

Amico reached the 10 in three bucks, and Devlin sneaked through center to the five. Amico rammed through an eight man line to the one and then slanted over off tackle for the touchdown. Mr. Smith again methodically kicked in the extra point, right through the middle.

With a three-to-one lead in touchdowns Coach Knowlton sent in his second and third stringers and Winthrop was quickly threatening. Paul Fullham took the kick-off and reversed the ball on a criss-cross to Sheldon Bernstein the speedy little Winthrop boy nearly getting past the whole Winchester team before being pulled down at Winchester's 41.

End runs and delayed bucks carried to the Winchester 9 where a fumble was recovered by Winchester.

On first down Paul McGowan broke through the line and cut prettily past the secondaries to lead the field in a mad gallop for the Winthrop goal-line, being pulled down from behind on the Winthrop 41.

Then with McGowan, Casey and Richmond carrying, the scrubs drove to the Winthrop 22 where Casey passed to Symmes for a first down at the 10 as time ran out, completing an 81 yard advance.

MAURICE BROWN TOURNEY REACHES FINAL

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Richart and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Roundey are finalists in the mixed tournament at the Winchester Country Club for the coveted Maurice F. Brown memorial trophy.

The Richarts beat Ed Taylor and Mrs. Hope Lynch in the semi-final round last week-end, 5 and 3, while the Roundeys upset Horace Ford and Mrs. Kate Belcher, former women's State champ, 2 and 1. Mrs. Belcher and Ford, former big league baseball star, had been favored by many to win this year's tourney.

In the tournament's second flight competition Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Buffum beat Ralph Bonnell and Mrs. Maurice F. Brown, 2 and 1 in one of the two semi-final matches. Mr. and Mrs. Percy Cooke beat Dr. and Mrs. Ivor Hakanson, 3 and 2, in the other.

In the Championship flight consolation Mr. and Mrs. George Farrar beat Bill Blackham and Miss Adelaide Homer in the first of two semi-final matches, 1 up. The other match was won, 3 and 2, by Clarence MacDavitt and Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth over Mr. and Mrs. William Ferguson.

Seventy-five men and women golfers attended the buffet dinner at the conclusion of the matches and enjoyed a refresh of play during the social hour which followed.

"Pete" Dillingham, speedy left halfback on last year's Winchester High School football team, started at right half back for the Harvard freshmen in their losing game at Andover Academy last Saturday. "Pete" scored one of Harvard's two touchdowns on a 30 yard run in the third quarter. Andover won, 26-16.

3RD STRAIGHT FOR WINCHESTER HARRIERS

Winchester's Cross Country team raced to their 3rd straight victory over hitherto undefeated Wellesley at Wellesley last Friday, 23 to 38.

Perry Norton and Co-Captain Blake ran a neck and neck race until the last 1/2 mile when Blake aggravated a previous injury and was forced to withdraw. However, Winchester's well balanced team came on to capture 7 of the first ten positions. The new Junior star, "Buzzy" Bird, finished a strong second, followed closely by Co-Captain Wolfe.

The second team continued its undefeated streak to 8 straight over a two year period by thoroughly subduing the Wellesley 2nds by a 15 to 47 score. Fran Lawton paced the team to victory by finishing in the top position.

WINCHESTER BOYS WITH HARVARD

Winchester's "Charlie" Roche scored the first touchdown of the Harvard-Cornell football game in the Stadium last Saturday on a cutback over center from nine yards out with another Winchester boy, Sarto Walsh, adding the extra point at placement to enable the Crimson to lead the Ithicans for a short time at least, 7-0. Johnny West also saw service at fullback during the game which was won by Cornell, 33-14.

DRIVER CLASSES AT W. H. S.

Mr. William Branley, instructor in Driver Education at W. H. S., reports that this year's class has six girls and one boy enrolled. With cooperation of the weather-man likely, the course will be completed within a six-weeks period. Mr. Branley wishes to call attention to the fact that Registrar of Motor Vehicles Rudolph King is not interested in raising the age requirement to eighteen, because he can point with pride to the fifty per cent decrease in accidents by 16-18 year old drivers during the last ten years. This favorable situation has been brought about largely by the excellent records of school-trained drivers.

PULLED PIGEON FROM MILL POND

Fireman Walter Skerry made an unusual rescue Tuesday morning when he pulled a badly frightened pigeon from the Mill Pond just to the south of the Mt. Vernon street bridge.

The pigeon apparently slipped or fell from the bank into the water on the north side of the bridge and propelled itself down river under the bridge by means of its wings. To the south of the bridge there was a bit of board on the water near shore and the pigeon climbed onto it, remaining there until Fireman Skerry waded into the water with his big boots and brought the bird ashore.

The pigeon offered no objections to being picked up and after taken to Fire Headquarters remained on the top of the service truck at the rear of the station as near Fireman Skerry as possible. The latter, for his rescue, now is entitled to wear the Wilkie button, formerly worn by Fireman Joe Donahue.

OF COURSE WINCHESTER WILL SAY "YES!"

ALICE DIXON BOND

The Winchester Mount Holyoke Club was again most gratified to welcome Alice Dixon Bond at the library last Tuesday for her first "Book Talk" of the season. Her attractive personality and penetrating analysis of the current books brought out a fine attendance of women again this year.

Miss Bond began by reviewing three humorous books. The first was an anthology of unpublished stories by Robert Benchley called "Chips Off The Old Benchley." Then there was a book of cartoons called "Here's Hazel" by Ted Keys. Thirdly, there was an unusual animal picture book by Clare Barnes, Jr. called "White Collar Zoo." In it Mr. Barnes is able with proper captions to humorously compare members of the usual business office with the reflections seen in animal faces of an everyday zoo.

Another picture book that Miss Bond felt was a very valuable contribution at this time was Agnes Rogers', "Women Are Here To Stay." In it Miss Rogers traces the patterns of American life this last fifty years, particularly in reference to women, with very well chosen illustrations.

Miss Bond praised highly Mitchell Wilson's "Live With Lightning" for being a well written novel. She went on to say that the book reflected the pressures of modern life on the integrity of a budding scientist. This book was chosen by the Literary Guild as outstanding. Another light novel with some very interesting characterizations is Helen MacInnis' "Rest and Be Thankful."

For those liking books on children, John Mason Brown's "Morning Faces" would be a good choice. The accounts of his excursions and conversations with his young son alternate from the sublime to the ridiculous and makes very interesting reading.

The last three books reviewed were of a more serious vein. First, there is the Finnish author, Mike Waltari's historical novel called "The Egyptian." This exciting book has been translated into many languages and over a million copies have been sold in Europe alone. It concerns the life of an Egyptian who lives 1400 years before Christ and is full of amazing revelations of the customs and the men of that day.

Then there are two more novels, George Howes' "Call It Treason" won the coveted Christopher prize for the best novel not offending good taste. It is a true story of espionage in Europe during the last war, as observed and experienced by its author who was a member of the Office of Strategic Services. It is a positive book emphasizing the dignity of man under duress.

The last book reviewed was by Edward Ellsberg, our most famous salvage engineer and was called "No Banners, No Bugles." Miss Bond read excerpts from this book to show how magnificently it was written. For an exciting book on World War II, she recommended this book most highly.

DR. WESNER FALLOW TO PREACH

With this year marking the 100th anniversary of the establishing of the Baptist Sunday School in Winchester, it is fitting that a noted authority on religious education should bring the message to the First Baptist Church at the Anniversary Sunday service at 10:45 Sunday morning, October 23rd. ### DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

With Mrs. Miriam Black of the Red Cross Blood Program as the guest speaker, the October meeting of the Winchester District Nursing Association met last Friday morning in the General Committee Room, Town Hall, with Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth presiding, Mrs. Edward R. Grosvenor reading the secretary's report, Mrs. William Spaulding, the treasurer.

Mrs. Jane Lord, Executive Director of the Association, reported 34 admissions of patients this month — 344 new patients so far this year cared for by the new three-nurse staff. For all Winchester residents the service of the District nurse, a Red Feather Agency, is available when sickness comes.

Reports last Friday were submitted by Miss Helen Monroe, Finance chairman, who presented the budget for 1950, which will in turn be submitted to the Community Fund for approval. The board voted its acceptance of the budget, noting the urgent need for a three nurse staff to care for the many calls which come to the Association.

Mrs. Henry E. Moffette reported the resignation of Mrs. Manning, office secretary, and the appointment of Mrs. Ernest Clark to that post was confirmed unanimously.

Board members voted to have the November meeting, always the second Friday of each month, on November 18, due to the holiday.

Although most of the board members knew about the Red Cross blood program, and many had given blood to it, the informal talk after the executive meeting by Mrs. Miriam Black brought many additional facts to the members. During wartime, there were 35 centers in this country for blood donations, and over 13 million pints of blood were given by the American people to the boys in the armed forces, in addition to the money contributed to make the whole Red Cross program possible (it costs $1.19 a pint to process the blood). At the end of the war when the Red Cross stopped collecting blood for the armed forces, the State Dept. of Public Health in Massachusetts started a state-wide program to collect blood for civilian use, and asked help of the Red Cross. The State furnishes headquarters, mobile units — the Red Cross supplies the tremendous staff of workers and volunteers, and gets donors. In 1948, a National blood program was sought, with the Red Cross taking over the work of the state and operating the entire program, through its well-organized chapters.

"This blood program is for civilians — for example, there are more amputations for civilians in one year than for the men in the war, and plasma is needed. Doctors who served in the war learned to use blood transfusions in operations, and they have asked for it in their civilian capacity. In case of another Coconut Grove, blood supplies must be ready." Mrs. Black pointed out that there are today 30 centers in the country — by 1950, they hope to have 43, Massachusetts still being the only one with a state-wide program, sending out two mobile units a day.

"Each time the mobile unit goes out, we hope to collect 100 pints of blood," Mrs. Black added. "But we don't — and so we don't have a well-stocked blood bank." She told of the uses blood had been put to, of the great men at its head — men like Dr. Diamond of the Children's Hospital — of the tremendous need today for more plasma. "From one pint of blood donated by a civilian today, different fractions can be obtained to serve 29 people."

"Winchester, with its population of over 15,000, should be able to contribute about 430 pints of blood in one year — and this blood is used for those in the town who will need it. There is no charge for Red Cross blood. The only charge is made by the Hospital, for administration of the blood."

On Tuesday afternoon October 11 the first meeting of the Noonan School Mothers' Association was held in the Assembly Hall. A large representation of mothers attended. Children were cared for in the kindergarten.

Mrs. William T. Haggerty, president, welcomed the new members into the organization and introduced her board:
Mrs. Robert Haggerty, 1st Vice-president.
Mrs. Vernon Phinney, 2nd Vice-president.
Mrs. James Flaherty, Secretary.
Mrs. Roy Horn, Treasurer.
Mrs. Kenneth MacArthur, past president, was given a fire-place mirror in appreciation of her past services. The teachers were presented a coffee table for their room.

The President appealed to the members for cooperation in the events scheduled for fund-raising; namely, the Central Board project in the High School, November 22 and the Annual Turkey Whist and Bridge Party, November 14 in the Noonan School Hall.

Teas for teachers were scheduled in the homes of Room Mothers and arrangements were made for Dad's Night, November 7. Room mothers were appointed as follows:
Kindergarten: Mrs. Guy Wilberger and Mrs. William Ring.
1st grade: Mrs. Leslie Nadeau and Mrs. Alfred Poole.
2nd grade: Mrs. Warren Branch, Mrs. Emilio Del Rossi, Mrs. William Crowley and Mrs. John Elliott.
3rd grade: Mrs. Frank Gerbick and Mrs. Ernest Soller.

Miss Rich introduced the teachers and addressed the gathering. Delightful refreshments were served by the Board. The next meeting will be held in November, following which a white elephant penny sale will provide funds to perpetuate the milk fund.

Sweet Briar College of Sweet Briar, Virginia, has notified Mr. Norton E. Demsey, Director of Guidance here, that Mrs. Evelyn Munger, Secretary of the Committee on Admissions will be at the high school Monday, November 7, at ten.

On November 8, the Coast Guard Academy, not the Coast Guard recruiting service, will have Coast Guard officers at Winchester High School during the activity period, beginning shortly after eight-thirty.

Principal Wade L. Grindle invites parents interested in those schools to attend the conferences with their sons and daughters.

During the current week Mr. Dana Cotton, Assistant Director of Admissions at Harvard, and Mr. Hubert S. Shaw, Director of Admissions at Bowdoin College, addressed students and parents.

CONFERENCE OF TEACHERS' FEDERATION

Miss Lydia Whittemore and Miss Charlotte LeClair visited Northampton as delegates of the Winchester Teachers' Club to the Officers' Annual Conference held by the Massachusetts Teachers' Federation at Hotel Northampton, Saturday, October 15.

Attorney William J. O'Keefe addressed the group on the Federation's legal work, and emphasized the need, not only for adequate state aid to schools, but also for informing people about state aid and the "mayor's bill," which would divest school committees of the control of funds voted for education.

Hugh Nixon, secretary of the M. T. F., outlined the work of the Federation along other lines, and Dr. Karl H. Berns, Assistant Secretary of the National Education Association, spoke on the work of his organization, and in a later talk pictured the teaching profession as "running a race against atomic war." He prophesied that "education will win, because the peoples of the world are asking for peace." Dr. Berns also discussed intelligently some of the clouded issues now surrounding the question of Federal aid to education. Henry Toy, Jr., Executive Director of the National Citizens' Commission for Public Schools, spoke on the importance of the layman in education, and mentioned ways in which the layman can be and is being acquainted with the aims, needs, and accomplishments of American education. The conference was attended by about one hundred and fifty officers of teachers' associations from all over the state.

At a special town meeting in Stoneham Monday evening it was voted to build an eight room elementary school of North street, above the center, at a cost of $320,000. The land, purchased some time ago cost $15,000.

Harry "Lally" Myers, last year's football and track star at Winchester High, is not attending Kimball Union Academy as stated in a recent issue of the Star. The little speed merchant is at Hebron Academy in Maine, living in Steydvant Hall and playing right halfback on the varsity football team, the same position he played last fall at Winchester.

Messrs. Ned and Jack Crawford arrived in Town the first of the week for a fortnight's visit. Ned, who has been associated with Sumner T. McCall for many years, came down from Williamsburg, Va., and Jack, who is still making Lally columns, came on from Chicago. They plan to visit old friends here and at the Cape, and look over some of the newer changes in the town of their birth.

WINCHESTER, 34;
STONEHAM, 0Touchdown Dash by Amico
Featured Spirited Game

A thoroughly aroused Winchester High football team beat Stoneham High, 34-0, last Saturday afternoon on Manchester Field, scoring in every period and holding the scrappy visitors safely all the way.

Plenty of interest surrounded the game, due to the fact that a former Winchester football star, Tony DeTeso, is now coaching at Stoneham and was bringing his first team from that school to his old home town. On the Winchester side emotions were a bit mixed with many wishing Tony luck while hoping Winchester wouldn't lose.

Tony had nothing to be ashamed of. His team wasn't good enough to win, but his boys had a lot of spirit all the way and showed flashes of both offensive class and defensive stubbornness, sufficient to indicate that Stoneham is not long to serve as a football trial horse. A little better execution and Stoneham could easily have scored on a couple of pass plays while just before the half the visitors advanced from their own 21 to the Winchester 21 in four plays.

Winchester played its best game of the year against Stoneham. Needed all week by DeTeso enthusiasts, the local boys had plenty of spirit in their own right and though Stoneham massed its defense to stop Amico pretty well through the middle, O'Brien and Gilberto were able to gain on outside plays as was reserve fullback "Dick" Casey late in the game. The final Winchester touchdown was on a pretty 15 yard forward pass from Casey to reserve end, Stowell Symmes.

The locals' first touchdown came midway through the first quarter. Amico ran a Stoneham punt back to his 41, O'Brien made a long 8 yards off tackle and Amico bucked for a first down just across the midfield mark.

Amico got a grudging yard through the middle and then on a reverse behind nice blocking "Story" Gilberto got out into the open and ripping nicely away from a Stoneham tackler around the 25 yard line, drove into the end zone for the score. The goal-kicking team of Langdon Smith and Jost Michelsen functioned perfectly for the extra point with Smith booting.

Stoneham threatened to get going after the kickoff, but "Story" Gilberto was Johnny-on-the-spot to recover a visiting fumble at the Stoneham 34 and Winchester was off again.

Amico bucked for two and then took a pitchout to drive to the Stoneham 16. A five-yarder against the visitors for delaying the game put the ball on the 12 and Amico rammed through the tight defense to the five and another first down.

Once again Stoneham was penalized, for holding, to a yard of its goal line, but the visitors didn't crack and Amico couldn't get through on his first try at the line.

The teams changed goals for the second quarter and Amico on a wide run and cutback went over for the touchdown. Smith's try for the extra point was plenty high but a bit wide.

Stoneham had all its fire as the teams returned after the half, but most of the doubt was taken out of the game when Amico ran the kickoff back for a touchdown.

Florida's kick trickled away from O'Brien who chased the ball to the local three and galloped out to the 10 where he slipped the ball to Amico on a criss-cross. The deception was good as two Stoneham boys pilled O'Brien.

Cutting well back from the 10 Amico started across the field, and aided by a swell block thrown by Walter Murphy about the Winchester 30 or 35, tight-roped along the far sideline, dodging and shaking off tacklers until only two remained between him and the goal line.

Dan Devlin did a swell job on the Stoneham defenders, shoving one inside and then throwing a block that eliminated both, leaving Paul to outleg the field to the Stoneham goal. Smith kicked in the extra point.

Moreira ran the kickoff back to the Stoneham 40 and J. Burns on a well executed reverse galloped 30 yards to the Winchester 30 before being knocked outside.

Here the locals braced and took the ball on downs at the 25, O'Brien in two off tackle plays reaching the 42 for first down. Amico added another first down at the Stoneham 47 and Gilberto reversed for a third at the 21, a swell diving block by Burns through two interfevers preventing a touchdown.

O'Brien added three and Amico bucked to the Stoneham nine. O'Brien carried again from left formation and really whizzed up the tackle hole to score in a pretty driving run. Smith kicked the goal, but Winchester was detected holding and the ball went back 15 yards to the 17.

Mr. Smith was not dismayed. He merely got a little more height and still booted the ball through there, an actual kick of about 37 yards.

Just before the end of the third quarter Coach Knowlton sent in his second and third stringers and the subs held the tired Stoneham boys with Dick Casey midway through the quarter kicking Stoneham into a hole with a lofty punt that went outside at the Stoneham 11.

With Burns and Moreira carrying Stoneham drove to its 40, but here Maggio intercepted a Stoneham pass and got back to the visitors' 35.

Casey immediately skirted Stoneham's left flank for a dash to the 8 with Hurburt making a fine last-ditch tackle. Richmond lost 2 on a reverse and a five yarder against Winchester for offside put the ball back on the 15.

Here Casey dropped back and passed to Symmes in the end zone for the final touchdown with Smith automatically producing the extra point.

Winchester made 8 first downs and 228 yards by rushing, completing one of five passes for 15 yards. The locals lost 25 yards in penalties and fumbled three times, recovering each time, according to the officials. Stoneham made seven first downs and 133 yards on the ground, completing two of 12 passes for 20 yards. Stoneham lost 44 yards to the white pants and recovered one of its two fumbles.

ROUNDEYS BROWN CUP
WINNERS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Roundey finally won the mixed foursomes golf tournament for the coveted Maurice F. Brown Memorial Trophy last Sunday at the Winchester Country Club, defeating the favored team of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Richart in the championship round, 4 and 3. The tourney had been in progress for several weeks.

Many were picking the Richarts as ultimate winners and they had played good golf throughout the tournament. The Roundeys, however, served notice when they won from Horace Ford and Mrs. Kate Belcher in the semi-finals that they would be tough to beat in the championship bracket, and so it proved.

Bob made the most spectacular play of the match when he used Jean's drive on the 15th, dropping a No. 3 wood shot on the green twenty-five feet from the pin.

Jean's put left Bob short of the hole and a bit to the right, but he sank the ball for a four and the match.

Second division winners were Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Buffum who won from Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Cooke, 2 up. Championship round consolation winners were Clarence MacDavitt and Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth who beat Mr. and Mrs. George Farrar in the final, 3 and 2. Rod Bullen and Mrs. Allen Kimball won the second flight consolation from Russell Symmes and Mrs. C. E. Baldwin, 4 and 3.

A good sized gallery watched the matches and 120 attended the buffet supper that followed the conclusion of the tournament. Escalloped oysters were the piece de resistance and the prizes were presented by Mrs. Donald Belcher. Community singing, with some real "close" harmony, added a festive note.

Star adv. bring results.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Big "Jawn" West evidently impressed newspaper men covering last Saturday's Harvard-Army game with his line plunging on Harvard's scoring jaunts late in the contest. Sarto Walsh continues to get the points after, but it was a bad day for "Chuck" Roche who was injured while running back the kickoff and forced out of play.

Harry W. Dotten, former superintendent of the Water and Sewer Department, who has been in poor health for the past two years, recently underwent a serious operation at the Massachusetts General Hospital. His many friends wish for him a speedy and complete recovery.

The Fire Department's Engine 2 has been undergoing a face-lift job at the Central Station, having its fenders sand-blasted and re-dressed, its ladders scraped and varnished and its other equipment put in order. Much of the work has been done by the firemen themselves with plenty of criticism, favorable and otherwise from their mates on the sidelines.

WINCHESTER FROSH BEAT WOBURN

Winchester High School's freshman football team remained unbeaten and untied by winning from the Woburn High School freshmen at Woburn last Friday afternoon, 26-0.

Callahan broke the ice for the Red and Black freshmen early in the game when he scampered 15 yards on an end around for the first touchdown. Griffin kicked in the extra point with Atkinson holding.

The Orange youngsters couldn't go after the kickoff and following an exchange of kicks Winchester drove from its 15 to the Orange 35 where "Jocko" broke away for a touchdown jaunt, adding the extra point for goal.

Serica again, in the second quarter, swept end for 55 yards and a touchdown but this time the try for the extra point failed. In the final period Wing ran the ball from the Woburn 25 to the eight, and then drove over on the next play.

The Winchester line gave a good account of itself against Woburn with Flaherty and Callahan at the ends being outstanding. Behind the quarterbacking of Atkinson and Thompson the backs really moved.

Griffin was hurt during the game but is expected to be ready for Stoneham and Dolan, out with a broken finger, also may see service against the hockey towners.

LUNCHEON BRIDGE

Friends of the Junior Florence Crittenton will be interested to know that this is the day of the annual luncheon-bridge. The time is 1:00 p. m. and the place is the Church of the Epiphany.

Mrs. Robert M. Ingraham, Jr., is in charge of the luncheon-bridge and Mrs. Arthur M. Agnew is luncheon chairman. This year there will be a food sale after the luncheon.

This was a popular event last fall and it is expected that a large group will attend this year.

William L. Flewelling, son of Mrs. Stanley E. Flewelling, 25 Mystic avenue, is one of 3,000 freshmen who have entered Syracuse University this fall. A graduate of Winchester High School, Flewelling is enrolled in the College of Applied Science.

After the play is over a duet will be played by Beverly Cucoli on piano and Marguerite Johnson on the violin.

BADMINTON

Now is the time for badminton enthusiasts to get out their equipment and come to the High School gym to play two evenings a week with our club. The season began two weeks ago but being so warm there was not the usual early season rush and many of those present played with such enthusiasm that their unaccustomed muscles cried out in protest.

This year's committee, Brad Hersey - treasurer, Marjorie Moore - secretary, Dot Hills, Doris Maxwell, Whit Gray and Warren Hichborn under the leadership of president Jack Tarbell have numerous plans for the season.

The big event in Winchester will be the State D Championships to be held in our gym on December 1, 2 and 3 for the second year in succession. This is the first of the annual State Tournaments and is a good way for local players to get tournament experience as well as meet members of the other clubs.

The president will appoint captains for league play, who will begin making up their teams soon, so they may get as much practice as possible together before the first league match in November. We hope all members interested in playing with the team will brush up their games so the captains will have a good number to choose from. The names of the prospective teams will be posted and everyone will have a chance to challenge into them.

We miss a number of last year's regular players who have moved out of State but the welcome mat is out for all who would like to join the Club - so remember the dates, Tuesday and Thursday, 7:30 p. m. to 11 p. m. Place, the High School Gym.

GRADE SCHOOL ROUNDUP

Washington and Noonan School News

Both schools were shown two films on safety this week, one "How Safety Patrols Operate", and the other "The Safest Way Home".

At Red Cross assemblies this week in both schools candidates for Red Cross officers presented their qualifications to the members of their respective schools. Voting followed. The Noonan School library was set up as a poll and voting was conducted by grades 4, 5 and 6 under the direction of a committee of representatives from these classes. The officers elected were: Peter Frotten, President; Brenda Angwin, Vice President; Janet Lynch, Secretary; and Charles Bond, Treasurer.

"How to Have a Safe and Sane Hallowe'en" is the topic of a program being planned at the Noonan School by Miss McGowan's fifth grade.

In the Washington School Dr. Barone and Mrs. Savage have been giving physical examinations.

A two-play program was presented Tuesday by the whole Washington School fifth grade under the direction of Mr. Nault. The first play, in connection with their social studies, was an original play of four scenes about Columbus. The second, introduced by a choral speaking group reciting "Trees", by Joyce Kilmer, is a play in two parts, "The Voice of the Forest", correlating with Fire Prevention Week.

The Washington school fifth and sixth grades held a Sports Day, two teams participating in intramural games, such as relay races and large group games.

WINCHESTER TIED AND WON

Winchester High field hockey team battled Malden to a scoreless tie last Thursday afternoon in Malden. The Winchester offense was around Malden's goal much of the time but just couldn't manage to score.

Scoring in the opening moments of the game, the girls beat Concord Monday afternoon, 1-0. Bette Kneeland hit a pass from June Ryan by the Concord goalie to provide the winning margin. The forward line was really clicking, especially in the second half, when they missed scoring two goals by inches.

Barbara Michelsen has been elected captain of the varsity team. She was also a member of last year's team, playing left fullback.

FRAMINGHAM HERE TOMORROW

Winchester plays what is always one of its good football games of the season tomorrow afternoon at Manchester Field with Framingham, commencing at 2 o'clock.

A year ago Winchester upset a heavily favored Framingham team, 19-6, and the boys from the horse-show town are coming here tomorrow for revenge.

Framingham has won two, lost two and tied one, playing a scoreless stalemate with Belmont, losing its opening game to Marlboro, 12-14, and its last start last Saturday from Dedham, 6-0.

There is nothing in the visitors' record to indicate that Framingham is as good as a year ago, and certainly the locals are definitely inferior to their last year's eleven. A good game ought to result.

Winchester looked good last Saturday against Stoneham, but it may be that Walter Murphy, towering end who threw the block that got Amico away on his touchdown jaunt at the second-half kickoff, will be out tomorrow with the back injury he picked up at that time.

If Murphy isn't ready, his position will be played by either Bob McElhinney or Walden Mason, who has been a starting end all year, has turned in his suit and given up football.

DR. LESLIE TO CONCLUDE SERIES AT SENIOR FORUM

Dr. Elmer A. Leslie, beloved teacher at Boston University School of Theology, will conclude his series of addresses to the Senior Forum Sunday morning in Ripley Chapel at 9:30 a. m. His final address in the series "Making the Bible Live" will be a new interpretation of the 23rd Psalm. Dr. Leslie has been in Palestine many times and is thoroughly familiar with the scenes which the Psalmist describes. He is also the author of a monumental work, "The Psalms," which was published earlier this year. The young people have received his messages with enthusiasm, one hundred eleven having been present last Sunday. Herbert Clark will be the chaplain, assisted by Marjorie Dexter and Trevor Smith. The forum choir will sing a special arrangement of the 23rd Psalm.

SOCIAL SERVICE GUILD

The Social Service Guild is hostess for a meeting in the Parish Hall of the First Congregational Church on October 25 at 2:00 p. m. The speaker, Mrs. Nellie Y. Y. Shih, will discuss the plight of Chinese students stranded in this country by the Civil War in China. Mrs. Shih and her husband, Dr. Peter Y. F. Shih, who is pastor of the Chinese Christian Church in Boston and Director of the Chinese Mission of New England, are here to help the many students of their country who are forced to remain in the United States without funds from their families. Mrs. Shih was the first woman graduate of Nanking University and Theological Seminary. For fifteen years she was principal of the girls High School and later Dean of Chungking Methodist College. The subject of Mrs. Shih's address will be "Family Life in China".

Tea will be served after the meeting. All women are cordially invited.

WINCHESTER WOMEN VISITED AIRCRAFT CARRIER "USS KEARSARGE"

Editor of the Star:

On October 13, 1949, under the able guidance of Mrs. Kenneth B.
Toye, Chairman of the Winchester Military Manpower Committee, some 40 women, representing various organizations in town, boarded an Army bus and went to visit the Navy. This bus was loaned to us through the courtesy of Major George F. Wason CO, Boston Main Recruiting Station - another example of unification at the local level. Our driver was Cp. Boyd Aldrich U. S. A.

On boarding the USS Kearsarge, a city on the sea, we were escorted down steep stairs to the Ward Room where we were served coffee by a charming hostess, Mrs. Edith Blackburn, and officially welcomed by Commander Harlan T. Johnson CO of the ship. The present Kearsarge was commissioned in 1946 at a cost of some $100,000,000, and she is a complete portable airfield. Her flight deck is 93 feet wide and approximately 900 feet long; and she carries between 85-100 planes and is capable of carrying a bomb load of some 300,000 lbs.

Commander Nelson, Chaplain, was then introduced to us and he told us briefly of his work. He impressed us with the fact that the Navy "never made or broke a man." They take the boys as they come from their homes and try to mold them. He deals with the boys and all their problems and is the best friend the boys have. He explained that all the ship's entertainment and sports were paid for by the Welfare Fund which is raised by profit from the Ship's Stores.
Lt. Com. Blackburn, Communications Officer, was then introduced.
He outlined our amazing tour, and conducted same in a most efficient manner. Every 5 women had a sailor as escort and these boys were kept busy answering our questions.

Going through the crew's quarters, we saw the canvas bunks and small lockers in which the boys have to keep all their belongings.
Then on to the Ship's Library which contains 3000 books - an enlisted man acts as librarian with the Chaplain in charge. We moved on to the Lounge where the boys spend their liberty periods. In this room they have a television set which was purchased from the Welfare Fund. The ship carries a 10-piece band to furnish music for dances and entertainments. Our next stop was the Sick Bay. Lt.
Miller showed us the examination room, laboratory, medical offices, a very modern operating room.
There are 2 surgeons on board plus the medical corpsmen. There was an isolation ward for contagious diseases and a 51 bed ward which was air-conditioned and staffed by 16 corpsmen. The ship has an X-ray room and very complete Drug Room. The Dental Room consisted of 2 complete dental units which are busy most of the time.

Up more stairs into the galley.
From there they feed 1300 men on a ration of $1.05 per man per day.
They use 1800 pounds of meat a day. We examined the bakery and enjoyed the mouth-watering smells of the newly baked bread - 280 loaves used each day. Down stairs now to one of the 4 firerooms to see all the machinery, boilers and workings of the throttle board; into one of the 2 engine rooms where the steam is made to keep the ship traveling at 30 knots. The ship carries 150,000 gallons of drinking water and some 65,000 gallons is used per day. While at sea they manufacture 100,000 gallons in the evaporating plant. In this section we had the fire-fighting equipment explained to us - very complete and extremely interesting.

Lunch time, and we were reading it. Most of the group ate in the general mess with the enlistee men, 5 with the Chief Petty Officers to compare the food - it was exactly the same, and very good.
Pea soup, baked ham, cabbage, carrots, potatoes, bread and butter, milk or coffee and ice cream. Following lunch we were shown 2 films "Seapower in the Pacific" and "Seapower in Peace" with a following question period. Then more stairs to the Hangar deck where repairs are made on the planes. In the forward end they have sports and movies. Suddenly, part of the deck "took off" and there we were on the flight deck from which the planes take off.

All the complexities of operations from this deck were explained to us (having seen the two films was a help) as well as the guns manned by the indispensable Marines. We had now traveled from the bowels of the ship to the top - or so we thought, but not at all. Up we went again to the Captain's quarters in the "island" where he lives in time of war. Here we learned how this great ship is guided - no more old-fashioned wheel to hang onto, or everything is done by the most intricate machinery.

We then returned to the Ward Room where we were served more coffee and invited to ask any questions we wanted. Four of our group, with Mrs. Toye, made a wire-recording of our reactions to this most instructive trip, and the recording was used by Chief Brandon Mulready of First Naval District on Friday evening over WVOM.

We were all very much impressed by the efficiency and high type of men with whom we came in contact, both officers and enlisted men. We should all be very proud of our Navy. Our thanks goes to all those who made our trip possible including the Captain of the Kearsarge and his staff; Commander N. J. Nicholas, CO Navy Recruiting Station; Commander
Samuel H. Read, Jr. PIO First
Naval District and Chief A. O.
DeNino with his camera. Invited Army personnel included Lt. Alden Gay and M. Sgt. Ernest Hill of the Boston Main Recruiting Station.

A feature story on this trip will appear in The Boston Herald, Sunday, October 23rd with pictures of the trip. A full set of pictures will be displayed in Winchester in the Winchester Star window as soon as Mrs. Toye gets them all in.

SINGLE SESSION SCHOOL DAYS

Editor of the Star:

In response to Royal W. Teele's letter in the October 14th issue of the Star, let me offer my opinions as a parent of a second grader on the subject of the single-session school day.

If as you state, children are bundles of nervous energy and hate to stay in one place too long, how do you account for the fact that my son and his playmates are all looking forward to the time when they are to start the single session?

In the second place, perhaps you are one of the few parents who cook three hot meals a day, but I and most of my fellow parents send our children off to school with a hot breakfast and again cook a hot meal in the evening, but we rarely, if ever, even on the bleakest winter days, cook a hot meal at noon time. If you are referring to a plate of soup as a "hot meal", this is easily carried in the thermos jug which all children are permitted to take to school. Milk is served for 25c a week, so that they do not have to sacrifice their milk in order to take soup in the thermos.
Nutritionists have stated in various women's magazines that soup, a sandwich, milk and a piece of fruit are the average American luncheon, and that such a luncheon is as nourishing as anything that could be served. Personally I have quite a job on my hands to get either the soup or the sandwich down, not to mention a combination of both, and even if my son did come home for lunch he wouldn't eat any more or any better than he would by staying in school.

As to the driving storm of last winter in which the children arrived soaked through, it has been brought to the attention of the parents that the schools will be opened, but it is up to the parents to use their own discretion as to whether or not to send their children. I live only one block from the school, therefore my son went blizzard or no, but if I lived eight or ten blocks, I think I would have common sense enough to keep him home. However, have you ever seen a normal healthy child who was content to stay in the house when it was snowing?

Yes, Mr. Teele, the majority of our Winchester mothers evidently do want the single-session, or it never would have passed when it was put to a vote last year.
Alice W. Watkins,
6 Alben street,

IT'S STILL COMING!

The Village Fair of the Congregational Church
And The Time?
November 16

The Mighty Medes and Persians said that anticipation was greater than realization, which anachronism we dispute. In this case, my eager readers, we are the ones who are doing the anticipating, for when your calendar finally tells you that November 16th is here, your ohs and ahs will be worth listening to, as you stand in front of Mrs. Erskine White's varied and interesting Vacation Land table.
Just think - all summer and fall friends all over our lovely town have had you and this day in mind, and have been scurrying in and out of gift shops far and near to share their vacation fun and surprises with you. But a word to you thoughtful donors. Mrs. White is a gracious and generous person, but she enjoys this life much too much to wish an heart attack to descend upon her about November 15, so will you please please send, mail or deliver to her - Mrs. Erskine White, 9 Rangeley - at your earliest convenience, (and maybe a little inconvenience tossed in) your check and every article for the Vacation table, all marked as to place of purchase. There may be those among you whose husbands decided to skip that trip this summer to pep up his putting. But the idea into his mind that a traveling you now must go, if only to give you the satisfaction of sending Mrs. White an added interesting something for such a wonderful table. See you at the Fair!

WILLIAM E. MULLINS ADDRESSES WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Women's Republican Club of Winchester met at the Music Hall Wednesday morning for its first educational lecture of the current season. Mrs. George L. Witham favored the audience with selections on the organ while morning coffee was being served. Mrs. W.
E. Underwood and Mrs. George W.
Cary presided at the coffee table.
The president, Mrs. J. Stanley
Barnes, called the meeting to order.
Mrs. Philip J. Woodward, chairman of the educational committee, introduced the speaker, Mr. William E. Mullins, well known State House political reporter for the Boston Herald.

Mr. Mullins spoke of his thirty years experience as a reporter and of the sources of the information for his column. He went on to explain his opposition to the compulsory health insurance bill, the federal education bill, and repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act. During the question period which followed his formal lecture, Mr. Mullins informed the women that an informal state Republican pre-convention meeting would be held at Worcester in September to scour the party for suitable candidates to discuss campaign issues, and to consider the wisdom of making up a complete slate. He said that he thought there are signs of weakening of the Curley administration.

In regard to the referendum, he warned that to permit it to become an issue on the ballot in 1950 would be dangerous to the Republican Party in the election.

DR. COE TO SPEAK OCTOBER 30TH

Dr. Robert Wood Coe, Executive Secretary of the Massachusetts Bible Society will be the special guest preacher at the Crawford Memorial Church on Sunday, October 30.

There is an unusual story behind his coming. Back in the year 1872, when the Methodist Church in town was organized, the Massachusetts Bible Society gave to the church a gift of 20 Bibles and 30 New Testaments. The record was kept and now, though the church has contributed almost regularly to the Society, the church feels that a special occasion is in order, to express our thanks to the Society and also to present a special gift of money from the church.

Dr. Coe is an outstanding church leader and an excellent speaker.
Details of the service will be announced next week.

AMERICANIZATION CLASSES START OCTOBER 26

Registration for Americanization classes for the current year will be held at the Lincoln School on Westley street, next Wednesday evening, October 26 at seven thirty.

This class will meet two nights a week at the Lincoln School. Miss Constance M. Doyle, a teacher in the Wakefield schools for several years has been elected to teach the class. Teachers for Americanization courses are certified by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.
Anyone interested in becoming a member of this class should register next Wednesday evening and aid in the selection of two nights a week most suitable for the classes.

ELEPHANTS WANTED!

vember 16.

Either leave your articles with one of the following or they will

HARVEST HOME SUPPER

GREAT SUCCESS

The beautifully decorated large Social Hall at the First Congregational Church held a capacity audience last Tuesday evening for its annual Harvest Home Supper.

In the intermission, between the dinner and the speaker, the newly formed Church Orchestra, led by Herbert Clement, Conductor, played three numbers in its initial public appearance. First Violin: Mrs. Robert A. Drake, Mrs. Winfield S. Hanson, Mr. Rex T. Crandall; Second Violin: Mrs. George E. Niles, Miss Helen Goodwin, Mrs. D. P. Stone; Cello: Miss Lenore Rich, Mr. George S. Hebb, Jr.; Flute: Mrs. Horace P. Abbott; Clarinet: Mr. James S. Allen, Mrs. William M. Burrows, Mr. Kenneth Harvey, Mrs. Waldon B. Hersey; Trumpet: Mr. Harry W. Wood; Trombone: Mr. T. Parker Clarke, Mr. H. Kelsea Moore, Jr.; Piano: Mrs. Clifford M. Hammel.

Dr. Chidley acted as toastmaster and introduced the speaker, Dr. Edwin Bradford Robinson, who has been pastor of Grace Church, Holyoke, Massachusetts, for the past forty-eight years. Dr. Robinson was born and brought up in Winchester, and he regarded his audience in a humorous and informative address on some of the characters and customs of Winchester in his boyhood and youth. Among those mentioned were Dr. March, Samuel J. Elder, General Corse, Deacon Swett, Deacon Chapin, David N. Skillings, and many other men prominent in Winchester affairs.

He drew a comparison between serving a church such as his, in the downtown industrial district of a large city, and a suburban church, such as the First Congregational Church of Winchester. The meeting closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

ARTISTS' BAZAAR AT EPISCOPAL CHURCH PARISH HOUSE

A colorful and gay affair is to take place at the Parish house of the Episcopal church on Church street, Friday, November fourth when many well known artists will exhibit their masterpieces. The presentation will embrace all phases of art and will include paintings by artists with whom you are familiar as well as a fine collection of objects d'art. Rare pieces of interest will be found among the very unusual bric-a-brac on the white elephant table. Hand-sewn and hand-knit garments for children may be purchased and an interesting collection of gift items for every member of the family will be available. It promises to be a day of fun and interest for everyone. For the children there will be pony rides, movies and grabs. Luncheon, tea and supper will be served by young "artists" in colorful berets. For the men - a midway where they can demonstrate their prowess in games of skill. As a fascinating innovation you may have your photograph taken and instantly developed. Everyone is welcome so plan to spend the day with your family at the Artists' Bazaar, November fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Weber of Watertown will give the dance calls at the Jr. Mrs. Barn Dance next Tuesday evening, October 25, at 8:00 P. M. in the Parish Hall of the First Congregational Church. Anyone who has heard the Webbers when they have been in Winchester before will know that everyone is in for a wonderful evening.

So get into your old clothes, choose your partners for a quadrille, all join hands and around you go! In case you are not interested in honoring your partner and your corner, there will be round dancing, so do all promenade down to the Parish Hall next Tuesday evening where you will be in for lots of fun.

The price of admission is really sensational! See you there!

AGED TO CARE FOR

Time on her hands? No, indeed. This industrious lady makes every minute count doing something for someone else when she meets with the "Friendly Folk" at one of the Red Feather neighborhood houses. In addition to "Golden Age" groups sponsored by many of the Red Feather services, homes for the aged gave 107,257 days' care to men and women in Metropolitan Boston last year. Say "Yes!" to help the aged when your Red Feather volunteer calls—quickly . . . gladly . . . generously.

A comparison of the class list of the Class of 1949 at the time of entrance into grade 9 and at the time of graduation gives a list of 58 names of students, evenly divided between boys and girls with 29 each, we do not appear on the graduation list.

SENIOR FORUM COLUMBUS DAY OUTING

The Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church went to H. P. Hood's and Sons' Cherry Hill Farm Wednesday, October 12 for an all day outing. Part of the admission charged was an article of used clothing for war orphans of Europe. About 75 young people got under way about 10:15 and arrived at 11:00. They quickly chose football and softball teams. The stars of a scoreless tie in football were Buzzie Bird, Doug Nason, Dave Shiverick, and John Atkinson. In softball there were a host of players including such stars as Dotty "Wiggles" Brandt, Dick Rush, and Dave Archibald. The games ended at 12:30 and lunch was enjoyed, topped off with chocolate milk and ice cream from Cherry Hill Farm.

In the afternoon, the young people

ple enjoyed a tour of the barns where they saw the cows being milked electrically. A number of the picnicers hiked over to the airport. About 3:30, a game of dodge ball was started. It proved to be lots of fun and had plenty of hard hitting. The party started home about 5:00 p. m.

The Forum wishes to thank Mr. Hood for the use of the grounds for the day, and all of the folks who helped provide transportation.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Braun have returned to their home in Norfolk, Va., after spending a week in Winchester with Mrs. Braun's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Neil of Albion street. Before coming to Winchester the Brauns completed a nine thousand mile motor trip to California where they visited Mr. Braun's parents. Mr. Braun is a chief machinist's mate in the Navy, stationed in Norfolk.

UNUSUAL FIRE

Last Friday evening shortly before 6:30 the Fire Department was called for what was reported to be a burning tree on Cabot street. The firemen were unable to find any tree burning, nor were inquiries which they made in the neighborhood enlightening. Investigating further, the men found smoke issuing from a surface drain on Fletcher street and discovered a quantity of leaves burning briskly on the water in the drain. A line of hose was necessary to extinguish the fire and the smell which issued from the drain during the quenching of the blaze and after the fire was out was anything but pleasant.

DEAN HOLMES TO ADDRESS

Plans for the Fall meeting of the College Club were completed at a meeting of the Board at the home of the President, Mrs. Norman Padelford. The Fall Meeting under the direction of Mrs. Stanley S. Ballard, Program Chairman, is scheduled for Wednesday evening, November 2, at Metcalf Hall of the Unitarian Church.

Mrs. Ballard was happy to be able to announce that the speaker for the evening will be Professor Emeritus Henry Wyman Holmes, former Dean of the School of Education at Harvard University. The Project concerns itself with finding an answer to the vital question: "What materials can be found or produced which will help teachers to develop civic intelligence and civic responsibility in their pupils?" Its ultimate goal is better civic behavior. In the light of Professor Holmes' position as Co-Director of this important work College Club members may be sure of a valuable and interesting talk on the subject "Education for Democratic Living."

2. A midwinter program sponsored jointly by our Association and the newly created Senior High School Organization.

WINCHESTER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

A small group from the Winchester Historical Society attended the Fall meeting of the Bay State Historical League at Old Sturbridge Village last Saturday.

This Village, midway between Worcester and Springfield, which has been assembled and presented by the Wells family of Southbridge, owners of the American Optical Company, portrays a typical country town of New England, as it might have appeared early in the 19th century. It consists of thirty shops, mills, houses, a church, and a general store arranged in a 500-acre tract of meadow, woodland and river shore. About half the buildings are old houses and shops moved to the Village from all over New England and re-assembled there. The collections range from crude farm implements to delicate household furnishings. There is a remarkably fine collection of children's toys from the earliest days, many of them very crude.

The little Village church was brought from Fiskdale, dating from 1747, the Stephen Fitch house from Williamamantic, Connecticut, the Solomon Richardson house built about 1748, from East Brookfield and the General Store from Stamford, Connecticut, to mention a few of the outstanding buildings. Mr. Cheney Wells, the speaker of the day, said that this Village is an attempt to reproduce a simple, natural New England village as the buildings were in the 1820 period. Its purpose is to present the everyday things of New England's past in a manner that will show what they imply, how they were made, how they were used, and especially how the virtues and ideals expressed in them can be applied to life and work today.

The meeting was short, in order to give the League members, about 240 of whom attended, a chance to visit the buildings.

Those attending from the Winchester Historical Society were Miss Clara Russell, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Glendon, Miss Susie Gustin, Misses Louise and Eleanor Bancroft, Mrs. Talma Greenwood and Miss Violet Williamson.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Susan Farley celebrated her 4th birthday Monday afternoon by throwing a party for a small group of her friends at her home in Rangely. A most pleasant afternoon was experienced. Refreshments were served, enlivened by Ralph Sexton's attempt to swallow an ice cream cone whole, and Susan received many gifts. In fact the presents were so numerous that the living room fireplace was pressed into service as a depository for the abundance of wrappings to make room for the display.

At the conclusion of the festivities, in an endeavor to assist in bringing order out of chaos, some one set fire to the wrappings, being unaware of the numerous well filled boxes of excelsior which had contained gifts from Richmond, Va. The resultant activities made a fitting climax to the festivities. The fireplace mantle became well scorched and the chimney took fire; the latter being the more spectacular.

The Little Woman assisted by calling the Fire Department - "Just in case," and Chief Callahan cordially responded by dispatching the hose truck and the aerial ladder to the scene, thus providing the finishing highlight to the program.

No serious damage occurred, although the chimney display furnished entertainment for numerous adults as well as the revellers. The fireplace mantle will never be quite the same, but the roof was undamaged, and the Farleys had a good job done on cleaning out their gutters.

Squire Jim Farley arrived home about the time the apparatus reached the scene and immediately proved his worth in an emergency by pitching right in and leaving all questioning till later. His effective bucket of water prepared the living room floor in excellent shape for its next waxing. He was one of the adults who failed to witness the fireworks his chimney provided.

Everyone decided it was the best birthday party of the season. A good time was had by all.

AUTO STRIPPER CAUGHT

The Winchester Police made a good catch last Sunday evening when they picked up a Medford youth who was engaged in stealing ornaments from automobiles on Main street near Blanchard's Lumber Yard.

Officers Clarence Dunbury and Irving Reardon noticed the youth, a big 200 pounder, acting suspiciously around some parked cars, but cruised along by him to avoid alarming him. At Lake street they met Officer Thomas Parsons, whom they dispatched along the path by the river toward Pike's to catch the youth from behind.

He was successful, and the youth was taken to headquarters where he was booked. He had come to Winchester in a car and police say he had been in court for thefts from cars in both Medford and Everett, the cases against him in both instances having been filed.

In the District Court at Woburn Monday morning the case was continued for two weeks.

The Fire Department had three brush fires over the week-end, one opposite the driveway of the Schrafft estate on Arlington street, another on Lincoln street, and the third at the Country Club.

ELKS NEWS

At a recent meeting of the lodge it was voted to contribute the sum of $50.00 towards the total goal set by the Mass. State Elks Association last June at its convention when it voted to furnish play rooms for the new hospital for crippled children sponsored by the Catholic Arch-Bishop of Boston. The sum of $8000.00 is the estimated amount of the cost of this great endeavor by the Elks of Massachusetts and Winchester is happy to contribute its proportionate share.

The following brothers received the commendation of the lodge for their contribution of their blood for one of our brothers; E. R. Francis Tansey, P. E. R. Joseph Callahan, P. E. R. Joseph Peel and Bill Fancie, John Lane, Joe McKee, Fred McCormack, John Coakley, Sam Kenton, Richard McCormack and Eugene Lane.

The lodge, through Carl Getchel Chairman, and the activities committee will sponsor a turkey whist party at the Noonan school on Friday, November 18, 1949, for the benefit of the charity fund. Naturally the public is invited.

Many of the brothers are attending the District Deputy's visitation.

MYSTIC MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

On October 11, Mrs. J. Girard Chandler of 74 Lawson road extension entertained the mothers of Mrs. Hartwell's second grade. Mrs. Robert Blake and her committee served tea, at which Mrs. Paul Dunn and Mrs. Melvin Sears presided. Following this, Mrs. Hartwell spoke on her plans for the year.

The first grade mothers had an opportunity to meet their children's teacher Mrs. Laughner, on October 13, at the home of Mrs. Raymond Thomas, 9 Manchester road. She was assisted in serving tea by Mrs. Russell Symmes, Mrs. Carl Richmond, and Mrs. Clair Swonger. Mrs. Paul Dunn and Mrs. Melvin Sears presided at the tea and coffee urns. Mrs. Laughner then spoke informally on first grade work and the progress the children have made thus far.

Mr. Bradford Bentley, while in Philadelphia last week end on business in connection with his boys' camp, Wyanoke, on Lake Winnepesaukee, was the dinner guest on Saturday of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Huckins. "Chuck 'n Astrid" report they will be on hand for the Winchester-Woburn game on Thanksgiving as usual!

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

John Ripley Freeman, Jr., Metallurgist

Born: October 25, 1895 at Winchester, Mass.

John Ripley Freeman, Jr. is a distinguished scientist with an unusual record of accomplishments in the field of metallurgy. The son of John R. and Elizabeth Farwell (Clark) Freeman, he attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Science in 1916, and thereupon entered the employ of the General Abrasive Company, Niagara Falls, N. Y. However, one year later, he joined the technical staff of the U. S. Bureau of Standards, Washington, D. C. and served successively until 1930 as senior metallurgist and assistant chief of the Division of Metallurgy. Incidentally, it should be noted that he was exchange research worker at the National Physical Laboratory of England during the year 1921.

Since 1930, Mr. Freeman has been identified with the American Brass Company, Waterbury, Conn., and it is primarily as a result of his activities therewith that he has received national recognition. Starting as engineer in charge of corrosion research, he advanced steadily through the scientific ranks of the organization and has been technical director since 1938. As such, he has charge of a staff of about fifty chemists, metallurgists and engineers.

As indicative of his professional standing, Mr. Freeman was a member of the board of directors of the American Society for Testing Materials from 1945 to 1948, has held high office in the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, and is the author of numerous articles pertaining to his field. In addition, particular mention should be made of his noteworthy research investigations on brass die castings, fatigue of metals, heat treatment of steel, and corrosion of copper and copper alloys.

Married to Mariana W. Blood in 1926 and the father of three children, he makes his home in Middlebury, Conn.

MALICIOUS MISCHIEF

Saturday evening shortly after 9:30 the police were notified that boys had torn down a fence at a home on Eaton street.

Sgt. Edward F. Bowler and Officer Irving Reardon went to investigate and picked up two boys answering the description of members of the group responsible. The pair denied being on Eaton street, but after being identified by the owner of the property damaged, admitted having had a hand in breaking down the fence. The owner refused to prosecute, saying she knew the mothers of the boys personally. The boys were each 15.

MISSING GIRLS FOUND

The two 14 year-old Winchester girls reported missing last Thursday morning were picked up later that morning near the high school by Officer James E. Farrell.

The girls were spotted riding on a truck and nabbed by Officer Farrell as they started to run after he stopped the machine. They were taken to headquarters where they stated they had spent the night in the pergola at the rear of the library and had been to St. Mary's Church earlier in the morning, after which they had begged a ride on the truck.

Both girls were turned over to their parents by the police.

Freedom

LIGHTED

THIS LAMP

Seventy years ago Thomas Alva Edison invented the incandescent lamp — and thereby shaped for America a future that grows ever brighter through the years.

He shaped a future of opportunity. Today, more than a quarter of a million Americans are making careers in the electric light and power industry. Millions more are employed in industries that owe their very existence to electric power.

And he shaped a future of faith. The continuing miracles of electricity are tributes to the skill and ability of free individuals working and thinking in a free society.

How right it is that the Statue of Liberty, symbol of American freedom, proudly holds on high a symbol of American enterprise — a torch illuminated by electricity!

SEVEN PASS VOICE TEST FOR ADMISSION TO MYSTIC GLEE CLUB

Seven new men were voted into the membership of the Mystic Glee Club last Monday evening, after passing voice tests under the supervision of Ragnar Brandt, chairman of the Voice Committee and Director Keith Snyder. The new members are Fred W. Felmet, Jr., 270 Highland avenue, Gardner W. Handy, 16 Park avenue, Robert W. Horne, 6 Reservoir street, Prof. Charles R. Mingins, 3 Bruce road, John R. Moribito 3 Indian Hill road, Benton Stuart of Reading, and Alan Switzer of 7 Oneida circle.

The club, which is hard at work for its tenth anniversary Christmas concert to be held December 17 in Winchester High School auditorium, is now approximately at its limit of membership. Attendance at rehearsals is practically one hundred percent each Monday night, as the chorus of over sixty male voices prepares for the December event. Preliminary polish is already evident in much of the music to be sung and the perfecting touches will be added in the ensuing rehearsals. That the club has gained such a good start on its new repertoire is due to the fine leadership of conductor Keith Snyder, and the fact that the men are enjoying the type of balanced program which they are singing.

A decade has passed since the original group of twenty-four members organized to sing for fun and fellowship. Having weathered the war years and sung many concerts for charitable and worthy causes, the Mystic Glee Club, with its present capacity singing membership, now assures its loyal old friends and welcome new sponsoring members of the finest concert of its career on December 17, 1949.

EPIPHANY MEN'S CLUB HEARS DR. ROBLEY D. EVANS

Speaking to a large audience of Men's Club members, wives, and guests at the Epiphany Parish Hall on Wednesday evening, October 26th, Dr. Robley D. Evans, eminent nuclear physicist and head of the radioactivity center at M. I. T., described "Some Future Uses of Atomic Energy" and commented optimistically upon the accompanying moving picture film of the atomic bomb experiments at Bikini.

After an impressive who's-who introduction by Admiral William H. Buracker, present head of the Epiphany Men's Club, Dr. Evans fascinated his listeners by describing some of the advances made recently in the fields of medicine and industry through the use of radioactive elements. Especially interesting were his comments on the use of radioactive "tracers" in the study of life processes, and he regaled a statement which had created some controversy when it first appeared in print a few years ago: that atomic energy has saved many more lives than it destroyed at Hiroshima and Nagasaki. Dr. Evans proved his point by describing the ways in which radioactive particles were used during the war in meticulous tests on whole blood, tests which resulted in making possible the storage of blood for 100 days or more, where previously such storage had been possible for only a few hours.

The thrilling film, the official U. S. Navy moving picture of the atomic bomb tests at Bikini, obtained by William E. Holdich, was shown in conjunction with Dr. Evans' lecture and was followed by an interesting period of questions and answers. Donuts and coffee served by Stephen Nichols completed an excellent evening program.

SALVATION ARMY FRIENDLY APPEAL

Chairman Charles P. Howard reports that his metropolitan division of The Salvation Army's Friendly Appeal has strong possibilities of surpassing its $130,000 quota.

With 40 cities and towns making up the division in the Army's overall $457,000 Greater Boston drive, Chairman Howard states that over 80% had been reached last week, with contributions continuing to increase.

And with the intensive period of the campaign scheduled to wind up Monday, October 31, Mr. Howard says that, "a little extra effort by workers all along the line can easily enable us to obtain the funds."

He adds that, "the little extra in donations that we ask for from all the towns, whether over the top or not, will pull the division to success."

MRS. MOULDING RESIGNS

The Hobby Center regrets to announce the resignation of Mrs. Barbara Moulding, its director. The officers and committee members wish to express their appreciation for her leadership during the past two years and the many ways in which she has helped Winchester children. Regular classes at the Hobby Center will begin on Saturday, November 5, with the new director in charge. Notices will appear in the public schools a few days before the opening. Adult groups are scheduled to start two weeks from the date of the first class for children.

ATTENTION, PLEASE!

You are cordially invited to attend the Artists' Bazaar, Friday, November 4th. All day and evening at our Galleries, Epiphany Parish House, Church street. Picture exhibition by local artists, gifts, clothing, food, flowers, luncheon, tea, supper, pony rides, entertainment for everyone.

WILLIAMS — JAMES

White chrysanthemums and candlelight decorated the Church of the Epiphany on Saturday afternoon, October 22, for the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Hollingshead of Amesbury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Murdoch James of Stowell road, to William Stark Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilson Williams of Ridgefield road. The pastor, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, read the marriage service at 4:30 o'clock and the bridal music was played by the church organist, Enos Held.

Miss James was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of ivory satin with pointed sleeves and a mandarin collar. Her matching traditional veil was decorated with orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums, stephanotis and eucalyptus.

Miss Catherine Murdoch James of Winchester, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. W. B. Sanger of Clifton, N. J., was matron of honor. Mrs. Richard N. Rose of Amherst was bridesmaid.

All the bridal attendants wore dresses of gold satin, styled like the bride's gown with self-material gauntlets. Their bouquets combined gold and bronze chrysanthemums with sprays of bittersweet and they wore matching crowns of flowers in their hair.

Charles Wilson Williams served as best man for his son and the ushers were Charles Whiteside Williams of Winchester, brother of the bridegroom; J. Bates Chamberlain of Marblehead, Kenneth W. Moffatt of Winchester and W. R. Sanger of Clifton, N. J.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the church parish house, the parents of both the bride and bridegroom assisting in receiving with the matron of honor. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Price of Hartford, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. William M. Ramsey of Cincinnati, O.; Miss Margaret Blackburn of Louisville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Davis L. James of Highridge, N. J.; Mrs. I. B. Grainer of Montclair, N. J.; Mrs. Brian O'Brien of Rochester, N. Y.; and Ezra Dickerman of Denver, Col.

After a wedding journey to Rangley Lakes in Maine and the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec Mr. and Mrs. Williams will make their home in Trinity Church, Boston.

The bride attended University of Massachusetts, Pembroke College and the Katherine Gibbs School. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma. Mr. Williams prepared at Tabor Academy and attended University of Louisville where he was a member of Kappa Alpha.

LOCKE — LANGILL

Miss Dorothy Mac Langill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Harold Langill, was married at the home of her parents, 66 Glenwood avenue, Woburn, on Saturday evening, October 22, to Charles Russell Locke, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Ellis Locke of 132 Ridge street. The ceremony took place at 7 o'clock under a white archway, decorated with gladioli and was performed by the Rev. William Duval of the Quincy Methodist Church.

Miss Langill was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white brocade satin, low waisted, with a sweetheart neckline, long pointed cuff sleeves and a full skirt extending into a short train. Her matching veil was fingertip-length and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

HICKNELL MEMORIAL EXHIBITION

W. H. W. Bicknell, who was born in Boston in 1860, was one of New England's early exponents of etching. A collection of his work has been given to the Boston Public Library by his widow and at this time a memorial exhibition of his work is being shown in the Albert H. Wiggin Gallery. Mr. Bicknell died in 1947.

He studied with Otto Grundmann, and at the School of the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, where he later taught etching. He was a member of the Copley Society, the Chicago Society of Etchers, and the Provincetown Art Association. He received the bronze medal at the St. Louis Exposition in 1904, and is represented in the Art Institute of Chicago, the Rochester Memorial Art Gallery, the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, the New York Public Library, and the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C. A memorial exhibition of his work, including paintings, drawings and prints, was held by the Provincetown Art Association in September 1948. In addition to his work in the graphic arts his devotion to music was an outstanding characteristic. He played the violin from childhood, later the cello.

Bicknell did a number of etched portraits and title pages for the Bibliophile Society of Boston and many illustrations after Howard Pyle. He designed and etched illustrations for "The Deserted Village" by Oliver Goldsmith, "Charles Dickens and Maria Beadnell, private correspondence," and "Alexander Pope's Epistle, Elaisa to Abela." He was known at this time for his larger portraits of Lincoln and Franklin. His reproductive work is represented in this exhibition by an etching of himself after a drawing by William Paxton.

However, Bicknell had turned to the copper plate as a means of expression after many years of work as a painter and he was one of the first of the painters in New England to have done so. It was as a creative medium that he used etching and drypoint to interpret the dunes and village scenes of Cape Cod and Provincetown where he spent much of his life. The sand dunes and the delicate tracery of the bare branches against snow and the tufts of grass against sand. In a Boston Transcript review of 1920 one eminent critic has said of his snow scenes, "His crispness of touch lends itself especially well to the clear cold atmosphere of winter and the values of the transparent shadows on the snow, and of evergreens and bare trees are so true as to strictly express the sharp coldness of the day." This is particularly noticeable in the two plates of "Country Club Brook in Winter," "The Birchies," "Shadows," and "House under the Hill." In a similar style are the prints of the dunes around Provincetown represented by "Sunset," "Shady Road in Dunes," "Sunset in the Dunes," and "Thalassa."

The feeling of the Provincetown of some years ago is called to mind by his soft ground study of Charles W. Hawthorne painting before his class. Other prints of Provincetown are: "Atlantic Avenue, Provincetown," "The Backyard," "Church Tower from the Shore," "Methodist Church," "Provincetown Backyard," "Scow Ashore," and "Wharf and Monument, Provincetown."

Rounding out the exhibition are two fine charcoal drawings of landscapes: "Beauty Reflects Beauty," and "Tall Oaks, Winchester Country Club."

Bicknell's work is well summed up by W. H. Downes in the Boston Transcript in 1921: "Mr. Bicknell is recognized generally as one of the most skillful and accomplished American etchers. His line especially in his drypoints has personality and character and a certain incisiveness that is all his own."

1950 CALENDAR SHOWS TOWN IN 1850

1850 — when Winchester numbered some 1350 persons, and the water supply came from a pump in the center—when most homes had wells and the rain barrel was a blessing—the year when this part of South Woburn became a town, with a charter duly signed by the Governor—sets the theme for the 1950 Winchester calendar, to be published within a fortnight by the Social Service Guild, First Congregational Church. The calendar has a page for each week of engagements, space for morning, afternoon and evening appointments, and the pictures are truly unusual.

The cover page is a reproduction of the Ripley mural in the Winchester Public Library of the purchase of the land here from Squaw Sachem, to implant the calendar idea of the town's centennial. Frontispiece is a photograph of the charter, now in the Town Hall, taken by the Winchester Camera Shop, and with the picture is an amusing but factual 250 word "history" of the town. Still another "companion picture" page has a charming photograph of Winchester from the bridge in 1852, and a picture of the same spot today, Filene's store and the Congregational spire nicely shown. The old Richardson house, Black Horse Tavern (and the tourney in the Historical Room now), the old time fire department, map of the town in 1854, Horn Pond when the canal was there, Symmes Corner when Gov. Brooks' home stood there, the old boat club, old Wyman School (coupled with the present Parkhurst School), and other nostalgic pictures are included in this calendar.

Pictures were taken by the Winchester Camera Shop, Mr. James L. Jenks, Jr., and others, and the old scenes are from the files of the Winchester Historical Society, Chapman's History of Winchester, and others.

Mrs. George E. Connor is chairman of the 1950 Calendar, assisted by Mrs. James L. Jenks, Jr., Mrs. George Gowdy, Mrs. John B. Wills, with a large promotion committee including Mrs. E. C. Filler, Mrs. Edward Bartlett, Mrs. Eugene M. Pollard, Mrs. Harry M. Easton, Mrs. Harold Smith and Mrs. W. H. Johnston. Officially, the calendar goes on sale the day of the Village Fair, November 16, but the committee is taking orders for copies now, and will deliver them as soon as possible.

WEEK END FIRES

The Fire Department had several calls over the past week-end, commencing Friday forenoon when painters removing paint from the home of Mr. Frank D. Hawkins, 242 Highland avenue, with a blow-pipe, set fire to the dwelling. The fire was confined to the roof and eaves of the back porch and a part of the main roof.

At 2:57 Friday afternoon leaves burning near the house of Mr. Gaetano LaMarea, 6 Sheffield, set fire to some shingles over the cellar window.

Saturday evening at 8:28 a brush fire in the well field off Brantwood road did some damage to the pine trees there. At 9:02 burning leaves called the department to Main street in front of the high school.

Sunday morning at 10:18 Mrs. Roy Wilson of 40 Church street called the Central Station reporting that the police had notified her of smoke issuing from her husband's shop in the old Kelley & Hawes barn on Winchester place. The firemen found a work-bench afire there, but arrived in time to prevent what could have been a much more serious fire.

At 7:04 Sunday evening there was a grass fire on Sheridan circle north and half an hour later there was a brush and grass fire in the pit off Glenwood avenue. Sunday's last run was at 7:58 for a brush fire on Russell's Hill near the B & M signal. While at this fire the men discovered and put out another fire burning further up the hill.

MORE LIGHT ON HEALTH INSURANCE

As a positive, constructive balance to much talk about socialized medicine, Mr. Harlan L. Paine, Jr., Administrator of the Winchester Hospital, calls attention to discussions reported from the recent Blue Cross-Blue Shield Public Relations Conference held in Chicago. At this Conference an especially helpful address was made by Mr. Lawrence Drake of Washington, D. C., in which he stated that the voluntary nonprofit health service plan available in Massachusetts (Blue Cross-Blue Shield) has the answer to the problems which have made hospitals and doctors alike fear the entrance of socialized medicine into the already troubled situation.

Mr. Drake drew attention to the suddenly and tremendously increased demand for hospital service, which he believes will continue to increase because it grows out of more general medical knowledge and the individual's concern for good health as necessary to his economic and social security. This has created a large-scale market for the hospital and the doctor, said Mr. Drake, and the normal American way to satisfy it, consistent with twentieth century capitalistic enterprise, is through consumer credit-creation.

The Blue Cross and Blue Shield have made available the needed consumer credit creating mechanism, and it is possible for the public, the doctor, and the hospital to be adequately served through such plans if all three parties continue to support them. Mr. Drake expressed satisfaction over the success already attained by the voluntary health plans, which has given solid ground for opponents of compulsory health insurance in Congress. He believes that such voluntary health plans can continue to provide doctors and hospitals with a sound foundation for direct and free seller-buyer relationship with the public, the kind of relationship most satisfactory to the American citizen.

The use of business phraseology for matters connected with individual and family protection is a bit startling on first hearing, but the practical presentation Mr. Drake made to the Chicago meeting throws light into all corners of the situation. The result is reassuring on many grounds, not least of these being the fact that it shows the merit of the stand many people took some years ago, namely, insurance in the Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

THE VILLAGE FAIR - NOVEMBER 16

Oh joy and oh bliss. They are doing it again, and that means that the First Congregational Church Village Fair is affording you the utter luxury of browsing around all its lovely books at the Book Table so that you can cross off each and every name on your Christmas list that is slated to receive a book from you. Imagine it -- more than a month from the holiday itself, and those gifts are taken care of. But remember -- Mrs. Harry Wood still wants more books from you nice readers.

Lt. Col. Nathan Thumim of Oxford street is at the Winchester Hospital convalescing from a heart attack with which he was stricken last week. His progress is reported as satisfactory.

"I REMEMBER MAMA" ON NOV. 3, 4 AND 5

With Mrs. James Coon in the role of "mama," assisted by a corps of veteran players and many new ones this season, the Parish Players open their fall season Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, November 3, 4 and 5, with "I Remember Mama." The play is to be given in the Little Theatre Beneath a Spire, Parish Hall, First Congregational Church.

In keeping with the Norwegian overtones of the play—for Mama's family is Norwegian, settled but recently in a modest section of San Francisco—the hall on those evenings will be gaily decorated with Norwegian decor and flags, and girls in authentic Norwegian costumes will sell candy during intermission. Many of the stage properties for this play are from Norway, loaned to the cast for atmosphere.

George S. Hebb, Jr. is production chairman, with Harlan P. Grant, director. Working on the stage crew are George H. Gowdy, Raymond Carter, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Connor, Seymour W. Russell, James W. Flynn; lighting crew, Kendall H. Spencer, H. Kimball Archibald; properties, Mrs. Henry G. Fernald, chairman, assisted by Frances Peirce, Margaret Hodgson, Ruth Albee and Dorothy Osborne.

Mrs. Robert B. Graham, Jr., is chairman of costumes, assisted by Mrs. William Bruce Lunsford, Marjorie L. McGaw, Janet E. Sergeant, Dini Mencham, Mrs. Florence Grant will have charge of make-up for the dress rehearsal and three performances.

Air guns are getting to be a real problem in Winchester and recently the Police have had reason to believe that youngsters have been riding around town in cars firing at windows in houses and store fronts. Needless to say this dangerous practice is to be deplored. The law provides a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $500 for any one (including parents) who sells or furnishes a minor under 15, or a foreign-born unassimilated person any firearm, or airgun, or ammunition therefor, B. B. shots included. Chief Harold was very emphatic in talking to the Star about the growing danger to life and limb from airguns and small bore rifles to say nothing of the damage being done property about town. He is ready to invoke the law to the limit. That means you can pay one hundred to five hundred for the privilege of giving your kid an airgun, or selling him one if you are a dealer. The same goes for slugs and B. B. shot! It's the law! The law doesn't apply, however, to shooting instructors or drill masters who provide weapons for instruction or drill. Your kid can still go down to the rifle range in the Star building for instruction, but he can't go shooting around the street with an airgun or rifle, and he shouldn't!

Monday night is Hallowe'en. Winchester has had good reason to be proud of its young people for their observance of this occasion in the past, and there is every indication that this year will prove no exception. We can all help make the celebration of Hallowe'en a pleasant, instead of an unpleasant occasion. In some places the Police Department play hosts to young merry-makers with monster Hallowe'en parties. In others parent-teacher associations provide outlets for youthful exuberance. In Winchester there will be many parties and the usual visits from youngsters in search of candy. Good nature on both sides of the front door will help. Rudolph King, Registrar of Motor Vehicles, has issued a special warning to motorists to drive with unusual care on Hallowe'en with a view to looking out for kiddies whose own sight is more or less interfered with by the masks and costumes they are wearing. He also asks parents to do their part by pointing out to their children the dangers of dashing about the streets after nightfall, whether on Hallowe'en or any other night. The same parents and teachers will undoubtedly try to impress upon their children the importance of keeping the observance of Hallowe'en within the confines of fun. Malicious mischief resulting in damage to property is out, and is sure to result in trouble for the offenders if they fall into the hands of the Police. Let's have no regrets next Tuesday morning.

Many think of Police officers as big men in blue uniforms who interfere with their parking preferences, bring home their children with stony-faced reports of neighborhood depredations or prevent them from crowding out on the football field for a closeup of their favorite schoolboy's team in action. Police do of course all these things and altogether too many come to look on the force as a necessary evil engaged principally in hampering the expression of individual initiative. Police officers are necessary all right, but hardly evil. They do a lot of nice things, like getting people into locked houses, finding lost children, aiding persons alone in houses with sick people and generally acting the good Samaritan as well as the part of punitive authority. A recent case in point was when a little old lady collapsed in the center from an overdose of medicine. Startled bystanders, wondering what to do as the woman fell heavily to the sidewalk, were relieved to see a stalwart police officer running toward them, and almost before you could say "Jack Robinson" two uniformed officers and another in plain clothes were bending over the woman, ministering to her as the Police ambulance roared from its garage. Within five minutes the woman was on her way to the hospital without fuss or undue excitement because the police had done their job quickly, quietly and efficiently. Policemen are good to have around when trouble threatens or sudden illness or accident strikes. They are human like everyone else. They have a job to do and oftentimes if they do it well, they are extremely unpopular. They still are a very necessary adjunct of organized society, which we should not forget the next time we get a parking ticket or a complaint about our youngsters.

THIS IS YOUR BUSINESS!

As a stockholder how long will you tolerate its management which owns 848,567 typewriters but has on its payroll only 235,000 people who use typewriters at all! It distributes from its printing office $76 million worth of free material which includes pamphlets with such fascinating and exciting titles as "Methods of Catching and Killing Vagrant Cats," "Fleas of North America," "Estimating the Muskrat Population by House Counts," "How to Tell the Sex of a Watermelon," "Mist Netting for Birds in Japan," "Habits, Food and Economic Status of the Band-Tailed Pigeon."

It enjoys an employee turnover of 25 to 30% each year! It allows one department to tear down a camp in Alaska which costs 16 million and ship the lumber to Seattle whereupon it is shipped back again by another department to a point 10 miles from where it was originally!

It allows two different departments to survey construction sites for dams a half a mile apart on the same river - at $250,000 per survey - and come up with estimate costs of $75 million apart!

It permits some of its agencies to maintain supplies of equipment sufficient to last 50 years!

These are only a few of the hundreds of absurdities found by the Hoover Commission in its survey of your Federal Government.

Write your representative in Congress. Tell him you've had enough of hay-wire management and demand his support of the Hoover Recommendations for efficiency and economy in Government.

(Massachusetts Committee for Action on Federal Reorganization)

MORE ON THE ONE SESSION!

Editor of the Star:
I did not get much benefit from one session last year because I still had a kindergarten coming home at noon. But oh boy! this year I'm going to have a free day from nine until two-thirty. Almost makes up for fixing three lunches in the morning, except that I let the children do it themselves. (Paper products take a big boom about that time, get your sandwich bags and waxed paper early!)

Of course the children love it. It is better than a picnic for them to trade sandwiches and not have to use their silverware. Not that they know what is good for them. If they don't take it out in a brisk walk home at noon they sure take it out in the class room shenanigans. They mostly can skip a hot lunch in Winchester without being undernourished. Personally I have bought too many thermos bottles and refill linings to foster the hot soup idea any more.

Nobody asked the teachers what they thought when the poll was taken last year. I voted for it then because it seemed like a sort of exciting idea. The most I can get any teacher to commit themselves is one who said, "Well we were rather glad last year when it was over." But I can't see why they should object to sitting in the same room looking at the same faces with more of the same immediately following their lunch. And listening to the same chatter, crumbs, spills, and the smell of peanut butter. Any mother knows what that is, but multiply it by thirty-five, and just hope that the teachers really get to go home an early hour and not have to stay grading papers as late as they would without the one session.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Clair W. Swonger,
19 Perkins Rd., Winchester

ARE WE NOT SAILING THE SAME CROOKED COURSE NOW

With some of the same crew below decks.

(Contributed)

F. D. R. he dreamt a dream
Of a golden ship on a golden stream
With all sails set, but all lights out.
Steering a course, but always going about.

Having a crew of a questionable sort.
With a Mate or two, and the votes they bought.

Thus he sailed the good ship U.S.A.
From Bonneville Dam, to Quoddy Bay.

With his New Deal crew, singing "Yo and Yo;
Down with the Royals, and Wall Street row."

Oh! with an A.A.A. and a S.E.C.
We'll be riding high on a Golden Sea."

So the Captain bold, tacked East and West.
Never giving business a chance to rest.

With Cocorane and Cohen, as Bos'n's Mates.
They laid a course straight thru Hell's Gates.

But their course 'twas wrong, they had to luff.
The good Old Constitution called their bluff.

Let the Constitution run out its bow gun again!

Mrs. Mary Smith and daughter, Willa, of Salem street, with Mrs. Smith's sister, Mrs. Josephine Romans of Weymouth, are on a trip to Traadie, N. S., to attend the golden wedding anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Gerrior, widely known in Winchester.

EN KA ANSWERS OPENING WHISTLE!

En Ka answered the opening whistle for another busy season on Tuesday, October 25, when more than one hundred members of the society gathered for the first fall meeting of the new year at the charming home of Mrs. Dunbar L. Shanklin on Everett avenue.

After a delicious luncheon served by the most capable chairman, Mrs. Vera McKenzie, and her able assistants of the Meeting Committee, the business meeting was held with the society's president, Mrs. Thomas M. Righter, Jr., presiding. With her greeting Mrs. Righter expressed the hope that all members would find joyous satisfaction in carrying out the many worthwhile projects planned for the future, adding the information that since 1934, when the Society was reorganized, En Ka has given over $46,000 to local charities.

Mrs. Warren Shoemaker, chairman of the Finance Committee, entertainingly told of how she found herself a part of the dedication and launching of the three canoes given to the Boy Scouts' Camp Fellsland. Continuing, she told of the comfort already provided by the new canopy at the entrance to the Winchester Hospital.

The Society's annual contributions to the Salvation Army, Community Fund and District Nursing Association were voted. A water cooler has been purchased for the Home for Aged People and the sum of $100 given to keep the Book Truck at the hospital well supplied with current literature.

Mrs. Donald F. Connors, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, announced all managers have been procured and plans are well in hand for the annual Street Fair which is to take place on the twentieth of next May. Incidentally this date is being announced far enough in advance to have the variable weather man save a sunny Saturday for En Ka.

As the meeting adjourned the buzz of enthusiasm so apparent everywhere augured well for another highly successful season!

COMMITTEE OF SAFETY CHAPTER D. A. R.

Mrs. John B. Wills of 238 Highland avenue opened her home for the opening Fall meeting of the Committee of Safety Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, on Monday, October 17, 1949.

Mrs. Earle E. Andrews, presided and the opening exercises were conducted by Miss Grace Pound and Mrs. Wills.

The report of the State Fall Meeting held at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, Mass., October 5 and 6 was given by Miss Clara Russell a delegate.

Other Chapter members and delegates attending the State Meeting were, Mrs. William Goodhue, Mrs. Earle Andrews, Mrs. Edward Nowell, Mrs. Nathaniel Nichols and Mrs. George Bryne.

Mrs. Paul Stoneman announced the candy selling project-old fashioned creamy mints and peanut crunch. The Chapter has undertaken the selling of this fine candy made by the Earle S. Bowers Co. of Philadelphia, for the National Building Fund.

Mrs. William Goodhue in charge of the Program "Heirlooms and Keepsakes" called on members in turn who had brought their contributions for the program. Among those contributing were, Mrs. Wills, Miss Mary Alice Fitch, Mrs. William Cole, Miss Louise and Eleanor Bancroft, Mrs. Harold Meyer and Mrs. Earle Andrews.

Assisting Mrs. Wills during the Coffee Hour were, Mrs. Raymond Strawbridge, Mrs. Paul Stoneman, Mrs. Nathaniel Nichols, Miss Louise and Eleanor Bancroft, Mrs. William Parsons, Mrs. Harold French, Mrs. Harold Dover, and Mrs. William Coady.

Mrs. Marshall Pihl and Mrs. Nathaniel Nichols poured.

It was announced that the Tea for Chapter Members with State Officers as Honored Guests would be held on Wednesday, November 2, 2:30 to 5:00 P. M. Ladies Parlor, First Congregational Church. The Hostesses are the Executive Board and Program Committee. Notice of this Tea was given on the October meeting card, and no further notice would be sent. Mrs. Francis P. Carlson Chairman is assisted by Mrs. Earle Andrews, Mrs. William Goodhue and Committee.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL STUDIES UNITED NATIONS

The following report of the Junior School emphasis on the United Nations recently was submitted by a Junior High reporter:

For the last four years the United Nations has been a very important and well publicized group. As we are the future citizens of the world it is necessary that we learn its objectives and problems.

Our class discussions have acquainted us with the delegates and their jobs. Some of the major subdivisions of the U. N., such as the General Assembly and Security Council have been brought to our attention.

As a follow up to the classroom introduction the eighth grade was shown a movie entitled The People's Charter. A world ruined but free was pictured on the screen. They had fought together in the war. Now the nations of the world need to plan and work together toward harmonious living.

The Junior Review, a newspaper designed to keep the Junior High schoolers in step with the times, presented an article concerning the anniversary of the U. N. The front page featured two cartoons dealing with the problems of the atomic bomb and veto power. As other important matters are brought before the U. N. they will be brought up in the classroom. The world of the future depends upon the United Nations, for its name is its goal.

Charles O. Nichols of 14 Jefferson avenue has been a recent guest at the Hotel George Washington in New York City.

JUNIOR HIGH ASSOCIATES ENJOYED OPEN HOUSE

On Monday evening, October 24, first bell rang at 7:30 at the Junior High School for all parents of Junior High students. A record number of parents, well over three hundred, were seated in their children's home rooms a very few minutes after first bell had rung. Here the schedule was explained and a brief description was given of home room activities. At approximately 7:45 the "students" moved on to their first class and from then until they found themselves having refreshments in the gym they went from one class to another. In each class was given an outline of the work planned in as much detail as time allowed. Everyone was tremendously interested in the present day methods of teaching such subjects as Geography, English, Spelling, and perhaps especially Mathematics as described so vividly in one math study period by Miss Hayward!

Four members of the board and their committees contributed substantially to the success of the evening. The Social Committee with Mrs. Hazen Ayer as chairman and Mrs. Arthur Cameron, Mrs. Kendall Cleaves, Mrs. Colver Dyer, Mrs. Dana Sawyer, Mrs. Phillip Wadsworth, and Mrs. Harry Whiton as its members was responsible for the very delicious refreshments served at the "end of school." Mrs. Stuart Harris as chairman and Mrs. Richard Bowe, Mrs. Waldo Dade, Mrs. Thodora Halloran, Mrs. Spencer Hewins, Mrs. Wilson McElhiney, Mrs. Herbert Nelson, Mrs. Alan Page, and Mrs. William Young handled the taking in of dues. This was an important service since it is with these dues that the Junior High Associates function through the year and complete any projects not specifically completed with Scholarship.

Mrs. Heard, Mrs. Alfred Higgins, Mrs. Edward Mansfield, Mrs. Frank Robinson, and Mrs. George Starkmarsh collected towards the Junior High's gift to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation.

Alexander Aitken and Mrs. Langley Keyes made and put up all the signs and posters which it was hoped would facilitate things for the "pupils" of the evening.

The following statement issued by the Junior High Associates expresses their attitude toward Open House:

"All in all, it was a most successful meeting and we are grateful as parents to our teachers for making it possible for us to 'see' the Junior High School so completely."

MYSTIC MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

On October 17 Mrs. Carlton Heard of 10 Summit avenue entertained the mothers of the fifth grade. She was assisted by Mrs. Clifton Keane. Mrs. Paul Dunn presided at the tea table. Miss Wood then spoke on what she wished the fifth grade to accomplish this year.

The mothers of the sixth grade met their children's new teacher, Mrs. Thompson, on October 20. Mrs. Walter Abbott, assisted by Mrs. Curtis Ware, opened her home at 27 Lawson road. Mrs. Paul Dunn and Mrs. Everett Tisdale served tea. Afterwards, Mrs. Thompson talked with the mothers, and answered their questions.

REV. CHARLES E. PARK

UNITARIAN CHURCH NAMES INTERIM MINISTER

Beginning Sunday October 30th, Rev. Charles E. Park, Minister Emeritus of the First Parish Church in Boston, will be the interim minister at the Winchester Unitarian Church. Dr. Park was for thirty years at the First Parish Church. While he was Professor of Homiletics at Harvard Divinity School, many of the younger ministers of today, learned the art of preaching from him. He is one of the most noted preachers in New England, and everyone is cordially invited to share the privilege of hearing Dr. Park preach.

TEA AT GEORGE WASHINGTON SCHOOL

The mothers and teachers of Grade II and Grades I and II combination met on Thursday, October 20th, at 3:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Frank W. Thorp, Jr., 22 Bonad road, for the third tea in a series, given annually by the Mothers' Association of the Washington School. The attendance was large.

Miss Barbara Haley, Grade II teacher, spoke on "The Cost of Failure," stressing the fact that academic failure is only a small part of the total picture, with emotional factors playing a very important role. Her main objective was understanding.

Mrs. Sylvia Backer, teacher of Grades I and II Combination, reviewed the book: "Stop Annoying Your Child." She talked on the fact that every child, before he can become a success in school, must feel that he is loved and needed. He must also feel that he has a definite part in his own group endeavors, and be taught self-expression, through elimination of repressions.

Most all the parents took part in the open discussion which followed. They carefully and intelligently analyzed the following points:

- I. Good Manners.
- II. Types of Punishment.
- III. Sensitivity.
- IV. Health education with particular emphasis on good mental health.

The tea was arranged and served by Mrs. Frank W. Thorp, Jr., and Mrs. Donald Abbot room mothers, assisted by Mrs. Louis Erico, Mrs. Eric Johnson, Mrs. Salvatore Cantella, Mrs. Herbert Fairfield, Mrs. William Watkins, Mrs. Erskine Kelley, Mrs. Arthur Cochran, Mrs. John Van Dyke, and Mrs. Carl Segerstrom.

FORTNIGHTLY NEWS

At this week's regular meeting of The Fortnightly Mr. William W. Harris, noted world traveler and lecturer, showed his beautiful collection of colored motion pictures of Nova Scotia, and delighted his audience with many interesting and colorful facts about this romantic province. His intimate knowledge of the island and its history provided many fascinating bits of lesser known information as this delightful tour through Acadia in apple blossom time unfolded. There was the rare red-blossoming apple tree swaying against a brilliant spring sky, and ox drawn carts winding through blossom-laden orchards that were soft white and pink. The fact that Nova Scotia means "New Scotland" surprised everyone.

Members were pleased to hear the report by Mrs. Clifton Hall, Chairman of Finance, that $25.00 had been donated to the Girl Scouts for their building fund. Members have always been interested in the progress of Girl Scout activity ever since the time years ago when The Fortnightly organized the Girl Scouts in Winchester. The sum of $25.00 was also contributed to the Community Fund campaign.

The bountiful and varied donations to the food sale were admired and enjoyed by all, and made the sale most successful financially. Mrs. Priest and Mrs. Symmes, chairmen, wish to thank all for their fine co-operation.

Mrs. Given wishes to remind members of the coming Northeastern Regional Conference at Memorial Hall, Melrose, to be held on November 30th. This will be an all day meeting and complete details will be announced later.

The name of Mrs. Marion A. Gaffney has been added to the Hospitality Committee.

Mrs. William Priest, Vice Chairman, Division of Inter-racial Unity, announced that an Institute of Human Relations will be held on November 9th at the Men's City Club in Boston. Sponsoring this meeting, which will be held in co-operation with the National Conference of Christians and Jews, will be the following four committees of the Massachusetts State Federation: The Division of Religion, of International Relations, of Peace Services, and of International Racial Unity.

Registration will start at 9:45 a. m. The conference session is scheduled to begin at 10:15 a. m. and close at 3:30 p. m. A number of excellent speakers will be heard and question periods will follow. The chairmen of the four sponsoring committees will conduct a panel discussion with audience participation. Luncheon will be available. We hope that our Fortnightly members will co-operate to make this first Institute a successful medium for the better understanding of all peoples.

MOTHERS' TEA

The Winchester Country Day School, at 91 Grove street, held its second Mothers' Tea on October 24 at three in the afternoon.

These Mothers' Teas, which are held every month, have proved invaluable in bringing about a closer working relationship among the teachers, mothers and children.

At this meeting the social needs and responsibilities of children were topics for the discussion led by the school's director, Mrs. Walter M. Ennis, Jr. The mothers then visited with the teachers in the classrooms for more personal discussion of the children.

It was decided that Mrs. Miller E. Miller, of the mothers' group, will be in charge of the social activities for the mothers and children throughout the school year. Mrs. Richard Smith will be in charge of the project work.

A children's Halloween party, in costume, was planned for Monday, October 31. Mothers helping with the party include Mrs. Earle G. Carrier, Mrs. Miller E. Miller, and Mrs. Albert N. Farnham.

METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL ROOM ADDED

Meeting the needs of increased enrollment and attendance at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church School, a new room is being built and will be ready for use this coming week. Plans will also be in order for redecoration in the smaller departments to allow for every convenience in the program of religious education.

MEETINGHOUSE FESTIVAL NOVEMBER 9

The colonial Crawford Memorial Methodist Church at the junction of Church and Dix streets is an appropriate setting for the Meetinghouse Festival as we approach the Thanksgiving season. November the ninth, on a Wednesday, is the date which Mrs. Richard A. Smith and her corps of assistants have chosen to display and sell the lovely hand-made gifts, children's clothes and aprons which groups of Methodist women have been making since early spring. Food and candy, more tantalizing than ever, products of excellent cooks, will sell speedily and "First come, first served."

Flower arrangements of exquisite beauty, cut flowers and small flower gardens, all attractively displayed will be near the practical and ever so popular apron table. The Cafeteria luncheon will be ready at 12, and at 6:30 promptly supper will be served in the Social Hall of the church. Mrs. Bruce Tallman and G. Raymond Bancroft are in charge of tickets. During the afternoon Mrs. Joseph Graustauk will cut silhouettes, a most popular attraction and Mr. Earl Haney will intrigue, interest and amuse all who are interested in a character analysis.

The decorations for this fair are in the hands of Mrs. Jerome Foster whose artistic "meetinghouse and evergreen motifs" are a fine background for the varied and interesting handkerchief table, the Doll House and the Attic, while Balloons and popcorn add color and palatable zest to the scene.

Mr. Fred Dodge, with his inimitable skill has created an interesting mural with the "Meetinghouse" a part of the theme. Miss Martha Fay had charge of the eloquent posters which are displayed shortly in various store windows in town to remind you at the Meetinghouse Festival at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church.

FORUM ATTENDS PILGRIM FELLOWSHIP RALLY

Last Sunday afternoon 53 Forum young people and adult advisers attended the Pilgrim Fellowship Rally in Malden Congregational Church. A rally is held twice a year for the young people of the twenty churches in the Woburn Association. The crowd arrived about 3:15 and registered after which Mrs. Tarr led the entire Pilgrim Fellowship in singing of spirituals and favorite hymns. The theme of the Conference was "One God", and to explore this subject, there were three seminars led by a Jewish rabbi, a Paulist Father, and a representative from India who described Hinduism. Questions and discussion followed.

After a delicious supper, the entire Fellowship met for a beautiful worship service in the sanctuary led by the officers of the Association. The young people of the Wakefield Congregational Church were the members of the robed choir. Winchester was proud of having the largest delegation present for the Rally. Forum wishes to thank the parents who so graciously furnished transportation.

NATIONAL STAFF REPRESENTATIVE ADDRESSES GIRL SCOUT GROUP

An interim report meeting of the Girl Scout Cabin Building Fund Committee was held at the Girl Scout Office on Wednesday evening, October 19th. Twenty-two members - eight of them men - were present to discuss the remarkable progress made on the cabin, and to hear two Girl Scout representatives, Mrs. Miriam Bryan of the National Staff, who is Consultant on Outdoor Activity and Mrs. Harriet Fish, Sectional Advisor of the Regional Staff.

Mrs. Burton Miller spoke of the cabin in glowing terms as a truly community effort. She described the wonderful cooperation of the men of the community, who, through such mediums as the Rotary Club, have procured much of the material needed for the Cabin either free or at cost. She told of the hours of skilled and unskilled labor given by the men, and of the leaders and Girl Scouts who have served coffee to those on the job. She also spoke of the contributions made by many organizations in the community, and said that the men of the Water and Sewer Department were giving their free time to laying pipes up to the cabin.

Mr. Vincent Ambrose was introduced as the Treasurer Pro Tem while Mr. J. Willing is in California.

Mrs. Bryan then spoke of her inspection of the cabin, and congratulated Winchester on its excellent planning. She told the committee that Winchester had a reputation throughout the country for its excellent trip program, and discussed the value of such projects as the Washington trip and the projected trip to England next year. She pointed out that these trips were made possible because the community saw the value of the Girl Scout movement and hence was able and willing to support the troops in their efforts to earn money for these trips. She stressed that the cabin must be made available to all the troops and that rules must be laid down for the care and maintenance of the cabin, so that each troop might have an opportunity to enjoy it. Every troop, she said, must have an opportunity to have at least one overnight at the cabin, and they should register well in advance so that there be no disappointments. Each troop should earn money for a maintenance fee to pay for heat and light, and each should leave the cabin as the rules direct. She pointed out how greatly our outdoor program can be improved with use of the cabin for both winter and summer facilities.

It was also pointed out how the active Girl Scout program encourages the Brownies to keep on with scouting so that they may enjoy the benefits as they grow older.

Mrs. Fish also congratulated Winchester on its program and on the high percentage of school children who are enrolled in the scouts. She spoke of the importance of the Leadership Training program, and how the Scout activities could be enlarged by Leaders who took advantage of the Training open to them.

Mrs. George Cary, Girl Scout Commissioner, thanked the committee for its work, and urged all to remember that the job is not yet done. She expressed the hope that everyone in Winchester would inspect the progress of the cabin and attend the dedication ceremonies.

LEWIS PARKHURST ROOM TEAS

Mrs. Stanley Neill of 5 Overlook Way, acting as room-mother, entertained Miss Carroll the Kindergarten teacher, and the mothers of the Kindergarten children at tea on Tuesday afternoon, October 18th. Miss Carroll, as is the custom, described a typical day of the children while in school, and explained the proposed aims of the year. While at tea, she had a chance to talk to each mother concerning the individual child.

On Wednesday, October 19th, Mrs. G. M. Herrick of 120 Wildwood street entertained Mrs. Wiggitt and the mothers of the third grade children at tea. Mrs. Wiggitt had written of the child's day in poetry form, which she read to the mothers. Following this a few general questions were asked of her, and at tea Mrs. Wiggitt also had a chance to talk individually with the mothers, of their children.

These room-teas are obviously enjoyed and appreciated by the teachers and the mothers, as is shown by the number of parents accepting.

DR. COE TO SPEAK

Dr. Robert Wood Coe, D. D., will be the special guest preacher this Sunday at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church. He is now Executive Secretary of the Massachusetts Bible Society.

Dr. Coe was born in Greensboro, N. C., the son of a minister, Rev. Samuel Walker Coe. At an early age he moved with his parents to Baltimore, Md., where his father was pastor of Eutaw Methodist Church. Dr. Coe's grammar school education was received in that city. After preparation at Tome School and Baltimore City College, he entered Western Maryland College.

In 1918 Dr. Coe became minister of the First Parish Church of Dover, N. H., and after several years he went to the First Congregational Church in Norwood, Mass., which markedly increased in his pastorate. His ministry in South Congregational Church, Brookton, followed. Here was a membership of eleven hundred persons, and a large, well-organized church school. Dr. Coe taught Bible courses at the Northfield Conference of Religious Education.

He is president of the Board of Trustees of Bradford Junior College, and a trustee of International College, Beirut, Syria.

An unusual story which reveals a relationship between the Crawford Memorial Church and the Bible Society going back almost 50 years ago, will be told.

The morning service awaits for a dynamic man with a vital message.

COLLEGE CLUB MEETING NOVEMBER 2

Henry W. Holmes, Professor of Education, Emeritus, at Harvard University, who will speak to the Winchester College Club and friends on the subject "Education for Democratic Living," has had a long and distinguished career in the field of education. After a brief period of work in the public schools, he became an instructor in Education at Harvard and from 1920 to 1940 was Professor and Dean of its Graduate School of Education. In 1946 he was Consultant on Education for UNESCO. At present he is Co-Director of the Educational Research Corporation of Cambridge. The ultimate goal of the Project may be briefly summarized as "better civic behavior." Professor Holmes' discussion of the problem and solutions of it will interest all of us both because of the great importance of the subject and because of the outstanding attainments of the speaker.

The meeting will be held at the Metcalf Hall of the Unitarian Church on Wednesday evening, November 2. Mrs. George Makechnie, Hospitality Chairman, has made arrangements for coffee to be served at 7:30. Mrs. Wayne E. Davis, former Vice-President of the College Club, and Mrs. Forbes H. Norris, former Treasurer, will pour. Hostesses for the evening, all Radcliffe alumnae, are as follows: Mrs. Theodore Browne, Mrs. Linwood Bryant, Miss Caroline Everett, Mrs. William Morton, Mrs. Arthur Schmidt, Mrs. William Spaulding, and Mrs. Gilman Wallace.

At an Advisory Board meeting of Winchester Chapter, Order of DeMolay, J. Stanley Fudge of 19 Fairmount street was elected as "Dad" succeeding William S. Wolsey who has held the post since the Chapter's institution in 1947. Dad Fudge is Junior Warden of Mystic Valley Lodge A. F. and A. M. and Past High Priest of Winchester Royal Arch Chapter. He has served on the Advisory Board since before the chapter was instituted in 1947.

STEPHEN NICHOLS RECEIVES PATENT

On September 20, 1949, the United States Patent Office granted patent number 2,482,633 on a "Sharpening Unit" to Stephen G. Nichols, Winchester, Mass.

Heretofore, in the grinding and sharpening of knives and similar articles of cutlery, it has been customary to employ an open and unguarded apparatus. This prior practice necessitated highly skilled workmanship, for otherwise, poor cutting edges were produced, knives were damaged, replacement costs were high, and accidents were numerous.

It is therefore the object of Mr. Nichols' invention to overcome this limitation, and, for this purpose, he has devised a sharpener by means of which an unskilled operator may safely perform a highly efficient job of sharpening any type or size of knife. Generally speaking, his contrivance comprises a covered housing within which a suitable small motor is adapted to drive two rotatable shafts that are adjustable towards or away from each other. Each of the latter contains a number of grinding wheels, the end one on each shaft being practically in contact with each other while the remainder are mounted in overlapping and staggered relationship.

In use, it is only necessary for the workman to fit the handle of the knife through special guides, bring the blade down on the overlapping grinding wheels, slowly draw it back and forth once or twice, and then swing the handle downwardly to bring the blade into engagement with the two aforementioned practically contacting wheels. It should be noted that the latter procedure effects the sharpening of the blade portion adjacent the handle, which, according to Mr. Nichols, is an accomplishment that cannot be performed satisfactorily on the ordinary prior grinders of this general type.

As additional features, his equipment is portable, may be plugged into the usual electrical outlet, and can be positioned on any counter, bench, shelf or table. Furthermore, there is little chance for error, injury or mutilation of the blade therewith, and it is adapted particularly for use where a large number of knives are in continuous service, and where speed and accuracy are important.

This patent has been assigned to L. O. Nichols, Newton, Mass., a firm.

WINCHESTER WOMEN'S COUNCIL

The Fall meeting of the Winchester Women's Council was held on Thursday morning at the Library. Twenty-eight member organizations were represented.

Mrs. A. Allen Kimball, Chairman of the Committee for the High School and enlarged Junior High School Building, gave a most interesting report of the work done by this conscientious committee. The members have met every second Tuesday during the year to discuss plans for the best possible solution to Winchester's vital school building problem.

At the present time the committee has three solutions to offer. The first is to enlarge the existing schools. The committee feels that this might be done satisfactorily with the Junior High School but this building is old and inadequate. It could not be enlarged sufficiently without excessive land taking. Remodeling would be difficult and costly and in some respects impossible because of regulations of the Department of Public Safety. The location of the school, on three busy streets, would necessitate that it be made sound proof and a new ventilation system would have to be installed.

The second suggestion was that the present Jr. High School be converted into a four-year Sr. High School and the Sr. High School into a two-year Jr. High School. Here again is presented the problem of enlarging and remodeling with the added disadvantage of disrupting the system of three-year Junior and Senior high schools.

The third possibility is to convert the present Jr. High School into a three-year senior school and build a new Junior High School in another location. With this in mind the committee has investigated several sites where adequate building and recreation field might be erected.

It was suggested that many Winchester residents would be interested in attending a meeting of the committee and Mrs. Kimball said she felt sure such a meeting could be arranged.

Miss Corinne Mead spoke of the newly formed Social Agencies Group. She told of how the group came into being and of the advantages it offers for representatives of agencies to meet with others of like capacity. At some meetings formal programs are planned and at other times the group meets for informal general discussion. The membership consists of representatives of the Welfare Department, the Board of Health, Winchester Hospital, Winchester District Nursing Association, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, the Police Department, the Red Cross, the Public Library and the Public School nurse, Industrial nurse and High School Guidance councillor.

Mrs. Saltmarsh reported that the activities Calendar at Mary Spaulding's Book Shop is complete to June and asked member organizations to fill in dates as soon as they are definitely decided upon.

Mrs. Cary reported on the progress of the Girl Scout building campaign and hoped friends would visit the new cabin on Border road.

Mrs. Rhodes of the Fortnightly spoke of the desirability of a Community Club House as a war memorial. She asked member representatives to report the proposition to their organizations.

Mrs. Crowell announced the Winchester 100th Anniversary celebration to be held next year. The committee would appreciate ideas and suggestions as to a program.

Mrs. Downey reported the fine progress being made by the Red Cross and of the continued need for volunteer workers and blood donors. The next Winchester Blood Donor day will be December 2.

The next regular meeting of the Council will be held in March.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

Fifty-four College Club members and guests took advantage of the beautiful weather and the hospitality of the Worcester Art Museum to enjoy the first museum trip of the year's program. Mrs. Margaret Plummer Werber, a former Winchester girl, conducted the group through the galleries, and the time was all too short to see the wealth of treasures that the Worcester Museum has to offer.

Coffee was served in the contemporary exhibition room, where card tables were set up for the box luncheon and a pleasant hour of relaxation was enjoyed. Many members stayed on in the afternoon to go back leisurely to view again the "Wave" by Marsden Hartley or the portrait of Col. Theodore Atkinson by Blackburn, or the Ellis collection of French and English furniture and paintings, or the rare and incomparable mosaics.

Notice of future special exhibitions in Worcester will be published in the STAR.

It has been necessary to change the date of the next out of town trip from Thursday, November 17 to Monday, November 21, when we shall meet at Addison Gallery, Andover, Mass.

DE PAUR INFANTRY CHORUS THRILLS LARGE AUDIENCE

Choral singing at its absolute peak of perfection was greeted by the thunderous applause of Community Concert goers last Thursday evening when the de Paur Infantry Chorus sang in the packed Winchester high school auditorium opening this season's concert series, for the Smith College club scholarship fund. This magnificent group of thirty-five Negro veterans of World War II sang a completely a cappella program of songs by contemporary composers, Latin American folk numbers, Negro spirituals, war songs and hymns of faith under the matchless direction of Leonard de Paur, one of the country's most gifted conductors, who organized the group in 1942 at Fort Dix, New Jersey.

Displaying great flexibility, superb vocal skill, perfect pitch, flawless diction and unusual poise, the entire chorus was at all times in complete rapport with their conductor, and despite the fact that these men sing six nights out of seven from September to April while on tour, there was no hint of hackneyed singing or lack of attention to their skilled leader.

Fifteen out of the twenty-three numbers on the program were arranged either entirely or in part by Mr. de Paur and the unusual harmonies of his arrangements stamped familiar numbers particularly the spirituals, with a new beauty. The program opened with Henschel's "Morning Hymn" which howed immediately that these were professionals of the utmost ability who needed no warm up before they would be in perfect voice. The group of Latin American folk songs sung in Spanish and West Indies patois French featured very pleasing incidental baritone solos, and showed the men's wonderful sense of rhythm. The closing number in this group, "Ugly Woman" a Calypso arranged by Mr. de Paur was highly amusing and well done. Songs from World War II showed the group's versatility ranging from the singing in unison of the Song of the French Partisan, an impressive narrative of the French underground, to the deeply moving interpretation of the famous "Roger Young" done in Mr. de Paur's thrilling arrangement. "Meadowland" featured an excellent tenor solo voice, with smooth sustained tone, and the chorus beginning with very light pianissimo increasing to double fortissimo.

In the Negro spirituals and work songs the bass solo was outstanding in the richness of tone and sensitivity of expression. The familiar "Water Boy" and "Deep River" retained all their old appeal but with the de Paur arrangement something new was added with again unusual resolving chords and harmonious effects.

The climax of the evening came with the Songs of Faith opening with a flawless rendition of Palestrina's "O Bone Jesu" Schindler's "Eli, Eli," the ancient Hebrew invocation, the famous Russian orthodox liturgical chant, the repititious and difficult "Hospodi Pomiloi," and closing with the familiar and beloved Malotte's "Lord's Prayer," which with Mr. de Paur's changes in arrangement and the fine tenor solo was more thrilling to hear than ever before.

Never during the entire performance was a pitch pipe used or any sign of humming notes etc. Mr. de Paur, whose magnetic outgoing personality was reflected in the friendly spirit of camaraderie of the entire group, explained backstage that it is a question of interval relations, each choir holding over in their minds the note for the following number. It was a flawless finished performance, and the men this reviewer observed in conversations backstage were of unusual character and high caliber as individuals, not to mention musicians of the highest order. America could ask for no finer ambassadors of good will.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. Michael T. Hintlian was hostess for the Winchester Garden Club at her summer home in Rockport, Thursday, October 20 - an ideal setting for a special day. Throughout the house burnt sienna shades mingled with bright blooms from Mrs. Hintlian's choice garden in harmonious arrangements. Rockport scenes in oil by the hostess added to this setting. Mrs. Herbert T. West and Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini poured at the Buffet Luncheon. Guests were Mrs. Ella H. Robinson, Mrs. Thomas O'Leary, Mrs. John Buckley, Miss Lucy Piper, Miss Mary Brennan, Miss Ethel Smith, Miss Piper and Miss Brennan from Rockport Garden Club.

The president, Mrs. William W. Goodhue presided at a short business meeting. She expressed the appreciation of the club for the gracious hospitality of Mrs. Hintlian. She spoke about the interesting program that Mrs. Willard Hudson, as Program Chairman had prepared; also the Year Book's jacket commemorating the twentieth anniversary of the club - there is a grouping of fruit and a birthday cake with lighted candles on its blue background - the artist, Mrs. John B. Wilks. A report was given of the Annual Meeting of the Garden Club Federation of Mass.

Mrs. Goodhue spoke of the "passing on" of Mary W. Linton. A short obituary was read by Mrs. Theodore von Rosenvenge, Sr. One sentence is synonymous of Mary Linton's life - She was enriched within and spent generously giving love and understanding.

"A Tahitian Afternoon" was the subject presented by Mrs. W. A. Robinson from Papeete, Tahiti who is professionally known in the artist field as Sarah Lancashire White and noted for her Tahitian scenes in oil, is the wife of Mr. W. A. Robinson (explorer and author, now directing the elephantiasis projects in the Islands) formerly of Winchester; also the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence White of Beverly Farms, Mass., daughter-in-law of Mrs. Ella H. Robinson and niece of Mrs. Herbert T. West of Winchester.

The speaker with her charm, wit and narrative continuity stirred the desire of her listeners to visit this island of Tahiti where happy people live. The following report is a small part of the valuable information given by Mrs. Robinson: Tahiti Island in the Society Islands is 40 miles long and 25 to 30 miles wide; roads partly paved. Temperature, 65 to 85 in shade and is typical of an August day in New England when a breeze is here. It is French governed with mixed races and healthy, happy children. The Polynesian man is well built and prides himself on strength and fishing. The women are South Sea beauties of mixed blood. There are many American, English and French people in Tahiti.

The home of the Robinsons is a house on the Lagoon which has an oval-shaped pandanus thatched roof, open to the weather, cement colored floor; the only rooms enclosed are bedroom and bathroom. The kitchen, studio and garage are separate buildings.

The summer months have just enough rain; the winter much rain with overflowing rivers and high winds in which coconut trees sway, nuts fall, tree fronds weighing from 20 to 30 pounds, swishing crashing to the ground. Mrs. Robinson related a delightful moment: two grandmothers are sitting in the river in brightly colored mother hubbards having their morning chat. No one seems surprised to see them because you, too, might go and do likewise.

Money means no more to Polynesians than added convenience - it is a life of plenty because Island fruits and fish are free. The French government has passed laws protecting the Polynesians. The people are happy, unselfish and always proud. Because of this there are no beggars, no fear, no worry. Children in such security are always welcome. There are no orphans because if there are no parents a dozen mothers are there to adopt the children.

Mrs. Robinson described bathing in the cascade, sleeping by the waterfall surrounded by lush ferns in the rocks with fairy terns in the tree tops. After her siesta, she, with her help (two native girls) climbs up the stream barefooted to the plantation where she has planted fruit trees, flowers and shrubs which she has brought to Tahiti from distant lands and propagating them with remarkable success. She shares her cuttings and plants with the people of the Island. As the sun is setting they return to the house on the Lagoon.

A Pareir is the dress for women of the Island. It is a gayly printed straight material of one and a half yards; that, with a bra completes the costume. A Sarong with golden sandals or barefooted is the evening dress for women. Men and women wear a flower behind the ear.

Dinner consists of raw fish soaked in native lime or fruit juice. Shrimp in their own pools are served in fresh coconut sauce flavored with ginger roots; ground meat, fruit and coffee.

As it gradually gets dark Mr. and Mrs. Robinson walk or sit out by the Lagoon in the evening or night enjoying the garden-like perfume which descends from the surrounding mountains. If it is Sunday, hymns can be heard in the little church down the road, sometimes gay and native. Sometimes a feeling of nostalgia comes to Mrs. Robinson and a longing for the cold weather of New England and the activities of cities.

Mrs. Goodhue paid tribute to Mrs. Robinson in behalf of the club for the interesting, stimulating and instructive address.

WINCHESTER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Mrs. Alice Rowe Snow, author of "The Log of a Sea Captain's Daughter," and mother of the famous historian and author and adventurer, Edward Rowe Snow, will be the speaker at the Winchester Historical Society Fall Meeting on Thursday evening, November 3 at 7:45 in the Art Room of the Winchester Library. Guests will be welcome.

Mrs. Snow will bring some of her South American curios, copies of colored sketches made on the voyage on her father's "Bark Russell" around Cape Horn to Robinson Crusoe's Island, and her famous Spanish zither on which she will play during the program.

Mrs. Snow has a keen sense of humor, which adds greatly to her lecture. She is most active and regularly goes on boat trips to the various islands in the Boston Harbor, never fazed by steep ladders.

The Historical Society has acquired a costume cabinet, in which to display some of their beautiful old costumes in their room in the Library.

WINCHESTER BOY SCOUT NEWS

And Still They Come . . .

Lowering the age limits certainly has caused a mild avalanche of enthusiastic youth to storm the gates of the scouting units of Winchester seeking admittance. In case you haven't heard or if you've by-passed this column which the Winchester Star so kindly and graciously publishes, here are the facts. If you have a boy 8 yrs. old (formerly 9) he can join a Cub Pack and a boy 11 yrs. old (formerly 12) can join a Troop of Scouts or Sea Scouts. Just apply to your Church sponsored Troop or Pack or The Legion Troop.

Publicity for All Units

This corner will endeavor to coordinate all general Scouting, Troop, Cub Pack, Senior Scouting etc. news into a column agreeable to the Units and the Star Office. If allowed to get out of hand, Mr. Jim Penialigan, genial Assistant Editor, points out that the Star would have very limited space for other items, which is very true. So, we ask all units to submit their news items with the understanding that sometimes some of the accounts submitted will have to be shortened to make room for other scout items but we will try to include the deleted fragments in the following week's column. Please leave your copy at either Hevey's or McCormack's Drug stores by no later than 5:00 p. m. Sundays but if possible by Fridays 5:00 p. m. Double space your material typed or if written in longhand double space it also and write plainly. Address it attention of Vincent F. Erhard Chairman B. S. A. Publicity.

Oct. Monthly District Meeting

With practically all units represented, Mr. George Thompson, Winchester District Commissioner, presented a movie (sound) pertaining to Map reading and Compass loaned to Scouting by the Armed Forces, free of charge. Units desiring to borrow films like these are requested to call the Scout Office or get in touch with Mr. Thompson directly. This visual-aid manner of instructing scouts is real top-drawer stuff. Get in the swing unit leaders. Borrow these films! Chairman of Winchester District Ben Gowing presided at the meeting at which much comment on the increase of boys in Scouting was prevalent.

Hail-Farewell

Paul Butterworth live-wire Committee chairman of Troop 7, First Baptist Church has unfortunately moved away to Sharon, Mass. His work on Publicity this past year was outstanding and he will be missed. Reports have it that Paul will still journey up to Troop 7 on Mondays when possible. Good Luck Paul from the entire Scouting family.

How to Get Den Mothers?

Bill Davies of Pack 6, Committee, offered a fine suggestion at the meeting above in order to obtain Den Mothers. The idea is to contact potential Den Mothers at least one or two years before they would be possibly joining a den or even considering it. Those with young children now who will be old enough to join the Cubs in a year or two hence. This gives the future Den Mothers time to think and learn about it. Swell idea eh! Start this missionary work now, Right!

Fellsland Council Pow Wow

Time and Place: Congregational Church on Saturday October 8th afternoon and evening. Results: Excellent material, good facilities, fair attendance, more fun than a barrel of monkeys. Will be held at a later date next year to enable all Cub Units to be established along in the season.

Advancement

Chairman Bill Bounie needs two adult leaders from each troop for the Board of Review which meets on the 2nd Monday of each Month at the Legion Building on Vine street to examine scouts for advancement. What say men! Call Scout Headquarters WI 6-2030 right away!

Scouting Pays - in Many Ways!

Last June Sea Scout Francis McGuire of Philadelphia plunged into the Delaware river and rescued a youth, a non-swimmer. Before the month was up, he was cited by Radio Station WFIL for the Scout award of the month. In August he was chosen by Bob Feller, Cleveland fireball pitcher, as the outstanding youth of the Philadelphia area. He received a gold medal, a $100 savings bond and is now eligible to compete for a 4 year scholarship at Syracuse University. We have a Sea Scout Unit in Winchester -- want to join, it's fun!

Don Warren of 2 Greeley road has returned for his senior year as a student at the School of Practical Art in Boston. Specially interested in illustration, Warren is majoring in this subject and will, after graduating next June, be prepared to do professional work in this area of commercial art.

WINCHESTER ELKS NEWS

Many members are enjoying the Inter-lodge tournament which recently started when the members from Winthrop visited here, first victory for the home team 10 to 5. The next contest for Winchester will be at Revere on November 8. The match of November 2, when we expected to take Medford to camp, has been postponed and will be played at a later date. Reason for the postponement is the District Deputy's visitation at Boston Lodge and official opening of Boston's new quarters on that date.

The whist party committee is working very hard for a successful party on November 18, at the Noonan school. It is the sincere wish of E. R. Francis Tansey that all Elks and their friends will take an active part to make the affair financially for the Charity fund. Thanksgiving is coming and therefore the annual distribution of baskets to the needy will then be made.

Several of the members enjoyed the inter-lodge banquet held at Medford Lodge last Saturday evening.

The Exalted Ruler has appointed P. E. R. Thomas Fallon to head the committee for the Elks National Foundation. This is the great philanthropic endeavor of our order, which has a capital fund of over two (2) million dollars. Its annual distribution of about $80,000, is used to rehabilitate crippled children and aid them to become useful citizens, providing hospitalization for Tuberculosis patients and providing educational scholarships. It so far has awarded about 750 scholarships to competing students. Let us all give Tom all the support that we can.

UNITARIAN BAZAAR CLOTHING EXCHANGE NOVEMBER 8TH

Every Tuesday and Thursday from 10 - 12 and 1 - 4 someone will be in the Kindergarten room (upstairs) to receive clothing for the Exchange. The rate of payment this year is 70% to the seller and 30% to the Church. Any articles of clothing in good and clean condition are acceptable. If you are unable to bring things down call Winchester 6-2535 or Winchester 6-1336.

BAPTIST WOMEN'S LEAGUE

The afternoon program of the November 3rd meeting of the Baptist Women's League will be highlighted by the presentation of a Flannelgraph by Mrs. L. J. Page of Arlington. These flannelgraphs are both entertaining and instructive, and Mrs. Page has developed the technique to a remarkable degree. Mrs. James Farley will lead the devotional part of the meeting and the Love Gift offering will be received.

Come, if possible, to help in the White Cross sewing from 10 to 12 o'clock. Then luncheon, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Edward H. Newhall will be served, followed at 1:15 by the afternoon program. All women are invited.

400,000 People Paid More for Their Cars than a Cadillac Costs!

You will probably find it difficult to believe the statement which appears above as the headline for this message. But records indicate that it is true, nevertheless.

The reason for this is found in a surprising fact: There are eight other motor car manufacturers who produce certain models which actually cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac and approximately four hundred thousand of these higher-priced models have been produced and sold in the post-war era.

Undoubtedly, a great many of the people who bought these cars did so because Cadillac cars were not available at the time—a situation now happily being remedied. But it is doubtless true that many owners of these higher-priced cars don't realize what they did. Cadillac has such a wonderful world-wide reputation for goodness and quality that many who can afford it mistakenly conclude it is beyond their means. So they pay the price of a Cadillac—and don't get a Cadillac.

We don't believe you would want that to happen to you. So we suggest that you come in and let us give you the actual delivered price here in this community for a Cadillac Sixty-one, equipped exactly as you want it. Let that be your economic yardstick as you select your car.

If you pay for a Cadillac, we think you will want to make sure that you get one.

VOL. LXIX NO. 11

THE WINCHESTER MASS., STAR, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1949

PRICE SEVEN CENTS

ISN'T WINCHESTER GOING TO MAKE IT?

EUGENE MACDONALD

Eugene MacDonald of 92 Bacon street, oldest member of the flour and grain trade in New England and a resident of Winchester for nearly 40 years, died shortly before midnight on Thursday, October 27, at his home after an illness dating back to June, 1946, when he was stricken with a shock while on the floor of the Boston Grain Exchange.

Mr. MacDonald was the son of Alexander MacDonald, who migrated from Scotland, and Mary (Locke) MacDonald. He was born November 1, 1862, in Charlestown and was educated at Boston Latin School, leaving school at the age of 15 to enter the flour and grain business.

During the nearly 70 years he was active in business he was always his own man, being engaged in his earlier years as a grain broker and since 1916 being a partner in the A. S. MacDonald Commission Company, which he founded with his son in that year. He remained active in his interest in the firm from its inception until his death, his business and family being the motivating forces of his life.

He was affectionately known throughout the grain business in this country and in Canada as "E. Mac," and among his associates he was held in esteem for his stories and his cheerful demeanor through good times and bad. Few have had sounder judgement in choosing men, or greater success in delegating authority to those chosen, than he.

Mr. MacDonald married Ida Sterling of Portland, Me., in 1877. For a year after their marriage they lived in Lexington. Then they came to Winchester and boarded during the early months of 1899 on Wildwood street, before taking up residence in Ashmont where they remained until 1912.

In that year they came to Winchester and purchased the property at 92 Bacon street, their home ever since. Mrs. MacDonald died ten months ago.

Mr. MacDonald leaves two sons, Alexander S., of Winchester, and Roderic N. MacDonald of Duxbury; a daughter, Mrs. Charles N. Eaton of Winchester; six grandchildren, Dr. Alexander Sterling MacDonald, Jr., Beverly pediatrician, and Mrs. Frank A. West (Gene MacDonald) of Stockton, Cal.; Roderic N., Jr., and Elizabeth (Betsy) MacDonald of Duxbury; John S., a student at Boston University, and Ensign William T. Eaton, U. S. N., of Winchester; and two great grandchildren, H. Terry West and William Bradford West.

Funeral services were held on Sunday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany with the rector, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, officiating. A large delegation was present from the Grain and Flour Exchange representing all of the member firms. Interment was private and took place on Monday in Wildwood Cemetery.

CONTRIBUTIONS STILL ACCEPTED

The intensive period of Winchester's drive for funds in The Salvation Army Friendly Appeal ended last Monday.

Dr. Forbes H. Norris, chairman, states that contributions may be forwarded to Treasurer Davenport Field Davis, Winchester Trust Co. With the quota set at $6500, reports indicate that less than a $1000 is needed to give Winchester its second straight over-the-top performance.

On the other hand, three Greater Boston communities of District 1, which also includes Winchester, have surpassed their quotas. Although final results have not been tabulated Burlington, Lexington and Bedford had passed their quotas a week ago.

District 1 also seems headed for a peak year. Last week 90% of the $18,000 quota had been reported.

ILLUSTRATOR AT HOBBY CENTER

On the afternoon of October 18th at 3:30 p. m. at the Hobby Center, 12 Bacon street, Lew Cort, young West Medford illustrator will tell the popular Du Voisin story for children "Donkey Donkey."

Illustrating in chalk as he goes along, Mr. Cort will draw nearly 100 pictures which are to be given to the children attending. Tickets for this event are 50c tax included — admission at the door.

EDGAR J. RICH

The Trustees of the Winchester Public Library wish to thank the Editor of the Star for printing the following article which appeared in the October 22, 1949 issue of the Harvard Alumni Bulletin regarding their former associate.

To the Editor of the Bulletin:

In all his pursuits Edgar Rich (chairman of the 1887 Class Committee, 1886-1948) showed preeminently a mind and heart inspired by the predominant motive in his life: an absorbing interest in his fellow-men. In many trying situations, and despite the pressure of business cares, handicapped for many years by extreme deafness and lately, by failing eyesight, his energy, patience, tactfulness, and good temper never deserted him. To the end he was honest in word and deed, loyal to his clients, his class, and college, and a host of other friends, and he served them all with the affectionate zeal and unselfishness that characterized every thought and action of his long life.

To such a man, one who exemplified the best traditions of Harvard, distinguished in his profession, widespread in his sympathies, a loving husband and generous friend, a courageous advocate of the right, an uncompromising opponent of the wrong, and a wholehearted devotee to the highest ideals, the Class of 1887 may well point with pride.

(for the Class of 1887)

ARCHIBALD CAMPBELL JORDAN

Archibald Campbell Jordan, a former resident of Winchester, died Tuesday night, November 1, at his home, 7 Rutland street, Cambridge, after several months illness.

Mr. Jordan was born May 12, 1876, at LeHavre, N. S., son of Rev. Abraham Jordan, rector of the Parish of New Dublin, and of Elizabeth (Firth) Jordan. He spent his boyhood in Gloucester, attending the Gloucester schools and graduating from Gloucester High School, subsequently graduating from Bryant and Stratton Commercial College and taking special courses at Boston University.

For more than 40 years Mr. Jordan was associated with the Staples Coal Company of Boston until his retirement two years ago. He was a member of Mt. Tabor Lodge of Masons in Boston, of Zenith Lodge, I. O. O. F., of East Boston; Episcopal Club and of the Church of the Epiphany. He was for 25 years a resident of Winchester, living at 118 Highland avenue until he moved to Cambridge six years ago.

On November 8, 1920, Mr. Jordan married Helen Miller of Milton N. H., who is his only survivor.

Funeral services will be held this Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Storey Chapel in Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Cambridge. Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, will officiate. Interment will be private.

MELARAGNI — ALBERT

In a setting of white gladiolas, pom poms and carnations, with palms and white ribbons on the pews, Miss Maryrose Albert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Albert of Sheridan circle, was married at the Immaculate Conception Church on Saturday morning, October 22, to John Anthony Melaragni, son of Mr. Antonio Melaragni of Main street, Woburn. Rev. Fr. Herbert K. A. Driscoll, pastor, performed the 10 o'clock ceremony and was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed.

Mrs. William McGann, organist, played the bridal music and Charles Jess of Waltham sang the Ave Maria by Schubert, Cesar Franck's Panis Angelicus and the hymn, Heart of Jesus.

Miss Albert was given in marriage by her father. Her honor maid was her sister, Miss Marcella Albert, and another sister, Miss Florence Albert, was one of the four bridesmaids, the others being Miss Mary Melaragni, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Joan Foley and Miss Beatrice Evans.

The bride wore a gown of white slipper satin, fashioned on classic lines, with a deep bertha of point Venice lace and a full skirt extending into a court train. Her veil of white lace fell from a braided coronet of slipper satin and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

The honor maid wore a dress of bronze crepe satin with matching picture hat and mits and carried bronze and light yellow pom chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids wore identical dresses of apricot crepe satin with matching picture hats and carried bronze pom poms.

Dominic Melaragni was best man for his brother and the usher corps included two more brothers, Albert Melaragni and Bernard Melaragni; William Sweeney and Leonard McGonigle.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the 1790 House in North Woburn, with the parents of the bride and the father of the bridegroom assisting in receiving. Mrs. Albert was gown in soft grey crepe with lace inserts and accessories of winter pink.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Canada Mr. and Mrs. Melaragni will make their home at 22 Lake street in Woburn.

The bride is a graduate of St. Charles School, Woburn. Mr. Melaragni, who is associated with the Franklin Construction Company of Bedford, graduated from Woburn High School.

HARVARD U. N. SECRETARY ADDRESSES W. H. S. STUDENTS

"As long as the United States and Russia think the United Nations is important it will be important," declared Mr. Eli Kamensky, secretary of the Harvard United Nations Council, at a Winchester High School assembly last Friday morning.

Mr. Kamensky, teaching fellow at Harvard, gave as reasons for his optimism about the U. N. the settlement of territorial disputes in Iran, Palestine, Syria, Dutch Indonesia and others. He praised the legislation for human rights and the activity of U. N. countries in providing for the health and stability of numerous small countries.

HALLOWE'EN QUIET HERE

Winchester's observance of Halloween was the quietest ever in the opinion of Police and Firemen, who found little need for their services. There were no fires or false alarms, though the Police found a fire box opened in the West Side hill district.

Most of the complaints of malicious mischief came from the west side of town. A group of girls tied a front door with plastic clothesline at an estate on Myopia Hill, plugged the front door bell to make it ring continuously and liberally soaped the windows of the house. The girls were picked up by Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Officer James E. Farrell and their names taken, the matter being reported to their parents who the police seemed to think took steps through the proper channels.

The front entry of a house on Cabot street was filled with leaves, and garbage from a container was dumped over the front porch of a house on Central street. An incinerator was stolen from a yard on Yale street and a house stoned on High street, some damage being done to the paint on the dwelling.

A new car was stoned near the traffic circle at Symmes Corner and on Upland road in the North End a fence was pulled down and a hedge damaged.

Twelve street lights were broken throughout town, comparing very favorably with most nearby communities, one of which reported some 200 street lights smashed. Very little marking of windows was apparent about the center Tuesday morning.

The School Department had its janitors on the job at the school buildings and at the George Washington School a boy was caught after soaping some windows. He was recognized by the custodian and had the doubtful pleasure of cleaning the daubed windows the next day.

Two guards were on duty at the new Girl Scout cabin in the Fells but aside from squirrels on the roof and momentary expectation of a visit from the mountain lion believed to be at large in the Medford woods everything was reported quiet there. Gunnar Abrahamson, keeping a watchful eye on the new glass front of the National Bank, was also free of trouble.

HERONS SEEN IN WINCHESTER

The Star received a call late Wednesday afternoon from a resident seeking to identify a large bird he had seen on Big Winter Pond off Woodside road. Evidently a bird lover and knowing something of Ornithology, the lady wondered if the bird she had seen could be a Great Blue Heron. With it were two young.

The lady was doubtful about the bird's being a heron because they are not usually found so far north at this time of year. Any one having ideas?

SCHOOL CHILDREN INJURED

A kindergarten teacher and four Mystic School children were injured yesterday forenoon when a ramp on which they were crossing an old stairwell on the Madison avenue side of the building fell dropping them some seven or eight feet into the well.

Police say the children, some 31 of them were going up the ramp with Miss Frances A. Doherty of 239 Bainbridge street, Malden, kindergarten teacher at the school, to enter the school auditorium. The door to the auditorium was locked and as the children were waiting for Principal Joseph C. Forte of 86 Tufts street, Arlington, to open the door an outer wall of the old stairs buckled, causing the raised end of the ramp to fall. Miss Doherty and several pupils fell into the well.

Through the promptness of George W. Brown, 203 West Newton street, Boston, an employee of the Vera Construction Company, working on the school building, a heavy cement slab was raised from where it was resting against Miss Doherty. Brown assisted the teacher and the pupils out of the well.

Some were unhurt, but Lois A. Gibbs, 5, of 3 Hillside avenue, Richard Nichols, 4, of 14 Jefferson road, John Gallivan, 5, of 6 Alden Lane, and Ann Grant, 5, of 10 Leslie road, were more or less injured. The Gallivan boy being apparently badly hurt.

He was rushed to the Winchester Hospital by Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Patrolman James E. Flaherty. John Dunaway of 188 Pearl street, Nashua, N. H., and Joseph Angelo, 75 Malden street, Malden, employees of the construction Company, assisted Patrolman William E. Cassidy to take the Gibbs girl and Nichols boy to the hospital in Patrol 53. The Grant girl was taken to the hospital by her mother, Miss Doherty was taken to the hospital alone, and all the injured were attended by Dr. William D. Barone and by nurses.

First reports from the hospital were to the effect that the Gallivan boy, who had been pinned against the school wall, had both legs broken. Lois Gibbs received a broken right foot, Richard Nichols, a cut and bruised forehead, and Ann Grant, less severe injuries. Miss Doherty sustained injuries to her right ankle and leg, but was released after treatment at the hospital. Emelio Sarno of 36 Old Mystic street, Arlington, an engineer for the Mystic School Building Committee, was early on the ground and assisted as far as possible.

AN APPEAL FOR BROKEN TOYS

An appeal for broken but repairable toys has gone out from Norfolk House Centre in Roxbury, one of the city's largest and oldest Settlement Houses.

The plan is to collect a stock of such toys and have the boys and girls who come to the house regularly repair them as their job for Christmas.

The toys will then be distributed in whatever way the children at the house choose. They may elect to send them to children in hospitals or to children too poor to have toys given them for Christmas or perhaps to both.

The project will be under the direction of Miss Emily Tickell, a staff worker at Norfolk House Centre who says she will arrange to have toys picked up and delivered to the house on receipt of a note or a telephone call. Norfolk House Centre is at 14 John Eliot Square and the number is Highland 5-3540.

People in Winchester who are interested in contributing toys may contact Miss Virginia Wallace at Winchester 6-0319.

THE FORTNIGHTLY

Literature Group

Miss Gertrude M. Hall, chairman of the Literature Committee of The Fortnightly announces their topic for the coming season as "Six Great American Writers". The Literature group meets on the first Monday of each month - excepting holidays - at the Winchester Public Library at 2 o'clock, beginning November 7, 1949 through April 3, 1950. Mrs. Theo Dissel and Miss Carolyn V. Everett are in charge of the opening meeting on Monday, November 7. The subject for discussion will be "Washington Irving, poetic interpreter of legend - local, European, and universal." Irving's famous story "Rip Van Winkle" is perhaps the most widely known legend among his works. The program promises a very interesting afternoon. All Fortnightly Members are cordially invited.

It is interesting to note that the Fortnightly has sponsored a Literature Committee from its first year of formation - 1881 - 82. Some of the early programs included lectures on "Literature for Children", "Literature in the age of Queen Anne", "Literature of the Colonial Period", and many other educational topics. One outstanding program sponsored by the Literature group in the year 1894 - 95 years ago - was an address given by Colonel Thomas Wentworth Higginson. Colonel Higginson was an American writer, born in Cambridge, Massachusetts and was well known in literary circles of Winchester. He received his military title during the Civil War.

Preservation of Antiques
On Thursday, October 20, sponsored by the Committee on Preservation of Antiques and under the leadership of Miss Louise Bancroft, 6 Glen road, Winchester, a group of Fortnightly members visited the Isaac Royall House in Medford, Mass. This distinguished landmark of Colonial days is indeed a "royal" house for it is magnificent in structure, beautifully proportioned even to the spinning wheel on the third floor. One can imagine the busy hours spent in this room, with the huge hand loom - now 200 years old - the spinning wheels, flax wheels and other implements used in making clothes for the family's use. "Wool-gathering" of a realistic nature must have occupied the minds, to a great extent of these Women of Colonial days.

The original building erected on the site on which the Royall House now stands was owned by Governor Winthrop of Massachusetts Colony. It later became the property of Winthrop's son. In 1732 Colonel Isaac Royall, a wealthy merchant of Antiqua, British West Indies purchased and rebuilt the house as it stands to-day, together with quarters for his 27 slaves brought from the Island. Upon the death of his father, Col. Royall, Jr., became heir of the property and lived there for many years. He served 23 years on the Governor's Council and in that capacity was greatly honored. He remained a patriot at heart but was persuaded by his family to join them in the Loyalist cause and on the night of Paul Revere's ride - 1775 - while attending church in Boston, Col. Royall was informed that it would not be safe for him to return to Medford. This proved to be true for the estate was confiscated by the Colonies and became the headquarters of General John Stark, where Generals Washington, Lee and Sullivan with Stark held many councils of war. Col. Royall departed to England without ever again seeing his home in Medford.

There are many valuable antiques preserved in the Royall House, among them is included the only tea chest known to have been rescued from the Boston Tea Party. Another very fascinating object was a table about 3 feet high with a mirror to the floor, which was known as a petticoat table, the mirror placed low in order that "my lady" might see that her petticoats were properly showing.

Fireplace tiles depicting Biblical scenes with the inscription of the book of the Bible from which each scene was taken, made a very interesting effect at one end of a spacious drawing room.

Another point of interest was the slave quarters with three separate apartments, each with a ladder reaching to sleeping quarters above.

It was indeed a delightful afternoon spent at the Isaac Royall House. Other pilgrimages to various points of interest will be announced during the Club year by Mrs. Earle E. Andrews, Chairman of the Committee on Preservation of Antiques.

State Federation
The following Fortnightly members are serving the State Federation of Women's Clubs:

Mrs. George G. Brayley, Mrs. George Budd and Mrs. Theodore von Rosenberg - Division of Interracial Unity.

Mrs. William Priest, Vice Chairman - Division of Interracial Unity.

Mrs. Clifton Hall - Club Institute Forum.

Mrs. Edward R. Grosvenor - Elections.

Mrs. Lora Bond Rhodes - Preservation of Antiques.

Mrs. Warren Whitman, Chairman, Division of Legislation.

CIVIL AIR PATROL NEWS

Medford flight is certainly a nucleus of activity. The new recruits are beginning to drill with that certain unmistakable military precision. They are also in the last phase of their Orientation class. Within the next few weeks, the new classes in Navigation and Meteorology will get under way. So if you are minded people want to gain useful knowledge and experience in aviation, call in person at the Lincoln Junior High School on Harvard Street, Medford, at 7:30 on Thursday night.

The purpose of Civil Air Patrol is now to provide a three-year basic pre-flight training course for young men and women who are interested in military and civilian aviation. Through its adult members CAP participates in air marking, lost plane search, flood and fire emergencies, promotion of air shows, and in general increasing public enthusiasm in the ever growing national air power.

The cadets now attending Civil Air Patrol from Winchester are Elaine Hersey, Jacqueline Fritch, and Henry Dellicker. For further information call Jacqueline Fritch at Winchester 6-2568-M.

Marion Ladd Symmes of 243 Main street had the distinction of selling the first oil painting sold at a recent exhibition of 193 paintings held at the Rockport Art Gallery. She was also the only artist to sell all paintings which she submitted.

Mrs. John Gilbert and Mrs. Robert Baylies at the Food table, and the White Elephants were in charge of Mrs. George Connor with Mrs. Richard Derby assisting.

Friends were most generous in contributing articles for the various tables and also in buying the attractive gifts, food, and white elephants. A substantial sum was realized for the work of the M. S. P. C. A.

GIRL SCOUTS IN TRAINING AT HOSPITAL

The third class of Winchester Girl Scouts to begin work as helpers at the Winchester Hospital were welcomed by Mr. Paine, the Administrator, and Miss Rogers, Superintendent of Nurses, last Thursday. They were briefed on their program and the requirements of nursing ethics which they will follow while on duty. After the short induction ceremony, Miss Rogers took them on a tour of the Hospital.

The Scouts become candidates for capping after thirty hours of satisfactory work in the Hospital. After fifty hours they are given an insignia, G. S. H. A. (Girl Scouts Hospital Aide), and after one hundred hours they may wear a green band on their caps. Those already enrolled are Florence Caterino, Barbara Colucci, Nancy Chamberland, Betty Ann DeCourcy, Joan Donlon, Nancy Dowling, Eugenia Flaherty, Marie Gorrasi, Catherine Goss, Helen Hertig, Donna Macaulay, Judy Mawn, Barbara Oliver, Connie Post, Mary Pucello, Mabel Shoemaker, Becky Smith, and Arlene Weaver. There will be a short monthly meeting, and at the November meeting there will be a final opportunity to enroll for 1949-50. Troop Number Three is the Hospital Aide group and Mrs. Frank C. d'Elseaux is the Troop Leader.

While on duty the Scouts may be asked to carry trays, to help in the feeding of patients, to arrange flowers, to do errands or to help in a variety of other ways which save steps for the graduate nurses. The opportunity appeals to a good many Scouts because it is definitely helpful to nurses and patients, because it gives them a specialized skill as Scouts, and because it also gives them a chance to learn something about a profession which they may follow in later years. Any Girl Scout who wants to be considered should attend the November meeting of the Troop, November 28, in the Scout office after school, or she may call Mrs. d'Elseaux, telephone Winchester 6-2656. Scouts from other Troops may join the Hospital Aide program without being members of Troop Three.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH PARTIES

The Social Hall of the First Baptist Church was the scene of merriment last Saturday when the Junior Choir held a Halloween party at 4 o'clock and the Youth Choir gathered for a Poverty Party at 8 p.m.

The Juniors in colorful costumes enjoyed traditional Halloween games.

The Youth Choir in various stages of rags and tatters kept the rafters ringing with their hilarity. The only casualties of the evening were a near-dislocation of Donald MacFeeley's jaw during the doughnut-eating contest and some stitches in several sides from too much laughter.

HARVEST FAIR

Plan to spend the whole day at the Unitarian Church on Tuesday, November 8th. The fair will start at 11 and there will be many tables to visit.

At the Gift Table you will be sure to find lots of gifts for your Christmas list.

The articles to be found at the Hand Painted Gift Table are beautiful.

There will be garden baskets - plants and numerous ideas for garden lovers at the Flower Table.

You won't need to bake for days with all the delicious foods you will be able to buy at the Food Table.

Let the children come to the movie at 3:30 which they will enjoy and they will also find lovely grabs and ice cream. While the children are at the movie plan to rest and enjoy a delicious Tea which will be served from 3-5 o'clock.

Then visit the White Elephant Table for articles to add to your Holiday Collection or Antique Gifts.

Supper and the Auction will round out the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Mancib of Yale street are on a trip to Atlanta, Ga.

READING, 14;
WINCHESTER, 7Inspired Visitors too Good for Inept
Red and Black

The law of averages finally caught up with Winchester last Saturday afternoon as lady luck deserted the not-so-good locals to smile sweetly on a spirited fast charging, low tackling, hard blocking Reading Club that beat the Red and Black, 14-7, and completely dominated play the first half.

Reading made seven first downs and 154 yards on the ground during the first two quarters while Winchester could make only three first downs and 43 yards by rushing. Winchester made its only pass attempt before half time good for 14 yards while Reading took complete only one of nine pass attempts for nine yards when interference was ruled against Winchester.

After the half the going was much more even, both teams grinding out 60 yards rushing while Winchester had the edge in first downs, five to three. In the air

Winchester completed two of 11 passes for 49 yards while Reading made one of two passes good for 20 yards and a touchdown. Winchester lost 30 yards in penalties and Reading 35, the visitors fumbled but once while Winchester fumbled three times, recovering twice.

The pattern for the game was quickly set when Winchester couldn't do anything about recovering Gadois' fumble of the kickoff on the Reading 17. A penalty against the visitors for delaying the game via a substitution put the ball on the 12 and in two bucks Amico reached the 8 making it third and one.

Instead of backing again twice, if necessary, the locals tried a sweep with Amico being spilled back on the ten. Devin on a sneak got only a yard and Reading took over on the nine. That really was the ball game as far as Winchester was concerned. A quick score would have made the locals as hard to beat as Reading turned out to be after stopping the locals dead.

Starting at the nine, using cross bucks and dive tackle plays, with an occasional sweep Reading drove to Winchester's 24 where a pass play on 4th down went incomplete and the locals took over. Neither team could go anywhere from then until midway through the second quarter when an Amico to Devin pass good for 14 yards gave the locals a first down at the Reading 39. Amico was stopped cold on a spinner, but O'Brien picked up seven off tackle and Gilberto reversed for a yard, making it fourth and two. On a run from kick formation Amico was stopped a yard short of first down and Reading started from its 30.

Surette circled end to the 42, Gibson added four and Surette, two. On a pitchout play Schumaker then circled Winchester's left flank, driving all the way to the locals' 19 before being thrown out side. It looked like the officials missed a clean clip of Amico on Surette's 12 yard dash, and a fifteen yarder from their 35 wouldn't have helped the driving Readings.

As it was, however, Morris and Schumaker advanced to the 11 and Schumaker drove inside tackle to the one.

Winchester piled up the next thrust and Reading was called for back in motion, the ball going back to the six. Murphy had Schumaker right at that point on the next play but the high tackle big Walt generally uses backfired badly as the Reading fullback ducked under his arms and spun to fall backward inches from the Winchester goal line. On the next try Schumaker slanted over off his own right tackle with Gadois splitting the uprights for a perfect placement goal.

Reading really salted away the game on the second half kickoff. O'Brien bobbled the boot, but picked it up and handed to Amico on a criss-cross. "Paulie" drove out to his 27, but lost the ball himself when he was piled up and Reading recovered at the 27.

On first down Reading was called for offside, but Schumaker reeled off 11 yards on a veer-back and on second down Morris shot off a low pass which was beautifully completed by end Bob Surdam with a diving clutch just inside the Winchester goal line. Again Gadois converted with a perfect placement.

Winchester showed its offensive hand for a bit after this score. McGowan running Gadois' long kick-off back from the goal line to the Winchester 36. Amico threw a screen pass to Devin for a first down at the Reading 34 and then added eight yards in two belts at the line. McGowan picking up first down just inside the 25.

McGowan added six driving off tackle and Amico crashed through the sagging Reading line for 10 yards to the nine. At this point the locals lost five for offside and an Amico pass fell incomplete.

Devin however hit Gilberto with a pass at the four, "Story" making a catch comparable to Surdam's touchdown reception in spite of the efforts of a Reading defender.

Amico veer-backed to the one and then literally rammed his way inside his own right guard, through the tight packed Reading line to break away cleanly and score standing up. Langdon Smith kicked in the extra point with Michelsen holding.

In the opening minutes of the final quarter Amico got off the season's best punt from his own 24 (kicked from the 16) to the Reading 5, a distance of 71 yards. Gadois immediately returned the kick to his 41 from deep in his end zone.

and Winchester started its last try to even the count.

McGowan hit off tackle for five, and Amico drilled through the jammed line to the 29 and first down. Paul bucked again for seven, but Peterson broke through to drop McGowan for a three yard loss on the 25.

Amico balled through for three and then carried the whole Reading line on his back two yards for a first down by inches at the 19.

The visitors were beautifully set up for a reverse or run from left formation. Instead Amico was stopped for a yard on a spin back and for no gain on a straight drive to the right into four men in the over-shifted Reading line.

A pass fell incomplete and a second was cleanly intercepted by Frank Hadley, Reading's center, ending all hope for Winchester.

The summary:

WINCHESTER BOYS AID IN CRIMSON'S FIRST WIN

Three Winchester boys, Johnny West, "Chucker" Roche and Sarto Walsh, played a prominent part last Saturday in Harvard's first victory of the season, over Holy Cross at the Stadium, 22-14.

West, finally being used by Coach Art Valpey as a starting and offensive fullback, sparked the Crimson's initial touchdown drive with bull-like rushes up the middle, finally slanting over for the game's first touchdown from three yards out. In all big Jawn carried 32 times for 107 yards, making five vital first downs when yardage was lacking on fourth down. Boston sportswriters were pretty much agreed it was West's lucking that carried Harvard to its first win.

Roche lugged the ball 20 times for a 70 yard total which included a 17 yard touchdown gallop in the third quarter that put Harvard definitely ahead, 13-7. "Chucker" also contributed a 63 yard punt that went out of bounds at the Cross five to set up his own touchdown.

Walsh, reserve blocking back, kicked in one out of three conversions and also contributed a 12 yard field goal in the waning minutes of the game. Now if Valpey only had a few more Winchester boys. ....

BELMONT HERE SATURDAY

A Belmont High School eleven, sure to be dangerous, if for no other reason than the straight reverses it has suffered in its last three games, comes to Winchester Saturday for its annual football engagement with Winchester High at Manchester Field commencing at 2 o'clock.

Belmont hasn't had a good season, winning only one game, from Norwood, 7-0, its second time out, and playing a scoreless tie with Framingham. The Red and Blue has lost to Newton, 26-7; Cambridge Latin, 12-0; Taunton, 27-0; and Brookline, 12-0. Losses to Newton, strong Taunton and Brookline don't mean too much, though Brookline is no power house this year.

On the other hand Belmont's record against Norwood, Cambridge Latin and Framingham surely doesn't indicate that tomorrow's opponents are enjoying one of their better years. "Polly" Harris, A. D. at Belmont says this year's club is green and not as big as usual, particularly in the backfield. We'll wait and see. Belmont is usually plenty big and tough for Winchester.

Far from satisfied with Winchester's showing against Reading last Saturday, Coach Knowlton and his staff are planning some changes in the local lineup calculated to get some of the "ticket-takers" out of there in favor of boys who act like they at least want to play football.

Pictures of the Reading game disclose many Winchester offensive and defensive lapses, with a particularly poor choice of plays and generally ineffective work by the local forwards, who were roundly outplayed by the lighter boys from Reading.

With Belmont sure to be tough and Wakefield and Woburn coming fast it behooves the local boys to snap out of it and play ball if they do not wish to lose their last three games.

ACTION AT THE READING GAME

Just in case you were wondering what every one was looking at in back of the Reading stands between the halves at the football game last Saturday, there was the makings of a battle royal there between Winchester and Reading boys over the Reading banner suspended by visiting enthusiasts beside the motion picture platform to the left of the press-box.

Reading boys had taken over this vantage spot before the game, but had to go from their lofty perch upon the arrival of photographer "Reg" Wentworth and his son, "Jake."

The Reading banner was left flying and between the halves, as was inevitable, adventurous Winchester boys came down behind the stands, bent on getting it down.

"Mack" of the Woburn Times and John Stevens of the high school faculty talked most of the local boys out of any plans they may have had while your reporter tried to persuade a single Reading boy guarding the tree on which the banner was suspended to get back in the stands before he started something.

Our advice was ignored, and just as Officer Bob Elliott was being flagged out on the field from the press box a Winchester youngster, who remained behind his friends, smashed the Reading boy with a punch on the jaw that must have really hurt.

In a minute there was a general Donnybrook with three Reading boys going to their man's assistance and quickly wrestling the batting Winchester boy to the ground. Another Winchester boy went to help his pal and things were hotting up nicely when Officer Elliott appeared around the stands and started for the mixup on the double.

Keeping his head admirably, in spite of several stray belts, Officer Elliott, with the active assistance of Principal Rudolph Sussman of Reading High School, who was in the press-box, quickly got the combatants apart and "out of there." Officers Tom Hannon and John McHugh arrived in time to prevent further trouble.

The lone guardian of the Reading banner climbed back into the stands with a sickly smile on his face and for a long time sat nursing his jaw. Some one took down the flag, sensibly and fortunately! There was no further trouble as the happy Reading players and their supporters whooped it up in victory after the game. They had earned their hilarity, but if it had not been for the prompt appearance and effective action of Officer Elliott we might all have had something pretty serious to think over. Anyone knocked onto the rocks and broken glass behind the seats on the banking side of the field could easily be seriously hurt, or worse. No one wants that to happen!

It's a real pleasure to commend the youth of the town for their conduct on Halloween. Almost no malicious mischief was reported and the soaping of buildings and windows in the business district was negligible. Police Chief Harold was delighted and Fire Chief Callahan was equally happy. Chief Harold believes the conduct of our town youngsters ranks with the best in the state. Good work, indeed!

This is Girl Scout Week, and we are sure that a great many people will be much more interested in this fact than they can be in many of the so called "weeks" we are constantly having brought to our attention. Most of us know Girl Scouts from the things they do in a community and particularly here in Winchester for the splendid showing they always make in the Memorial Day parades and at other civic functions. Do we know, however, that Girl Scouts also learn cooking, sewing, baby care and how to be hostesses; that they have an international locale, with an adopted troupe in Israel, for instance; and that they are welcoming D. P. girls of Scout age as a wonderful new project and interesting them in becoming Scouts. They are doing all this, and more! They are learning about outdoor life, and engaging in healthy, wholesome activities. They are the women of tomorrow, these Scouts, and they are going to be better women because of their Scouting background. They may have been around to see you this week, selling their Girl Scout cookies. If so, we hope you ordered some, or will order some when the solicitor Scout rings your doorbell. The Scouts will be happy if you do for they use the money from cookie sales for a lot of worthwhile things. And you too will be glad you bought your cookies because they are mighty good!

WHAT TO DO

Winchester Citizens: Winchester people have given generously to their Red Feather Campaign. Solicitors have worked hard, and many have given to the best of their ability, to help meet the $52,000.00 goal which is so desperately needed as Winchester's share in enabling Red Feather Service of Metropolitan Boston to keep their doors open in 1950. However, the Winchester goal is not yet in sight. To date $42,000.00 has been subscribed by local residents. Chairman, Davenport F. Davis reports that the best he sees ahead is an additional $3,000.00, making a total of $45,000.00 which leaves us $7,000.00 short of the goal.

What To Do? Pride in their community is one of the most precious assets of Winchester folks. Pride of accomplishment and a rare sense of responsibility is theirs, too. And when it means that little children will suffer, youth and old age will not have the needed care and troubled families will not know where to turn, it gives one pause to think.

Here Is A Solution: If every giver could do just a little bit more, we could easily reach our $52,000.00 goal. Supposing our 4,000 families gave $2.00 each - that would do it. Or if 1,400 families gave $5.00 each, or 700 families gave $10.00 each, Winchester could hold its head high among the communities already at the top. Do This - Drop in at any of our banks within the next week, sign a pledge card (payment due June 1, 1950) or make an anonymous gift. The banks have graciously offered to act as collectors. Just say "yes" once again, and that warm inner feeling will be your reward beyond measure.

FIRST AID INSTRUCTORS CLASS

Throughout the nation first aid training has won increased recognition as an important factor in the prevention of accidents as well as in preparing individuals to give emergency care to the injured. Aware of the responsibilities public agencies have for meeting emergencies, Red Cross chapters are conducting first aid training courses in order that more trained people may be available to reach the public with information regarding accident hazards and how they might be reduced or eliminated.

Mr. Frank Holland, Director of First Aid and Water Safety from National Headquarters will conduct a training course under the auspices of the Winchester Chapter starting November 7. The classes will run from Monday through Friday from November 7-18, from 2 o'clock until five p. m. in the Red Cross Classroom (former selective service room in Town Hall).

First aid is steadily becoming a more important part of education for safe living and many Winchester industries, Town departments and individual citizens have already registered for this course.

If you as an individual wish to take this course, or represent your company or industry, please call the Red Cross Office before Monday, November 7th, or phone Winchester 6-2191.

HARVEST REVUE

The "Harvest Revue" presented by the Mothers' Association of the George Washington School was well received by an enthusiastic audience which filled the school auditorium on Friday evening October 24th.

Herbert Aronson, who is a radio senior in the School of Public Relations at Boston University, was the Master of Ceremonies for the evening and did a very capable job of introducing the many acts and tying the show together. He also did a clever specialty act which burlesqued a college man in a nightclub and which kept the audience in constant laughter.

Janet Keene a talented sixth grade pupil at the George Washington School, did two acrobatic dance numbers with a high degree of perfection. Her graceful stunts on a piano stool kept the appreciative spectators gasping.

Jan Meacham, who has a remarkable stage presence for one so young, sang two numbers which brought down the house. She sang "Buttons and Bows" and "The Gentleman is a Dope".

Maureen and Sheila Cullen sang individually, and then together. They have pleasing voices and were roundly applauded. Maureen sang "The Old Refrain" and "Danny Boy" while little Sheila who has just returned from Ireland, sang a haunting Irish melody which she brought back with her.

Mary Lou Rotundi gave an interesting toe-tap dance to the tune of "Manana." This is a difficult dance and Mary Lou did a very fine job.

The Johnson children Carlene, Noreen, Marguerite and George, all pupils in the Winchester Schools, did an acrobatic dancing act which kept the spectators applauding constantly. The small stage of the auditorium made it necessary for them to cut out some of their act, but from their polished performance, it is doubtful whether this was realized by many of the spectators. Carlene did a very graceful little ballet, as well as an amusing little vocal number with Robert Horne of Reservoir road entitled the "Pussycat Son". Noreen and George did a very difficult dance which involved, among other stunts, walking down a flight of steps on their hands. Marguerite was excellent in her "Slowboat to China" number. The Johnson children will be remembered for a very talented and entertaining performance.

Barry Grace did a series of impersonations which were excellent and, later in the evening, he teamed with Mary O'Melia to do a sophisticated dance entitled "Temptation". The finale to this dance, which was very well done, was highly dramatic. After intermission, four members of the Mystic Glee Club, accompanied by Connie Marshall, sang several selections including "Animals" and the popular "Whiffenpoof Song". If the audience had had their way the group would still be singing. The group was headed by Ben Marshall and consisted of Mr. Marshall, Robert Horne, Austin Nanry and Charles Buchanan.

Newt Parrington who is an accomplished accordionist, gave several selections including a medley of old time favorites which gave the audience a chance to try out their own voices. Newt was certainly one of the outstanding performers in the show, as the audience reaction attested. Dorothy Hickey who has a beautiful golden voice sang two selections, "Because" and "My Hero". This young lady is a very gifted singer and it is pleasing to state that she was one of the few voices to be chosen, from about a thousand voices tested, by Arthur Fiedler, for his forthcoming presentation of "Jeanne d'Arc".

Bob Horne, who deserves a lot of credit for the work he did in getting the show together, sang "Old Man River", and was joined by his brother, Dick, in "April Showers".

Phyllis O'Neil sang the famous Arthur Murray song and danced the last chorus. She has a very pleasing voice and did some excellent dancing on this rather difficult number.

The show was under the direction of Mrs. Russell Leaf assisted by Mrs. John Gleason, Mrs. George Chiraga, Mrs. Donald Campbell, Mrs. Erskine Kelley, Mrs. Charles Adams, Mrs. J. A. Wakefield, Mrs. George Nettleton, Mrs. E. A. Bennett, and Mrs. James deRevere.

This variety show was the first major project of the Ways and Means Committee of the George Washington Mothers' Association.

George Washington Grade III Tea

The Grade III tea, given by the Mothers' Association of the George Washington School, was held Thursday, October 27, at the home of Mrs. Leslie Tucker, 54 Hillcrest Parkway, at 3:30 p. m. There was a large attendance.

Mrs. Judy Brown, Grade III teacher, spoke on "The Specific Objectives in Developing Social Learnings in the Child". Following her talk, an open discussion was joined in enthusiastically by the mothers. The following points were discussed:

1. How to follow out democratic living.
2. How to develop emotional stability.
3. Ways of teaching the child what we, as parents and teachers, expect of him.
4. How to teach him what society expects of him.
5. The importance of giving praise always, when praise is due.
6. Ways to guide the child's imagination to take care of problems created by luxury in living.
7. How to develop a poise in public appearance.

Tea arrangements were made by Mrs. Bernard Cavanagh and Mrs. Gerald Fallows, room mothers. They were assisted by Mrs. Louis Bravacos, Mrs. Roderick Thomson and Mrs. Donald MacArthur.

Mrs. Paul Lamarche, president of the Washington Mothers' Association, and Mrs. George Hendrick presided at the tea table.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL'S REGIONAL SERVICE

Winchester Hospital is now thirty-seven years old, and during the year just concluded patients came to it from 69 Massachusetts towns and from six states other than Massachusetts. Only one-third of the entire 3,760 admissions came from Winchester itself. It is, therefore, truly a regional hospital.

The accompanying sketch tells the story of the hospital's service within the radius of a few miles. The twenty-one towns shown on this map sent to the Hospital last year 95% of all admissions. The number of patients from Winchester was equaled by the number from Wakefield, Reading, North Reading, and Wilmington, which is the service area officially assigned to this hospital by the state and federal authorities under the Division of Hospital Survey and Construction.

To the Hospital's regional character we owe the high standards and the facilities which make it worthwhile as a community project and dependable as a medical and surgical agency in serious as well as in minor conditions. A hospital serving Winchester only could not afford to maintain first-rate X-ray, pathological and bacteriological laboratories, or equipment for major surgery. Because we do have such facilities, skilled physicians and surgeons bring their patients to this hospital, and we have a staff of unusual excellence.

GILBERT AND SULLIVAN MUSIC NOV. 9TH

A whole evening of Gilbert and Sullivan music, stories and familiar scores from the operettas with commentary, will be presented Wednesday evening, November 9, at 8 o'clock in the Ladies' Parlor, First Congregational Church, by Joseph S. Hancock of Danvers, who appeared in "The Gondoliers" with the Parish Players in the spring. He will be the guest of the Business and Professional Women's Guild, and a very cordial invitation to attend this meeting is extended to all ladies, especially those with a weakness for Gilbert and Sullivan tunes! A coffee hour will follow the program.

"Joe" Hancock knows every Gilbert and Sullivan score by heart, has played most of the roles, and has lectured on Gilbert and Sullivan at Dartmouth College. He will accompany himself, and will sing many of the most popular solos from the operettas.

Because of the size of the Ladies' Parlor, attendance must be limited on November 9, but it is hoped to find room for all who wish to attend.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

The College Club Art Group will hold the second meeting of the season on Thursday, November 10th at 10 a. m. at the Library.

"Getting Acquainted with Addison Gallery" at Phillips Andover will be the topic of the morning's discussion. Short talks on the history, special treasures and exhibits will be given by Mrs. Frederic Abbe, Miss Katherine Masters, Miss Emma Boardman, Mrs. Henry Smith, Mrs. Paul Howard, Mrs. William Spaulding, Mrs. J. Girard Chandler, and Mrs. W. H. Johnston.

Plans will be announced for the trip to Andover on Monday, November 21st at 11 a. m. These of the College Club Art Group who need transportation are requested to call Mrs. Frederic E. Abbe Telephone WI 6-3103.

DR. O. A. PENDLETON

STEWARDSHIP CAMPAIGN SPEAKER

Sunday, November 6th, has been designated as Stewardship Advance Sunday among Baptists of the Northern Baptist Convention. The First Baptist Church of Winchester is embarking on this Stewardship campaign under the leadership of its campaign committee chairman, Mr. Lewis M. Foster. To more clearly present to the Winchester Baptists their responsibility and opportunity in this Stewardship campaign Dr. Othniel A. Pendleton, an outstanding Baptist clergyman will bring the rallying message at the Morning Sanctuary Service on Sunday, the 6th.

Dr. Pendleton has held pastorates in several very large churches in this country, as well as having served as Dean of Sioux Falls College in South Dakota. More recently he was Associate to the Editor of the publication Crusade and Director of the highly successful World Mission Crusade in Massachusetts in 1946-47. He is as well author of many publications, one of the foremost being "The Use of Stories in Christian Education." Dr. Pendleton is a forceful speaker and Baptists should welcome the opportunity to learn more of this movement in and of the churches themselves to assure more devoted service to and increasing support for our churches and our Baptist World Mission.

Dr. Pendleton will also assist in the Communion service at the close of the morning service.

BEAUTIFUL COSTUMES WORN BY MRS. GIVEN TO HELP PLAY HERE

With Norwegian and American flags decorating the Parish Hall, and exquisite Norwegian pieces used for flower arrangements in the hall, "I Remember Mama" has a genuine Norwegian atmosphere that pleased the audience last evening, and will continue tonight and Saturday. Much credit for this atmosphere must go to Mrs. Harold H. Given, 217 Forest street, who has very kindly loaned the Parish Players many rare and unique costumes from Norway, and who has furnished real Norwegian properties to the stage.

In the play, "Mama's" family is from Norway, although her children are California-born, and so has many little personal treasures in her home that were brought from Norway. To carry out this feeling for the audience, Mrs. Given has loaned some of her own possessions as stage properties.

To further the "atmosphere" of Norway in the "Little Theatre Beneath a Spire," Mrs. Given appears in her own handsome costume from Norway, a costume that is authentic and richly embroidered, and one which she purchased there on her last trip to her former homeland. Mrs. Given is in charge of four young ladies who are wearing the colorful and elaborate Hardanger costumes, from Northern Norway. These costumes have been loaned by their generous owners, and the girls wearing them include Marjorie Zinn, Caroline Oxford, Carol Cleaves, and Susan Mitchell.

Mrs. Kathryn P. Sullivan, of the Fessenden Real Estate Office, heads the committee in charge of the first regional meeting of the Boston Real Estate Board to be held next Wednesday at the Hotel Command, Cambridge.

MORNING OF DIVERSION

A capacity audience heard Gregory Tucker give a piano concert with comments at the second of the Winchester Mornings of Diversion at the Music Hall on Friday morning, October 28. Mr. Tucker, a composer and teacher as well as a concert pianist, presented a varied program of contemporary music including a Stravinsky Sonata for Piano, Aaron Copland's Piano Sonata, Theme and Variations by Lopatnikoff, and a group of Five Little Pieces by Ernst Levy.

Mr. Tucker, in introducing each number, told what the composer was seeking to do and some of the motives which the audience could identify. He noted that while concert programs of 50 or 60 years ago often boasted that every piece to be played was "new," concert audiences today demand music with which they are familiar. For the most part the music written between 1825 and 1900. This time lag in the appreciation and enjoyment of contemporary music which exists today can be explained, according to Mr. Tucker, by the fact that new music today is really new. It often differs radically from the music of 20 years ago. On the other hand, in the last century, "new" music was still very similar to the old, and audiences could accept and enjoy it easily. Mr. Tucker's enthusiasm for the work of contemporary composers and the brilliance of his playing gave the audience a very stimulating "Morning."

Mr. Tucker was introduced by Mrs. Samuel B. Kirkwood after a greeting to the audience by Mrs. Albert D. Swazey, president of the Winchester Wesleyan Club. Miss Gertrude M. Hall and Mrs. Arthur T. Rozde were pourers during the coffee hour which preceded the concert. The third and final program of the Mornings of Diversion, which are sponsored by the Winchester Wesleyan Club, as a benefit for the 75th Anniversary Fund of the college, will take place on Friday, November 18, when Saville R. Davis, American News Editor of the Christian Science Monitor, will speak on "How Goes the Battle for Peace?"

1950 WINCHESTER CALENDAR

The 1950 Winchester Calendar — with its historically valuable pictures of Winchester one hundred years ago, and many delightful photographs of those same sites in Winchester today — goes on sale this week, with advance orders being taken right now by the committee. The 1950 calendar has been compiled, assembled and edited by the Social Service Guild, Women's Association, First Congregational Church, so that its members may help with the expenses of carrying on work for overseas relief, and relief to many organizations and institutions right here in Greater Boston.

The 1950 Calendar has many pages of wonderful pictures of Winchester in 1850, and Winchester today — ample space for daily engagements (morning, afternoon and evening), and sells for $1.25 per copy. While copies will be featured at a special booth at the Village Fair on November 16, the committee has only a limited number of copies, and those placing orders now will receive their calendars first.

For your 1950 Winchester Calendar — a most thoughtful, original, and personal Christmas gift — call members of the Committee, Mrs. George E. Connor, WI 6-0545-M; Mrs. James L. Jenks, Jr., WI 6-2337; Mrs. John B. Willis, WI 6-1322; Mrs. Edward Bartlett, WI 6-1314-R; Mrs. Harry M. Easton, WI 6-3022; Mrs. Eugene M. Pollard, WI 6-0619; Mrs. E. C. Filler, WI 6-2824-M. Copies will be delivered on their immediate receipt from the publishing house, or may be picked up the day of the Fair, Nov. 16.

Mrs. Grace Nickerson Bangs, formerly of Winchester but now of Providence and Mr. and Mrs. William Bottger of Sheffield road are spending the present week in New York City. They are registered at the Hotel George Washington.

FORUM SUNDAY AT THE FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Last Sunday morning we all attended the regular church service. Dr. Chidley preached a special youth sermon, using as his theme, "Your Attitude Is Everything." Several Forum boys took part in the service. Leon Fernandez was chaplain, Bob Burnham was Head Deacon, and John Richmond was Head Usher. Other boys assisting as ushers and deacons were: David Archibald, John Atkinson, Gordon Bird, Jr., Herbert Clark, Donald Cameron, Peter Coon, Richard Fernandez, Douglas Hawkins, Richard Rush, and Carle Zimmerman.

In the evening, the Forum had its monthly supper meeting which also included a movie, worship, and a discussion. We assembled in Ripley Chapel at 5 p. m. where we were divided into four discussion groups which were led by Bill Perkins, Russ Sawmiller, Bill Valentine, three young men from the B. U. School of Theology, and Mrs. Tarr. After this we migrated to the Parish Hall where we were served a delicious dinner of American Chop Suey and salad with homemade cake to top it off with.

We then retired to the chapel for a short worship service conducted by Barbara Macaulay and Jackie Chapman. Then we were shown a movie, "The Book for the World of Tomorrow," which not only wound up a three weeks study of the Bible but also the evening.

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH FAIR NOVEMBER 16

Henry Johnston, Mystic Valley Parkway, or at the church office. So hurry hurry hurry, for you have not much time left before November 16.

MISSION UNION GUILD

The Mission Union Guild and the Home Church Guild of the First Congregational Church will meet in joint session on Tuesday, November 8. The sewing will begin at 10:00 A. M. Luncheon will be served at 1:00 o'clock under the able direction of Mrs. Raymond C. Strawbridge and Mrs. John B. Willis.

The meeting will begin at 2:00 P. M. with Mrs. Frederic B. Withington, director of the Mission Union Guild, presiding. Mrs. Norman J. Padelford will lead the devotionals. The speaker, Rev. John L. Lobingier, will speak on the subject "Young People and the World Outlook."

Rev. Lobingier is Secretary of Religious Education for the Massachusetts Congregational Conference and editor of Pilgrim State News. He is outstanding for his fine work in religious education for young people and was last year given a citation by the Board of Missions at the General Council meeting of the Congregational Christian Churches.

Rev. Lobingier will have as assistants two students from the Forum: Virginia Bullard and Leon Fernandez. Last summer, Miss Bullard attended the Wilbraham Massachusetts Conference and Mr. Fernandez attended the Deering, New Hampshire Officers' Conference.

PARKHURST PENNY SALE TREMENDOUS SUCCESS

With many thanks to all the parents of the Parkhurst School children, and to nearly every merchant in the town for their generous donations, the Lewis Parkhurst Mothers' Association announces the tremendous success of their Penny Sale held in the auditorium of the new school on Wednesday evening, October 26th. Shortly after the opening of the doors it was apparent that the 350 chairs wouldn't be sufficient, so more were promptly ordered, and even then a number of people had to stand.

The gay, hilarious, productive evening that was promised proved to be just that. The prizes ranged from the sublime to the ridiculous, and were enjoyed by all attending, whether a recipient or not. So many gifts were donated that a grouping of the smaller prizes was necessitated to make but three drawings. These three drawings went off like clockwork due to the combined effort of the large committee chosen by Mrs. Leslie J. Scott, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and her co-chairman Mrs. Arthur T. Rogde. Members of their committee were:

Winchester BOY SCOUT News

WINCHESTER BOY SCOUT NEWS

On The Increase

Field Executive Fran McFeeley reports the following figures to date for the Council: 722 Cub Scouts, 567 Boy Scouts, 226 Senior Scouts, and 92 Seniors in Units, a total of 1607 to date with more boys joining all the time. Last year there was a total of 1322 boys which adds up to a total now of 285 more boys than last year. It looks like we will not have to worry about our Leaders of tomorrow if this is any criterion.

Hail Farewell

Popular Rev. John Nelson, Catholic Chaplain of Fellsland Council B. S. A., has unfortunately been transferred by his Superiors to Allston section of Boston. The council views this with regret because Fr. Nelson was a tireless worker for Scouting. It is hoped that his successor (not yet announced) will prove just as energetic and popular. Fr. Nelson was stationed at St. Patrick's, Stoneham and conducted Sunday Mass services for Catholic Scouts during the Summer at Camp Fellsland. With Rev. Walter Bailey of the First Baptist Church Winchester, as Protestant Chaplain of the Council and Fr. Nelson as Catholic Chaplain, we have enjoyed a most successful period emphasizing, "A Scout is Reverent."

Those Cub Packs

Tentative reports have Pack 7, First Baptist Church, increased by 25 more boys. Pack 3, First Congregational Church increased by 20 more added to the current 60 boys; Pack 6, Unitarian Church, 48 Cub Scouts with 8 more due; Pack 12, St. Mary's Church, 41 cubs and 27 more due immediately.

Here and There

Troop 12, St. Mary's Church have added two more committeemen in the persons of Mr. Daniel J. Doherty former National Head of the American Legion and Mr. Sam Vangel. Mr. Albert T. McDougall has been elected Chairman of the Troop Committee. A busy year has been promised the boys.

Camp Fellsland... A Great Success
This past Summer found the Camping situation at Fellsland, a great success, with the largest number of boys attending than ever before. Financially it was a success also. This does not mean that it is self supporting because the fact is the Greater Boston Community Chest contributes to its upkeep. There were 226 boys at camp. Last year the total was 141 boys. There was an excellent Staff with many fine volunteer leaders. These leaders were on the whole recruited from the various troops and were selected by Scout Headquarters for their integrity and fine character. Three new aluminum canoes were given to the Council from the En Ka Society of Winchester and were in much demand by the Scouts who were lucky enough to be deemed able to handle a canoe. It is expected that next season the camp will be full to overflowing, so popular this going to camp has become.

Scouting Pays in Many Ways

Fred Waring and his "Pennsylvaniaans" were guests of honor, a few months ago, at the Greater New York Council's Scout Week Luncheon and he said with enthusiasm and sincerity that for his money his Scoutmaster in Tyrone, Pennsylvania a number of years back, was the finest man in this whole country. It's a coincidence but there are other Scoutmasters and Committeemen and Leaders etc. who in the estimation of many were the best in America too. Ask many of those who were former Scouts about this and the answer will be the same by far. Let's admit it ourselves. We were mighty lucky to have had these men and Den Mothers etc. to help us when we certainly needed it. And now all of a sudden we wake up to the fact that boys are looking up to us in the same manner. In a few years will they be saying? "I was lucky also, the men or Den Mothers that I had were the best in America too!" What do you think? Food for thought eh?

MYSTIC MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

An evening meeting was held on October 26, so that the fathers as well as the mothers of the Mystic School might have the pleasure of meeting the new principal, Mr. Forte.

Mrs. Paul Dunn, the president of the association opened the meeting, and gave a preliminary report on the success of the Clare Tree Major plays. She then introduced Mr. Forte, who spoke on his conception of what teaching should do for the child.

He stressed the importance of cooperation between the home and the school, and the vital part which he felt character building should play in any teaching program. He felt that there were five phases to the latter, namely inspiration, imitation, recognition, repetition, and perception.

Following this, Mr. and Mrs. Forte and Mrs. Dunn received the parents in the former Kindergarten room. Cider and doughnuts were served by Mrs. Carl Richmond and her committee.

FIFTH GRADE TEA

Mrs. Ellsworth G. Nichols of 12 Myopia road entertained Mrs. John Kirkpatrick, teacher of the 5th grade at Lewis Parkhurst School, and the mothers of her pupils on Friday, October 28th. Mrs. Kirkpatrick explained a bit of the extra-curricular work of the children, presuming that by the time the children reached the 5th grade that the mothers knew of the regular daily work. During tea Mrs. Kirkpatrick captivated the mothers who talked over individual problems with her, just as she seems to have won the children.

Coming from out of state, Mrs. Kirkpatrick had nothing but good things to say of the Winchester school facilities and program, and the friendly attitude between parents and teachers.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

First of all, we should like to extend our collective appreciation to the First Baptist Church and St. Mary's for their fine services on Girl Scout Sunday. The Reverend Bailey's sermon on being a "Good Scout" was one which we all took to heart. Leaders and Scouts. There was such a warmth in their hospitality that we shall be glad when their turn comes again, and we shall once more enter singing the Hymn of Scouting! Father O'Riordan spoke on Scouting and its growth within these past two years.

The Parkhurst School Brownies are making the first troop contribution to the Cabin... in the form of squares for the kitchen shower!

Mrs. Frank D'Elseaux has taken charge of the Hospital Aides. This Thursday Troop 6 is being hostess troop to all 7th and 8th grade Scouts, when Mrs. Walter Winship will present three students from International Friendship Association. These students will talk on their life in their own countries, and we shall be most happy to have them with us to help us celebrate International Friendship Day.

The Leaders will meet on Wednesday of this week, with the main theme on Brownies' activities and games and Brownie crafts.

Senior leaders will meet in Lexington, November 8th, at 7:45 at the Lexington Scout House, 2 Lincoln road.

HIGH SCHOOL OPEN HOUSE TUESDAY

Letters have been sent to the homes of Winchester High School students inviting all parents to attend Open House next Tuesday evening, November 8.

At the same time letters signed by Mrs. Emily Marks of the committee organizing a parents' organization at the high school were sent home urging parents to attend a business meeting and election of officers of the new organization on the same evening just before the Open House program. Parents will assemble for this meeting in the auditorium at quarter past seven.

The Open House program, patterned after those of other years will allow parents to follow their son's or daughter's Tuesday schedule from home room to final bell.

Opportunity will be provided for refreshments during study hall periods as well as visits to the Principal's office, Guidance office, gymnasium, art, shop, printing, mechanical drawing, home economics, speech, and other classes. Mr. Felmet will be in the auditorium to discuss the band and orchestra with parents.

Principal Grindle is eager to have classes of commercial and other non-college preparatory students well filled. Since every Tuesday afternoon is reserved by teachers for parent conferences about the individual students, the Open House program will be used to acquaint parents with the school buildings used, the traffic situation, the daily schedule, and the specific classes which students attend. Teachers will outline as well as time permits the reasons for their assignments and the hoped for results in terms of educated young men and women.

ROTARY NOTES

Well, John McLean arrived early so the regular meeting of the Winchester Rotary Club was called to order by Pres. Charlie Murphy at 12:15 Thursday, October 27, 1949.

It being an open meeting, many topics of interest were discussed, but most important were the remarks of that grand old, charter member, Church Hines, who admonished these members who, week in and week out, leave the meetings early. It was a sincere and well needed reminder of the lack of thoughtfulness on the part of those leaving, which Church addressed to the club, and was received with respect and admiration by all those present.

On the lighter side, Al Elliott, who is rumored to be wearing John Wallace's red shirt, gave a report on the progress of the Girl Scout Cabin, featuring John Wallace's amazing abilities in all departments. However, the Chinese say one picture is worth a thousand words, and Al took them at their word, as he had Joe Coulter on hand with some documentary film. Joe did a masterful job, but the Rotary Rogues will never make it in Hollywood. It was a beautiful colored film, and the opening scene showed Charlie Murphy unloading cement blocks, (this was more than Phil Gallagher could stand), and fifteen minutes later another scene showed Charlie still working on the same block. When Don Simonds graced the scene, he was on the staging at about the center of the roof with Ralph Purington. Next scene Ralph had worked his way up to the ridge pole, but Don, yes, it's true, was still on the same staging in exactly the same place, which caused Sanford Moses some concern.

It was a grand job, tho, and Joe, we're sure hoping you'll be back soon with more film, but please, next time, have one of Joe Moffett - after all, he's the only man in the club so far to be decorated for service beyond the call of duty and injuries received therefrom. Joe has the Red Moon. In the make up department, Don Simonds went to Boston, Larry Dallon and Harry Bigelow to Wilmington, John Wallace to the Garden Spot of America, and Curtis Ware visited Arlington.

PROFESSOR FRANK BARONE

PROFESSOR BARONE DIES
IN NAPLES, ITALY

Professor Frank Barone, age 67, a widely known Professor of Music and resident of Winchester for twelve years, died suddenly November 2nd in Naples, Italy.

Professor Barone had been visiting for two months at his birthplace near Rome, and was stricken of a heart attack on the dock at Naples while waiting to embark on the S. S. Saturnia for the voyage home.

Coming to the United States as a child, Professor Barone returned to Italy in 1896 to further his study of music, graduating from the Royal Conservatory of Music in Naples six years later. He returned to the States soon afterwards, married Mary Ann Terravacca of Boston in 1907 and became active in the musical circles of New England.

In 1908 he was associated with the Boston Opera Club as the conductor of its orchestra. In 1910, while still under thirty, he organized an orchestral band of sixty musicians which for many years enjoyed the reputation of being one of the best bands of New England. He became associated with the Chautauqua circuit and traveled throughout the United States from 1914 to 1918.

His devotion to his musical art took him to all sections of the country conducting operatic orchestras in grand opera in Cleveland, Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Indianapolis, St. Paul and many other large cities in the Middle and Far West.

He maintained vocal studies in the Vose Building on Boylston street, Boston and the Conrad Building, Providence, R. I., and during his years of musical work was director and teacher for numerous groups among which were the Palestrina Choral Society of Providence, R. I., the Knights of Phythian Band of Boston, (probably one of the largest Negro organizations of its kind in the U. S.), conductor of the Boston Boy's Symphony Orchestra, one of the conductors of the Cosmopolitan and Columbia Opera Company, musical director of the National State Opera Association, conductor for many years of the Boston Letter Carrier's Band and of the Boston Traffic Police Band and was director of the Massachusetts State Guard Band, 1st Motor Squadron, 1st Corps Cadets, an organization formed prior to July 4, 1928 and chartered October 16, 1941.

A composer and arranger of classical and popular songs, Frank Barone's name was known several decades past for "Welcome Home" dedicated to returning veterans of World War I, "Isabella of Madrid", "Reading the Stars", "Chautauqua March", "My Desert Love Moon", "American Violet Polka", "He's the Man Who Brings the Mail", dedicated to the U. S. Mail Carrier, an "Ave Maria" arrangement, "Serenata a Mare", and "Pastorale for Piano-forte".

In recent years he taught music in the schools of Wintrop, Chelsea, Melrose, Marblehead and was teacher and director of our local St. Mary's Church Band, remembered by many who have since become part of the Winchester High School Band.

Besides his wife, Professor Barone leaves four daughters, Isabel C. of Winchester, Mrs. Roy C. Papalia of Watertown, Florida of New York City, and Eve of the American Embassy in London, England; one son, Dr. William D. Barone of Winchester and three grandchildren.

Funeral and burial services were held at his birthplace, Colli al Volturno, near Rome and were attended by his widow who flew from London, England where she had been visiting her daughter.

A pro-burial high mass will be said at St. Mary's Church at 10

Every Doctor, from the man who travels the lonely back roads of remote rural areas to the highly trained specialist in great medical centers, has one concern: how to save human lives and improve the people's health. To do this Doctors must have the tools. One of these tools is Human Blood.

Millions live today on borrowed blood, blood given by generous neighbors and fellow citizens. And until medical science finds an adequate substitute for human blood, the generosity of the people of Winchester must again be called upon to keep the Blood Bank functioning efficiently and effectively.

Precinct chairmen have been appointed this year, who in turn are appointing solicitors to make personal recruitments. These chairmen are:

Precinct 1 - Mrs. Albert Thompson, 15 Garfield avenue.

Precinct 2 - Mrs. Carl Zimmerman, 6 Cliff street.

Precinct 3 - Mrs. John Chipman, Lorena road.

Precinct 4 - Mrs. George Farrar, 15 Westland avenue.

Precinct 5 - Mrs. Kern Folkers, 79 Yale street.

Precinct 6 - Mrs. Clarence Donaghey, 14 Glenwood avenue.

When donors contribute they may give credit to any organization of their choice. If any group would like to learn more of the program, or ask questions, a speaker will gladly come if you notify the local Chapter of the Red Cross.

Dramatic incidents of saving life and health with blood are constantly happening to people of Winchester, both here in our own hospital and in those around greater Boston. The individual stories of these people are dramatic, exciting, rewarding; yet these patients are individuals whose distress may not ethically be exploited. How then can we picture this great day-by-day human need to those who are in a position to aid them?

Will you continue to help us interpret this very real need of blood by cooperating when called, or by calling and making your own appointment.

The Mobile Unit will be at the First Congregational Church on Friday, December 2nd from one to seven o'clock. Please make appointments early.

Will you join our Christmas gifts be that of life or health? Phone WI 6-1287-M or WI 6-2300 for appointments.

MRS. MARGARET H. LUONGO
Gas Poisoning Victim Succumbed
At Hospital

Mrs. Margaret H. Luongo, wife of Ralph Luongo of 71 Swanton street, who with her husband was found overcome by fumes from an oil stove in their apartment Monday afternoon, died Tuesday night, November 8, in the Winchester Hospital, to which she was taken after receiving emergency treatment at her home from Dr. Charles Rooney and members of the Police and Fire Departments.

She was placed in an oxygen tent at the hospital and her condition was reported as critical. Through the day Tuesday her condition improved and hopes were held out for her ultimate recovery, though she was still critically ill. Her passing Tuesday night saddened her many friends and the entire community, the attention of which had been focussed upon her fight for recovery from the time of the tragic accident.

Mrs. Luongo was born in Winchester 44 years ago, the daughter of Patrick F. and Margaret (Flaherty) Sweeney. She attended the Winchester schools and as a girl lived on Middlesex street. She had been employed at the Winchester Laundry and at Raytheon. For a time after her marriage to Mr. Luongo, a Winchester boy, she lived in Medford, but had returned to Winchester with her husband and had been living at 71 Swanton street. She was a member of Winchester Court, Catholic Daughters of America.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Luongo leaves two sisters, Mrs. William Dailey of Winchester and Mrs. William Donovan of Milton. The funeral was held this Friday morning from 10:30, with solemn requiem high mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church at 11:15. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

WILLIAM S. RICHARDSON

William S. Richardson, a long time and well known resident of Winchester, died Wednesday, November 9, at his home, 22 Chester street, after a short illness.

Mr. Richardson was the son of Solomon, and Hannah E. (Ragsdale) Richardson. He was born January 4, 1867, in Danville, Va., and as a young man was a steward on boats on the Hudson River. He came to Winchester from upper New York State more than 50 years ago and for many years served as coachman for Dr. John W. Suter when he was rector of the Church of the Epiphany.

After Dr. Suter had been absent from town some years and returned to preach in his old pulpit at the Epiphany, Mr. Richardson was the first person he greeted after the service. As horses and carriages were replaced by automobiles Mr. Richardson served as house man in many Winchester homes, until his retirement. He was one of the founders of the New Hope Baptist Church and was a deacon there for many years.

Mr. Richardson was a widower, his wife, Mrs. Celia B. Richardson, having died in 1933. He was the last of his immediate family.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday afternoon, November 12, at 2 o'clock at the New Hope Baptist Church, with a former pastor, Rev. Clifford Miller of Boston, officiating. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

Mr. L. Donald Cole of Washington street was given a bachelor dinner at the Town Line in Woburn on Friday, November 4, in honor of his approaching marriage to

INJURED CHILDREN
IMPROVED

Lois Gibbs, 5 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Gibbs of 2 Hillside avenue, and John Gallivan, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Paul Gallivan of 6 Alden Lane, the two children most seriously injured in the falling of the temporary ramp at the entrance to the assembly hall of the Mystic School last week, are showing improvement, though still confined to the Winchester Hospital. Lois has a broken right ankle, but no further injuries.

John, the most seriously hurt of any of those involved in the accident, sustained a broken right leg and a compound fracture of the left leg. Both breaks were of the lower leg above the ankle and the left was so bad that it was at first thought amputation would be necessary. An emergency operation was performed by Dr. Alexander T. Aitken, opening the foot to relieve pressure and promote circulation.

Since then John's condition has improved and become much more encouraging with danger of amputation practically over.

Another operation will be performed this Saturday on the foot after which some skin grafting will probably be necessary.

At the Gibbs and Gallivan homes on Wednesday the Star was told that no date had been set for the return of the children from the hospital. Mrs. Gallivan stated that the doctors have informed them that John faces a long road to recovery.

Richard Nichols, 4, of 14 Jefferson road, and Ann Grant, 5, of 10 Leslie road, who were also injured in the accident with the kindergarten teacher, Miss Frances A. Doherty of 239 Bainbridge street, Malden, were not seriously hurt, and Miss Doherty's injuries were not serious. All were discharged from the hospital after treatment.

The School Committee commenced an immediate investigation of the accident and a statement from the committee appears elsewhere in this issue.

The parents of the third and fourth grades of the Noonan School are invited to meet in the Noonan school auditorium at 10 A. ### WYMAN SCHOOL NOTES

Tuesday, November 8th, was Parents' Night at Wyman, and a large number of parents visited the classrooms to meet the teachers and view the various exhibits prepared by the students in connection with their current unit of study. By familiarizing themselves with the results of their children's work, it is hoped that the parents will be better able to understand what the young students are doing.

Bundle day, November 4th, was a great success at Wyman, 12 bags being filled with clothing for needy children. These bags were sent to the Save The Children Federation last Tuesday, as the work of the Junior Red Cross.

Several films were shown to the pupils this week: Romance of Louisiana interested the 3rd grade which is currently studying the Spanish explorers, and the younger grades were thrilled by film strips on nature.

WINCHESTER SECONDS TOPPED CONCORD

Winchester High's junior varsity football team beat the Concord High second last week Monday at Concord, 21-12, giving Concord its first defeat for any football team for the season.

Concord led at the half 12-0, but during the time out Coach Bartlett revised his defenses with such good results that Concord wasn't able to make a first down during the last two periods.

Meanwhile Winchester started to click offensively, with Michelsen scoring on a quarterback sneak from the Concord one, and then taking a 20 yard pass from Casey for another touchdown. Casey himself, made the third touchdown on a four-yard buck. Langdon Smith kicked all three goals.

Errico made what Coach Bartlett characterized as the tackle of the year on the kickoff. Casey, Cullen, McGowan and Walden were standouts for Winchester.

WINCHESTER HOCKEY CLUB MEETING

Members of the Winchester Hockey Club gathered for their annual meeting last Tuesday evening at the home of Coach Sherman W. Saltmarsh. Last year's results were reviewed and plans discussed and formulated for the coming season. At the conclusion of the meeting the team surprised the coach by presenting him with an especially fine hunting coat for which he is profoundly grateful.

BELMONT, 20;
WINCHESTER, 13Second Half Surge by Winners Deciding Factor

Belmont High won its second game of the season last Saturday afternoon at Manchester Field, outscoring Winchester High, 20-13, in another poorly played game. It was Belmont's first victory over Winchester in 10 years.

The teams left the field at half time with the score knotted, 7-7. Winchester dominated the early game going and toward the end of the first quarter Amico got off a pretty kick outside at the Belmont 9. The visitors couldn't go and Johnson kicked out to his 40.

Amico rammed through for a first down at the 30 and then bucked to within inches of another first down at the 20 1/2. On second down, "Paulie" found a big hole in the left side of the Belmont line, drove through and cut to the outside, going all the way into the end zone. Smith and Michelsen converted at placement.

Belmont came right back. Fitch ran the kickoff from his two to his 26 and just before the second quarter commenced Watson passed to Johnson for five yards. Errico piled up a sweep without gain, but Watson passed again to Bellis for a first down at the Belmont 43.

Here Johnson took a pitchout to circle Winchester's left end for 14 yards and a first down at the Winchester 43. Watson again tried Errico's flank with no success, but a cross-buck pleted up five, and then Watson hit Bellis with a pass that was completed just inside the 30 and lateralled to Johnson, the latter pulling away from two Winchester boys and galloping down the sideline to the Winchester 3 where he was knocked outside on a desperate diving tackle by Devlin.

Dannie was hurt on the play and replaced by Ed Cullen. Walsh slanted over inside his own right tackle for the touchdown and Atwater kicked in the extra point.

Murphy ran the short kickoff back to his 47 and McGowan swung off tackle for a first down at Belmont's 32. Amico bucked twice for a first down at the 20, but Winchester was put back to the 25 for back in motion.

McGowan picked up this five and Amico plunged again for the second first down at the 20. Amico hit the sagging Belmont line for another seven, but on the next play what looked like a sure touchdown surge ended as McGowan fumbled on the 10 with Belmont recovering. The half ended a few plays later.

With the resumption of play neither team could get going until the closing minutes of the third quarter when Casey, reserve Winchester back, intercepted a Belmont forward at the Winchester 30 and aided by some good blocking by Devlin ran to the Belmont 14.

In three bucks Amico drove the tight-packed Belmont line back to the five and it was fourth and one as the final quarter got under way. Disdaining deception Amico again hit into the jammed tackle-hole, moving to a first down at the one, and on the next rush he bucked over inside tackle. Smith's try for the extra point was wide.

Belmont evened the count in eight plays from its 24, a five yard penalty against Winchester for delaying the game helping the visitors to a vital first down at the locals' 27. Casey broke up an attempted sweep for a three-yard loss, but on second down Watson dropped back and arched off a long wobbly pass that Bellis jump-grabbed away from Devlin inside the five, dragging Dannie to a foot or so from the goal line.

The Winchester line dug in to stop a buck, but Watson slid out to his left all alone and scored standing up to tie the score. Atwater again split the uprights perfectly to give Belmont a 14-13 lead.

Amico just missed getting away on a slashing return of the Belmont kickoff, being finally downed on the Winchester 43. On first down, however, Watson squarely intercepted an Amico jump-pass and returned the ball to the Winchester 42.

Belmont's running was stopped by the locals twice, but a costly off-side penalty kept the visitors rushing game alive, and Fitch on a pitchout swept end from the 35 to the 16. On the next rush Fitch circled Winchester's right end to go over standing up. Atwater missed the conversion, but any chance Winchester had of tying the score went glimmering a few plays later as Devlin muffed a fourth-down pass from Amico in the clear at the Belmont 30.

Belmont made 12 first downs and 164 yards on the ground to Winchester's eight first downs and 144 yards rushing. The visitors completed six of eight passes for about 90 yards, lost one five yard penalty and fumbled twice. Winchester completed two of nine passes for 10 yards, lost 25 yards in penalties and fumbled once.

CHAMOIS SKI CLUB

The Chamois Ski Club of Winchester got off to a good start at their first meeting of the season Wednesday evening, November 2, when members and their friends assembled at Lyceum Hall. Of more interest to skiers than the routine business accomplished was a color film on skiing facilities in New York State and a talk by Mr. William E. Holdich of Winchester, Red Cross first aid instructor.

Mr. Holdich emphasized the value of first aid to the skier and outlined the requirements of the standard and advanced courses. Classes must enroll a minimum of twelve in order to be made available here, and it is hoped that enough people show interest to warrant the courses again this year. Mr. Harry Bean is leader of the club patrol, members of which have passed both standard and advanced courses. Other patrolmen are Bob Ellis, Jim Farnsworth, Roland Nault, Phil Twombly and Dorothy Welsh.

The club patch designed by Mr. William Davies of Winchester will be available at the next meeting on December 7. It was voted to hold regular meetings on the first Wednesday of the month. After the snow comes, there will be informal get-togethers on Friday nights to discuss weekend skiing plans.

Race dates last year got a fast shuffle because of uncertain snow, but Burt Gurly, who again heads the race committee is looking for better cooperation from both the fickle New England weather and the forecasters.

Dorothy Welsh heads the entertainment committee while the juniors are under the able direction of Bill Davies, Bob Lamson and Roland Nault. Membership headquarters is the Winchester Sport Shop at 41 Church street where information and membership blanks may be obtained from Charlie Koch.

The club is once more a member of the U. S. Eastern Amateur Ski Association and the Eastern Inter-club Ski League. Now all that is needed is the snow that the driveway shovellers hope won't come.

DISTRICT PRESIDENTS'
CLUB

The Eighth District Presidents' Club met on Wednesday at the Bear Hill Country Club in Wakefield. After a delicious turkey luncheon the business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Walter K. Freeman of Greenwood, President. Special guests present were: Mrs. Chester A. Merrifield, Sixth District Director and Past President of the Sixth District Presidents' Club; Mrs. D. Talmage Erb of Malden, Eighth District Director; and Mrs. Sumner Y. Wheeler of Rockport, Pres. of the Ninth District Presidents' Club.

As Mrs. Lincoln Elwell of Melrose is to make her home in Florida, she resigned her position as Press Correspondent. Mrs. George C. Dannels of Woburn was appointed to fill the vacancy. All arrangements for the place of meeting and the luncheon were made by the Cosmos Club of Wakefield under the leadership of their President, Mrs. Harry P. Sparks. The entertainment for the afternoon was provided by a clever and talented young accordionist, Miss Lorraine Whittemore of Woburn. Her varied program was enjoyed by all.

WYMAN SCHOOL NEWS

Last week two films were shown to the younger grades, one entitled, Shep, a Farm Dog, and the other, Farm Animals. Both of these were very well received by the children, who enjoyed every minute of the unusual break in everyday school routine.

Thursday was the big day at Wyman last week, for that was Bundle Day. The children brought shoes, dresses, coats, etc., wrapped in neat paper bundles, which, through the Save the Children Federation, will be sent to Europe and parts of this country. This was a project of the Wyman chapter of the Junior Red Cross, which held a Council meeting today.

Monday, November 14, is a good day to remember if anyone has any questions about the Wyman reading program, for at 10 a. m. on that day, Miss Phipps, reading consultant, will address the fifth and sixth grade mothers on that subject.

GEORGE WASHINGTON
FOURTH GRADE TEA

On Tuesday, November 8, at 2:30 p. m. Mrs. Edward Morse of 4 Euclid avenue, was hostess at a tea for the Mothers of the fourth grade pupils of the George Washington School. Miss Louise Matthews, fourth grade teacher, and Miss Rich, principal, were guests of honor. At the large gathering, Miss Matthews spoke briefly on the necessity of cooperation between the home and school in developing a feeling of security in the child.

Miss Rich pointed out the great spiritual value to the child of the class room living of the Golden Rule.

The following principles in the education of the child were discussed by the Mothers:

1. The child's acceptance of responsibility for his actions, with particular stress on the responsibility of a promise given.

2. The drawing out of the timid child.

3. The stressing of the fact that the ability for good fellowship is equally as important as the ability for good leadership, in developing a well-rounded individual.

The delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. James Wakefield, Chairman of the Refreshment Committee and her assistants: Mrs. Gerald Howard, Mrs. Carl Morton, Mrs. Stuart Harris, Mrs. Robert Lowe and Mrs. Robert Wright.

PRE-NUPTIAL PARTIES

Many showers and parties have been tendered Miss Barbara Bonnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Bonnell, in honor of her approaching marriage to Leland Donald Cole.

On Tuesday Mrs. Horace H. Ford opened her charming home for a miscellaneous shower. A gaily decorated box proved a treasure chest, containing a number of beautiful presents for the prospective bride. Refreshments consisting of heart-shaped sandwiches, ices, and cakes carried out the wedding scheme, as did the bride's cake.

On Saturday night Mrs. Roland A. Beers of Stoneham and Mrs. A. Bruce Durkee, of Swampscott entertained at a Halloween party, in honor of both Miss Bonnell and Mr. Cole. The guests arrived in costume and proceeded to Mrs. Beer's game room, which was festively decorated. The party was a pantry shelf shower for the bride and a tool-box shower for the groom. Many Winchester and Swampscott couples attended.

To-night Mr. and Mrs. Bonnell are entertaining the bridal party at a dinner-party at the Winchester Country Club.

OVERCOME BY FUMES

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Luongo of 71 Swanton street narrowly escaped death by asphyxiation Monday when they were discovered overcome by fumes from an oil stove at their home Monday afternoon.

According to the police the Luongos went to bed Monday night as usual in their second-floor apartment. Nothing having been heard from them during the day, Mr. Luongo's sister, Mrs. Michael Carroll, living nearby, went to their home.

She found them overcome by fumes from a small oil stove burning in their apartment with the windows closed. Quickly opening windows to admit air, Mrs. Carroll summoned Dr. Charles Rooney, who in turn called the police. Officers John H. Boyle, James E. Flaherty and Robert A. Elliott responded in the police ambulance with the department's resuscitator and oxygen tanks. Headquarters also sent in a call to the Fire Department, Engine 4 responding with a crew under Captain Edward D. Fitzgerald and the department's inhalator and oxygen tanks. Fire Chief James E. Callahan also responded in his car.

The atmosphere was still very bad in the Luongo apartment when the police and firemen arrived. Mr. Luongo at first seemed most affected, and the police went to work upon him at once with the resuscitator, the firemen working on Mrs. Luongo with their inhalator. Mrs. Luongo became much worse after the arrival of the rescue squads, and the inhalator was supplemented by artificial respiration administered by Fireman Robert Haggerty. Dr. Rooney assisted the firemen, supervising the work on both Mr. and Mrs. Luongo.

The latter was the first to be revived and when he was pronounced out of danger by Dr. Rooney the resuscitator was used on Mrs. Luongo to replace the inhalator and artificial respiration, with which Fireman Haggerty was assisted by Officer Flaherty. Mrs. Luongo's condition was much the more serious and Dr. Rooney ordered her removed to the hospital in the police ambulance, the resuscitator being used on her during the trip. At the hospital she was placed in an oxygen tent. Her condition was very critical Monday night, but Tuesday she was reported as improved and her chances for recovery much better. Mr. Luongo was reported as all right on Tuesday.

Police Chief Harrold characterized the accident as one of the worst of its kind his department had experienced and praised the work of his men and that of the firemen highly, not forgetting Dr. Rooney's prompt arrival and ministrations and the quick admission of air to the stifling apartment by Mrs. Carroll.

When the final roll of Parish Player shows is being read "I Remember Mama" will have to be placed high in the list of complete successes. The thing is of course a good show to start with and this combined with the superlative acting of Mrs. Coon in the role of Mama made the Little Theatre version a real joy. It is hard to see how her performance could have been improved upon. It had everything. Sincerity, depth, poise and great understanding were all there as they have to be for complete satisfaction, but beyond these there were little refinements like voice inflection, facial expression and complete adaptation that added the final touch. Mrs. Coon was Mama from her first appearance to the final curtain, speaking her lines naturally, with a delightful accent, avoiding undue speed to get her lines across and generally carrying the play so well it just couldn't miss.

Especially fine was her handling of the little scenes with Katrin in the soda parlor and the attic, but they were but two, after all. At the family council table, with Uncle Chris at the hospital, with the "woman" after the death scene she was equally a delight to watch and listen to. There seemed no challenge in the entire part to which she did not rise.

Everyone knows the story of the show, a heart-warming but simple saga of a Norwegian-American family in San Francisco, telling its sorrows and joys, strivings, disappointments and eventual success as Katrin, the oldest daughter finally takes the first step on the road to success as an author.

There are the four children, Katrin, Christine, Dagmar and Nels; Papa, of course; and there are the three aunts, the blustering big-hearted Uncle Chris and "Uncle Elizabeth", the family cat, a real trouper of infinite patience and potentialities. More important of the lesser characters are Mr. Hyde, a gone-to-seed actor sponging on Mama for his board and room; Mr. Thorkelson who marries Aunt Trina and the "woman" who finally turns out to be Uncle Chris's wife.

From top to bottom the play was well, in most instances, excellently, cast. Barbara Jean Hammond did well with the long taxing part of Katrin. On stage as a narrator much of the time when not acting, a lot was asked of her and depended upon her. She met the test well, on the whole, and orchids surely should go to her for her handling of the entire graduation present episode.

David and Janet Archibald played Nels and Christine in straight-forward fashion that made both characters enjoyable and easy to accept. Few boys have shown David's ease on stage. Lois

Bigelow also had a lot of poise in the role of Dagmar and her enthusiasm for "Uncle Elizabeth" seemed not at all forced.

Mrs. Blake, Mrs. Brown and Miss Hall made outstanding contributions to the show as the three aunts, Mrs. Blake's Aunt Trina being particularly well done. Nothing in the entire play was better than Mr. MacLellan's portrayal of the mouse-like Mr. Thorkelson, a real character gem. Mr. Grant's Uncle Chris was another corking characterization of professional grade. His handling of the death bed scene was masterful. Mrs. Dalrymple played Uncle Chris's wife with her usual effectiveness. Dr. Blanchard played Papa acceptably, if not exceptionally, and the same can be said of Dr. Pollard's Mr. Hyde, a portrayal just a little too off-hand.

The lesser characters seemed very much at production level and Mrs. Gamage was surely an imposing authoress.

The sets for the play were good as usual, that for the family living-room being exceptionally well done. Stage business was generally good and so was the lighting. That business of trying to show the action outside the house to the right of the stage rather missed the boat, especially with those in the audience not familiar with the stage version of the play.

MYSTIC GLEE CLUB APPEARS AT CUSHING VETERANS HOSPITAL

Last Sunday, November 6th, the Mystic Glee Club travelled to the Cushing Veterans' Hospital in Framingham where the men presented a full length concert under the baton of their director Keith Snyder. The popularity of this sort of concert was evident and a full compliment of the Glee Club was present to perform for a well filled auditorium of appreciative wounded veterans.

Guest artists appearing with the Club were Miss Marion Horwood, soprano, of Winchester, and Jack Gilbert, member of the Club and pianist of the swing variety. Both entertainers were well received by the men. Miss Horwood presents a very pleasing personality and is the possessor of a very colorful and promising voice. Jack Gilbert, of course, has long been a favorite of Mystic Glee Club audiences and last Sunday was no exception.

The Club performed well considering it was its first appearance of the season. Friends who accompanied the men and sat in the audience noted a fine balance of parts and were particularly pleased with the Club's tone and richness this year as compared to recent clubs as they have performed at the annual concerts. The men themselves were unaware of this feature having to sing on a rather small stage with curtains all around which deadened sound to them and made them feel they were singing in a studio where it is difficult to hear other voices but their own. The few ragged spots bothered the men far more than the audience, and several listeners and critics of the Club felt the concert extremely encouraging. One of the critics, who has heard every concert but the first two which the Mystic Glee Club has ever sung, said that he ventured that this will be the best singing group yet to appear under the name.

Each season since its inception has seen the Mystic Glee Club perform several concerts for charitable and other worthy causes. This is one of the main tenets of the Club and is incorporated in its by-laws. The concert at Cushing Hospital was a fine beginning for the men in their tenth anniversary year.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton W. Bennett and Mr. and Mrs. Harvard L. Mann of Winchester, are attending the sixty-second annual meeting of the American Institute of Accountants at the Biltmore Hotel, Los Angeles, Cal.

OPEN HOUSE AND DAD'S NIGHT

On Monday evening, November 7 the Noonan School had open house and Dad's Night. The Classrooms were open from 7 to 8 P. M. at which time the Parents met the teachers and inspected the children's work which was suitably displayed.

All the Parents wore tags identifying themselves and signed the Guest-Register.

At 8 P. M. the entire group, including the teachers met in the Assembly Hall where the Mothers' Association, in cooperation with Miss Rich had secured the films "Pop Rings the Bell" and "Assignment Tomorrow" for showing.

Mrs. William T. Haggerty, president of the Mothers' Association, introduced Mrs. George Marks, who gave an interesting and informative talk on the Scholarship Foundation, followed by a question box. The Mothers were especially grateful to Mrs. Marks for her appearance inasmuch as she was asked on very short notice, due to the unavoidable absence of Dr. Norris. Mr. Drown, custodian, supervised the showing of the 2 films which were educational and enjoyed by all.

The Room Mothers served coffee and doughnuts to the large representative group thus concluding Dad's Night at the Noonan School for this year.

CIVIL AIR PATROL NEWS

The new class in Navigation is off to a fine start and already holds the interest of the whole group. On completion of this course each student should have gained the fundamentals of Navigation necessary for the execution of a routine flight. There is an air of expectancy circulating around the beginning of the class in meteorology. In a preview discussion of that subject, the instructor excited the curiosity of all the cadets, who are looking forward to being amateur weather men.

Sgt. Henry Dellicker of Winchester has assembled the radio equipment belonging to Medford Flight and has become quite a radio operator. He plans to give a demonstration of this equipment in the near future.

Of interest to CAP enthusiasts is the CAP section appearing monthly in Skyways magazine. This section is devoted exclusively to Civil Air Patrol events and personnel and is a fine outlet for news and pictures of their activities.

Cpl. Elaine Hersey, Sgt. Jacqueline Fritch, and Sgt. Henry Dellicker are the cadets now attending Civil Air Patrol from Winchester.

HUMAN RELATIONS INSTITUTE

Mrs. William E. Priest, Mrs. George Budd, Mrs. George B. Brayley and Mrs. Theodore von Roosen-vinge served on the planning committee for the Human Relations Institute held Wednesday, November 9, at the Boston City Club under the auspices of the Division of Inter-Racial Unity, Department of Human Relations, of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs in cooperation with the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Dr. Martin P. Chworowsky, director of the Intergroup Relations Program, Columbia University, was the morning speaker with the luncheon speaker, Dr. Mary Ellen Goodman, Assistant Professor of Sociology at Wellesley College. Mrs. Clyde Kluckhohn, Lecturer in Sociology in the Department of Social Relations at Harvard University, spoke in the afternoon as did Judge Jennie Loitman Barron of the Boston Municipal Court. Dr. Chworowsky directed a panel on intergroup relations after his address.

WINCHESTER CROSS COUNTRY TEAM

HIGH SCHOOL HARRIERS ENDED SEASONPlaced Third and Fifth in Middlesex and State Meets

Winchester High School's cross country team, unbeaten in dual competition, completed a most successful season by placing third in the Middlesex Cross Country League Meet at Tufts two weeks ago and fifth in the State meet at Franklin Park last Saturday.

Twelve teams competed in the Middlesex meet with no class distinction. Watertown was the team winner with Beverly second and Winchester third. Teams like Belmont, Haverhill, Arlington, Melrose and Woburn, finished behind Winchester.

Fisher Wolfe in 10th place was Winchester's first runner to finish, others being Gordon Bird, 20; Charlie Murphy, 24; John Foley, 28; and John Roeray, 49.

Twenty-five teams competed in the State Meet with Winchester running in Class B. One hundred and seventy-six runners started in this division, making Winchester's fifth place the more meritorious. Beverly was the winner in B, but Winchester finished in front of most of the schools hereabout and ahead of all with which it competes regularly.

Gordon Bird finished 16th to lead home Winchester's runners, followed by Fisher Wolfe, 34; John Foley, 36; Charlie Murphy, 39; and Dave Bumgardner, 80.

Coach Tom Morse was much pleased with his charges' showing in these real cross country tests, especially in view of the injury to Kenny Blake, one of their top runners.

CHUCK MONTANA

Matched with tough "Rebel Bob" Russell from Newport, Va., in next Tuesday evening's feature wrestling bout at VFW Hall in Stoneham, Montana, a veteran performer, hails from Detroit.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

Believe it, or not, the Secretary, lowliest of all members regularly competing in the matches of the Palmer Beach Horseshoe Association, finally came into his own last week-end, attaining championship honors without the loss of a series and dropping only one game.

This single reverse came in the last match when the Scribe was paired with "Wild Willie" McLaughlin, the Pride of Stow and Champion of all Nabnasset, and was opposing Roland "Thin Finger" Pridham and Herbert "Garrulous" Gardner, the Dix Street Magnate. The quartet named constituted the quorum present, Royal "Paper Trade" Teele, perennial president of the Association, being on the antiques lay on the Cape.

The Secretary and Mr. McLaughlin opened the day's matches by disposing of Messrs. Gardner and Pridham in straight games, without too much trouble, but thereafter all competition was tight-lipped and closer than all get out. With Mr. Gardner, the Secretary had to come from behind to beat the Lake Street Lancers, Mr. Pridham and Mr. McLaughlin, and with Mr. Pridham, against Messrs. McLaughlin and Gardner, his margin was even closer, albeit both series were won in straight games. It took a double-header in the last box to pull out this latter series, 25-23.

Through all this earnest work the Secretary had been pitching away over his head, even throwing an occasional ringer which Mr. Teele will tell you is not his usual form.

So it was that when the final series got under way and the Scribe found himself pitching with the doughty Pride of Stow, he could not resist the temptation to climb aboard the broad McLaughlin back and ride to victory.

So little did the Secretary contribute to the first game of the series that Messrs. Pridham and Gardner pulled it out of the fire, 25-22. Mr. McLaughlin talked the Secretary into a ringer or two in the second game, and with this assistance "Wild Willie" was able to win, 25-24.

"Willie" and the Scribe had a 14-4 lead in the deciding game and then were in front 19-10. At this point both Mr. Gardner and Mr. Pridham found the range and gradually forged ahead to a 23-19 advantage.

It was then that Mr. McLaughlin held up his two shoes in the old Gaelic gesture of defiance and as Mr. Pridham finally missed the stake hung both irons on the pin for game, set, match and tournament. All that was lacking were Mr. Teele's shrill whoops of triumph and his remarks about getting back from Wells River.

WINCHESTER FRESHMEN
BEAT WOBURN

Winchester High School freshman football team completed an unbeaten, untied season Monday afternoon at Manchester Field, beating Woburn High freshmen, 20-6, for their second victory over the Tanner pups this season. The local frosh ended their season with a point total of 146 to 12 for the opposition, being scored on only in the first and last games. Carl Reed coached the local plebes.

Winchester was not at full strength for the Woburn game, being without the services of Jim Griffin, star fullback, out with a broken nose. To make matters worse, John Atkinson, first string quarterback had to be removed from play early in the game with a twisted ankle and taken to the Winchester Hospital in the Police ambulance. "Nicky" Fitzgerald, whose father quarterbacked one of Mansfield's teams years ago, replaced Atkinson.

In spite of these handicaps Winchester dominated the going all the way, Woburn's score coming as a visiting player plucked a fumble from the back of a Winchester boy before the ball could hit the ground and scampered half the length of the field for a touchdown. Wing scored one of Winchester's touchdowns and Donlon, the other two.

Mr. Jeremiah F. Maloney of Rangeley road, recently retired assistant postmaster of the Winchester Postoffice was given a testimonial dinner by members of the Winchester Postoffice Employees Association last Saturday evening in Waterfield Hall. Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun, on behalf of those present, presented Mr. Maloney with a completely furnished traveling bag which will come in handy on his trip to Florida this

WORLD HAS MANY WAYS OF CALENDARING TIME

When it's September 24, 1949 by the Western World's Gregorian calendar, what date is it in Tel Aviv, Addis Ababa, and Peiping?

Recent official adoption of the Hebrew calendar by the new state of Israel surprised no one. To all in international trade and diplomacy, however, it points up an old problem. The many year-and-era reckoning systems in use today throughout the world confound, just as the scores of languages and dialects confuse.

So vexatious is the calendar problem internationally that the search for a system readily translatable into all others has gone on for at least a century, says the National Geographic Society. The old League of Nations considered some 500 calendar proposals in its day, and the United Nations now carries on the quest for simplification.

In India and Pakistan alone, 14 calendar systems are locally important in addition to the widely used Gregorian, Mohammedan, and Hebrew.

Each of the many systems is tied to a distinct era of time, beginning with an event of great importance to those who lives it. All recognize the solar year of approximately 365 1/4 days as the calendar's keystone, even though some take many years to balance their calendar with the sun-year's cycles.

Ancient Egypt provided the forerunner of the Western World's calendar. Julius Caesar, conqueror of the Egyptians in 45 B. C., used their system as the basis for his Julian calendar. It was the first to establish a year of 365 1/4 days, dividing the period into 12 months and providing for a leap-year day to take care of accumulated fractions.

In 1582, Pope Gregory XIII ordained a simple reform. Astronomers showed him that the sun-year is some 11 minutes less than 365 1/4 days. In the course of a dozen Julian centuries, spring's first day had moved forward from March 21 to March 11.

To correct this, Gregory directed that October 4, 1582, be followed by October 15, and that leap-year days be omitted in the last year of each century except years divisible by 400 (as 1600). His reform reduced the annual error to 26 seconds, which will add up to one day by about 4900 A. D.

Practical as it was, the Gregorian calendar gained slow acceptance. The British Empire, including its American colony, did not adopt it until 1752. By this time 11 days had been lost to Britannia. Correction was made by decreeing September 2 to be followed by September 14.

The Lord Mayor of London objected so strongly to losing 11 days of his year in office that the term-end was advanced from October 28 to November 8, and there it has remained. Young George Washington, who had turned 20 the preceding February 11, had to wait until February 22 in 1753 to attain his majority.

Japan adopted the Gregorian calendar in 1873. China and the Soviet Union, adopting it in 1918, found the anniversary of its celebrated October Revolution shoved into November by the change.

China's old calendar, the Hebrew calendar and others follow the ancient Babylonian rather than the Egyptian pattern. They give heed to the moon-month of 29 1/2 days, and the year of 12 moon-months, or 354 days. They then intercalate (insert) a very short month every year or near-average month every few years to balance lunar and solar years.

Both the old Chinese and the Jewish calendars insert seven extra months of normal length in the course of each cycle of 19 years. Ethiopians throw in an annual 13th month of five or six days, for which no one gets paid and no one pays rent.

When it's September 24, 1949 in New York, what date is it in Tel Aviv? Israel's gleaming new city on September 24 celebrates New Year, 5710. In Mecca, holy city of the Mohammedans, the last month of the year 1368 begins. In Addis Ababa, it is the 14th day of the year 1942.

Although China's old calendar has been illegal since the official switch to Gregorian dates, farmers still plant their seeds, and even cities observe festival days of the old-style year, numbered from the start of the current regime. The Chinese Republic's 38th Year is a 384-day, 13-month leap year which began last January 29 and doesn't expire until next February 16.

CIVILIAN RULE PLAN HERALDS SECOND BIG CHANGE FOR GUAM

The plan to transfer the government of Guam from naval to civilian control by July 1, 1950, promises the second major change in this tiny American outpost since the end of World War II.

Conversion of Guam, southernmost of the Marianas group, from a sleepy tropical island into a key military and naval base was the first big postwar development undertaken. Although actually begun in the closing year of the drive on Japan, the program picked up momentum with the coming of peace, which permitted development of a more substantial character.

Today Guam has two permanent air fields, both built on the level land of its northern plateau. Port Apra, the large natural harbor on the southwest coast, boasts mooring space for more than 40 ships, submarine pens, dry docks, and a breakwater to protect the new installations against destructive typhoons. Road improvements include four-lane highways, some the island's length.

Reconstruction Still Pushed
This is a vast change from the pre-war Guam, whose defenses in 1941 were weaker than those in 1920 because the United States had honored the demilitarization terms of the Washington Naval Conference. Located about 3,750 miles closer to the Far East than Pearl Harbor, the island now plays a vital role as a supply base for American forces in Okinawa and Japan.

The reconstruction of cities and the revival of the Guamanian economy, however, are still incomplete. Agaña, the capital city five miles north of Port Apra, was leveled during the capture of the island from Japan in 1944. By mid-1948 a new Guam Congress building had emerged from the rubble, but there is still considerable need for new construction, particularly housing. This holds true for other settlements on the island.

In pre-war years Guam's chief cash crop was copra, but many of the island's coconut trees were either destroyed by the war or have been cut to make room for the new developments. Copra exports, averaged about 3,000 tons annually before the war, but no shipments at all were made in 1948.

To counteract this loss, U. S. officials have been encouraging the Chamorros, native Guamanians, to increase their crop agriculture. Before the Japanese attack, home-grown corn was the island's chief food staple. Other crops included rice, sweet potatoes, tapioca and taro, and such tropical fruits as bananas, avocados, mangoes and papayas.

Population Triples
The transformation of Guam into a key defense base has sent the population zooming upward. At the close of 1948 it was estimated at more than three times its pre-war figure of 24,000. The Chamorros, who composed most of the pre-war residents, are now outnumbered by the Filipino laborers, Civil Service workers, and military personnel who have been brought in to speed reconstruction and man the new installations.

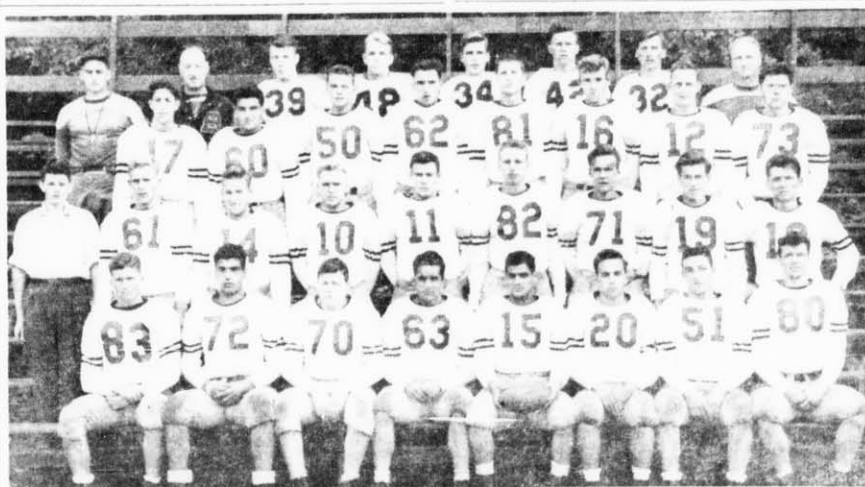

Transfer of the island's administration to the Department of Interior will give Guam its first civilian governor since it came under U. S. control. Acquired from Spain with the Philippines after the Spanish-American war, the 215-square mile isle has been ruled for the past half century, except for the Japanese conquest, by a U. S. Navy Commandant-Governor, appointed by the President.

While you are there, send all the children upstairs to the Children's luncheon, and watch their happy faces as they enjoy a hearty lunch with all their little friends. Later on, when the hustle and bustle has bogged you down a bit relax again and enjoy afternoon tea - just another of the grand treats waiting for you on Wednesday, November 16 - the big day of the Village Fair.

WAKEFIELD

Winchester High plays its annual game with Wakefield High at Wakefield Armistice afternoon at 2 o'clock, the game having been moved ahead from Saturday to take advantage of the holiday.

Winchester has lost its last two in a row, with a record of three record is worse than this, but the Scarlet has recently gotten some of its good boys back in the lineup, and if Winchester does not show any more desire to play ball than it did against Reading and Belmont, another reverse can well occur this afternoon.

The Winchester line, after a most commendable performance against strong Watertown, has a not-too-good Belmont team last week the local forwards were really bad.

Coach Knowlton made several changes for Belmont and some of the new men showed promise. Other changes will be made this afternoon, looking to get some of the "ticket takers" out of the lineup and replaced by boys who at least look like they want to play

SCHOOL COMM. REPORT OF ACCIDENT AT MYSTIC SCHOOL

Editor of the Star:

The School Committee feels that the residents of Winchester should have a factual report of just what happened at the Mystic School on November 3rd in connection with the most unfortunate accident in which several kindergarten pupils and one of the teachers were injured, two of the children seriously.

In an endeavor to ascertain from an engineering viewpoint just what happened and how the structural failure which precipitated the accident occurred, the Committee employed Thomas H. McSweeney, a consulting engineer of established qualifications, who is a resident of Hingham with offices in Boston, to make a factual study of the premises and of the conditions existing directly after the accident. His preliminary report has been made and supports the conclusions set forth in this summary. A full report is expected shortly. In addition, the School Committee has conducted its own independent investigation, in collaboration with the Police Department and other authorities and with the full cooperation of the Building Committee.

The accident occurred immediately outside the old Madison Avenue entrance to the Auditorium. A new exterior vestibule is presently being added at this point. The foundation wall of this new vestibule had been constructed quite a few weeks prior to the accident, completely enclosing the old steps, the lowest step being about two feet inside this new wall. It was not necessary in order to meet fire safety requirements that safe access from the old auditorium door to the ground be maintained at all times while the building was occupied, and the contractor doing the present work had been so advised. To provide such access temporarily, he had constructed a sloping wooden ramp from the ground on the Madison Avenue approach walk to the sill location in the new exterior door opening which was some three feet above ground level at that point, and a second horizontal ramp resting at its outer edge on the new outer wall and at its inner edge on the top step or platform of the old concrete steps, butted up against the sill of the old door entering the auditorium. About three weeks before the accident, the contractor had removed the iron hand rails on each side of the old stairs leading to the auditorium door, accomplishing this by chiseling the concrete of the steps immediately around the iron banisters in order to free them.

It now appears that when the old steps were constructed some twenty-four years ago the area under them had been excavated, to a depth of some six or seven feet, concrete supporting walls had been poured on the three sides other than that represented by the building, and the steps, including the broader top step or platform, had been poured as a concrete structure suspended on the bearing walls over the excavated area, which was not filled in.

The kindergarten class had passed out over the ramp in going out for a recess period shortly before the accident. When the class, accompanied by their teacher, went up the ramp to return to the auditorium where the class is being held, the old auditorium door was found locked. They waited a few moments until the door was unlocked. Almost immediately after the door had been opened, the whole structure of the old concrete steps collapsed without warning.
This removed the support from the inner end of the wooden ramp on which the teacher and the children nearest the door were standing, and the teacher and approximately twelve of the children were plunged into the old pit which had been under the old concrete steps, along with the broken steps and debris. The wooden ramp itself did not fracture nor collapse, except at the inner end dropped into the pit when the support of the old concrete steps fell away.

Except for the lower steps on the left-hand side as one faces the building, which were pulled off the supporting wall in the fall, the concrete structure of the old steps sheared off at the inner edge of the laughed at, that city, state and national governments already have more men whom money can buy than we want, and we Junior High Schoolers thought that your readers might be as interested as we were at this mistake.

WORRIED OVER YOUR FUTURE?

"Is there anyone who isn't?"
Before you say that, look around you. At certain folks you know in your community. At famous ones you read about as well.
The ones who seem to have a kind of strength, an inner confidence, a point of view that makes them seem so sure of where they're going. It can't be just coincidence that these are the men and women who go to church!

For nothing can take the place of church in your life - in anyone's life.

By turning to religion, by reaffirming their faith, new thousands every day are gathering - new strength, new hope, new courage.
Families, finding themselves through faith, are being brought closer - becoming real families, strong against the world, happier, more tolerant among themselves.

Young folk, finding themselves through faith, are learning the true values that make them want to spurn the false.

Men and women of the work a day world are gaining a new sense of "the balance of things" - the inner security that brings success to work as well as to life - by finding themselves through faith.

Can you honestly say that things have been better for you, going it alone? Or wouldn't you rather join these neighbors - and find a happier, more successful life - through faith?

THE STAR GETS AROUND

We are obliged to our friend, Gladys Toye, hustling head of the Winchester Military Manpower Committee, for this latest evidence of the Star's mobility and effectiveness as an advertising medium.

It seems that when the 100 piece Army Ground Forces Band gave its memorable concert on the Music Hall grounds early last summer, a woman attending the affair lost a brooch, to which she attached considerable sentimental value.

One of the musicians in the band saw the brooch on the ground as he was hurrying to the big Army bus and picked it up, examining it more carefully as he was riding out of town.

He showed it to a buddy, who wanted to buy it and the finder, believing the brooch of little value, sold it for 35c. Meanwhile the owner of the brooch put an ad in the Star, hoping to recover her keepsake.

The Star, which also carried a review of the concert at the Music Hall, went to the band's home base, Camp George J. Meade in Baltimore, Md., and eventually the soldier who found the brooch had a chance to look at a copy. Reading it through, he saw the advertisement of the lost brooch and learned of its value to the owner.

He at once contacted the buddy who had bought the brooch and the latter got it back from whom ever he had given it to. Eventually the brooch was returned to one of the concert committee members in Winchester who took it to the delighted owner.

All this we thought would add up to a good human interest story and of course it does at the same time point out the value of Star advertising. Please try to get your ads in before one o'clock on Thursdays though. Last week we had to disappoint a couple of friends who waited a bit too long!

TELEVISION FOR PATIENTS

Through the efforts of Mrs. Kenneth B. Toye of Mystic Valley Parkway, chairman of the Winchester Military Manpower Committee, the patients adjacent to the room of Cpl. Edward Bryson in Bulfinch Building of the Massachusetts General Hospital are going to enjoy television.

Cpl. Bryson is Winchester's Army recruiter and as such has been working with the local Military Manpower Committee. When Mrs. Toye found he was in the hospital for special treatment for arthritis she set out to get him a television set and was able to do so through the courtesy of C. C.
Peter of Hillcrest Parkway, who conducts a radio, television and electrical supply business on Boylston street, in Boston, and is always ready to do a service boy a good turn.

It has further developed that another well known Winchester man will have the benefit of the television set, for Cpl. Bryson's roommate at the hospital is Arthur Adraetas, proprietor of the Winchester Barber Shop, who is undergoing post-operative treatment and expected to be at the hospital through November. He would be pleased to hear from or see any of his friends.

PROFESSIONAL PHARMACY IN ARLINGTON

Sears & Tibbetts professional pharmacy at 667 Massachusetts avenue in Arlington is displaying the "Prescription Specialists" in accordance with their policy of specializing in the filling of doctor's prescriptions and of stocking a full line of fresh patent drugs, medicines and pharmaceutical supplies.

Leonard F. Tibbetts, Ph. C., invites local residents to inspect his pharmacy and strictly pharmaceutical line. Attention is called to the Sears & Tibbetts advertisement

MAIZURU, JAPANESE REPATRIATION PORT. CITY OF HOPE AND DISAPPOINTMENTS

Eyes of families all over Japan are turned these days to the once-great naval base of Maizuru, port of repatriation for prisoners of war returning from the Soviet silences of Siberia.

Some with undying hope have moved here to watch and wait, says a bulletin from Frederick G.
Vosburgh, National Geographic Society Editorial Staff writer now on assignment in Japan.

The family of one long-missing husband has come here and opened a little shop selling "ice candy" (frozen fruit juice) and other Japanese goodies on the Sanjo (Third Street), up which the re-patriates pass from bay to railroad station.

Several other families from afar have taken up residence in this city of hope and disappointment.
One aging wife arrived more than two years ago but recently died of what the Japanese call "heart sickness" - still waiting for the man who never came.

Teemed as Imperial Naval Base Great changes have come to this port on the Japan Sea coast of Honshu since the war. In the years of Imperial power Maizuru was a Japanese naval beehive, with men-o'-war steaming into the mountain-girt bay for repairs and ammunition and with approximately 100,000 members of the military services working and training here. The entire area was strictly guarded and the approach of unauthorized persons was for-bidden on pain of death.

In those days Maizuru had a civilian and military population estimated by the present mayor at 250,000. Now it has shrunk to 86, 023. There is little here today to hold or draw people - except the stubborn hope in the breasts of the few families who have been able to move to Maizuru and wait for a missing son, father, husband, lover or brother.

This is really three cities in one
- Higashimaizuru, Nishimaizuru, and Nakamaizuru, meaning East Central, and West Maizuru. The name Maizuru means "flying crane" in reference to the big long-legged birds that stalk with judicial air through the rice pal-dies tucked between the hills.

"Japanese," said a local man,
"believe crane live a thousand years."

U. S. Army on Duty

A detachment from the 35th Regiment of the 25th Infantry Division, United States Army, is now stationed here, and the Eighth Army Engineer School occupies former Japanese Navy buildings.
Sometimes a jeep caves into one of the tunnels, built by the Japanese to lead from their installations to air-raid shelters.

Biggest industry is the Iino
Dock Yard and Industrial Works, Ltd., which repairs ships and makes and repairs freight cars.
It employs 3,000.

Now being refitted here is the French passenger ship Leconte de Lisle, about 9,800 tons, which the Japanese took over and used during the war. Korea-bound, it hit a mine at the mouth of Maizuru harbor and was beached.

In drydock for inspection and possible repair is the Italian liner
Conte Verde, about 18,000 tons, which had a checkered war-time history. After Italy surrendered, the ship's captain scuttled her in the mouth of the Yangtze River, in China. The Japanese raised her, but late in July, 1945, she was bombed and subsequently beached.

Other industries are a sardine and mackerel cannery, a rayon and silk companies, and a sawmill, but most of the people seem to live by selling each other something in the little wooden shops and stalls
- fish, cakes, vegetables, fans, and the wooden gauds that make a Japanese pedestrian sound like a pingpong game.

Signs say, "Welcome home, re-patriates." Japanese lanterns and placards decorate the Sanjo, and a small Japanese flag flies atop a squat monument covered with fresh cedar boughs. Says a sign in Japanese on the railroad station
"Let us try to rebuild a clean and beautiful Japan."

SCARLET IBIS BREEDING GROUND FOUND IN VENEZUELA HINTERLAND

A large and thriving colony of the now rare and spectacularly beautiful scarlet ibis has been discovered in the wild hinterlands of Venezuela, it was announced here today.

Dr. Paul A. Zahl, New York ornithologist, who has been ranging Venezuela's deep-inland river system in search of the bird's breeding ground, reported the find to the National Geographic Society, sponsor of the expedition.

The garcero, or rookery, Dr.
Zahl said lies about 125 miles west of his field headquarters, set up at San Fernando, in Apure State south of the Venezuelan capital, Caracas. It covers an area about half a mile long and a quarter mile wide, on an almost inaccessible flood plain between the Apure and a neighboring river.

"From a distance," relates the scientist, describing his approach to the rookery, "its foliage looks though it were laden densely with blood-red fruit. . . I should estimate the number of adult scarlet ibis at about 5,000."

Fish Devour Young

avian elegance," Dr. Zahl continues, "is the rather fearsome fact that the water under the bushes is alive with flesh-eating fish - here called caribe (cannibal fish), and elsewhere in Latin American known as the piranha.

"During the nesting season of the birds, these fish (up to about 10 inches long) concentrate in garcero waters, for with each wind or rain storm, a certain number of eggs or young are thrown off their nests. As these drop into the water, a boiling immediately occurs at the surface. Within a few seconds nothing is left.

"These caribes are dangerous to man, and one may not leave his dugout or even play his hand in the water. This situation," noted Dr. Zahl with scientific understatement, "added some zest to my work at the garcero which, by the way, was the 16th visited.

"The other fifteen had no scarlet ibis; only herons, egrets, cormorants. The individual adult scarlet ibis (locally known as the corocoro-rojo) is about the size of a large pigeon, has a long, black, curved-down beak, and is uniformly of bright scarlet except for black wing-tips. In the immature bird, body feathers are white, and wing feathers are grey-black."

Physical Problems Overcome

In the accomplishment of "Operation Scarlet Ibis," Dr. Zahl had many physical difficulties to overcome. He spent 24 days of up-and-down river searching before coming on the nesting grounds. The nearest dry land to the rookery was three hours away by poled dugout.
There he established his outpost camp, from which he made the daily trip to and from the garcero, during which rain often drenched his boat and photographic equipment.

"With flood and caribes below and with rain and muck above, there were some very real photographic hazards," points out Dr.
Zahl. "But if the camera has recorded only a small fraction of what my eyes have seen, we shall have a unique set of pictures, both in natural and black-and-white."

The Venezuelans, local and official, were very kind and helpful.
Dr. Zahl reports, although there was some skepticism over the project and fears expressed that the American científico might be looking for his birds in the wrong place.

When Dr. Zahl left the scarlet ibis nesting ground in mid-October, there were signs that the seasonal breakup of the colony was almost at hand. Soon the birds will be dispersing for the dry season, to return next year.

The indicated success of the expedition promises an important addition to the bird lore of the Western Hemisphere, for no thorough scientific study of the bird's nesting practices and habits previously existed.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

The tomato is legally a vegetable, botanically a fruit. In 1893 the U. S. Supreme Court rendered the decision that it is a vegetable.
But by botanical definition, the tomato, snap or green beans, pod of peas, garden pepper, and many others are fruits.

Pittsburgh and surrounding Allegheny County have more than 800 bridges. Not only must the rivers of the populous region be bridged in many places, notes the National Geographic Society, but so must many valleys and ravines.

Shawl weaving has virtually ceased in India's Vale of Kashmir, where it was long a famed industry. But scarves and other articles are still made on small hand looms from the superfine pashmina wool.
The wool comes from the under-leech of the belly of goats raised in the cold, lofty Himalayas northeast of the Vale, says the National Geographic Society.

The custom of chewing cloves to sweeten the breath is over 4,000 years old. The earliest record of this spice comes from ancient China, where court officers were required to hold cloves in their mouths when addressing the king.

"Dead as a dodo" memorializes a clumsy cousin of the pigeon that was three times the size of a turkey and lived on the Indian Ocean island of Mauritius until three centuries ago. The dodo took its name from the Portuguese word for simpton, notes the National Geographic Society. It could neither fly, fight, nor run away, and proved to be easy prey for sailors and dogs.

Icebergs are not all frosty white as is commonly believed. Scattered through most of them are strata of deep-blue ice of varying widths.

LOOKING AHEAD
A week from Tuesday (November 22nd) a VERY IMPORTANT meeting of the Official Board will take place. All members are urged to be present.
A letter will be forthcoming to the parish concerning voluntary work to be done in the complete re-decoration of the up-stairs Sunday School rooms. Already over 15 men have volunteered to aid. Our busiest men in the church always find a little more time to help. Let us have so many that the pastor will not know what to do with them all. Such a problem would make him a very happy man.
Attendance at morning worship is increasing. Are you one who has helped to make it so?

COMETS GOT THEIR NAME
From the winding Maeander River of western Asia Minor came the useful verb that describes what all rivers do - meander.

The wild pigs found on some Bahama Islands are not strictly land-based animals, like the domesticated swine in the United States. They often go to sea as well. They swim from island to island in search of food or to escape the dogs of hunters or natives, says the National Geographic Society.

Crosswind landing gear, newly developed for airplanes, enables the pilot to land into the wind even when the wind is at an angle to the runway, says Carl Mark with in the National Geographic Magazine, (July, 1949) A castor-like device inside the wheels brings them automatically into line with the runway when they touch the ground.

Comets got their name from their long wispy, or hairy-appearing tails. In Latin the word "coma" means "hair."

Familiar to all residents of Hagerstown, Maryland, is "Little Heiskell," the Hessian soldier weather vane atop the City Hall. Little Heiskell stood guard over the city from 1769 until a Civil War bullet found its way to his wrought-iron heart. Today he has a place of honor in the City Hall's museum, and astride the steeple of the new City Hall is a replica, notes the National Geographic Society.

In Andorra, Europe's fifth smallest country (191 square miles), the sheep outnumber the people almost three to one. The latest official count, notes the National Geographic Society, put the sheep population at 17,000, the human at 5,900.

The United States acquired the Virgin Islands from Denmark for $25,000,000 in 1917. The price for these possessions (area 133 square miles) was three and a half times the amount paid for Alaska (586,400 square miles).

The most important single vegetable in the world as a whole is doubtless the potato, says the

NOTED SPEAKERS WITH
ALICE DIXON BOND

Alice Dixon Bond returns to Winchester for her second "Book Talk" on next Tuesday, November fifteenth. She is bringing two noted guest speakers, Captain Edward Ellsberg, and Miss Marguerite Steen, to introduce to the audience.

Miss Bond reviewed Captain Ellsberg's latest book "No Banners, No Bugles" in her last "Book Talk", so it will be of great interest to the audience to meet this famous salvage engineer and naval officer and to hear something of his exciting adventures. Captain Ellsberg has won many awards such as the Navy's Distinguished Service Medal, The Legion of Merit, the Gold Star. There was a special Act of Congress in 1926 commending him on his salvage of the two submarines S51 and S54. His salvage of sunken ships during the last war in the Red Sea and off the coast of Africa was of invaluable aid to the allies. Yet during his busy adventurous life he has still found time to become a noted author, interpreting to the public the heroes of undersea salvage work. Some of his well known novels are "Thirty Fathoms Deep", "Under the Red Sea", and "Men Against the Sea".

It is also with great interest that this audience will greet the English authoress, Marguerite Steen, whose book "The Sun is My Undoing" is so well known. Miss Steen is also a voluminous writer. Here most recent book, "Twilight on the Hoods" is a continuation of the melodramatic story of the Matthew Hood family so well started in 1941 in the book, "The Sun is My Undoing".

FOUNDERS DAY
MT. HOLYOKE COLLEGE

An unusually fine Founders Day program was put on at Mount Holyoke College this year on November 3-6 to celebrate the laying of the cornerstone of the new Physical Education building. Ralph J. Bunche, United Nations Mediator in Palestine, and Dr. Herbert Gozork of Andover Newton Theological school were two of the noted speakers. There was a symposium where the educated woman's place in relation to the community and the family was discussed.

Another attraction was Martha Graham's dance recital. Four members of the Winchester Mount Holyoke Club attended the Founders Day program. They were Mrs. Gerald Barrett, Mrs. William Kugler, Mrs. Charles Green and Mrs. Frederick Withington.

VILLAGE FAIR NOVEMBER 16

Christmas in November is a wonderfully fine time to think of holiday wrappings and ties. Each year the paper table at the annual fair of the First Congregational Church is gala and gay to see, for its display of the newest and finest in all kinds of papers is very worth while seeing. Do this part of your holiday shopping early and cross it off that list.

WINCHESTER HIGH SCHOOL BAND, FRED FELMET DIRECTOR

BAND CAPERS

At the high school football games recently Director Fred Felmet has been varying his musicians' usual between-the-halves activity with a couple of amusing skits which have been quite popular with the crowds.

The first is a school-house scene, in which the band formation is that of a school-room. Comedy action is provided by Cheer-leader Joan Wolsey as the teacher meting out discipline to one of the drummers for over-exuberance with his drumming during the otherwise melodious performance of the old tune, "School Days", for which Joan beats time with her long pointer.

Last Saturday, at the Belmont game, the band varied this skit with another, in which one of the sousaphone players suddenly fell out of formation and to the ground with what appeared to be a leg injury.

Immediately there was action as the drum-major waved frantically to the side-lines! A gal dashed on to the field with a bucket and sponge, and arriving at the side of the prone bass player commenced vigorously to clean his boots. Meanwhile back on the sidelines a diminutive cornet player commenced to dash up and down in the usual warmup activity, playing a few notes at each end of his run.

As the stricken sousaphone player was assisted off the field the little cornet player sprinted onto the field full of "derring-do". The fallen warrior's coat was draped upon the little fellow's frame, reaching nearly to his knees and he was finally inserted into the crook of the huge sousaphone, staggering along with the big instrument as the band marched off the field.

The crowd got quite a kick out of the maneuver and we are only sorry that our friend and brother in the bonds, "Mack" of the Woburn Times, wasn't on hand to see it, especially since the band rendered his favorite, "McNamara's Band" as they marched on the field for their stunt.

The big Belmont High band also put on a specialty, "My Grandfather's Clock", the musicians forming a huge clock with numerals and the cheerleaders and drum-majorettes serving as the hands and pendulum.

left the hall, and many asked questions of Chief Harrold at the conclusion of his address.

He prefaced his remarks by telling the Rotarians he expected to say something they would not like, but little exception could be taken to his arguments, even those in reply to questions seeking to show that traffic regulations are too strictly enforced in Winchester.

CONNECTICUT COLLEGE
CLUB

At the meeting of the Boston Connecticut College Club held last week at 40 Commonwealth avenue in Boston Miss Joan Ray of 32 Calumet road was one of the principal speakers. She discussed her European tour from which she returned in September with special emphasis on a month of volunteer work in a French camp at Wesley Lur Vidame. She also included her impressions of Italy, England and the Swiss Alps. At the coffee hour which followed porters were Mrs. Alfred Willmann of Belmont and Miss Louise Browne of Winchester.

Mrs. George H. Morse of Euclid avenue is spending the holiday and week end in New York City.

HOME FROM WESTERN TRIP

Mrs. Harold Blanchard returned last week from a western trip which she took in her capacity as national president of the Connecticut College Alumnae Association. She was honor guest at luncheons in Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, Cleveland and Indianapolis given by the Alumnae Clubs of those cities.

Mrs. Blanchard, who is author of the new and popular book, "How to Paint Trays", was interviewed by the Milwaukee Journal, the Detroit Free Press and the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and spent much of her spare time while on the trip in the various book shops autographing her book.

Mary Spaulding's Bookshop is planning a special display of the book next week, autographed for Christmas giving.

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Leland Donald Cole, 247 Washington street, and Barbara Holbrook Bonnell, 10 Fells road. John Patrick Davey, 20 Grant street, Stoneham, and Virginia Chambers Wright, 132 Washington street.

Arthur P. Wilcox, president of the Boston Real Estate Board, has appointed Edward G. Stacy, local Realtor, to membership on two important committees of the Real Estate Board, namely the Realtor Promotion Committee and the Committee on Publicity and Public Relations.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

You should have seen Pat Foley in his overalls, and Charlie Murphy, Harry Cheffalo, Joe Moffett, Ralph Bonnell, Ralph Partridge, Mal Bennett had a carpenter's apron. So did Bill Hevey and John Wallace. You could go on forever, but that's the way they showed up for the regular Rotary Meeting, which was called to order at 12:15 P. M. Thursday, November 3, 1949, by brick mover, third class, Charlie Murphy. These working clothes are a bit unusual, but the motive was also unusual, for after the meeting the members journeyed up to the Girl Scout cabin and put in a full afternoon of work.

The meeting itself was unusual, flash bulbs going off all over the place, while a visiting Rotarian from Hollywood, Cecil B. DeBenson, ran off about a thousand feet of film. These Winchester Rotarians must be handsome "hunks of men." Always being photographed.

District Governor Fred Pierce of Beverly gave an inspiring talk, bringing to light many facts regarding Rotary, its principles, and its objects, its membership of over half a million men, embracing 8900 clubs in 87 different countries throughout this troubled world, and all members working for the purpose of knowing their fellow members better, understanding and sympathizing better, working out problems better.

It is this working, understanding, and unselfish devotion which keeps rotary nourished and ever expanding.

An oil painting of "The Old Grist Mill" at Kennebunkport, Maine, by Mrs. Earle F. Spencer of Yale street Winchester and Kennebunkport, was one of a number selected by Mr. Roger Deering and members of his committee to be hung in the suite of rooms at Porteous Mitchell and Braun, Portland's largest department store, during National Art Week in Maine, from November 1-7. Mr. Deering, well known artist and teacher in Portland and Kennebunkport was again State chairman for this observance as he has been for a number of years. He has been highly praised for the skillful and pleasant manner in which he and his committee handled the exhibition. The theme for this year's observance was "Art To Live With".

Ann Mathewson is President of the Athletic Association at Lasell Junior College in Auburndale, where she is a member of the senior class. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Mathewson of 18 Glen road, she is a student in the retail training course and a member of the modern dance club.

THANKSGIVING PLANS FOR FOREIGN STUDENTS

With Thanksgiving only two weeks away a number of Winchester families are thinking of sharing their own Thanksgiving with some of the fine young foreign students at College in Greater Boston. About 25 were entertained in Winchester last year, and it is a splendid opportunity to get acquainted with and to give a picture of American family life on a feast day to a young man or woman far from their own home. It is a fine time to practice our desire for International Understanding and Friendship, and to do something concrete for Mr. Pandit Nehru! Let us see that all the students from other countries have American Hospitality on Thanksgiving day.

Call your local representative in your church group for further details, or Mrs. Walter W. Winslip, the Winchester Chairman for the International Student Association Winchester 6-1228-M.

Last month in the church list the Unitarian Church representative was unfortunately omitted. It is Mrs. Jost Michelsen. Methodist Church - Mrs. Milton Galucia. Congregational Church - Mrs. Edmund Fuller. Episcopal - Mrs. Harrison Rainie. First Baptist - Miss Hulda Ekdahl. Catholic Daughters of America - Mrs. William Notemeyer. Christian Science - Mrs. Langley Keyes.

SALVATION ARMY QUOTA

District 1 in the metropolitan division of The Salvation Army Friendly Appeal has reached its quota of $18,000, according to an announcement by Chairman Herbert O. Alderson of Arlington.

Of the six cities and towns included in the district Arlington, Bedford, Lexington and Woburn have recorded quota-breaking performances with Burlington and Winchester moving closer to their goals of $700 and $650, respectively, Mr. Alderson said.

He added that the metropolitan division, composed of 46 cities and towns, has only seven per cent to go toward its $130,000 quota.

A general picture of The Salvation Army's 1949-1950 Greater Boston Appeal showed that less than 11 per cent was needed to meet the $457,000 goal with solicitations not completed, Mr. Alderson pointed out.

Giving impetus to the Friendly Appeal was a gift of $15,000 last week by J. Willard Hayden, president of the Charles Hayden Foundation.

That the 1949-1950 Greater Boston Appeal would meet its quota was voiced by Colonel William H. Fox, provincial commander of the organization in New England, who said that "we can be assured that the drive will go over the top."

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

On November 14 - Guest Night, at eight o'clock at Masonic Hall, The Fortnightly, presents - Mr. Charles Forrester, "The Answer Man". His subject will be "Radio's Influence in American Homes."

Mr. Forrester presents a lucid and revealing discussion on what radio is doing to give the public what it wants, and how the radio public reacts to what it is getting. Interwoven with bits of radio anecdotes and humor, which makes his topic all the more poignant, Mr. Forrester offers a most interesting and thorough analysis of an often misinterpreted subject.

Guest of Honor will be Mrs. A. Chestley York, State President. Co-operation with War Veterans

Our very able Co-chairman, Mrs. Mary Gilbody, and her committee have done a splendid piece of work to help our boys in the Bedford Veterans hospital.

In August the Chairman gave a Silver Tea - at her home - and a goodly sum of money was realized. This money was used for the purchase of materials for comfort bags for the boys, containing many things to bring a bit of cheer, such as stationery, stamps, cards and many useful articles of a personal nature, stockings, handkerchiefs, tooth brushes, tooth paste, etc.

In October Mrs. Gilbody gave a Tea at her home for Mrs. Ednah Miller, who for many years carried on this wonderful work. Mrs. Miller has left Winchester to make her home in Florida. At this time the bags were filled and wrapped ready for the Christmas season.

This was not all. Mrs. Gilbody and her committee felt that something should be done for the women patients at the new hospital

The committee visited the hospital and found the women could use toilet articles, cards and other more personal things, all of which were supplied.

Literature Committee

The first full meeting of the literature group was held Monday afternoon at two o'clock in the public library, with the chairman, Miss Gertrude M. Hall presiding. "Washington Irving", was the subject presented to an interested audience by Mrs. Theodore A. Disell and Miss Caroline V. Everett. Irving will always occupy an important place in our literary history. He did not break away from the English style of writing and he had a strong affection for English traditions, customs, and places, but although he spent many years in Europe (and was made ambassador to Spain in middle life), he was a purely representative American at heart. Walter Scott whom he visited was most appreciative of his work and Irving's letters reveal his enjoyment of this friendship.

Most notable of his works are the famous "Knickerbocker History", a humorous account of the settlement of Manhattan as seen by the fictitious Diedrich Knickerbocker, the amusing tales of the Hudson River country, and the excellent essays of the "Sketch Book." The three biographies of Washington, Columbus, and Goldsmith are of less literary or historical value. Irving's fame rests mainly on the picturesque short stories in which he captured the mood and atmosphere of local American life and which entitle him to a deservedly foremost place in early American literary history. With him our truly American literature actually began.

PARKHURST SECOND GRADE
TEA

Mrs. Herbert Black of 7 Seneca road entertained Miss Constance Savard, teacher of the second grade of Lewis Parkhurst School and the mothers of the second grade children at Tea on Wednesday, November 2nd.

Miss Savard talked with the mothers showing several papers of drawings by the children. At tea the mothers talked of their individual problems which Miss Savard answered informally and constructively. A most satisfying and enjoyable afternoon was had by the mothers and teacher alike.

LOCAL ARTISTS AT CHURCH
BAZAAR

Even though the day was rainy and dull, the Bazaar at the Episcopal Parish House, November fourth, was colorful, gay and most successful. The well-timed Artists' Bazaar under the able direction of Mrs. E. Phillips Walker, assisted by her co-chairman, Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker, exhibited many beautiful paintings. Among the local artists represented were Mrs. Frederick Aseltine, Mrs. Harold Bowman, Mrs. Gerald Curtis, Mr. Harold Bowman, Miss Ethel Davis, Mrs. Maxwell Fish, Mrs. Paul Howard, Miss Pamela Johnson, Mrs. John W. Page, Mrs. Charles Underwood, Mrs. E. Phillips Walker. Many of the paintings were loaned and others were sold. Through the tireless efforts of the many "table" chairmen and their industrious workers an extremely interesting array of articles were sold, games were played and although the final financial report is not complete as yet, the indications are that it certainly was well worth the effort.

There's Music in the Air and it's coming to NEW ENGLAND

It isn't classical, it isn't popular, it isn't be-bop. It won't even be heard, generally, by the public. But it is a very real part of the new operator-dialing system of placing long distance telephone calls. A part that will help complete most long distance calls in an average of less than a minute - two or three times as fast as at present.

In the Telephone Company's new Franklin Street building in Boston, and in many other New England telephone exchanges, "Long Distance" will make an important change this month in her method of handling calls. She will begin to "dial" calls straight through to distant telephones without the assistance of other operators along the route. The "dialing," which is done by means of keys, produces musical tones. Different combinations of these tones represent numbers, and take the place of the operator's voice.

The operators' keys are, of course, only a tiny part of a very complicated electronic system developed by the Bell Telephone Laboratories and manufactured by the Western Electric Company. It has been installed by our own technicians in complex arrangements of switches and relays through many floors of the new Long Distance building. It will provide the fastest long distance service that New England has ever known.

COMING SOON at the New Long Distance Building . . . 185 Franklin Street, Boston

A special exhibit, "Looking Ahead With The Bell System", containing working models of operator-dialing equipment, the radio-relay system for transmitting network television, and other marvels of modern telephony.

SPECIAL AFTERNOON JOHNSON LECTURE FOR CHILDREN TUESDAY, NOV. 22

A special afternoon performance of "Yankee's Wander-World" by Commander Irving Johnson will be given on Tuesday afternoon, November 22, at 3:45 in the Winchester High School auditorium for school children and also those parents who may wish to accompany them. The unprecedented demand for tickets for the evening performance is far greater than the seating capacity of the auditorium will allow; hence the decision to have two performances to accommodate all those desirous of attending. An appeal has gone out today to all parents supporting this benefit to exchange, wherever possible, any evening $1.20 tickets which had been purchased for children to 75c afternoon tickets. Refunds and exchange of tickets will be made at Filene's on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, November 15, 16, and 17 from 9:30 A. M. to 4:30 P. M., and during Friday evening, November 18, from 7:00 to 9:00 P. M.

Both performances will benefit the Winchester Scholarship Foundation which was organized in 1945. The object of the Foundation was to merge all scholarship groups into one, and to interest new donors, so that scholarships which had been heretofore given by scattered groups, might be awarded by one consolidated group working as a community organization. Trustees were elected to administer the funds, a Scholarship Committee chosen to select the recipients of scholarships, and each organization in Winchester was invited to join, representatives of those organizations contributing being made members of the General Committee. Because of the fine work of the Scholarship Foundation many Winchester High School graduates are assured of financial assistance for further education. To continue its work the Foundation needs the support of the entire community. Your presence at the Winchester Mothers' Association benefit insures that support. Mrs. Henry Dellicker and Mrs. Francis Millet have completed program arrangements, and Mrs. Richard Bolster and Mrs. Philip Worth are handling ticket details.

TOWN HAS NEW LEAF CLEANER

Town Engineer Parker Holbrook put in operation last week the town's new Leaf and Litter Collection Unit, a sort of oversized vacuum cleaner arrangement that sucks up leaves and litter from the streets, grinds up the collection and blows it into a big storage box.

The new unit, purchased at a cost of $3900 with funds left over from the appropriation for snow cleaning equipment, does a slick job of cleaning streets of leaves, and the ground-up leaves make excellent compost, at present being taken for use in Wildwood Cemetery. The addition, now, of a street-sweeper would bring the town's highway equipment more nearly up to date.

Despite the prolonged drought this summer the foliage is very heavy this fall and the leaf collector is being put to excellent use.

Town Business

Chairman Edmund C. Sanderson of the Water and Sewer Board, reports that the reservoirs are abnormally, but not as yet dangerously low, being down about six feet. What rain we are getting is soaking directly into the ground and doing practically nothing to raise the level of the reservoirs. A lot of snow is going to be needed this winter to raise them materially.

The Water Department has finished laying water and sewer pipes on Franklin and Cranston roads, completing all the streets on the east side of town. There now remains only small work to be done. Highway Department crews are building Town Way at present and also installing sidewalks on North Gateway, having finished that road the middle of October. Canterbury road was completed during the middle of September.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

When the town's newspaper writes a fine editorial on Girl Scouts (as we read in the Star last week) it makes the entire Council feel inspired to do more and better Scouting!

We wish that all of the troops could have squeezed into the Legion Hall last Thursday to help celebrate International Friendship Day! Troop Six, with its leader, Mrs. Roy Titilash, was hostess of the event, and all the other grade troops as their guests. Through Mrs. Walter Winship, Mrs. Titilash secured three girls from the International Students Center in Cambridge . . . where Mrs. Johnson is chairman of Hospitality and works with all community chairmen.

When we were assembled, Mrs. Metcalf opened the meeting with the flag ceremony, after which Mrs. Titilash introduced Mrs. Winship, who explained how the International Students Center tries to make all students from other countries feel welcome to this country and to help them understand our ways. Mrs. Winship then introduced Mrs. Johnson, who, in turn, introduced each of the girls. We were charmed with petite Mrs. Alphonse Blondel from Belgium . . . her frankness was refreshing! Miss Liu, from near Nanking spoke of her work with boys and girls in China. Although she herself is not a Scout, she knew many of them and told how they looked and acted and were of great service. Our own girls looked a bit surprised when she mentioned that every girl in a troop had her hair cut short, with bangs, and looked like every other girl in the troop!

There was a hush when little Miss Huang (here only two months) said in her soft voice "Dear Friends . . ." and in a few words told what her work here was and how long she had been here. . . and then said it all over again in Chinese!

Afterwards, the girls clustered about each guest for autographs, addresses of troops, and just the chance of seeing how they made the characters in Chinese writing. It was thrilling to see such enthusiasm, interest and just plain friendliness; and all of us are grateful to Troop Six and Mrs. Titilash for such a wonderful afternoon . . . and to the American Legion for so graciously opening their hall for this meeting. We are indeed making new friends, as well as keeping the old!

The following girls will have a different chance to make new friends, for they are recipients of letters from the Council saying they are eligible to make the trip to England . . .

Barbara Macaulay
Arlene Weaver
Virginia Dyer
Shirley Cary
Louise Kugler
Franceline Cullen
Betty Ann Parker
Virginia Bullard

Dorothy Parker

The following are the lucky ones anticipating the trip to the Conference in Milwaukee next week: Mrs. W. B. Hersey, Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, Mrs. G. D. Curtis, Mrs.

George Cary, Commissioner, and our Executive Director, Mrs. Barbara Metcalf! Have fun, girls, and be sure to bring back loads of new ideas for better Scouting.

The first meeting of the Dry Ski School will be held in the "Pine Grove" near the new Cabin on November 19th, and all 9th grade girls and up are eligible . . . beginner or more advanced! Mrs. Francis Parsons will be there to check your equipment and advise you of needs or changes (then you may tell Santa what you want). Mr. Harry Pollard of Reading and the Black and Blue Trail Smashers will again instruct the girls, and we are most grateful to him. The Dry Ski School enables all who attend to become accustomed to skis and techniques before snow flies . . . and save time when more advanced instruction can be given on ski trips. Any Senior Scout who plans to go on any of the exciting ski week-ends this winter and who has not already gone on one of these trips in past years, must attend two of the 3 Dry Ski School classes being held Saturday, November 19th at 10 A. M., November 26th and December 3 at same time, same place.

"DEMOCRACY IS THE LINE"

"The fundamentals of Democracy can certainly be taught," declared Henry W. Holmes, Professor of Education, Emeritus, at Harvard University, speaking to the College Club and friends at its Fall Meeting last week. Professor Holmes told about the problems and plans of the Civic Education Project in Cambridge of which he is the Co-Director. This project is endeavoring to find additional material and resources for teachers in the Junior and Senior High schools to use in sharpening the class rooms' discussions of the problems of democratic living. The material, Professor Holmes told the group, will take the form of twenty to twenty-five pamphlets which he hopes will be available by June 1951. These pamphlets will cover discussion of democracy not only on the political but also on the social and economic levels and a listing of some of the suggested subjects displayed a wealth of interesting ideas: Challenge of Communism, Constitution Building, Development of the Bill of Rights, Politicians are Human, Collective Bargaining, Development of Capitalism to Meet Needs, Conservation, Minority Groups, What Prejudice Does to People, and Sources of Public Opinion.

In arriving at these practical aids to producing "better civic behavior", Professor Holmes outlined a simplified definition of Marxian Communism, and then developed in opposition to this some definitions of Democracy quoting as one E. B. White's superb lines from the New Yorker which begin, "Democracy is the line which forms on the right . . ." All men, Professor Holmes felt, might well agree that freedom, fairness, and friendliness were basic to a democratic way of life.

Mrs. Stanley Ballard, Program Chairman, presented Professor Holmes, and Mrs. Norman Padelford, President of the College Club, presided at the meeting which followed an after dinner coffee hour arranged by Mrs. George Makechnie Hospitality Chairman, a group of Radcliffe alumnae served as hostesses.

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Laurence Metcalf Symmes.
Investment Banker
Born: November 11, 1886 at Winchester, Mass

The career of Laurence Metcalf Symmes may be described as one of steady advancement to a position of leadership in financial circles. The son of Samuel S. and Jennie E. (Metcalf) Symmes, he attended Dartmouth College, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1908, and thereupon entered the employ of P. W. Brooks and Company, investment bankers of New York City, with whom he since has been identified.

Promotion within the ranks of the organization was rapid, for he was elected vice-president in 1914, a member of its board of directors in 1921, treasurer in 1923, all of which offices he since has held. In addition, he has been president and director of General American Securities, Inc. during the past twenty years.

Mr. Symmes' non-business activities are particularly noteworthy and deserving of mention. Thus, he served as director of the American Unitarian Association from 1933 to 1937, was a member of the Board of Regents, Long Island Hospital from 1926 to 1934, has been treasurer of the First Unitarian Church of Brooklyn, N. Y., and is treasurer and trustee of the Hackley School, Tarrytown, N. Y.

Married to Dorothy Boerick in 1912 and the father of three children, Mr. Symmes makes his home in Scarsdale, N. Y. Incidentally, his son Laurence M., Jr., is also a graduate of Dartmouth College, class of 1938, and his daughter Jean B. is a graduate of Vassar College, 1940; and both of them, as brilliant students, were elected to their respective chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic society.

Captain Jack W. Streeton of 55r Bacon street, a prominent member of the Winchester Boat Club, has been promoted to associate professor in Military Science and Tactics at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

WINCHESTER ELKS NEWS

Attention is focused on the coming Turkey Whist Party to be held on Friday, November 18, at the Noonan School where at least twenty-five turkeys will be given away. The committee is working hard but of course their effort will be of no avail if they don't have the full support of Elks and their friends.

In the most recent report of the Grand Exalted Ruler it is interesting to note that the total membership in our order is close to the million mark, which is evidence that the Elks as an organization continues to grow. If the million mark is reached this year it will be a 10% increase in total membership. It would be a very appreciable goal if our lodge were to increase in a like percentage. Have you signed up a new member?

The tournament is continuing and many members are enjoying the card games, etc. Steward of the committee Al McKenzie is certainly doing a great job and everyone seems quite satisfied.

The District Deputy has announced the following visitation changes; Everett, Tuesday, November 22, during their home coming week and Boston on Thursday, December 1, at their new quarters.

The blood committee through its chairman P. E. R. Joseph B. Peel would take this opportunity to publicly thank the Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross for its generous co-operation when the Local chapter was able to replenish the blood requirement necessitated because of the amount used by one of our brothers.

WINCHESTER HOME AND GARDEN CLUB

There was a record attendance at the lecture and tea in the Social Hall of the Baptist Church for the October meeting when Mr. Jesse Buffum, the well-known WEEI commentator and Agricultural Director for New England, delighted the members and guests with very beautiful and artistic scenes of the Hawaiian Islands and their peoples at work and play, with interesting and clever remarks and descriptions.

On Wednesday, November 16 the Winchester Home and Garden Club is having a timely and practical lecture in the Art Room of the Library by the popular and charming Mrs. Guy Montrose Whipple of Marblehead, who will have many exhibits in her "Helpful Hints for Making Thanksgiving and Christmas Decorations." This will be a fine preparation for making our own holiday favors and decorations at the Christmas Greens Workshop next month.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

Open-pit iron mines such as those of Minnesota's long abundant Mesabi Range have been a great asset to the nation because output could be expanded by putting more shovels to work. The flow of ore from three Minnesota ranges reached a high of 75 million tons in 1942 in response to World War II demands, the National Geographic Society notes.

Botanists have found more species of native trees in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, on the North Carolina-Tennessee border, than in all Europe.

Wind as well as Arctic cold makes the north a savage land. A wind of only ten miles an hour at a temperature of 40 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, can freeze exposed human tissue in one minute, says the National Geographic Society.

Begging is considered a perfectly legitimate occupation in China. The country even has a Beggars Guild with thousands of members.

The Rio Grande River, forming the U. S.-Mexico border from El Paso, Texas, to the Gulf of Mexico, has been known to change its course so quickly that farmers who thought they lived in Mexico woke up to find themselves in Texas, or vice-versa, notes the National Geographic Society.

The island of Cyprus is the source of a metal and its name — copper.

Ascalon, ancient Palestine port, shipped onions in Mediterranean trade and gave its name to the scallion.

More than thirteen hundred times bigger than the earth in mass, Jupiter is the largest planet moving around the sun. It completes its orbit only once every twelve years.

Pittsburgh's six funiculars, or mountain-climbing railways, locally known as "inclines," carry more than two million fares annually. The cars are drawn up and lowered by cable, notes the National Geographic Society, one being lowered as the other is raised.

The longest barrier reef in the world, points out the National Geographic Society, is the Great Barrier Reef of Australia. It parallels the eastern shore of that continent for more than 1,200 miles.

A largely attended reception followed the ceremony at the Winchester Country Club, which was attractively decorated with fall shades of chrysanthemums and autumn foliage.

The bride is a graduate of Curry College and the groom of Borden-town Military Institute and Nichols College. They are spending a honeymoon in Canada and on their return will reside in Salem.

FORMER RESIDENT SUE FOR $200,775

Publicity was given this week of the suit by the Internal Revenue Bureau against Mrs. Mildred Clarke now a resident of Saugus and formerly of 36 Everett avenue this town. The contention by the Government is that Mr. Ernest H. Clarke, who died October 1, 1947, transferred funds to Mrs. Clarke in anticipation of death. The case is being heard before Judge Bolon B. Turner of the United States Tax Court in the Federal Building, Boston.

The Clarkes made their home in Winchester for about two years until Mr. Clarke's death. It is contended that he owed the Government $325,917 in taxes plus interest. The Government contends that Mrs. Clarke owes the sum given her by her husband before his death.

WINCHESTER AND WOBURN AWAIT HOLIDAY WHISTLE

Tanners Tough Foe Despite Record

Winchester and Woburn play their annual Thanksgiving Day football game at Manchester Field this year, and despite the fact that neither take an unblemished record into the lists, no one will stay at home. A large number of seats are available in fact the largest we have ever had. This is the game that makes the season for both schools, and a win will take a lot of the sting out of earlier season defeats.

What are the chances of Winchester winning? Of Woburn going home with a victory? If you try to figure things, you'll find Winchester and Woburn have played about the same sort of schedule, meeting four teams in common with the others about evening up. Winchester has won six and lost three. The Tanners have won three and lost six, if you count that abbreviated Hudson game which Woburn lost 7-0 at a pre-season jamboree. It might be fairer to throw that one out, making the Orange record three and five on the debit side.

Including the Hudson thing Woburn has scored 95 points and yielded 106. In nine games Winchester has rolled up 165 points to 121 points for the opposition. If you still like arithmetic these figures show Winchester scoring 70 points more than Woburn against the same sort of opposition and yielding 15 points more to the teams played. On the record, at least, Winchester has been nearly 12 touchdowns better than Woburn offensively, with the Tanners having a little better than two-touchdown defensive edge.

Winchester and Woburn have both played Watertown, Stoneham, Reading and Wakefield. Both lost to Watertown, Winchester, 13-37; and Woburn, 0-20. The Tanners did the better against the Arsenal boys, holding them scoreless the first half, but in this connection don't overlook the fact that Winchester was able to score twice against Watertown. The Scarlet had a 20 point advantage over the Orange and a 24 point advantage over the Red and Black.

REPORT FROM BUILDING COMMITTEE

The Winchester High School and Enlarged Junior High School Building Committee announces that it has procured the services of a consulting architect to aid it in the study of suggested additions to the present schools and the possibility of a new school building on another location. After interviewing a number of architects, including those who have previously done work for the town, and all whose names were suggested to the committee, the firm of Kilham, Hopkins, Greeley and Brodie was retained. This firm designed the Wyman School in Winchester, and has recently completed or is presently engaged in work on schools in Brookline, Lowell, Marblehead, Marshfield, Natick and Wellesley. In connection with its work for the Winchester Building Committee, it will have associated with it the firm of Adams, Howard and Greeley, consultants on Town Planning.

Last week the Committee met with Mr. John Marshall, Administrator of the Massachusetts School Building Assistance Commission, who explained the requirements for a construction grant from the Commonwealth. With this and other data collected to date, and with the aid of the architect, the Committee is entering the planning stage of its work, with the view of making specific recommendations to the Annual Town Meeting.

DROWNED IN RIVER

Syracuse Youth Ended Life in Aberjona

Herbert Sklad, a student living in Syracuse and attending Syracuse University, committed suicide in the Aberjona River during Thursday night. His body was found about eight o'clock on the morning of the holiday by Mr. James Moran of 969 Main street while on his way to work at the residence of Mr. Daniel R. Beggs on Bacon street.

Mr. Moran, an ardent fisherman, was crossing the Parkway bridge just below the Wedgemere station when he noticed a wallet on the footpath. Inside was a small sum of money and Sklad's name and address. Looking along the river bank Mr. Moran discovered the body. He notified the Metropolitan police officer patrolling the section.

Further investigation disclosed a note written on the back of an envelope indicating that the young man took his own life. He and his mother had visited Boston and called on a West Medford family Thursday night. They had attended a Boston theater later and the youth saw his mother off on a Syracuse train. He later left a note at the West Medford home and apparently walked to the bridge and into the river.

The body was found in 18 inches of water and in the medical examiner's opinion had been in the water only a short time before it was found.

RED CROSS BLOOD DONOR DAY, DECEMBER 2

On Friday, December 2, from 12:45 to 7 p. m. at the First Congregational Church, Parish House, Winchester will hold "Blood Donor Day."

The day is a red letter one for the town, for the Winchester Chapter, American Red Cross, seeks to obtain on that day at least 100 pints of blood for its citizens - blood which in turn will be used to give healing and perhaps life itself to others here in town. From a single pint of blood donated, different fractions can be obtained to serve 20 people. It is the great and unselfish gift that one human being can give to another - it means that the man or woman receiving it has a chance for life.

It is impossible to estimate the number of people here in Winchester who have received Red Cross blood, in our own hospital, in hospitals in other areas. And impossible, too, to estimate just how much these pints of blood would have cost, had the recipient paid a professional blood donor for the assistance. But Red Cross Blood costs the beneficiary nothing, except the small administering charges at the hospital. One can easily imagine the peace of mind of the patient, knowing that the Red Cross came through with the needed blood, instead of the worry of fifty, one hundred, or more dollars in blood donors added to the bill. But the Red Cross blood, freely given to help a human being, is the gift of a neighbor - a personal gift. And oftentimes, the gift comes back to help one's very own family!

To make sure your gift of blood counts where it will do the most good - call the Red Cross Chapter, Winchester 6-2300, or Mrs. James Coon, Winchester 6-1287-M, for an appointment on December 2. It will make a Christmas gift from you, to someone in great need.

REPORT ON GIRL SCOUT CABIN

As the Girl Scout Cabin nears completion the girl scout committee wishes to take this opportunity to thank all the people who have so generously given either their time or material or both. There were so many that never received either public or private recognition for their generosity that the committee wishes to do so now. It has been a real community project in every sense of the word and the town should be well proud that there are so many community-minded citizens to take on and complete such an ambitious task. The committee also wishes to acknowledge at this time the large amount of space contributed throughout this building period by the Star.

There is to be a formal dedication on Sunday, December 4th of the cabin so all those who worked on it in any capacity please reserve the date.

SENIOR FORUM SPLASH PARTY

The Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church went over to the Somerville "Y" on a Splash Party last Thursday, November 10. This was the first of two splash parties we are going to hold this year.

It was a very wet and colorful affair. There were about fifty young people who attended. We arrived about 8:15 and played pool, ping pong, and checkers for about thirty minutes. After which we went down to the gym with some idea of dancing (that is what the girls thought anyway). But some of us had other ideas. We quickly started two games of basketball. We experienced some very good shooting from Peter Coon and "Buzzy" Bird. After playing basketball until 9:30 we went in swimming.

A riotous time was had by all in the fine pool. Between ducking, pushing, splashing, diving, and of course swimming, everyone seemed to be well entertained, including Mr. and Mrs. Rush, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron, and Mrs. Tarr, who ventured on this journey with us. At this time we wish to thank the adults who aided us with transportation. After swimming there was dancing in the gym. Then we departed for home with our minds on the wonderful time we had just had.

YOUTH THANKSGIVING SERVICE AT RIPLEY CHAPEL

The young people will join with the children of all departments of the Church School in bringing canned goods, non perishable fruits and vegetables to pack for Thanksgiving baskets for needy families in the community.

On Sunday afternoon the members of the Forum Service Committee will pack the food in baskets. Douglas Hawkins is chairman of this committee.

Barnard of 6 Indian Hill road, on Wednesday, November 9th. Mrs. Ames talked to the Mothers of the children's daily schedule, and a happy discussion of the week followed. Mrs. Ames, a new teacher to Winchester, has been well liked by her pupils, and at the tea it was apparent she was well received by the Mothers.

This tea concluded the series given individually for the teachers in Parkhurst School. Each was well attended, and the feeling is that much was gained by the teachers and Mothers alike, and that this custom should be continued in the years to come.

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL NEWS

See What Your Gift Is Doing!

As subscribers to the Winchester Hospital Building Fund, you are now having an opportunity to see architect's sketches of two views of the enlarged and modernized hospital which the year 1950 will make a reality. In the lobby of each of the Winchester banks these sketches are now on display - one an aerial view from the southeast, showing the new wing as well as the existing units, and the other showing the interesting use of a lower ground level for the new kitchens and dining rooms, and service entrance from Valley Road for all supplies.

If we could remove roofs and ceilings from these sketches, we would find below, in the hospital as it will be, many features of really exciting importance. Take, for example, what the future hospital will offer to the New Citizens who begin their lives here. For the use of the babies, the wing built in 1927 will be completely reconstructed, and will be entirely theirs, each baby having nearly the equivalent of the floor space given to each adult patient now housed in this wing. We can take satisfaction in this generous planning; it includes separate nursery units for full-term and premature infants, as well as those who need temporary isolation. The present operating suite on this same floor will be transformed into labor and delivery rooms.

The air conditioning plans of the future hospital include, on the first floor, the new operating suite and the X-ray department, and, on the second floor, the delivery and labor rooms. In addition, there will be extensive provision of forced ventilation for kitchens and store rooms, served by equipment centered in a new blower room.

Another example of what the new hospital will provide is central sterilization and storage of all supplies used in operating rooms and in the care of patients on the floors. This unit will take the space which is now the main hospital kitchen. When transformed, it will have autoclaves large enough to do the sterilizing for an entire day in two operations, replacing the more or less constant use of the four present autoclaves on the floors and giving substantial relief to the operating room autoclave. There will be inter-hospital telephone connection and dumb-waiter service between the central sterilizing unit and all departments - the operating rooms, delivery and labor rooms, and central points for distribution to floors, accident room, laboratory and X-ray department. This unit has been well called the heart of the hospital, and its primary value is easily apparent.

These notes give examples of what lies behind the walls of the sketches of the future Winchester Hospital, which will remove the present strains by providing adequate space and improved equipment. It will give facilities worthy of the staff which has for several years been carrying on under the burden of overcrowding.

The Winchester Lodge Degree Team will go to Wakefield on November 20, where they will initiate a class of 50 to 60 new members into the Wakefield Lodge of the Order Sons of Italy in America.

Plans are being formed early this year for the Christmas Party for the children of the members. The committee requests that all the members cooperate by making their donations early as that will mean that the committee will have a better assortment of toys to pick from when they go shopping.

WINCHESTER AND WOBURN

In the other three games Winchester made the better showing; beating Stoneham, 34-0; and Wakefield, 28-6; while losing to Reading, 7-14. Reading beat Woburn 19-0, and the Tanners beat Stoneham, 26-10, taking luckless, Wakefield, 12-0. Continuing the statistics argument a bit further, Winchester scored 82 points against these four basic teams, while yielding 57. Woburn scored 38 and yielded 49. Winchester's offensive advantage is 44 points, Woburn's defensive edge is eight.

So if you want to pick your team by statistics and comparative scores, pick Winchester! We, however, have seen too many Winchester-Woburn battles to do any such thing. We've seen too many spirited under-dogs beat odds-on favorites in this ancient rivalry to discount the big part played by the breaks of the game and the emotional condition of the clubs as the opening whistle blows.

You can read what you like into the figures. They are there and you can't laugh them off entirely, but this writer does not feel that Winchester has grounds for undue optimism.

Even if the locals play as they did at Wakefield, they will still have a helluva ball game with Woburn, a team with nothing much to lose and everything to win. The Tanners haven't beaten much of anybody, it's true, but they have lost several stubbornly contested games, and they'll be tough Thanksgiving, make no mistake about it. Remember two years ago before you get out your red fire!

Then there is another thing. It's being rumored around that as many as five or six of Coach Knowlton's regulars are on the ragged edge scholastically. The marks come out Friday, and if any such number as that is lost for Thanksgiving, Winchester's chances of winning will be as good as the likelihood for tax-abatement under the Fair Deal.

Following are the season's records for the two teams:

BADMINTON EXHIBITION

Last Thursday evening badminton, as the game should be played, was demonstrated in Winchester when professionals Vaughan Pipes of the Tennis and Sport Den Summer street, Boston, and Dave Drury of Tedesco gave an exhibition in the gym.

We heard the snap of the bird and racket connecting, in contrast to the quiet rallies punctuated by the ping-g-g of 'carries,' usually heard during our evenings of play. We saw variety of shots, accuracy and incredible speed plus spectacular shots which delighted onlookers as the bird was picked up a split second before hitting the floor.

After the exhibition club members, feeling their amateur status keenly by this time, were given lessons by Messrs. Pipes and Drury, who played with and gave help to all who wanted instruction. It was a most instructive evening which we would like to repeat.

In the meantime plans are coming along for the 'D' Tournament to be held in three weeks' time and the League captains - Ed. Williams and Marjorie Moore - are forming their teams for matches which will begin in the near future. Schedules for these games are expected any day now.

The shooting of fire arms in the vicinity of Forest street brought a number of complaints to the police last Saturday. Investigation revealed that the shooting was done by Stoneham boys who had disappeared by the time the police arrived.

Surprising Red and Black Plays Season's Best Ball

Winchester High School's surprising football team played its best ball of the season to beat Wakefield High at Walton Field, Wakefield, on Armistice afternoon, 28-6. Not that beating Wakefield this year is any great feat in itself. It was the way the local boys did it that was praiseworthy. First of all, Winchester acted like it wanted to play football. The locals, with several new faces in the opening lineup, had some fire for a change, running hard, blocking well and generally acting like a football team instead of a bunch of sign-posters and ticket-takers draped in football togs. The same brand of play against Reading and Belmont could have written the results of those games in black, instead of red ink.

Coach Knowlton juggled his lineup for Wakefield and off the performance there, the change seemed all for the better. Walden started at left end instead of Murphy with Kenniston at left tackle instead of big Caputo. Michelsen started at quarterback and played offensively the whole game at that position, with Devlin shifting to wing-back and McGowan again at tail-back. Captain Paul Amico was at full and boys like Errico and Casey saw a lot of service and did very well.

The big change for the better at Wakefield was the choice of plays. Michelsen, as signal-caller, mixed things up well, calling for outside as well as inside plays, and not running Amico four out of five times. Paul did well when he carried the ball, and he's still Winchester's meal ticket, but last Friday Devlin and McGowan were taking care of the tips and cover-charge. Amico didn't have to do it all.

Captain Paul scored Winchester's first touchdown early in the game, after Dave Kenniston had pounced on a loose ball at the Wakefield 14, blasting over from the one. Langdon Smith sure-footed in the extra point from placement, Devlin set up the second touchdown early in the second period on a 37 yard reverse from the Wakefield 38. With the Scarlet massed to stop Amico, Michelsen sent McGowan outside for the touchdown. Smith again converted.

Winchester's third touchdown came just before the half after a sustained drive of better than 70 yards, with McGowan and Devlin reeling off some nice gains. After a running play had been piled up for a two yard loss at the Wakefield 20, Devlin faded and arched a pass to "Stogy" Gilbert, who had entered the game for that one play, and the game-legged wing-back grabbed the ball right at the goal-line and went over with no one even close. Smith once more kicked in the extra point.

The local boys couldn't seem to get hold of the ball much in the third quarter and Wakefield scored its only points in that period, on a 30 yard pass from Sardella to Glynn, after Dulong had set up the play by recovering a Winchester fumble. Bob O'Brien was back there in position to stop the play but committed himself too quickly on the decoy.

Wakefield couldn't convert and to keep its three touchdown margin, Winchester put over another in the final period.

This touchdown came as the result of a sustained drive of 50 yards with Amico breaking through the Wakefield line consistently.

With the ball on the Wakefield three Amico was stopped by the massed Wakefield forwards, only to have McGowan again slip off

TOWN BASKETBALL LEAGUE

The Town Recreation Committee has voted to again sponsor and direct the Town Basketball League under the supervision of Coach Bartlett of the High School faculty.

Since its inception three years ago, this league has been very popular with the recent high school graduates as it offers practically the only opportunity they have to play any basketball after completing their school careers. With such excellent facilities available, more and more boys are engaging in this program and more than offset the loss of the somewhat older boys who find the sport a bit too strenuous for them to continue.

A meeting will be held at the American Legion Home on Monday evening, November 28, at eight o'clock to organize the league for this season. All organizations or groups of boys who wish to enter a team in the league are asked to be represented at this meeting as a schedule will be drawn up and team rosters compiled. All prospective teams are welcome and strongly urged to be represented at this meeting as it is planned to open the league schedule just two weeks later on December 12 and no time can be lost.

During the week past numerous complaints have been made to the police of boys throwing stones and smashing windows. Six windows were reported broken at the Veterans of Foreign Wars building on White street.

HIGH SCHOOL TO PRESENT HMS PINAFORE

Winchester High School choruses of twenty-four boys and twenty-four girls and nine principals, having rehearsed since early in September, will present "H. M. S. Pinafore" at a matinee performance on Thursday afternoon, December 8, and on the following Friday and Saturday evenings.

"H. M. S. Pinafore," representing the combined efforts of the music and dramatic organizations, is directed by Miss Eleanor Antifantis, Director of Vocal Music. Miss Antifantis is being assisted by Miss Helen Carroll, who is teaching the dance steps; Mr. Thomas Morse, directing the speaking parts; and Miss Charlotte LeClair of the Junior High School faculty, assisting with the music. Sophomore Margaret Reed is rehearsal accompanist.

Now in the last weeks of rehearsal, the various parts as they are put together reveal promise of an excellent production. Tickets for all performances will go on sale shortly. Proceeds will be shared by the organizations represented. The music groups hope to be able to acquire choir robes with their share.

LINCOLN SCHOOL FLASHES

A Thanksgiving play entitled "The Pilgrim Story" will be presented by Miss Irene K. Mitchell's entire fifth grade on November 21. The play is an original one written by the students and provides parts for all thirty-six pupils. The mural of the ship Mayflower to be used in the play was painted by the students.

Music is to be under the direction of Frances Amico.

The settings for the four acts of "The Pilgrim Story" are The Elder Brewster's Home in England, aboard the Mayflower, Landing at Plymouth, and the first Thanksgiving.

The students and faculty at the Lincoln School are very proud of their banking record.

Class pictures will be taken in the school in the near future.

Report cards will be issued on Friday, November 18.

THE SINGLE SCHOOL SESSION

Editor of the Star:

After reading a number of letters on the merits and disadvantages of the single session school day, it seems evident that there is a lot of disagreement among parents on this issue. It is understandable that this would exist, for here the personal element enters into the argument. The individual parents have reasons which fit best into their own plan of things, and these reasons run the gamut, from those who want to shift responsibility from the family to the school as much as possible through the various gradations to those who spend all their available time with their children. It is obvious that to ask parents for their opinion will not obtain an objective answer of what is best for the greatest number, but naturally, and rightly so, will obtain an answer of what those parents believe for themselves and their children.

If we turn to the facts in the matter, as they relate to the children's welfare, they would seem to be about as follows:

1. Winchester elementary schools are designed and placed as "neighborhood schools", to serve an area where, with as few exceptions and inequalities as possible, the children can walk to and from school without difficulty; they have no facilities for providing lunches, for adequate storage of large numbers of carried lunches, proper space for eating lunches, for garbage disposal, or adequate washrooms for simple cleanliness in a 30 minute lunch period.

2. Weather creates a hazardous problem at times. After heavy snow falls it is frequently necessary for the children to walk in the streets until sidewalks are plowed and two thirds of our elementary schools have been carefully located on main traffic arteries.

3. Studies have shown that both mental and manual work progressively and rapidly drop in efficiency with continuous sessions; that children benefit and concentrate better with a period of outdoor exercise between sessions. I know of no similar studies on teachers but it has been done on both factory and office workers with a similar result, and since teachers are human beings, (a fact many people seem to forget) it is reasonable to believe that their tension and fatigue must increase and their efficiency and patience decrease when there is no interlude of rest and relaxation.

4. The hot and cold lunch argument runs hot or cold depending on personal beliefs, but there is no question that one of the factors in deficient diets and poor appetites in children (and adults, too for that matter) is the lack of variety and boring sameness of many diets, of which the sandwich lunch, a practical "must" in schools not provided with lunch facilities, is a prime example. The lack of refrigeration further cuts down on the variety available for sandwiches since many foods are unsafe to stand at room temperatures for two or more hours because of contamination and rapid decomposition.

5. The return home between sessions offers the opportunity to the watchful and interested parent to discover wet or faulty clothing, or developing illness that might otherwise go undetected for five or six hours, as well as supervision of cleanliness which is an important health and training factor belonging in the home.

6. That the single session allows 45 minutes more time for outdoor play is an argument given in favor of it. Since the walk home and back at noon averages 20 to 30 minutes healthful outdoor exercise at the most beneficial time, that would leave 15 minutes gained against the disadvantages of a 30 minute lunch period, which even industry and the professions do not recognize as an adequate lunch time.

The School Committee should have all the factual data pro and con on the matter and after weighing these facts, should reach a decision based upon them, which will provide the greatest good for the greatest number of children, (not parents). Leadership and reassurance would have been provided to the parents had the School Committee given their reasons for deciding on the single session when the announcement was made.

It would seem that the traffic hazard in heavy snow storms is the one argument in favor of the single session. Since this exists only for a portion of the children, for short periods, did not exist at all last year and might occur in November or December (due to our New England weather) wouldn't it be rather simply solved by allowing those children for whom it exists, when it exists, to bring their lunches during these short periods, instead of subjecting all the children and teachers to the disadvantages of this system for a set prolonged period?

U. S. NAVY STRESSES IMPORTANCE OF EDUCATION

Editor of the Star:

Last week the writer attended a "School Education Program" put on at the Parlin Junior High School in Everett by the Navy Recruiting Station of Boston. It was an amazing two hour show with the U. S. Naval Air Station of Squantum, Radar School, Navy Bldg., U. S. Naval Shipyard, U. S. Naval Hospital of Chelsea and the Chaplain's Office, 1st Naval District, all participating. The basic theme of each unit was STAY IN SCHOOL.

It may seem a paradox to have a Navy Recruiting Station so dramatically backing this theme, but it is not. Without, at least, a High School diploma, a boy or girl starts life with two strikes against him, or her. This was amply demonstrated during the show - a show which the writer hopes will be put on in Winchester.

The show opened with music by the U. S. Navy Band (all graduates of the U. S. Navy School of Music); then followed demonstrations by the above mentioned units with pupils volunteering as participants. For instance, one boy was put into the Iron Lung; a boy and girl worked the Radar equipment; another demonstrated parachute equipment and the rubber boat used by aviators coming down over water; one girl had an electrocardiograph taken, etc. In every instance the pupils were shown how necessary it is to have a good foundation in Math, Physics, Chemistry and Grammar in order to operate the equipment they had a part in demonstrating. The Marines, in battle dress, brought down the house. The Winchester Military Manpower Committee wishes to add a "Thank you" and "Happy Birthday" on this, the 172nd birthday of our Marine Corps.

Congratulations to Commander N. J. Nicholas, Officer in Charge, U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Boston, and all those who worked with him to put on this most constructive program. Our good friend, Chief De Nino, was M. C. and a big hit.

WATER SUPPLY IN WINCHESTER

Editor of the Star:

There has recently appeared on the front pages of the Boston papers very sad and true statements in regard to the water supply throughout New England.

The Winchester Water Department has kept records for a long time of the rainfall and the effect it has on our reservoirs. In 1939 the records indicated that the supply from the reservoirs would not be adequate in a dry period and it was recommended to the Town that an auxiliary well supply be constructed to take care of an emergency demand that might develop. In 1941 and 1942 a very dry period developed and this auxiliary service carried us over that period.

In 1946 the West Side High Service tank became inadequate for the West High Service and arrangements were made with the Metropolitan District Water Supply to furnish water for that district, saving the Town the cost of a new tank, and the price for water charged was about the same as the cost of pumping to our own tank.

Many people at this time have asked the Water Department about the adequacy of our supply during this extremely dry season. The answer is that between our regular reservoir supply and the auxiliary supplies we have adequate water to the town of Winchester is now a little over 1,000,000 gallons per day. During July we had the largest demand on record - between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 gallons per day. We were able to supply this water so that everyone could have all the water they wanted without any restrictions.

As far as we can determine we will have no more water supply problems. The records kept by our Board enabled us to anticipate this emergency and be ready to meet it. The Finance Committees have been very helpful in assisting us by recommending to the Town the necessary appropriations.

Yours respectfully,
Edmund C. Sanderson, Chairman Water and Sewer Board

THE LIBRARY HELPS

Editor of the Star:

I would like to use your columns to inform my fellow citizens of what a wonderful help the town Library has been to me. My particular fields of interest are photography and arts and crafts, and the information needed to pursue my studies in these fields and many others is provided in the books the Public Library has to offer.

As an example, photographic equipment is very expensive and usually the beginner cannot afford it all, as was my case. However, I obtained a number of expensive and valuable books from the Public Library giving me plans and directions for building my own equipment and thereby I have been saved an expense of well over two hundred dollars.

The Library provides not only the books but also a Research Librarian to aid in their discovery and selection.

I am very grateful that there is such a place in the Town for I don't know how I could have gained what it has given me without it.

Yours very truly,
David Underwood Edgar

DAD'S NIGHT AT GEORGE WASHINGTON SCHOOL

Dad's Night was observed by the George Washington School on Wednesday, November 9th. It being National Education Week, the School held Open House before the meeting from 7 p. m. until 8 p. m. The mothers and fathers availed themselves of this opportunity to talk with their children's teachers and to inspect their work which was on display in attractive folders, on each pupil's desk. The pupils' work was also displayed in other parts of the class room.

Following the Open House period, the mothers and fathers met in the auditorium where Mrs. Paul LaMarche, President of the George Washington Mothers' Association introduced Dr. Forbes Norris, superintendent of the Winchester Schools. He spoke briefly on what is being done to obtain an accurate survey of the future school population in Winchester, and pointed out ways by which parents could assist the census-taker. Following his talk, Mrs. Robert Graham, Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, introduced Fred Foye, Boston Traveler Sports' Columnist of note as guest speaker.

Mr. Foye's presentation of the school boy point of view in local and near-by sports was interesting, as well as educational. At the close of this phase of his talk, which was sprinkled with his rare sense of humor, he called for questions. Those questions dealing with the classification of a school's status in sports, etc., were satisfactorily answered. Those questions of the "Is it true that..." nature were expertly side-stepped by the seasoned columnist.

He showed a series of very fine pictures dealing with:

I. The World Series.
II. Thrills and humor in various sports.

III. The Unusual in sports. It was a very informative as well as interesting program for any parent, and Mr. Foye's charming personality added much to make it a most successful evening.

At the close of the program refreshments were served in the kindergarten room by Mrs. Frank Carver, Chairman of the Social Committee, and her assistants: Mrs. Joseph Cussen, Mrs. James Chaffee, Mrs. George Neville, Mrs. Robert Holland, Mrs. Herbert Fairfield, Mrs. George Hendrich, Mrs. John Kennedy, Mrs. Richard Keppler, Mrs. Francis Parsens, and Mrs. William Watkins.

ROTARY NEWS

Well, Jim McGrath returned from Mexico, but Charlie Murphy took a leave of absence, so Vice-President Wade Grindle called the regular meeting of the Winchester Rotary to order Thursday, November 10, 1949. Wade had things pretty well under control, including the singing, until he turned the meeting over to Vice President in Charge of Literature, Speakers, Luncheons and Hokum, Gene Pollard. It was Gene's duty to introduce the speaker.

Now, the speaker was a very unusual gentleman, and was to speak on a very unusual subject, so Gene was hard put. However, he came out with flying colors, and introduced fellow Rotarian and Town Treasurer, E. Abbott Bradlee, who spoke of the duties and responsibilities of the Town Treasurer and his office.

Abbott gave a fine talk, and an enlightening one, illustrating the many ways and means the Town Treasurer has of stretching the tax dollar. For example, until Abbott took office large sums of town money were deposited in Boston banks; since taking office all town cash has been deposited in Winchester banks. Each year the town has to borrow money for a few months in anticipation of taxes. This, too, for the past two years has been handled through Winchester banks, and at a lower rate of interest than previously paid to Boston banks and presently quoted by them.

Abbott also brought out the fact that there are only eleven tax titles on the Treasurer's books, amounting to approximately $800 in uncollected taxes, the lowest amount in twelve years.

Abbott had high praise for the officers and directors of the local banks for their cooperation in bringing about the conditions referred to, but those present had high praise for Abbott, his dexterity and resourcefulness.

Investigating a break at the Wyman School reported last Monday the police finally came up with a radio, feathers from a school play costume, a football and a few other trifles. The affair was not clear in several aspects, some of the loot being picked up near the entrance to Wildwood Cemetery and the radio being reported in perfect working order. However, upon return of the various articles the teacher in charge stated that she was satisfied with the results.

Because of so many Scout projects and activities being fostered at this time, Mrs. George Cary, the Commissioner, very regretfully has asked Mrs. Ennis' Troop 12 to postpone their Square Dance to a later date.

WINCHESTER CHAPTER, GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The Annual Christmas Bazaar of the Guild of the Infant Saviour will be held in Lyceum Hall, Tuesday, November 29 from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. The hall and tables will be gaily decorated and this promises to be the biggest and finest Bazaar we have yet conducted. The General Chairman of the Bazaar will be Mrs. Chester Powers, President of the Guild.

A delicious luncheon will be served to the public from 11:30 to 2:30 p. m. and reservations for a table will be received by the Guild Members. Many business people take advantage of this opportunity each year. For their benefit the following is the menu for the day: Cold ham, potato salad, cole slaw, hot buttered rolls, coffee and lemon meringue tart.

Mrs. Peter A. Murphy and Mrs. Douglas Wheeler are in charge of this very responsible table.

Mrs. Michael H. Hintlian is Chairman of the Country Store. This table speaks for itself. There are many beautiful and useful articles for sale here just in time for Christmas, and at a very reasonable price.

Mrs. Joseph W. McGargle is in charge of the White Elephant Annex of the Country Store, and many donations already have been made, so that this table should have a very busy day.

Mrs. Talma Greenwood is Chairman of the Swap Shop (Annex to the Country Store) and is being assisted by Mrs. Daniel Doherty as Co-Chairman. From all reports some very fine garments have been collected, many of these are almost new, but probably will be bought very early, so for a wide selection get here when the doors open.

Mrs. Charles Herdly is going to have on sale nylon hosiery, also at the Country Store. These can be purchased at a very reasonable price, and will make excellent Christmas gifts.

Then we have the Christmas Corner Table, which will have a wide selection of electrical appliances and various other articles. This table is to be in charge of Mrs. J. Phillip Bourke, as Chairman and Mrs. Frank K. Gavan, as Co-Chairman.

Mrs. Eugene O'Keefe assisted by Mrs. Frederick L. Patton, will have many fancy aprons for sale. These are always reasonably priced, and make lovely gifts.

Mrs. Robert H. Cavanaugh, assisted by Mrs. John Gorman will be in charge of the Pantry Shelf. This table will have just about everything in the line of food for sale. It is a very popular table and you better get here to select your favorites.

Members are asked to make donations to the tables in the morning so we can have everything in readiness when the doors open at 10 a. m.

COMMANDER IRVING JOHNSON

HERE NEXT TUESDAY

A pre-Thanksgiving note of festivity will be added to the evening performance of Cmdr. Irving Johnson's color film "Yankee" Wander-World" next Tuesday, November 22, when eight lucky people in the audience will be given turkeys, which have been generously donated by the following Winchester merchants: Converse Fruit Co., The Economy, the First National, Lynch's Market, Ward's Market, Richardson's Market, and Harrow's of Reading.

The lecture benefits the Winchester Scholarship Foundation, and is being sponsored by the Winchester Mothers' Association with Mrs. John S. Swift as chairman of the committee in charge.

The same performance will be given especially for children and those adults who wish to attend at 3:45 Tuesday afternoon, and from the interest shown it is expected that capacity audiences will be present to hear and see the fascinating adventures of the brigantine "Yankee." Tickets for the afternoon performance are on sale to night at Filene's and may be bought at the door on Tuesday.

RICHMOND CHOSEN FOR '53 FOOTBALL MANAGER

Richard A. Richmond, Harvard '53, of this town, was awarded football manager as freshman manager on Sunday night, after a three hour conference between sophomore and senior managers. This made him the winner of the fall competition.

This competition was termed "excellent and extremely close." For the last half of the season, the competitors were placed completely in charge of the junior varsity practice field.

Next spring an entirely new competition will be held for the 1950 sophomore managerships. Richmond will manage the team when it meets Yale at New Haven on Friday. This will place him in the managerial hierarchy.

He is the son of Col. and Mrs. Carl G. Richmond of a Grove street and a graduate of Winchester High School last June.

HAS TROUBLE COME INTO YOUR HOME?

If things are somehow taking a turn for the worse . . . if worry and unhappiness have replaced the peace of mind you used to know . . . think of this: Maybe what makes it seem so hard to handle is not the trouble itself, but the way you face up to it!

For whittling a worry down to size calls for a certain kind of strength, a certain point of view. The kind you get from church. Nothing can take the place of church in your life - in anyone's life.

By turning to religion, by reaffirming their faith, new thousands every day are gathering new strength, new hope, new courage.

Families, finding themselves through faith, are being brought closer . . . becoming real families, pressing against the world, happier, more tolerant among themselves.

Young folk, finding themselves through faith, are learning the true values that make them want to spurn the false.

Men and women of the workaday world are gaining a new sense of "the balance of things" . . . the inner security that brings success to work as well as to life . . . by finding themselves through faith.

Can you honestly say that things have been better for you, going it alone? Or wouldn't you rather join these neighbors . . . and find a happier, more successful life - through faith.

CLARENCE'S LAMENT

by Porter Ellis

He really did get quite a lift from "I Remember Mama." For just a cat, it was a gift. To be the feline ham-a-

"Dear Aunt Elizabeth," ah me! He did not like the name - Up on the stage for all to see - But this tom cat was game.

Now home, this poor cat wrings his paws. With yowls he seeks forbearance. For since the play without just cause They've dubbed him "Auntie Clarence."

FORUM SUNDAY BREAKFAST

Last Sunday at 8:30 the Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church had an interesting time. The breakfast was superb and the singing sounded great. At about 9:30 our minister, Dr. Howard J. Chidley, took us on a tour of the church.

Dr. Chidley explained the meaning of the individual stained glass windows of the church to us, pointing out their good and bad points. We were all surprised to learn how little we knew about them. He told us part of the history of the church, pointing out that our church was the first in town, and that the Congregational Churches were the only ones in New England during the early days.

Following the tour of the church we went to Ripley Chapel and had our usual morning worship service. Dick Wickerson was the chaplain. When the announcements were made we were greatly surprised to learn of the church sponsoring a displaced family and that they will be arriving soon. We're all looking forward to that. We hope they'll like Winchester. Dorothy Brandt and Herb Clark were elected to represent Forum on the Student Council of the Woburn Association Pilgrim Fellowship.

MT. HOLYOKE CLUB BAZAAR

The Boston Mount Holyoke Club is holding a Christmas Bazaar at the Boston Y. W. C. A. on Thursday, December 8th. The Winchester Mt. Holyoke Club will be responsible for contributing articles to be sold, and arranging a table which will be called the "Corner Cupboard." Mrs. Waldron Hersey, who is at present in Milwaukee at a Girl Scout Leaders' National Convention, will be in charge of the "Corner Cupboard." It will comprise antiques and semi-antiques, glass, china, silver, jewelry and many other things contributed from homes in Winchester and all of suburban Boston.

Winchester Mt. Holyoke Club members continue to meet at their workshop in the little white house facing Winter Pond every Thursday, and during the week after Thanksgiving on Tuesday and Thursday.

WYMAN SCHOOL NOTES

Miss Gertrude Howard's fourth grade presented a play this morning entitled, "The First Year at Plymouth." It was based on the timely topic, "Why we have Thanksgiving." The presentation had three acts, the first of which took place on board the Mayflower.

The singing of two songs concluded the program in which the entire class participated.

Working like busy beavers, the pupils of Mrs. Myrtle Dodge's third grade are completing their work on Indians. From clay, the boys and girls have made models of Indians and their homes. They have compiled a dictionary of Indian words, and have drawn many interesting pictures of Indian life.

DR. HARRY HAWKINS ADDRESS WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Women's Republican Club of Winchester met at the Music Hall Wednesday afternoon, November 9th. In the absence of the president, Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes, Vice-president Mrs. Theodore C. Browne conducted the meeting. Mrs. John W. Coolidge, Chairman of Women's Division of the Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee spoke briefly about the funds of the Republican Finance Committee. Mrs. Dunbar L. Shanklin gave a very interesting report of her trip aboard the aircraft carrier, U. S. S. Kearsage.

The principal speaker for the afternoon was Professor Harry C. Hawkins. Dr. Hawkins has recently resigned his post as Minister-Counselor of Economic Affairs at the American Embassy in London to become professor of International economics at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, directing the program of the school in this field. He has been a member of the State Department since 1931, and became one of the State Department's principal international trade experts. After 1933, Professor Hawkins became Mr. Hull's principal adviser and closest associate in developing the trade agreements program.

The subject of Dr. Hawkins' address was "America's Foreign Trade Policy." He said that at present the great problem was the gap between a $13 billion export business and a $7 billion import business. At present, Marshall plan aid enables foreign countries to purchase American goods. In order to avoid a collapse of an inflated export business, when foreign countries can no longer purchase our goods, he recommends foreign investments and increased imports. Dr. Hawkins warns that if something is not done in regard to the relationship between our foreign trade policy and our internal trade policy, socialism may be the inevitable result.

Guests of honor at the meeting were Senator and Mrs. Harris S. Richardson and former Governor and Mrs. Robert F. Bradford. Another guest was Dean Robert B. Stewart of the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy.

After the meeting, while Mrs. George L. Witham favored the members and guests with selections on the organ, Mrs. Robert L. Singer and her social committee served tea. The purveyors were Mrs. Harris Richardson, Mrs. Robert F. Bradford, Mrs. Marshall Pihl and Mrs. William W. Goodhue.

PAINTING PROJECTS BY METHODISTS

This coming Thursday evening at 7 p. m. members and friends of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church will begin a volunteer painting program that will take in the painting of the up-stairs Sunday School rooms in the church. The program will continue through Friday and all day Saturday and go through every evening of the following week in hopes of finishing by December 10th. The women of the church who like to paint are also welcome.

The children of the Sunday School are looking forward to the newly redecorated work, which will include a new room built to take care of the increased enrollment and attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Andrew (Sally Fifield) are the parents of a daughter, Susan Jane, born at Winchester Hospital, on November 3rd. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. Andrew of Watertown and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Fifield of Woodside road, Winchester.

MARIONETTES RETURN DECEMBER 3RD

Everyone will be happy to know that the Little Theatre Marionettes who appeared here last year in The Circus are once more making their appearance in Winchester at the High School on December 3rd. This time they are to perform Hansel and Gretel, the old familiar story that we all love. The fascinatng witch (guaranteed not to frighten any child) the lovely gingerbread house, the lovely music will bring great pleasure to the children... nostalgia for adults. The Originator of the Marionettes, Dorothy Rankin, lived for years in the Movieland of California, where she studied creative art. She personally designs and costumes all her marionettes. They are being brought to Winchester by the Tuesday Group of the Episcopal Church. This group of Marionettes is quite famous, having appeared on television last year at Christmas time also in Hansel and Gretel.

A meeting was held recently at the home of Mrs. Alan A. Smith on Pond street to make arrangements for the Marionette show which will be held in the high school auditorium December 3rd. The Tuesday Group of the Episcopal church is sponsoring the performance and Mrs. Smith is the chairman of the show committee. Other committee members present were Mrs. R. Alan Page, Mrs. Richard and Bateman, Mrs. John Kenneth Colony, Mrs. Henry Fitts, Jr., Mrs. Paul LaMarche, Mrs. Thomas Howe, Mrs. Donald Wright, Mrs. Donald McLean, and Mrs. Hollis Dyer. They decided upon Hansel and Gretel for the performance as it is such a delightful story and the charming Marionette witch will delight rather than frighten any child.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

In preparation for the trip to Andover on Monday, November 21st the College Club Art Group met at the Library for a very informative and interesting discussion of the Addison Gallery.

Mrs. Frederic Able told of its aim to have the boys appreciate the world around them. It is limited to American art although there often are loan exhibits of foreign art. Miss Emma Boardman spoke briefly of the Director, Bartlett Harding Hayes, Jr.

In the Colonial Period Mrs. William Spaulding stressed Benjamin West and Samuel F. B. Morse.

Mrs. Henry F. Smith reviewed hastily the 70 early years of American artists and, at more length, Winslow Homer. Mrs. Harold Bowne summarized Craven's life of Albert Ryder. Mrs. J. Girard Chandler continued the American artists through the impressionists and unemotional moderns.

All too briefly Mrs. W. Henry Johnston told of the sculptures. And Miss Katherine Masters explained the room of Ship Models, emphasizing comparisons of size and "firsts", such as exploration, steam, speed and building materials.

Attention is called to the current special exhibitions:

At the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, through December 4: The largest and most comprehensive exhibition of Wedgwood ever shown, consisting of material brought from England just for this exhibition.

At the R. C. Vose Galleries, through December 3: Water Colors by John Whorf.

At the Worcester Art Museum, through November 27: Contemporary New England Painting and Sculpture. The museum is open daily, (including Sunday afternoons), weekdays from 9-5.

Nash has done it again! For the first time you can have the thrill of super-compression power on regular gasoline!

Yes, the company that's been ahead in the power parade for a third of a century is still ahead.

And let the throttle tell the story!

Check your gas mileage for another surprise. The Nash Statesman delivers more than 25 miles to the gallon at average highway speed.

What has Nash got that the others haven't?

Exclusive sealed-in manifolds use the leanest of mixtures. Uniflow-Jet Carburetion helps too.

And Nash alone has Airflyte Construction that is stronger, safer, without useless weight.

Hats Off!

Scout Laurence Erhard of Troop 12, St. Mary's Church is on his second year as Scout Attendant for Miss Corrine Mead, Head Librarian of the Winchester Public Library at the Library Movie Shows held each Friday evening and Saturday morning, thus emphasizing the service to community so often heard about in Scouting. There are other Scouts including Cubs and Explorers who are helping their community and sponsoring institution also, so please Committee men let's hear about them so others may read of them in this column.

Why Scouting?

You New Members

Ans. Scouting has a fine vigorous, unique program. Its aim is simple. Its intentions are to develop character and training in citizenship in ways that a boy will understand. It offers a boy wholesome participation in things that interest a normal boy — camp craft — nature lore — hand-work skills — water-sports — life saving — knowledge of airplanes or ships — and "know how" in many other practical matters of life long value which the Merit Badge list will attest.

Scouting Pays in Many Ways

There are Boy Scouts in practically every land. Were its teachings followed and not perverted as they have been in Axis Countries there would have been no World War II.

Troop 6 News

On Friday morning November 11th at 6:00 a. m. six explorers of troop 6 of the Unitarian Church with two Dads started out on a two day trip on Mt. Chocoma. The explorers were Neil Muncaster, John Mooers, Earl Carrier, Tom Wilder, Carl Zimmerman, and Henry Hooper. The two Dads were Mr. Carrier and Mr. Hooper who provided the transportation. The party arrived at the Piper Trail Camps at the foot of the Mountain at 9:00 a. m. and started to pack up the trail stopping for lunch at Chocoma river two and one half miles distant. After lunch the steeper part of the trail showed up and slowed the group somewhat except Henry Hooper and Neil Muncaster who went ahead to reserve the "Jim Liberty" shelter. At 1:30 p. m. the party was intact once more, worn out but ready for a good meal. Carl Zimmerman prepared the meal. When 7:00 p. m. rolled along the group had turned in and slept around the clock. The next morning found a fine day for hiking so after breakfast all went up to the summit with the six explorers continuing on the "Middle Sister" thence to Champney Falls, returning to the hut at 2:00 p. m. for lunch. This out of the way Neil Muncaster and Henry Hooper decided to take a walk down the Bee Line Trail but wound up on a 7 mile hike around the mountain, not judging their time o. k. After another fine dinner all turned in but on awakening found it snowing. Packs were loaded on and the descent started at 10:30 a. m. arriving at the cars at 12:30 then lunch and home with more trips slated for next spring. Camp Lane is next on the agenda for Troop 6 with Explorers, scouts and Fathers scheduled for a camping party to finish rebuilding the Cabin there. Monday, November 21st will be the first Parents night of the season. Advancement and attendance awards will be issued.

TOUR OF WELLESLEY COLLEGE

A group of Winchester Wellesley Club members had the privilege of meeting Miss Margaret Clapp, newly elected president of Wellesley, during a Come and See Tour which they made to the college on Wednesday, November 9. The group met in the Faculty Common Room in Green Hall, and Miss Clapp joined them there for coffee and informal conversation. Three student speakers described recent developments on the campus, including the bringing of a displaced person to the college as a student, the varied undergraduate activities to raise money for the 75th Anniversary Fund, and the new Carousell or winter sports weekend which has become very popular.

Student guides took the alumnae on tours of the campus, one group going to Tower Court, Alumnae Hall, and the new Recreation Building, while the other went to Pendleton Hall with its science laboratories, the Art building, and the Library. Luncheon at the "Well," popular campus eating place, provided a pleasant period of relaxation. After lunch the group had an opportunity to attend classes. Among the courses visited by one or more of the alumnae were Opera, History of Social and Political Thought, Landscape Gardening, Advanced Journalistic Writing, and Oral Interpretation of Shakespeare.

Mrs. J. L. R. de Morinni, special assistant to the President, was in charge of arrangements for the tour, and Mrs. Charles T. Main, 2nd was local chairman. Among those making the tour were Mrs. Austin T. Bunker, Mrs. Quiney P. Emery, Mrs. John L. Graves, Mrs. Edward R. Grosvenor, Miss Gertude M. Hall, Mrs. Richard O. Jordan, Mrs. Paul B. Leverette, Mrs. Manuel H. Lombard, Mrs. William B. Lunsford, Mrs. Lawrence W. Lunt, Jr., Mrs. Charles T. Main, 2nd, Mrs. Albert D. Swazey, and Mrs. Ralph S. Vinal.

HELD FATHER-DAUGHTER COMMUNION BREAKFAST

A most pleasing throng of Holy Name men and daughters filled St. Mary's church at the 8:00 a. m. Mass on Sunday, November 13 on the occasion of the Annual Communion Breakfast for Fathers-Daughters of the Holy Name Society, which elicited from Rev. Fr. Walsh newly appointed Spiritual Director of the Society warm words of praise for this showing on his first Sunday as Spiritual Leader. After Mass, Communion and Benediction the breakfast end of the affair took place at Lyceum Hall in Winchester Square where breakfast was catered in splendid fashion, followed by community singing with Society Organist Miss Kay Roach at the piano during which the daughters of members more than held their own.

The usual business section of the monthly meeting was dispensed with on this occasion except that a motion was made and seconded that the Society tender a letter of appreciation to Rev. Fr. Sennott former Spiritual Director, followed by a rising vote of thanks.

Rev. Fr. Walsh announced when introduced to the assembly by Mr. Croughwell that he was pleased to be affiliated with St. Mary's Holy Name Society and asked the cooperation of all members. He announced a gigantic spiritual bouquet in the offering to be tendered to Archbishop Cushing for his intentions from all Holy Name men in this diocese. Mr. Croughwell, Society President then welcomed the daughters on behalf of all men of the Society pointing out to them that they would be the future wives of Holy Name men and that they should do all in their power to encourage membership in the Society. Mr. Connolly and Mr. Ganze who were in charge of the breakfast together with the officers and Precinct Chairmen and all who assisted were given recognition of their efforts by Mr. Croughwell.

Rev. Myles McCarthy of St. Gabriel's Passionist Monastery in Brighton was the invited Speaker and prefaced his address with many uproarious and highly appreciated stories. Having been a missionary in China for ten long years, Fr. McCarthy dwelt at some length on the trials and tribulations of practicing one's Faith under the Communist regime. Declaring that the Holy Father looks to America as the "Hope for the Future" with her religious freedom, Fr. McCarthy urged his listeners to actively practice their Faith and to offer up their hardships, discouragements and trials for the intentions of these brave missionaries the majority of whom are home loving Americans at that. These latter labor in Communist infested lands in daily threat of their lives. Urging his listeners to pray for these missionaries, the affair came to an end.

A Lecture on Christian Science

Entitled Christian Science: The Science of Life Abundant
by
Dr. Hendrik J. de Lange, C. S. B. of New York City

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

Friends:
It is a pleasure to welcome you here this afternoon on behalf of First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Winchester.

For untold ages mankind has been seeking "the more abundant life." Scientists, sages, and philosophers through the centuries have been concerned with ways and means to attain this life, which is generally understood to be a state of being free from the pains, trials, and tribulations incident to earthly existence.

The ministry among men of the greatest teacher of all time, Christ Jesus, was dedicated to the demonstration of how this life may be attained.

We owe to a great and selfless
New England woman, Mary Baker Eddy, a debt of gratitude for the discovery that the healings wrought by Christ Jesus and his immediate disciples were not a gift to them alone, but rested upon an exact science, as potent today as it was at the time of Jesus, nearly two thousand years ago. Its fruitage is shown in the healing of so-called incurable diseases, the breaking of the shackles of enslaving sin, the annulment of false human laws of heredity and environment.

We are privileged to have with us this afternoon Dr. Hendrik J. de Lange, a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. The subject of his lecture is "Christian Science - the Science of Life Abundant."

She wore a beaded coronet with

WOBURN 26; WINCHESTER 20

Fumbles hurt locals. Winchester scoring lateral ruled forward in waning minutes. Long dashes by Amico and Seire features.

A spirited Orange team from Woburn High School showed more will to win than Winchester on Turkey Day, and taking advantage of two costly fumbles by the local boys, ran up a 19-7 lead at the half, finally outlasting the Red and Black, 26-20, in a game that had everyone on their feet in the closing minutes to play. A crowd of about 8,000 saw the game.

Woburn had a big edge in rushing, rolling up 291 yards to 128 for Winchester. The Tanners made 15 first downs to 8 for the locals and had a slight kicking edge, averaging 34 yards from the line of scrimmage to thirty-two and one-third for Winchester. Winchester completed 11 of 19 passes for 112 yards with Woburn completing two of four aerials for 51 yards. The visitors lost 45 yards in penalties and recovered their only fumble. Winchester lost 10 yards in penalties and recovered only one of its three fumbles, the others being converted by Woburn into touchdowns.

Winchester very nearly scored on the opening kickoff, which was taken by Dan Devlin on his 20 and run back to the Winchester 40.
The only man between the runner and a touchdown made the last-ditch tackle, while prone on the ground at that.

After Amico bucked for 3, Devlin reversed beautifully for a first down at the Woburn 20, another missed block again preventing a touchdown. The locals' running game bogged down and a fourth-down pass from Amico to Devlin wasn't good enough, Woburn taking over at the 12. Had Paul given "Dannie" a lead on this one, it would have been good for a touchdown, but Devlin had to turn to get the ball and that gave the Wo-burn defender time to get across and make the tackle.

Woburn ripped off a first down, then had to kick, with Amico running the ball back 24 yards, and again being tackled by the last man between him and a clear field.
Once more that vital kick that would have meant a score was missing. With the ball at the Wo-burn 41, Amico hit the line twice for a first down at the Woburn 29.
Amico was held on a buck, but passed to Walden for 8, and then bucked twice for another first down at the 16.

RED CROSS

A very urgent appeal to men and women for whole blood when the mobile unit comes to this town Friday, December 2, is being issued today by the Winchester chapter, American Red Cross. The unit will be set up in Parish Hall,
First Congregational Church, from 12:45 to 7 P. M. next Friday, and it is hoped that over one hundred donors will come to the unit. It is not necessary to make an appointment, although it may save a busy person the loss of time in the waiting room. For appointment, call WI 6-2300 or WI 6-1287-M.

With blood donated by civilians in constant demand and use by patients in the hospitals, and with the many cases right in our own Winchester Hospital of patients of all ages who have been helped by Red Cross blood, the story of the Blood Program of the Red Cross is well known to all. But in order to keep the work going forward, and to have the blood ready when the emergency call comes in, the Red Cross must replenish its supply on Blood Donor Day. It is the gift one human being can give to another - blood.

You are urged to set aside Friday, December 2, as Blood Donor Day on your calendar - and make your date to be at the unit between 12:45 and 7 P. M. that day.

MRS. PEARL O'CONNOR

Word has been received in Win-deceased was the former Mrs.

Charles Winship, for many years a resident of Yale street.

Mrs. O'Connor had been living in Syracuse since her marriage to Mr. O'Connor. While in Winchester she was well known and active socially, having been a member of the First Congregational Church, Winchester Country Club and the Women's Republican Club. Besides

The current issue of the Satur-

The pictures, all of Great Bird

ACCIDENT AT CROSSING

Woman Walked Into Train In Center Wednesday

Miss Elizabeth O'Malley, 68 years of age, of 158 Washington street, employed at St. Mary's Rectory, was badly injured Wednesday morning at the center railroad crossing. She apparently walked into the rear of the locomotive on a passing train.

According to the various stories given by several persons who were in the immediate vicinity and saw the conclusion of the accident but not the start, Miss O'Malley walked onto the railroad path from the back of the Winchester News Company building. She walked towards the center far enough to clear the fence between the tracks and started to cross the tracks walking directly into the rear part of the locomotive.

She was thrown to the ground between the rails and the train was immediately stopped. The train, a local due at the Winchester station at 9:59, was running slowly and the crossing gates were down.

The town ambulance was called and she was taken to the Winchester Hospital by Officers Parsons and Poole. She was found to be badly injured, both legs being reported broken and other injuries suffered which at first were underestimated pending observation and x-rays.

However, her injuries proved fatal, and she died on Wednesday noon.

COSTS MORE MONEY THIS YEAR

Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun of the Winchester Post Office warns that Christmas packages for the West Coast, - Arizona, California, Oregon and Washington should be mailed by the Monday after Thanksgiving for pre-Christmas delivery. Letters and greeting cards by regular mail must be mailed by December 5th for the West Coast.

Unsealed greeting cards are going to cost a two cent stamp this year, and if wrongly addressed will not be delivered or returned.
They just go to the Dead Letter office and are burned. Three cents postage permits sealing and full forwarding or return service on Christmas cards. All packages and gifts of value, as well as valuable papers, should be registered or insured. A few pennies more gives full protection.

"Fly your gifts" is recommended, this would give the mailer three weeks longer to wrap up a Christmas package for the West Coast.
December 17 would be the deadline for trans-continental packages by air parcel post. The fastest form of all is of course, Air-mail special delivery. There are 25 flights carrying mail out of Boston daily.

All packages for the New England states must be in the mail on or before the 10th of December to insure delivery before Christmas.

Surface parcel post - for the South, Southwest, and Midwest must be mailed by the 2nd of December. Surface letters and greeting cards for the same should be mailed on or before the 9th of December.

All packages for N. Y. State,
N. J., Ohio, Penn., Ky., Delaware,
D. C., Va., and other Eastern Seaboard states, should be mailed not later than December 13th.

Make sure that all letters and packages are correctly addressed and have your return address on them. Use all zone numbers available on your letters and parcels.

CHRISTMAS VESPER SERVICE AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH

At four o'clock on the afternoon of Sunday, December 11, the Unitarian Choir will present Saint Saens' Christmas Oratorio under the direction of Mary Ranton Witham, the church's organist and choir master. The service is to open with a group of carols by the Mary Witham Singers, who will also take part in the Oratorio.

This composition by Saint Saens is beautiful and effectively devotional, with particularly exquisite writing for the solo voices. These parts will be sung by Dorothy Perkins, soprano; Sadie R. Horne, soprano; Muriel Thorley, contralto;
Edgar M. Randle, tenor; and John Ffestyn Jenkins, bass. Mr. Weston Brannon will be at the organ.
Those who in Lent heard Mrs.
Witham's magnificent presentation of Brahms' Requiem with this same assemblage of singers and organist will look forward to a notably lovely expression of the holy but joyous Christmastide.

MISS DUTEMPLE, MR. DENNETT ENGAGED

HANSEL AND GRETEL AT HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

Hansel and Gretel, the old familiar story that we all love so well, set to Humperdinck music will be performed December third in the High School Auditorium at two p. m., by the Little Theatre Marionettes. Everyone will recall the wonderful performance of the Marionettes when they were here last year in the Circus. The Tuesday Group of the Episcopal Church has again made it possible for these clever "actors" to return. Designed and costumed by Dorothy Rankin, the Originator of the Marionettes, this "Little Theatre" group will delight both young and old in "Hansel and Gretel."

WINCHESTER COMMUNITY CHEST

At the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Winchester Community Chest, Inc. on Monday evening, November 21st., the Campaign Chairman, Mr. Davenport Davis, reported the results of the recent Red Feather fund-raising drive. In a year when capital funds campaigns were a serious consideration, Winchester's achievement of 92.4% of its Community Fund goal for deficit financing of member agencies was a commendable if not ideal achievement.

Mr. Gilbert Hood told of the progress of the Winchester Hospital's building plans which indicate the probable beginning of construction about February first.

Made possible through the cooperation of the Community Chest, the townspeople of Winchester, and the enthusiastic leadership of the Rotary Club, the Girl Scouts new cabin will be ready for dedication on December 4th.

From the United Community Services - the organization in-placing the former Greater Boston Community Fund and Community Council - a letter to Mrs.
William Kugler, President of the Winchester Chest, was read explaining the gift of a building to be used as the headquarters of the U. C. S. This building, previously known as the Boston City Club, is to be called the Mason Memorial Building to honor its two donors.

Troop 12 News

Tom Gallagher Senior Patrol Leader of Troop 12 was reported in last week's issue to be Troop Scribe. Tom notes the activities and progress of the Troop with Ernie Reardon doing the Scribe work. Troop 12 is certainly fortunate to have these two young men in these respective tasks. For this week Tom notes that Troop 12 is reporting its news through Scout Eddie Power since Tom is ill in bed with a cold.

Troop 6

On November 19 and 20, a group of men and explorers from Troop 6 sheathed the roof of the Shelter at Camp Lane, and it is now ready for the scouts of Winchester to use in rainy or snowy weather.

Troop 6 had the first Award Night of the season, with an unusually large attendance of scouts and their parents. Council Commissioner Forbes presented the charter to the Committee, headed by Mr. James Muncester, with special mention of the fact that the unit is a 5 year veteran. One-year service stars were presented to Scouts John Becker, Stephen Dunn, Joseph S. Godsoe, William Kelly, Craig Muncester, Donald Palladino, John Swazey, Stephen Nichols, Roger Heard, Claron Swonger, Edward Mansfield and Explorers Edward McElroy, Neil Muncester, and Earl Carrier. Two-year service stars were earned by Explorers, William Davies, Theodore Elliott, Henry Hooper and Donald Murphy. Explorers John Mooers and Carl Zimmerman received three-year service stars and Explorer Robert Murphy received his four-year service star.

Attendance awards for last year's attendance went to Scouts William Kelly and Craig Muncester and Explorer Henry Hooper. Scout Donald Palladino won a pathfinding merit badge at the November Board of Review, and Explorer Ted Elliott passed his first aid and rowing merit badges.

During the ceremonies, Scoutmaster Olcott Hooper awarded Second Class pins to Scouts Owen Nichols and Vernon Carrier and Explorer Tom Wilder. Then Commissioner Forbes took over for the higher awards. Scouts Stephen Nichols and Craig Muncester received First Class badges, and Scout William Ross received recognition before the troop for the First Class badge he had won at Camp Fellsland. Star badges were awarded to Scouts William Kelly and John Becker and Explorers Ted Elliott and Henry Hooper, and miniature badges were presented to their mothers. Recognition was given to Stephen Dunn for his Life badge earned at Camp Fellsland, and Life badges were presented to Explorers, John Mooers, William Davies and Earl Carrier, with miniature pins to their mothers.

Eagle Award to Robert Murphy. Commissioner Forbes then requested Council President Patton to make the next award which was the coveted Eagle to Explorer Robert H. Murphy. President Patton emphasized the work a Scout must accomplish, to receive the award, and the ability and leadership represented by it.

Gravel is being trucked onto the former town dump and will soon be spread to cover its untidy appearance.

VERA CAZMAY ADDRESSES WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The Women's Republican Club of Winchester met at the Music Hall Thursday morning, November 17 to hear Mrs. Vera Cazmay lecture on Current Events. Mrs. George W. French and her committee served morning coffee before the meeting. Mrs. Philip J. Woodward, chairman of the education committee, conducted the meeting and introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Cazmay was the first president of the Cambridge Women's Republican Club and later served as the chairman of its legislative committee. At that time she was asked to give a ten minute resume on current events once a month to her Club. That was thirteen years ago, and she has been lecturing on current events ever since. She is a delightful speaker with a keen insight into world affairs and a delightful sense of humor.

Among the items of importance which Mrs. Cazmay discussed was the Bus Bill, which provides transportation to school children. She termed the referendum petitions, that are being circulated, useless because there will never be a legislature that will vote to repeal this bill. She explained the State lottery and said that the only honest thing about a lottery is the theory. Mrs. Cazmay pointed out a number of flaws and pitfalls in the "National Health Insurance" plan, which she said the government was intent upon giving its citizens at the cost of their freedom. In conclusion, she quoted from General Eisenhower, "Once economic freedom is lost all other freedoms go by the board."

MISS SMITH SPEAKS BEFORE ORAL CLUB

The Boston Oral Club celebrated its twenty-fifth Anniversary on the evening of November 19th in the ballroom of the Hotel Beaconsfield, Brookline.

Following a banquet, the principal speaker and guest of honor was Miss Harriette Smith, Director of the "Sarah Fuller Foundation For Little Deaf Children," who spoke on the work of the Foundation.

After an entertainment of Acrobatic dancing, and Ballet dancing, the 125 members enjoyed contract bridge and general dancing. All of the members have been deaf since birth or early childhood and are graduates of schools for the Deaf in Mass. There was no signing or finger spelling among the crowd as they all pride themselves in using only speech and lip-reading in conversing with others. It was a gay and happy party.

George Donaghey clerk at Sellers Market who has been ill for the past two weeks is reported to be much improved.

The Rev. Walter Lee Bailey, Pastor of the First Baptist Church, has planned a series of monthly forum discussions with the Youth Fellowship on subjects chosen by the young people of the parish. Topics to be discussed this year are:

"To Drink or Not to Drink"
"That Girl's Fellow and That Fellow's Girl"

"What Protestants Believe"
"When a Protestant Marries a Catholic"
"Building the Home Beautiful"

The evening program opens at 6:30 with a fellowship supper served by the mothers of the young people. Appropriate devotions around the fireside are conducted by one of the members, and Mr. Bailey addresses the group on the topics of the evening, after which the forum is open for questions by those present. These discussions are treated in a dignified manner and are earnest and serious, in no way being treated lightly.

THE WINCHESTER HOME AND GARDEN CLUB

A large and attentive audience at the Winchester Better Home and Garden Club listened to the lecture "Helpful Hints for making Thanksgiving and Christmas Decorations" by Mrs. Guy Montrose Whipple of Marblehead at the meeting November 16 in the Library.

She had a very clever way of combining evergreens, cones, berries, fruit and nuts with glittering material into pleasing wreaths, swags, favors and other decorations. In order to help the members to do their own, she showed the various foundation frames, and the best evergreens to use, especially mentioning cypress, Chinese juniper, yew, Frasier fur, and ivy. She had a great variety of cones in all sizes, and showed how to use them to the best advantage with silvered and gilded material, with covers and backgrounds from Boston Theatrical Shops.

All will be anxious to try out these hints to the best of one's ability at the luncheon and all day meeting of the Christmas Greens Workshop at the Baptist Church on December 14.

Mrs. Frank J. Robinson, the President read the notice of the Open House (with Christmas decorations) sponsored by the Garden Club Federation on Thursday, December 8 from 11 to 5:30 in the following contemporary houses: Cambridge—Mr. and Mrs. Francis Pitts, 44 Gerry's Landing

DILLINGHAM STARRED FOR CRIMSON FROSH

"Pete" Dillingham, star left half-back on last year's Winchester High School football team and a three-letter athlete while at the local school, starred for the Harvard freshmen in their losing game with the Yale first-year team at New Haven last Friday afternoon.

"Dill" has been playing regularly in the Crimson freshman backfield, although generally as a substitute. Last Friday when the Harvard ace, John Ederer, was hurt on the opening kickoff, the former Winchester boy took his place and did a little better than all right.

"Pete," it was, who put the Crimson pups back in the ballgame after the highly favored Blues had scored in the first period. With the ball on the Yale 40 Dillingham broke through the Yale left tackle on an inside reverse and ran for a touchdown.

"Dill" aided plenty in the Crimson cubs' second touchdown at the start of the third period, gaining consistently on running plays and finally making a spectacular tumbling catch of a 30 yard pass from Cox on the Yale 30 that set up the final Harvard score. Yale scored again before the period was over and finally won 21-14.

FORMER WINCHESTER PLAYERS IN HARVARD-YALE GAME

Three Winchester High School football players saw service in the Harvard - Yale game last Saturday, won by Yale, 29-6, in the Yale Bowl.

Of the three, the least known locally, is "Stew" Tisdale, Yale quarterback, who played a prominent part in the Elis victory and tossed the pass to Captain Levi Jackson in the Harvard end zone that resulted in the second Yale touchdown.

Tisdale played football for Coach Henry Knowlton at Winchester High and was considered a promising candidate for varsity honors when his family left town and he enrolled in the Gunnery School. Subsequent events have more than substantiated Coach Knowlton's judgement of his ability.

On the Harvard side of the field John West, captain of Winchester's last State championship eleven, started at fullback, and was in the offensive backfield during the entire first half, contributing one long dash and several consistent gains on bucks up the middle during that first Crimson march that everyone thought would result in a touchdown.

After the half John seemed to be used mostly on defense, and the same was true of his former teammate and star left halfback on Sarto Walsh's great club of 1944, "Chucker" Roche.

Roche, one of Harvard's best ground gainers against Brown, saw little offensive action against the Elis, being used on defense and for kicking. Incidentally the Harvard punt blocked by Yale for its safety was not batted for Charles David Roche, Jr., acclaimed the best kicker in the Ivy League. Why he was not called on to make this clutch boot deep in Crimson territory has puzzled several of the post-game experts.

Winchester's other Harvard varsity player, Charlie Sarto Walsh, after seeing a lot of service for the Crimson as a blocking back and conversion kicker, had to sweat the game out on the bench with a broken ankle, received in an earlier contest. Walsh, a sophomore, was seeing more and more service as the season progressed and with West, a junior, should figure prominently in next year's Harvard backfield.

WINCHESTER LODGE NO. 1580 NEWS

On Saturday, November 19, 1949 a testimonial was given to Eugene B. Rotundi, the outgoing Venerable of the Winchester Lodge for the past 2 years.

The party was held in the club hall on Swanton street. The hall was filled to capacity with members of the lodge, who were present to enjoy the festivities.

At the head table sat the guest of honor Eugene B. Rotundi; James Violante, Venerable of the Winchester Lodge; Dominick Provizano, chairman of the Committee and the Toastmaster Angelo P. Tofuri.

To say the boys present had a good time is putting it mildly. The sandwiches were packed with salami capocolo and cheese and were sliced tomatoes and sliced onions to add to the sandwiches which finally wound up as "skyscrapers". There also were more than enough black and green olives sweet mixed and sour pickles, potato chips, lupinis and provolone. There also were some liquid refreshments.

At the conclusion of the festivities Gene was presented with a traveling set of 2 bags and a wallet with some money.

The committee for this event consisted of the following: Dominick Provizano, Chairman; Victor J. Fioce, Treasurer; Nicholas Ronzio; Albert Derro; James Violante; Dominick Paonessa; Americo Fiore, Albert Tibaud; A. P. Tofuri; Frank DeMinico and Louis Luongo.

The seventh match of the Bowling League was rolled on Tuesday, November 22, 1949 at the Bowldrome. There were no radical changes except that Santa Clara climbed into second position, while Holy Cross went into third. Fordham is still holding out first place by a scant two points.

Larry Penta and John Buttafuoco both rolled 322 for the night's high 3 string, with Larry joining the "3 Century Club" by rolling 107-104-111.

The highlight of the evening occurred when Mingo Frongello, who came in too late to bowl in the league, filled in on the 3rd string by rolling 186. He started with a ten frame; a spare on a strike for the second frame; then 2 nine spares for the third and fourth frames; a strike on a spare for the fifth; a spare on a strike for the sixth frame; a nine spare and a strike on a spare for the seventh and eighth frame; a spare on a strike in the ninth and a nine spare in the tenth.

Boy! that's bowling.

First University of Rochester coeds traveled to Hofstra College in Hempstead, N. Y. last weekend to represent the Mohawk Field Hockey Association in the North East tournament, as a result of try-outs held in Albany. Among those earning places on the first team was sophomore Sally Luitweiler, of Winchester.

LEGION SPORTS NIGHT

To Honor Former High School Coaches

Winchester Post No. 97 of the American Legion is planning a huge Sports Night and Reunion at the Legion Home on Saturday evening, December 10. The program is to be in the nature of a triple-header, with a catered banquet followed by talks and movies, honoring three groups of invited guests.

The first group of honored guests will be the members of the championship American Legion softball team that won the Town League championship last summer under the management of Fred Donovan. All those who saw their brilliant performance last summer, both during the regular season and during the hectic playoffs, will want to be on hand to honor this hustling group of players.

The second group of honored guests will be the boys who made up the Junior Legion baseball team of last summer and who provided so much pleasure and entertainment to their followers. Under the able direction of Coach Ted Bartlett these boys developed and demonstrated at all times the fine qualities of sportsmanship and fair play and the American Legion is proud to have them present as their honored guests.

The third group of honored guests will be the past and present coaches of Winchester High School and this group provides the Reunion aspect to the Sports Night. Invitations have been sent to such former coaches as "Rufe" Bond, "Ernie" Roberts, Carl Lindemann, Wendell Mansfield and Mel Wenner, and to Henry Knowlton and the present high school coaching staff. Many a former student and athlete will welcome the opportunity to come down to the Legion Home to pay his respects to his former coach and indulge in a bit of reminiscing, both with the coach and former schoolmates.

Because of the wide appeal of this varied program, the Sports Night and Reunion will be thrown open to the public and it is expected that the walls of the Legion Home will be bulging that night. Certainly all former high school athletes will consider this a "must" and be on hand to honor their former coach and to pay their respects to the man who played such a large part in shaping their lives and character.

An organization meeting of the Town Basketball League will be held at the American Legion Home on Monday evening, November 28, at eight o'clock. All organizations or groups of boys who wish to enter a team in the league are asked to be represented at this meeting. All prospective teams are welcome; the only requirement being that team members must be out of high school and residents of Winchester.

This program is supervised by the Town Recreation Committee under the capable direction of Ted Bartlett. Three games are played each Monday and Wednesday evening at the High School gym and are open to the public free of charge. This form of recreation has proved to be very popular in the past three years that the program has been in operation and it is expected that at least eight teams will avail themselves of this opportunity.

MORNINGS OF DIVERSION

Mrs. Samuel B. Kirkwood and Mrs. Richard W. Wyman were pourers during the coffee hour at the third Morning of Diversion at the Music Hall on Friday, November 18, at which Saville R. Davis, American News Editor of the Christian Science Monitor spoke on "How Goes the Battle for Peace?" Mr. Davis was introduced by Mrs. Ralph T. Jope after a greeting by Mrs. Albert D. Swazey, president of the Winchester Wellesley Club which sponsors the "Mornings" as a benefit for the 75th Anniversary Fund of Wellesley College.

Mr. Davis, who has covered many of the major diplomatic conferences of the last few years and is a specialist in U. S. Russian relationships, emphasized the complexities of diplomatic maneuvers today. He outlined the economic and military arguments for strengthening all of western Europe, even possibly including Germany and Spain. He noted that although the Marshall Plan countries have recovered well internally, their foreign trade has not developed as hoped, and he spoke of the dangers and risk involved in devaluation.

He reminded us that we have committed ourselves to the Cold War with its policy of maintaining a balance of strength, and that we must support the military in carrying out this policy even though it involves steps which we do not like. Mr. Davis considers 1949 a year in which both the United States and Russian coalitions have found themselves more on the defensive, and that out of their respective internal difficulties may come a general shake-down into a balanced position. He sees a good possibility of the atom bomb being neutralized with the United Nations eventually being brought in to control it.

Mr. Davis' lecture was the last in the 1949 series of "Mornings" which have been under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ralph T. Jope. Other speakers were Eldon Winkler who surveyed the theatre of today and Gregory Tucker who gave a piano concert with comments. Mrs. Paul B. Leverette has been ticket chairman, and her committee included Mrs. Ross M. Cunningham, Mrs. Parker Heath, Mrs. Frederic E. Abbe, Mrs. Richard O. Jordan, and Mrs. Lawrence W. Lunt, Jr.

Mrs. Roy W. Wilson has been in charge of the coffee hour, and her assistants have been Mrs. John L. Graves, Miss Gertrude M. Hall, Mrs. Alan A. Smith, Mrs. Ralph S. Vinat, Mrs. Whitelaw Wright, and Mrs. Parker Heath. Mrs. Arthur T. Rogie arranged for the use of the Music Hall, and Mrs. Samuel B. Kirkwood was in charge of decorations. Mrs. Alexander S. MacDonald and Mrs. F. Milne Blanchard were members of the advisory committee.

At the annual fall sports banquet held recently at New Hampton School, a reserve football letter was awarded to J. Stewart Chaffe. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Stewart Chaffe of 7 Warren street.

Here's Something brand new for you

"I wish I could begin to tell you what this new Long Distance Center means to you. With our new switchboards and dialing equipment, we can now complete most of your long distance calls even to places that are thousands of miles away, twice as fast as we ever did before—and in many cases as fast as you can get your next door neighbor.

"When you call your mother in San Francisco, for example, we can now dial her telephone directly without assistance along the way... and lots of times we'll have you in touch with her in less than half a minute."

A MIRACLE OF SPEED

This remarkable speed in handling long distance calls is made possible by one of the most significant telephone developments of recent years — operator toll dialing. For New England, the key to this faster, better service is the new Long Distance Center in Boston.

With confidence in the future, this huge investment provides the building and equipment designed to function with other similar Centers throughout the nation. It is one of our major postwar construction projects to bring you better telephone service.

And just as always, you'll reach the long distance operator — friendly, courteous and ready to help you.

Science has provided the speed — the operator will still provide the spirit.

THE QUESTION OF RELIGION

Editor of the Star:

In England during the war, soldiers were given a general knowledge test which included several questions on religion. The results were appalling. Many of those young men could not name any of the Ten Commandments or state the Golden Rule or identify any of the prophets or apostles. One even identified the author of the second gospel as Karl Marx! The only way we can challenge the gospel according to Marx is to practice the gospel according to Marx. To practice it, we must learn it. And to learn it we must attend our churches and synagogues regularly and devoutly. We must find both ourselves and the future of our democracy through faith.

Read what great American leaders say about religion. "God governs in the affairs of men; and if a sparrow cannot fall without His notice, neither can a kingdom rise without His aid."

Thomas Jefferson: "The studious perusal of the Bible will make better citizens, better fathers, and better husbands."

Oliver Wendell Holmes: "It's faith in something and enthusiasm for something that makes a life worth looking at."

Helen Keller: "A simple, child-like faith in a Divine Friend solves many of the problems that come to us by land or sea."

Abraham Lincoln: "Let us have faith that right makes might and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty."

Henry Ward Beecher: "Many of our troubles are caused by God's dragging us; and they would end if we would stand upon our feet and go whither He would have us go."

Here is a duty which we cannot leave to school or government. It is a function which cannot be performed by proxy. It's up to you and me, to your wife and my wife, to your son and my son. This week on the Sabbath, let's put down the comics and go to church or synagogue. For a few hours let's forget the news of the day and listen to the news of the ages - the news of the ways of God with men and nations. . . . the eternal answers of God to the questions which besiege the inner citadel of every human heart.

ABOLISH THE GRADE CROSSING

Editor of the Star:

I have watched the experiment to facilitate the moving of traffic in the Square by stopping parking on the east side of Main street between 4 and 6 in the afternoon. The results seem to justify the theory that more room is needed in the street so that cars can double up while the railroad gates are down. But it works a hardship on the storekeepers and the people who wish to do business with them.

The traffic through Winchester Square is becoming a very serious problem. In my opinion there is no real solution for it until the grade crossing is abolished. I think that the best thing that can be done is to change the angle parking on the west side of Main street to parallel parking and install parking meters. Wherever this has been done both traffic and parking conditions have been greatly improved.

If a police officer can be stationed at the intersection of Mystic Valley Parkway and Main street so that the traffic would not block this intersection conditions will be very much better.

WOBURN 26; WINCHESTER 20

Winchester lost five yards for back in motion on the next play, and Amico threw a pass too far for Devlin, all alone out in the flat. Amico then hit Cirurso with a jump pass for 12 yards at the nine and broke through the line for a first down just inside the five. On the next play, Amico slanted off tackle, going over standing up. Smith kicked in the extra point.

Woburn ripped and tore up the field after the kickoff from its 35 to the Winchester 15 with McLaughlin reeling off a 27 yard slash off tackle and Sweeney contributing a 15 yard reverse.

The local boys braced at this point and took the ball on downs at their seven just after the opening of the second quarter. Their own rushing game couldn't gain, however, and Seire ran Amico's kick back all the way from the Winchester 45 to the 25 yard marker.

Two cracks at the line by McLaughlin and Sweeney got only two, but Sweeney on a reverse got three and McLaughlin made the necessary five for a vital first down at the Winchester 15.

From there Seire personally ran the ball over in two belts of five yards each, a one yarder and a rush from four yards out, the Winchester line folding like an accordion. McLaughlin's attempted conversion hit the upright and was no good, Winchester leading 7-6.

Winchester drove after the kickoff from its 29 to the Woburn 37, a 23 yard pass from Amico to Devlin eating up the final yardage. At this point Amico fumbled and Seire recovered for Woburn at the Orange 35.

On the first down, on a delayed-pass play, Seire broke through tackle and whirled by the anchored Winchester secondaries to cut out and take off along the sidelines for 65 yards and a touchdown.

Winchester's Devlin was in a position to get him near midfield but an official got between Dan and the runner and while Devlin was expressing himself to the white pants Seire built up a commanding lead. The official surely deserved an assist on that one.

McLaughlin kicked in the extra point, and two plays after getting the kickoff back to his 31, Amico fumbled again with McManus recovering for Woburn at Winchester's 30.

Seire was piled up on first down, and on second faded to throw a pass. With all receivers covered and no one running him down, the Woburn boy cut to the sidelines and reached the Winchester 10 for another vital first down.

From that point "Doc" Sweeney went over on a reverse with no one else slapping him. McLaughlin failed to convert.

The half ended soon afterward and with the resumption of play there were few who would have given much for Winchester's chances, so completely outclassed had the locals been throughout the second period. Both teams fiddled around through most of the third period, but toward the end of the quarter Seire took an Amico punt at his 25 and the Orange was off again.

Sweeney and Seire did the bulk of the carrying to two first downs, then Seire was stopped short. Sweeney, however, passed deep to Kerrigan and a first down at Winchester's 15, a wobbly, poorly thrown aerial that Devlin was in a perfect position to intercept for a touchdown, but did nothing about, except tackle the receiver.

The Winchester line stopped Sweeney and Seire cold, but on third down Sweeney passed to Kerrigan at the Winchester 4.

Seire and Sweeney in three attempts got only 2 as the teams changed goals. On fourth down from 2 yards out McLaughlin, on a sweep, got over when the Winchester forwards failed to charge across. McLaughlin kicked in the extra point.

Amico made a great runback of the ensuing kickoff, advancing from his 15 to his 43. The locals couldn't go and on fourth down Amico, attempting to kick, got a poor pass from center, but ran to the side and kicked the ball toward the sideline.

Woburn threw him hard and got a 15 yard penalty for roughing the kicker, putting the ball at the Woburn 42, first down. Devlin's pass to Michelson went incomplete, but on second down Amico threw a screen pass to Devlin, and "Dannie" broke into the clear and ran for a touchdown that put Winchester back in the game. Smith kicked in the extra point and it was Woburn 26; Winchester 14.

The Tanners couldn't go after the kickoff and Sweeney kicked, Amico taking the punt at his 30. Cutting to the near sideline, the Winchester Captain contributed the most spectacular run of the game, galloping 70 long yards for a touchdown, getting a couple of good blocks down deep. Amico's dodging and straight-arming on this run were very high class. The officials ruled Smith's kick was wide, but it looked good from the press box and "Smitty" himself thought it was in there.

With the score 26-20 and the crowd in an uproar, Errico fumbled his kickoff, which dribbled along and was recovered by Murphy at Woburn's 43.

Amico passed twice to Devlin for short gains, and then cracked off left end and drove along the sidelines to the Woburn 4, where he was knocked outside.

Twice Amico tried to crack through the tight-jammed Woburn line, but the battering he had taken through the game had robbed him of much of his drive and he failed to gain.

On third down Amico from formation left, bounced off his own left tackle and as he was tackled lateraled out to McGowan who went over standing up.

Referee McCarthy, right behind the play, raised his hands signaling the score and Coach Knowlton sent in Smith to try for what he thought was the winning point. Across the field, however, Field Judge "Hump" Howe blew his horn and charged in, ruling the lateral had been thrown forward. His ruling was accepted by referee McCarthy and instead of a touchdown, Winchester was penalized 5 yards to the nine with automatic loss of a down.

On fourth down Amico passed into the end zone but one of his own team-mates hit Cirurso as he fought his way through the Orange defenders and the pay-off pass bounced from his grasp. The bobbling ball also hit the other Winchester boy, but he too failed to hold it, and Winchester's last chance was gone.

The local boys folded again after their touchdown was nullified, and failed to stop Woburn as the Orange rushed from its nine to midfield as the game ended.

The summary:

SENIOR FORUM TO HEAR ANNE THOMPSON

Members of the Senior Forum will meet in the Social Hall of the First Congregational Church on Sunday evening from 5:30 to 8 o'clock. There will be a hymn sing, business meeting, worship service, refreshments and a talk and discussion by Anne Thompson regarding her experiences at the Grenfell Mission in Labrador.

Many of the freshmen of Forum have a vital interest in hearing first hand about the experiences of Anne in connection with her work in Labrador because as members of the Junior High Department they sent Christmas packages to her while she was away and enjoyed correspondence with her. Carolyn Padelford will be in charge of the worship service. Dorothy Parker and Marjorie Zinn will be in charge of the refreshments assisted by Mrs. Carle C. Zimmerman.

In the morning members of Forum will attend the Church service to hear Dr. Eddy Asirvatham of Boston University. Bruce McGovern will be the chaplain. Robert Burnham will be head deacon and John Richmond, head usher.

OMISSION CORRECTED

The Women's Association of the First Congregational Church wishes to announce that, due to a regrettable oversight, the name of Mrs. Paul E. Nason, Co-Chairman of their Village Fair, was omitted from recent Fair publicity. The success of this annual Association event was due in great part to Mrs. Nason's unfailing interest and activity in everything pertaining to the Fair.

WINCHESTER SCHOOL
COMMITTEE

Among the items approved by the Winchester School Committee at a recent regular meeting was the plan for an Education Forum, or open meeting, to be held on Tuesday evening, December 13. The forum idea permits members of the community to exchange views on school matters.

Superintendent Forbes H. Norris reported that twenty-two students are enrolled in the Americanization Class. Fifteen are Winchester residents.

One interested member of the Class, who attends for one hour each week, is a Lincoln school boy, an Italian refugee.

The report of the Winchester High School Cafeteria discloses that total sales of food resulted in a net gain of $4.43 for the month of October.

Reports were filed by Dr. William Barone, Medical Director, and by Dr. Frederika Moore on recent examination of school boys and girls.

Dr. Barone mentioned that no cases of contagious diseases were reported by The Board of Health in October. He also noted that no new cases of polio have been reported in Winchester in recent weeks.

Treatment at The Dental Clinic totaled sixty-two.

Mr. Fred Felmet, reporting on the musical training afforded by the Winchester Public Schools, told of the rhythm instruments provided for Mystic school youngsters by the Mothers' Club. He also spoke of the need for instruments to be available for talented boys and girls unable to provide their own.

The high school orchestra will visit the various elementary schools for the purpose of interesting the younger pupils in playing instrumental music. Mr. Felmet pointed out the need for more stringed instruments in the high school orchestra, the chief weakness noted by judges at music festivals.

Mr. Felmet also touched upon the lack of after school music programs for those who would like to continue with organized music groups after high school days.

The remainder of the meeting was given over to hearing reports of sub-committees.

FORUM PLAY AND DANCE

On November 19th the Forum Dramatic Club presented a very enjoyable one act comedy entitled "Oh Say Can You Sing?" Under the capable direction of Dr. Eugene M. Pollard, each member of the cast gave an excellent performance. The skit was the story of a young singer whose teacher has arranged an audition for her with a famous composer. The singer's boy friend does not approve of the idea and quarrels with her, finally leaving with the hope that "she will shout herself hoarse." Betty, taking the hint, develops a sore throat just before the composer is supposed to arrive. Due to a mix-up in trains, the composer doesn't arrive after all, and the play ends on a happy note with wedding bells being planned.

The cast of characters were as follows:
Lucy Blodgett Jackie Chapman
Mother Helen Lunsford
Danny Trevor Smith
Tom Douglas Nason
Miss Dobbs Brenda Bowe
Betty Christine McKay

After the play a juke box dance was very well attended, and the big turn-out made it fun for all. Dave Snow and Bob Burnham did a thriving business selling cokes to swell the Forum Treasury.

Don't forget to put aside Saturday, December 17th for the Forum Mistletoe Dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Holdsworth of Lawson road sailed from New York, November 11th for a 12 day Cruise to Netherlands West Indies, Venezuela and Columbia.

REPORT ON THE GIRL SCOUT CABIN

For the last two weeks those amateur carpenters and bricklayers who had ideas that they were really professional have been taken down a peg by being given shoveling and leveling work on the floor of the cabin and outside porch to do. In view of their willingness to work however the cabin is beginning to shape up for the big date of the dedication which will be Sunday December 4th. Even the fireplace has been tried out with waste lumber and found wonderful.

There are a few remaining Thank-You items to clear up before the end is reached. They are as follows:

Lumber left over and nails etc., from building his garage -- Brad Hersey.
Insulation for all the plumbing -- Blanchard Lumber Company.

VISITING NURSE ASSOCIATION

The November meeting of the Winchester District Nursing Association, held in the General Committee Room, Town Hall, on November 18, was highlighted by a personal first-hand report by the Director, Mrs. Jane H. Lord, on the Massachusetts State Nursing Association convention held in Boston November 7, 8 and 9. For the board members, who could not attend this convention with its many sessions of keen interest to the nurse and layman alike, Mrs. Lord's report brought the meetings back to the Association, and her report on the discussion on "New Developments in Cancer" was listened to with appreciation.

With cancer killing 8,500 people a year in Massachusetts, Mrs. Lord first asked how many board members knew the "seven danger signals" of cancer, and to help recognize them, passed out folders. Her reports covered many excellent speakers from Harvard Medical School and other groups, beginning with Miss Frazier's lecture which urged the need for examination of all adults -- and hit the "hushed tone" association with the treatment of anyone with cancer. The need of education to combat cancer, the need of understanding the emotional problems of the patient involved, the urgency to fight "fear" in treating the disease -- all these were discussed at the convention and brought back to the Board by Mrs. Lord. "There still is no accurate test for cancer, although science and medicine are constantly striving for one," she reported. Surgery, X-Ray, Radium, blood, hormones and newer drugs are helping.

Miss Pearl MacIver, President of the American Nurses Association, a speaker at the convention, urged the need of still more nurses and stressed more counseling in the high schools to steer young women into this splendid field and also urged the use of trained auxiliary workers.

Association Business
Mrs. William N. Beggs was unanimously voted as a director and Mrs. Arthur Cameron was named association member.

The office of the District Nurse has urgent need of a sectional book case and would be grateful for the gift or loan of one for its use. Mrs. Guy Livingstone, in the absence of Mrs. Henry E. Moffette, Chairman of the Nursing Committee, urged that Mrs. Quinn be retained on the nursing staff on a permanent basis, since the many calls on the staff showed the need of a third nurse. The three-nurse staff would give Winchester patients adequate care and attention, and would assure the nurses of a more balanced schedule. The board voted to retain Mrs. Quinn. Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth presided at the meeting.

STATE APPROPRIATIONS 1948 - 1950

STATE APPROPRIATIONS UP $42,000,000

This chart, prepared by the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers Associations, shows how this year's record-breaking total of $226,000,000 which the Legislature appropriated to operate state agencies from July 1, 1949 to June 30, 1950, compares with appropriations for 1948 and 1949. This is merely the amount which the Legislature expects to be paid out of taxes, other revenues and cash on hand this year and does not include additional millions to be spent for borrowed money.

Pontiac's Popular Chieftain In 1950 Dress

Pontiac for 1950 has many appearance and mechanical changes resulting in sharpened beauty and improved performance. Both six and eight cylinder engines again are available in all Chieftain and Streamliner models and the horsepower of the eight cylinder engine has been increased. Pictured is the popular Chieftain four-door sedan.

SUPERB NEW 1950 PONTIACS THRILL AUTOMOBILE BUYERS

Two Great Pontiac Lines... Eighteen Body Styles to Choose From... Now on Display in the Showrooms of Pontiac Dealers of Greater Boston

Featuring a 5-passenger Streamliner 2 Door Sedan for only $1770 delivered, (subject to confirmation by official factory announcement) the Pontiac Division of General Motors again has made auto history with its sensational new line of sixes and eights that are unsurpassed for beauty, economy, value.

With the applause of dealers and preview audiences ringing in their wake, these unsurpassed Chieftains and Streamliners go on display in the showrooms of Pontiac Dealers in Greater Boston starting November 25.

Exciting news to the public is the fact that any model in this eighteen-body style line may again be powered with your choice of Pontiac's famous straight-eight engine or its equally renowned six-cylinder companion. Needless to say, whichever you choose, each model is a Pontiac through and through for performance, dependability and economy.

To quote Hy Moody, President of Moody Motor Sales, Inc., "The new 1950 Pontiac is a tribute to the marvels of American engineering skill and ingenuity. In my 26 years

HY MOODY
WINCHESTER PONTIAC DEALER

in the automobile business, never have I witnessed such superior quality at such a figure, which is just above the current market-quot for the lowest-priced car. From its Fisher Body to its G-M Hydramatic Drive it is the acme of automobile perfection in its field." The new 1950 Pontiac is the lowest-priced car in the world with the G-M Hydramatic Drive offered as optional equipment.

Of the nine beautiful models in the twin lines the master-piece is the strikingly beautiful "Catalina," a style that is to automobile design what advanced modern architecture is to ancient art. Slung low, with racy convertible lines yet topped in rugged steel in contrasting color, the "Catalina" is exhilarating in its sweep and line. An outdoor sense of airiness is achieved by windows which embrace the full length and width of the car. When all windows are lowered there is no center post; the car is wide open and free as the breezes.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Winchester Historical Society is the proud owner of a handsome glass costume case, large enough to house a collection of costumes of other years, given to it by Winchester residents. The case is about eight feet high, glass on four sides, and was purchased last month for the Society by a special committee, including Miss Laura Tolman, Miss Clara R. Russell, Mrs. Arthur Belville, Mrs. George E. Connor. Formal presentation of the case was made at the November meeting of the Historical Society, at which time the Historical Room in the Library was open to members and guests.

The Historical Room, with its many interesting and valuable mementos of daily life in other years, is open to the public during library hours, if permission is secured from the Librarian, or special information about the room and its material may be secured from the Curator, Miss Clara Russell. Winchester residents having costumes or historically interesting objects which might be loaned or given to the Historical Room are invited to contact Miss Russell or the President, Mrs. George E. Connor. All items are carefully marked, preserved, and given good display.

The November meeting was made informal and delightful by Mrs. Alice Rowe Snow of Winthrop, a charming and vivacious little lady who had travelled around the Horn on a trading vessel with her parents, when she was a young girl - visiting all the romantic spots of South America,

Robinson Crusoe's Island, and other places. She made drawings of her adventures, and these constituted her theme of her travel talk. She also was given a zither, taught to play it - and at the meeting, her selections on the zither brought rounds of applause from an enthusiastic audience. Mrs. Snow did not give a "lecture" - rather, she took each member and guest in the audience with her on shipboard, to the very lands she had once visited. She made her listeners see the Islands, the storms at sea, the dense woods, the foreign peoples she met. It was an informal and much enjoyed "trip" on which Mrs. Snow took her listeners.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

Miss Mildred Stone was hostess for the Winchester Garden Club, Thursday, November 17. Mrs. Edward Henry Stone assisted her daughter in receiving the guests.

A dynamic arrangement of dignified beauty dominated the serving table-large chrysanthemums and white Pom Poms. Mrs. William W. Goodhue, president and Mrs. William H. Gilpatrick, Exhibit Chairman poured.

The president, Mrs. William W. Goodhue presided at the business meeting. Mrs. Arthur Pitman, Treasurer gave an interesting report. Mrs. Norman Mitchell, Conservation Chairman, gave a stimulating report about bulbs. She was planting her last 100 bulbs at her summer home in Hollis, Maine while snow was lightly falling. Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. Goodhue are noted for their success in the variety and distribution of color in bulb grouping in their gardens.

A Place-Setting at each meeting is part of the club's program for the year. Mrs. Frederic L. Oliver presented at this meeting a fruit arrangement of purple, red and white grapes; red and yellow apples. The oval white china container with a sea-foam green band and clustered grapes, the plate of the same design; gleaming silver and two tall yellow candles in silver holders on white made a colorful and symmetrical arrangement.

A private auction was held after the business meeting with Mrs. Herbert T. West as Auctioneer. Mrs. West with wit and salesmanship made an ideal Auctioneer.

It was a festive day at the beautiful house on the hill, laughter was paramount and a sense of knowing that a substantial sum had been added to our Contribution Fund for Worthy Causes made the day a constructive one.

Elementary and High School Education in the latter half of the nineteenth century will be discussed by Mrs. Jas. Willing, Mrs. William Spaulding, Mrs. I. A. Bullard at the November 28 meeting of the History Group of the College Club.

ROGER HAVEN GRANTED PATENT

On October 25, 1949, the United States Patent Office granted patent number 2,486,159 on a "Lamp Support" to Roger W. Haven of Winchester.

With the advent of circular fluorescent lamps, many new problems have been encountered which cannot be solved readily by the methods and practices employed with straight lamps. For example, it is customary to support a lamp of the latter type by two holders, one at each end, with the projecting pins of the lamp in engagement with electrical contact members in the holders. Obviously, this procedure is not feasible with circular lamps because the extremities thereof are adjacent to and face each other; and, thus, there has been developed, in recent years, a single base for capping these adjoining ends.

However, with this new arrangement, difficulties have been experienced in providing a holder that will adequately support the entire lamp; and consequently, according to Mr. Haven, it has been necessary to make use of an additional bracket. But, when this method is employed, the lamp is supported at two fixed points, and for this reason, is not rotatable to a variety of operating positions.

It is therefore the object of Mr. Haven's invention to overcome this limitation, and, for this purpose, he has devised a friction-type holder that engages the lamp with a pressure which, although sufficient to adequately support it in a number of settings, is nevertheless not so great as to cause a binding condition or interfere with rotation.

In other words, his contrivance serves as the sole and single supporting means for the lamp; and, at the same time, the latter may be disposed or manipulated as desired without necessitating an adjustment thereof, or of its holder, for each of such movements.

This patent has been assigned to Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., Salem, Mass.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly" (John 10:10) was the stirring assurance wherewith the Founder of Christianity confirmed his mission to the receptive heart. Many centuries before, a God-fearing man called Job had received a similar message, "Deck thyself now with majesty and excellency; and array thyself with glory and beauty" (Job 40:10).

Job's Dualism and Troubles

At the time, these words might have sounded rather outrageous. Although Job was honest and devout, his troubles had not lessened, but rather increased, in the course of his earthly years and service of the Lord. When reading the book devoted to him in the Bible, we receive the definite impression that Job did not like this. Occasionally his anger was kindled against the Lord—that is, his own personal concept of God.

Before the days of Job, untold numbers of people had approached life in the same attitude that he had taken; and millions of Christians after him have followed a similar pattern. He thought of himself as a reasonably decent person believing in the existence and worship of God. He, Job, was willing to serve God and to fulfill his spiritual obligations. But equally he expected the Lord to do His part by extending to His faithful servant a fair amount of blessings and exemption from calamities.

The book of Job, until its last or forty-second chapter, is a vivid portrayal of the inadequacy of such a dualistic, personal approach to existence. The Hebrew word "Job" stands for desire and affliction; it characterizes Job's mental attitude and experience. This explains why Job was in turmoil most of the time. Even when God spoke to him, that is, when he felt truly inspired and wisdom asserted itself as his very own thought, even then it seemed to come "out of the whirlwind!"

The Day of Christian Science

May I repeat to you, my friends, today, "Deck thyself now with majesty and excellency; and array thyself with glory and beauty." And may I add, in all humility, that the message of this lecture—the message of Christian Science—is a message that you may have life, and that you may have it more abundantly.

To some among you who feel fearful and afflicted or sad and impoverished, this may sound just as impractical as it did to Job. However, remember that when Job ended the vain contentions with his personal, vindictive sense of God, when he understood better the true nature of the primal cause, and of himself as the expression of that cause—all his losses were wiped out, and he received "twice as much as he had before."

This can be your experience, because today is the day of Christian Science. Today is the day for all the good, which the Bible prophesies as a future attainment, to be made manifest. Christian Science, as the Science of Life abundant, makes it possible for you and me to become acquainted with our own true nature by knowing God; to have the experience of existence as it is, directly from its ever-flowing fount or divine source; and not in the way life seems to be as channeled through the narrow, leaking pipe line of personal sense.

The invitation to partake of life abundant is extended to all, notwithstanding the manifold appearances of inequality around us. In spite of religious doctrines to the contrary, Christian Science reveals the method whereby everyone, without a single exception, here and everywhere, can deck himself now with the majesty and excellency, the glory and beauty that are divinely derived, not personally generated, and thus live abundantly.

The Importance of "I"

Majesty can be derived only from majesty, an excellency from excellency. Glory and beauty could never spring forth from anything less than glory and beauty. To surmise then that these highly desirable qualities, culminating in the abundance of being, could originate in a material person, or could be cultivated and experienced through a material sense of oneself, would be sheer folly. The stream cannot rise higher than its fount; and in Christian Science it is seen that that which receives must have its capacity derived from that which gives, in order to receive.

When Christ Jesus announced, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly," his concept of "I" must have far transcended the customary sense of it. The proverbial "man in the street" thinks of his "I" as referring to a human mind inhabiting a material body. The adjective "human" denotes imperfection, restriction, fallibility; while "material" points to the destructible and exhaustible.

Even if the average person experiences something approximating love, joy, beauty, and abundance, it is often marred by a painful element of uncertainty. The happy sensation can fade out almost at any time, without any apparent rhyme or reason. He ascribes this to fate or bad luck coming from the outside. If he knew better, he would perceive that it is due to his own sense of limitation and inferiority. How can perfection and continuity, happiness and fullness be forced through the narrow medium of a human mind that spells duality, division, disintegration?

The Fundamental Nature of the Infinite and Eternal

The ideas of infinity, eternity, perfection, and the like, exist in controversy. They are rightly identified with the primal cause of all existence, which, in religion, is called God. It should be anomalous to attribute infinity, eternity, perfection, to anything unlike God, since these ideas do not permit identification with that which is relative.

When he cried out, "Oh that I knew where I might find him! that I might come even to his seat!" (Job 23:3) Job was awakening to the fact that there was something to himself that was identified with majesty and excellency, glory and beauty, which could not be within his human and material sense of self. Otherwise there could not have been that yearning to come to the seat or source of Life abundant and everlasting.

There is an enduring interest in the Bible on the part of humanity. How is this explained? It is innate in oneself. As God is Truth, one finds in one's understanding of God the truth about oneself. In this understanding of Truth one can avail oneself of God's power to be freed from anything un-Godlike or untrue. The Bible is the inexhaustible storehouse for the knowledge of God.

The Bible's Two Approaches

Generally speaking, the Old Testament presents this endeavor—the endeavor to understand God and oneself—from a personal point of view: that of a human person having a glimpse of God's fullness, assuming the material world to be an entity of itself, and attempting to materialize and humanize the divine by channeling it through the pipe line of personal sense. The results thus obtained, although sometimes gratifying for the time being, have nevertheless elements of uncertainty and lack of continuity.

Here is the reason for the cross made well-intended thought has to bear, until the day it sees its mistake. Starting out from a material person, the attempt is made to reduce the spiritual to the material, the divine to the human. This is not only vain; it also penalizes the one who is trying to do it, being an attempt to dethrone Deity.

The New Testament exemplifies the Christ-method of finding God. Christ Jesus saw the mistake of a personal, material approach. He rectified it by letting a personal, material sense of existence yield to the divine. Hereby he was enabled to see the fallacy of a material world as an entity in which God's goodness and fullness must be reduced to terms of matter and person in order to be experienced. While admitting that the real universe, or kingdom of heaven, was outside of material, personal sense, he knew that it was within the spiritual or real sense of oneself.

Exemption from Inferiority Complex

The suggestions of human personal restriction and inferiority, which might be called "the prince of this world," did not bother him. They found nothing in him, because he discerned that they referred to a human concept about himself, not to his true and only selfhood. He looked out from the source of all existence and found himself in and as divine knowledge, or son of God. Inevitably this gave his "I" an entirely new meaning.

He knew himself identified with the Christ, the "I" that was "before Abraham was." He did not hesitate to declare that he was "the resurrection and the life," the life that never will die. Therefore he could raise the dead and heal the sick. He knew himself one with the Father, the source of all wisdom and intelligence. Thus he was able to teach "as one having authority, and not as the scribes." He acknowledged that he was "the bread which came down from heaven," and this enabled him to feed the multitudes. His "I" was his understanding, loving, constant selfhood, forever the experience and expression of the abundant, infinite, inexhaustible, divine Life or God.

He exemplified that one can attain and show forth only that which one already spiritually is. The acknowledgment of oneself as the true idea of God, rather than the endeavor as a human person to attain it, is the Christianly scientific method constituting the soul and substance of the New Testament.

Decline and Rise

Sad to say, after some centuries, the healing evidences of primitive Christianity disappeared almost entirely. It was not God changing and withholding a precious gift, as has been averred. "The Father of lights" is indeed invariable and immutable, as James had perceived. The corruption of the church was the culprit, whereby the Master's teachings were misinterpreted along the lines of the Old Testament's personal approach.

With the discovery of the Science of Christianity, a truly new era has arrived, comparable in importance only with the advent of Christianity itself. It happened, according to human reckoning, in the 1860th year since the Nazarene's birth; the person who brought the revelation was called Mary Baker Eddy; and the place was the United States of America. There is reason to believe that the changes brought about in the world during the eighty years after the discovery of Christian Science are at least as important as during the eighteen centuries before this truly world-shaking event. Also, the world's concept of Mrs. Eddy has notably altered from thinking of her as the head of a small religious group, to the revered Founder and Leader of a world-wide movement gathering in impetus continually. It is not accidental, either, that the United States of America, in 1866 still a second-rate power mainly concerned with caring for its own vast and greatly undeveloped territory, has risen to a unique world prominence.

Impetus through Reconciliation of Science and Religion

In the second half of the nineteenth century, material rationalism, expecting to explain and solve everything from a material basis, was reaching its zenith and nearing its decline. At the same time scholastic theology had lost much of its appeal. In this transitional period for both science and Christianity, suddenly shone forth with apocalyptic effulgence the Science of Christianity, heralded by a noble, cultured, and deeply religious American woman.

With her discovery, and especially with the publication of her main work, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," the atmosphere cleared. The Master's healing and redeeming ministrations reassured themselves with irresistible urge. As a result, health and release have been brought to countless thousands who had been given up, either by the medical faculty as incurably ill, or by the clergy as hopelessly sinful.

Religion and Science were reconciled, whereby both gained in clarity and efficiency. Through discernment of the scientific nature of Christianity, prayer was lifted from the realm of faith to that of spiritual understanding, where healing operates according to divine law. Christianity's infinite possibilities were stressed. The promise of "greater works" given by Christ Jesus showed signs of fulfillment. Is it not possible to conceive of these "greater works" as the action of the Christ in the healing of the world's international and interracial relations?

The understanding that all true Science must be and is Christian is equally significant. The material concept of science has more and more brought out the misuse of modern inventions. Think of the airplane and atomic force. How beneficent they could be if their use were not perverted for the most destructive of purposes! Understanding that in such instances it is dealing with perversions of the only true Science that is Christian, mankind will arise in protest against being subjugated to the infamies of the carnal mind under the guise of science. Humanity's thought will be permeated more and more with the love and power of Christ. And the result will be adequate means of protection against such destructive tendencies, until they fade out altogether.

America's Spiritual Value

The United States of America will be evermore cherished as the cradle of the Christian Science movement. It is more than a vast and rich territory, peopled by a teeming population which has preserved, to a remarkable degree, the enthusiasm of youthfulness and the true sense of adventure, leading to breath-taking inventions and enterprises. Yes, there is far more to America than you can see with the human eye and hear with the human ear!

America is a state of thought, liberated to a considerable extent from the restrictions of a material, earth-bound sense of existence. This is the way its riches and its capacity of generous giving, so conspicuously displayed nowadays, should be interpreted. America was born of an ideal, the American Dream, as it has been called—the ideal of freedom and equality of opportunity, dreamed by oppressed people in many nations. The Christliness and fortitude of the Founding Fathers still permeate and inspire that state of thought we call America.

Here, and it could not have been anywhere else, we see efficient originality of thought, Christian animus, and daring vision, not only for the Christian Science to be discovered and founded, but also to be spread with active, loving, generous support all over the civilized world.

The Mother Church and Manual

Here it was that Mrs. Eddy, in 1892, could found The First Church of Christ, Scientist. The Mother Church, as she tenderly called this church, is the outcome of her understanding of God's motherhood. God's motherhood reveals the unreality of evil. It is one of the greatest contributions, if not the greatest, to the understanding of the scientific nature of Christianity and the life abundant it discloses.

Even a human mother, as best she can, keeps the concept of her beloved child clear from any sense of imperfection, lack, evil. Our Mother-God, the fount of existence, takes cognizance only of its own infinite, eternal, and therefore indestructible, inexhaustible nature, and of nothing else.

The understanding of this fact makes us see that evil and restriction are deprived of power, intelligence, or presence. What then remains to evil and restriction, that which is unlike God or infinite good? Nothing but an illusion. And Christian Science disposes of the illusion in no uncertain terms (Retrospection and Introspection by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 64): "Since there is in belief an illusion termed sin, which must be met and mastered, we classify sin, sickness, and death as illusions. They are supposititious claims of error; and error being a false claim, they are no claims at all."

The Manual of The Mother Church, which Mrs. Eddy gave for its guidance and for the development of the Christian Science movement, was the result of her ardent prayers to bless humanity. This codification is of singular significance not only for the movement itself, but also for the world-government that the United Nations are endeavoring to establish.

The government of The Mother Church evidences in a unique manner the self-perpetuating nature of divine Principle. This is illustrated by Mrs. Eddy's permanent place as Leader and by The Christian Science Board of Directors, a self-perpetuating body appointed by her for safeguarding the Manual's wise provisions and their proper execution.

The branch church government is democratic, exemplifying the equality of man in the understanding that all have equal opportunity to acknowledge and show forth in daily experience their divine sonship.

A combination of striking originality is thus operating in the Christian Science movement, which makes its rules both direct and efficient.

Spiritual Leadership

Mrs. Eddy proved herself to be the right kind of Leader. The essence of true leadership is set forth in her admonition, "Follow your Leader only so far as she follows Christ"—a statement occurring twice in her published works: Message to The Mother Church for 1901 (p. 34) and repeated in the Message for 1902 (p. 4). The Christian Scientist is following her in recognizing himself in terms of divine idea and by letting go of a material, personal sense of self that spells poverty, lack, sin, disease, death.

Mary Baker Eddy's leadership was the result of her willingness to subjugate the human to the divine. She was God-chosen, because she humbly chose God to be her inspiration, her origin, her All.

What a contrast between the Leader of the Christian Science movement and those two men who, in the languages of their nationality, perhaps in unconscious mimicry, assumed the same title, Il Duce and Der Fuehrer! Their careers were the outcome of the deification of matter. Mrs. Eddy showed forth the operation of the divine Principle that is both Spirit and Love. She brought peace, lack, war, misery. Mrs. Eddy is reverently remembered as the means whereby Christian Science came to mankind to wipe out the restrictions and pains of material, personal sense and reveal life abundant, poised and secure.

Changing One's Concept

Security, poise, and abundance seem sometimes to be sadly absent. Those who cross the ocean have occasion to observe this when the wind blows and huge waves lash the ship. One is struck by the contrast between the propitious forces of nature, which seem to be wasted in aimlessly throwing up the water, and what appears as one's own frail self tossed around in the boat.

What can he do about this situation? He is not a god who can will a change of the wind or of the moving of the waters. King Canute illustrated to his flatterers, by telling the waves to recede. They did not obey, and he got wet feet. However, the one who has discovered the scientific nature of Christianity and its effectiveness can do one thing, if he knows enough to do it. He can change his concept about the wind, the sea, and above all, about himself.

Here we have arrived at an important milestone on our quest to find Life abundant and to get rid of life penurious.

Consciousness Fundamental

The least one can do is to change one's concept, and this is also the most fundamental thing one can do. Why? Because consciousness is basic to all existence. Without consciousness, no existence. Matter is hereby reduced to a materially mental concept. And matter is brought within the scope of one's ability to change the concept, and therefore the evidence, which claims, as matter, to exist externally and thereby independently. As the concept changes, the evidence changes, for they are one and the same thing.

Everything considered external to oneself, animate or inanimate, is therefore permitted to act either in conformity with or adversely to one's highest interests, as one thinks rightly or wrongly about it. Our experience improves proportionally as our thinking improves. All this becomes plain through the recognition, stressed over and over again in Christian Science, that all is mental and included in consciousness.

Fact and Fable

Of course, the mental nature of existence has been recognized outside of Christian Science. Mrs. Eddy saw more deeply than this. Her spiritual sense made her discern that all that is reduced to mentality is not of equal value. She came with the fan of Science to separate fact from fable.

Fact is everything proceeding from the primal fount of being, everything understood as infinite, eternal, ever-present, inexhaustible, and thereby available to all as infinite good. Fable is that which appears as divergent from and contrary to this infinite good, by way of sin, sickness, death, destruction, limitation, lack, fear.

We can intelligently change our concepts in Christian Science, because God's nature is the unerring, unchanging, unequivocal standard for our discrimination. Once the separation is made, once it is clearly understood that infinite good is the only reality, substance, life, and that evil is the spurious misconception about good and not an entity apart from God, then we see that we can leave everything safely in the hand of God.

In the presence of good understood as God, and firmly maintained in the face of evil's suggestion, evil cannot survive. It fades out. The only chance evil has to maintain itself is by being self-deceived in believing that it is real. When confronted with Truth, evil's self-deception becomes impossible.

Briefly stated, the above constitutes the Christ-method of healing, practiced by the Master and nowadays repeated in the Christian Science prayer or treatment. With profound spiritual insight, in "Unity of Good" Mrs. Eddy sums it up as follows (p. 11): "Jesus taught us to walk over, not into or with, the currents of matter, or mortal mind. . . . He annulled the laws of matter, showing them to be laws of mortal mind, not of God. . . . He demanded a change of consciousness and evidence, and effected this change through the higher laws of God. . . . Jesus stooped not to human consciousness, nor to the evidence of the senses. . . . He said that the kingdom of heaven is here, and included in Mind."

Meaningful Illustration

Let us, by way of illustration and application, give our special attention to the episode when Jesus was in a boat with his disciples and "there came down a storm of wind on the lake." See Luke 8:22-25. The situation was serious as the boat filled with water. Evidently undisturbed, the Master slept quietly. When the picture became too fearful, the disciples awakened him, crying out, "Master, master, we perish." They were so engrossed in their own personal sense of things that they disregarded his peaceful resting. Evidently un-ruffled, he arose, and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water; and they ceased, and there was a calm.

An entire devotion to and identification with the Christ, Truth, bore rich fruitage in this case, as in many other cases. Christ Jesus changed his concept. Or, perhaps, to put it more correctly, he had not taken in the human concept which evidently the disciples had accepted. They thought of themselves as persons in a small craft on a boisterous sea, with ominous possibilities. If this mental picture had been believed by the Nazarene as the actuality of existence, he could not have brought about a change.

However, the four Gospels bring out that Jesus knew the eternal facts and values of existence never to be in personal, material pictures. He knew that the power displayed by the wind could not be destructive, because God is all-power, and God never destroys or mars one iota of His creation. In the Glossary of Science and Health, you find the truth about "wind" (p. 597), "That which indicates the might of omniscience and the movements of God's spiritual government, encompassing all things." He knew the truth about water or sea as Mrs. Eddy did when referring (ibid., p. 576) to "the Peaceful Sea of Harmony." Moreover, Jesus knew the real nature of man as (ibid., p. 475) "the compound idea of God, including all right ideas. The heaven of all right ideas within has no clashing of elements, no fear of destruction."

Finally, the Master must have realized that with his prayer or treatment he should not make the attempt to change, or to ask God to change, certain material external conditions. He knew that he was dealing with a misconception which had suggested itself to his disciples. They had ignorantly taken in this suggestion, and thus it had externalized itself in the fearful way it did.

The sudden change of the picture from anxiety to calm was both inevitable and natural, although amazing to the immature thought. "What manner of man is this! for he commandeth even the winds and water, and they obey him." Christ Jesus knew that he was God's man, not the offspring of a mortal. Christian Science has revealed that God's man is the only kind of man there is.

The Christ not Crucified

In this sanctuary of spiritual understanding, Christian Science joyously proclaims that we do not have to go through a long-drawn-out process of suffering before we understandingly experience the "manner of man" we are. The Christ was never crucified, because the Christ is (Science and Health, pp. 583, 332) "the divine manifestation of God," "the divine image and likeness." As evil has never touched the inexhaustible fount of Being, the Christ, its divine manifestation, has never been tinged by any limitation, lack, destruction. This is why the fleshly sense of existence, or error incarnate, is destroyed when confronted with the Christ. The Christ, by majestically, lovingly, everlastingly remaining itself in complete integrity, makes it impossible for incarnate error to persist.

All crucifixion is in a material, personal concept of the Christ, or true spiritual manhood, called Jesus or any other human name, then or now. Yes, the material, personal concept is the crucifixion itself. Your and my real selfhood dwells forever in the sanctuary of our Father-Mother God. Resurrection and ascension, in the Nazarene's life, even as in yours and mine, are the divinely ordered steps of progressive liberation from an impoverished and impoverishing material, personal sense of existence. In the culmination of the ascending thought, we know ourselves as God knows us—as Mind's infinite manifestation. Here is salvation!

No Solution within Problem

This leads us to a truth of tremendous practical value: the solution of a problem is never within the problem itself. Every child, consciously or unconsciously, recognizes this when using the multiplication table for solving a problem presented by accepting a mathematical mistake as true. The mathematical principle does not know a thing about his mistakes. These mistakes are not a part of mathematics; they are just mistakes about mathematics. This is why its principle operates unerringly.

We should be reminded of this when dealing with problems presenting themselves as our own personal difficulties and those of the world in which we appear to be living. Mankind has been singularly unsuccessful in solving its problems, although it has displayed a great amount of right endeavor.

The basic problem being the suggestion that man has a human mind inside a material body, the attempt to solve his problems upon this assumption is a failure from the start. In considering himself materially and personally, he has placed himself right inside of the problem.

In Christian Science comes the solution when recognizing that man is infinite idea, the expression of the Principle that never knew of or was touched by a problem. In this recognition of man's true selfhood, the omnipotence of God becomes directly and fully available to heal the problem of itself.

More and more, the Christian Scientist should be able to deal successfully with all problems, whether they present themselves as an indisposition of a person or as a picture of a world in trouble. In both cases, one is confronted with something unlike God, with a misconception which, having no entity at all, is neither small nor great. The prevalent sense that the solution is much easier in the first case than in the second should be handled as a spurious suggestion, not as a fact. In this way, one will be encouraged to know daily the truth in Christian Science about world problems, greatly to the benefit of humanity.

"The day of the Lord"

Such work is most needed at a time when the world is confronted with the prophecy of widespread destruction caused by atomic force. That is the modern name for it. However, it is far from the first time in human history that wholesale annihilation has been envisaged. The material sense of existence has had periodically inklings of its impending doom.

In the past, it has been referred to more accurately as the coming of "the day of the Lord." The Second Epistle General of Peter mentions this in a description which reminds one of what happened in Hiroshima, the Japanese city suddenly turned into fiery rubble. Peter warns (3:10), "The day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up." Evidently, "the day of the Lord" is the recognition of the Lord's substantiality that has come in Christian Science, and the total unreality of matter. "Matter and mortal mind are one; and this one is a misstatement of Mind, God" (Unity of Good, p. 35) is Truth's verdict about matter.

Christian Science has exposed the greatest hoax ever perpetrated upon poor humanity—the vindication of matter's substantiality. This exposure means the end of everything, according to material sense. However, this is far from being the end of anything for those who know better. Peter knew enough to assure, after pointing to the inevitable event of "the day of the Lord," "Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness" (II Pet. 3:13), that is, heaven and earth not as they appear mis-stated by material sense, but as they are from the standpoint of Spirit, as infinite, indestructible, spiritual ideas.

The Truth about Atomic Force

As Spirit, Mind, is the only real power, the only reality anywhere, Mrs. Eddy, with her unusual gift for spiritual analysis—surpassing the nuclear-splitting ability of the modern physicist—stated more than fifty years before the so-called atomic era (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 190): "Atomic action is Mind, not matter. It is neither the energy of matter, the result of organization, nor the outcome of life infused into matter: it is infinite Spirit, Truth, Life, defiant of error or matter." Here is the actual and only truth about atomic force and action. The word "atom" literally meaning that which cannot be further divided into smaller pieces, the only actual atomic force is the indivisible power of divine Mind, or Love, which is always constructive.

Where, then, is the danger of atomic force? Not in the force itself. The danger is in the accepted suggestion claiming that you and I are human persons dwelling in a material universe. It is obvious that the idea of eternal life cannot be annihilated by any force, atomic or otherwise. However, as long as you and I believe we are persons entertaining this idea of Life's eternality, there may be destruction. It looms in the material, personal sense about man; in fact, this mistaken sense constitutes the destructibility from the start. Knowing that man is God's idea, not a person endeavoring to know it, places one in the realm of "new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness," not fear and destruction!

Recent disclosures about nuclear force certainly point to the availability of life abundant, when misconceptions about life and true substance are removed. Matter is a misstatement. The physicist, dealing with matter as an entity, has been splitting its nucleus in order to do away with matter. That is the fact, although he does not know it; and he still believes that the immense force thus liberated was inherent in matter itself.

Mrs. Eddy approached the subject in the only scientific attitude and in the only realm where it could be solved—in the realm of mentality. Her spiritual analysis was the two-edged sword of Truth dividing asunder every material phenomenon, revealing true substance as spiritual, that is, infinite, eternal, inexhaustible, and always at hand for the one knowing this.

The Penury of Matter Substance

Those at the helm of the nations of the world should discern this. Your and my understanding of it will remove the mists suggesting that they cannot or do not see it. Until now, economics has been kept almost exclusively in the impoverishing concept that matter is substance and that man is an animated material entity. No wonder that most nations, with a few notable exceptions, are economically in deep waters!

In order to remedy their shortages, they have followed two courses equally inadequate. Either they have taken away from other nations by force the goods that were needed, or they have been dividing into ever smaller bits whatever seemed to be materially available. The results have been plainly unsatisfactory. We are witnessing the misery and dismal conditions of the nations which practiced the first method, and which are now defeated. But also in many nations which stood for the right, conditions are very difficult. Rations have been reduced over and over again and are lower now in some instances than during the war. And the way out by no means always seems plain to those in authority or the others concerned.

Let the statesmen and economists and others turn to the four Gospels. We find there the only true economy—that of Spirit. The Nazarene was the greatest economist that ever lived, and through Christian Science we are able to obtain similar results to his by following his methods. When confronted with what humanly appeared as severe shortage of food—he was told that there were only five barley loaves and two small fishes available for a great multitude; see John 6:2-13—he did not ask for a knife, and he did not begin to cut each loaf of bread and each fish in a thousand parts, which never would have satisfied anyone.

No, he looked away from the mortal picture and thanked God for what he knew was the actual, inexhaustible, spiritual substance of existence. Thereby the suggestion of personal, material sense, which is the hunger and lack, was excluded to the vanishing point. Satisfaction reigned and hunger was stilled, not primarily because of the material appearance of the loaves and fishes, but because of the spiritual understanding there demonstrated. When it is more clearly understood that the experience of life abundant does not take place through a material medium, but directly as divine manifestation, the medium will conform more and more to the divine fact, and material commodities will appear plentiful and their distribution equitable.

Final Conclusions

Drawing to the conclusion of this hour, a few points stand out for being briefly summarized.

First of all, we should see clearly that we are living in a realm of mentality wherein matter represents not substance but restriction. Also, that personal sense is not individuality, only a mistaken sense of it. Unless we discern the mental nature of existence, we cannot bring our so-called material problems under the scope of the Christian Science prayer or treatment.

In the second place, let us remind ourselves often that the solution of the problem is never from within the problem, and that we place ourselves within the problem by accepting the mortal picture about ourselves as human persons. The disciples and their boat filled with water figuratively present the human concept of existence. Why should we place ourselves mentally in that perilous vessel? Therefore, let us declare and understand that man is God's infinite idea, here and now; that man was never anything else; and that this status is intact and universal.

In the third place, as God's infinite idea, man is not separated from the good, the joy, the happiness, the life abundant of others. In its real sense, existence is not personal; it is one and infinite, and allness is its measure. Let us rejoice in the good of others as much as in our own good, because really it is all of one, and therefore inseparable from us. The good we receive, the good we give, does not come from persons and does not go to persons. It is most liberating and enriching to know this, when we give and when we receive.

And finally, let us never believe that anything which is divinely derived needs to be channeled through the narrow, leaking pipe line of personal sense in order that it can reach us. The good that is God, and that is the only good, being spiritual, is both inexhaustible and ever present. It does not have to come from the outside, because man is the expression of this spiritual good already as the son of God. There is not God and I and a channel between; "Principle and its idea is one, and this one is God, omnipotent, omniscient, and omnipresent Being, and His reflection is man and the universe" (Science and Health, pp. 465, 466).

In joyfully, lovingly, understandingly acknowledging our integral spiritual status, we lay down the tatters of fear and greed, lack and division. We are already deeded "with majesty and excellency," arrayed "with glory and beauty;" and that the "I" proceeding from the Father-Mother God now expresses Life abundant.

LIBRARY NEWS

Winchester Great Books Discussion Group

The New England town-meeting has long been the cause of both pride and envy in the rest of the nation; pride because it reflects democracy at its roots; envy, because the town-meeting in New England means active citizen participation rather than passive delegation.

In education likewise, there are two schools. Learning may be active, or it may be passive. Now an ancient and honored mode of education is being revived in cities, towns and villages from Maine to Texas and from Philadelphia to San Francisco. Sometimes it is called the Great Books program and sometimes it is called the Socratic method. Just as the New England town meetings endeavor to confront citizens with the issues of the community which call for understanding and decision, so the great books endeavor to confront men and women with the "great issues," not of a single time or place, but of mankind, anywhere, throughout all time.

A little over a year and a half ago the Great Books program, which is part of the University of Chicago's adult education program, was introduced into the Boston area by the formation of the Great Books Committee of Greater Boston with headquarters at the Boston Public Library. Since that time over a hundred persons have taken the leadership training and are conducting Great Books discussion groups in libraries, churches, schools and community centers throughout greater Boston and as far as Marshfield, Newburyport, Marblehead and North Andover. Their function is to ask questions about the book which stimulates discussion and brings better understanding of what the author says and what he means by what he says. Participation in a Great Books group assists people to develop their skills, namely, to read more closely, to listen to others more tolerantly, and to express their own opinions more coherently.

Winchester citizens now have an opportunity to join in a Great Books program of community reading and discussion. Miss Sally Wund, 25 Fletcher street and Richard A. Novak, 18 Park street, both of Winchester have taken Great Books Leadership training in Boston and are interested in forming a group. The Winchester Public Library will make the facilities of the Library available for a meeting place and will take the names of persons interested in joining. Telephone Winchester 6-1106. The first meeting will be held Thursday, December 8 at 7:30 P. M. at the Winchester Public Library.

ART ASSOCIATION MEMBERS TO HEAR TALK ON STAINED GLASS

Wilbur Herbert Burnham of Boston, designer and master craftsman of stained glass, will be the speaker at the December meeting of the Winchester Art Association at the art gallery of the Public Library on Tuesday evening, December 6, at 8 o'clock.

This should prove to be a most interesting address. Mr. Burnham is recognized as an outstanding authority on the subject of stained glass, with all phases of which he has been associated since his art school days.

He has studied the shrines of stained glass, those great medieval cathedrals of Europe, and has been commissioned to design windows for the finest cathedrals and churches in the United States.

His lecture is illustrated by hand-colored slides, showing many of the wonderful medieval windows as well as some of his own notable works, all beautiful examples of pure translucent color. Among his contributions to the stained glass art are windows in Washington Cathedral, Washington, D. C.; Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York City; Riverside Church, N. Y.; St. Mary's Redford Church, Detroit; Princeton University Chapel, Church of St. Vincent de Paul, Los Angeles, Cal.; and St. Mary's Cathedral, Peoria, Ill. In Winchester his windows are in the First Congregational Church (War Memorial Chapel Window) and in the Unitarian Church (War Memorial Cloister Windows).

In 1930 Mr. Burnham was awarded a gold medal by the Boston Tercentenary Art Exposition, in 1937 he received the Diplôme de Médaille d'Argent, Paris Exposition, and in 1947 he was awarded the Craftsmanship Gold Medal of the American Institute of Architects for his distinguished work in stained glass.

Born in Boston, Mr. Burnham began his work in stained glass while still a student at the Massachusetts School of Art. He has advanced to the very front rank of his profession and was elected president of the Stained Glass Association of America in 1939, 1940 and 1941. His studies are at 1126 Boylston street, Boston, and his son, Wilbur Herbert Burnham, Jr., is associated with him there.

NEIGHBORING COMMUNITY CONCERTS

A cordial invitation to their Community Concert Series in Marblehead, Gloucester, and Lowell has been received by Miss Adelaide Homer, president of the Winchester Smith College club, for the Winchester series subscribers. Winchester tickets will be honored at the Marblehead High School auditorium at 8:30 P. M. on December 5 when Eileen Farrell, soprano will appear. On February 15 they will present Ricardo Odnoposoff, brilliant violinist, and on April 14 the smash hit duo piano team of Whittemore and Lowe. These concerts are all scheduled for 8:30 P. M.

The Gloucester series, which begin at 8:15 P. M., will present the de Paur Infantry Chorus on December 7, the Barry Ensemble on January 10, and William Shatzkaner, pianist, on February 20.

Local subscribers are also invited to use their tickets in Lowell on the evening of December 6, when the de Paur Infantry Chorus makes its appearance. Winchester is indeed grateful to these other communities for their invitations, since it is impossible for us to reciprocate because of our limited space in the high school auditorium.

M. S. P. C. A.

Winchester Auxiliary - For all calls phone LOnwood 6-6100.

The regular monthly meeting of the Winchester Auxiliary of the M. S. P. C. A. was held at the home of Mrs. John H. Clarke, 149 Highland Avenue on November 17th, at 2:30 P. M.

Several important matters of business were discussed, and it was agreed that there is great need for an animal shelter in Winchester. Many stray animals are found each week, some in need of care. In the past the Winchester animal shelter could take these cases, now Boston must be called, with loss of time for the animals and consequent hardship. What is the answer? The Winchester Auxiliary feels the work must go on here and some one competent to run a shelter is necessary. It will be difficult to find anyone as interested and competent as Mr. Arthur Bryer who did such fine work with the animals, but the Auxiliary has that goal in view and is working toward it.

Are the animal lovers in Winchester interested in that need, and are they ready to contribute toward the support of it? If so contact Mrs. John H. Clarke WI 6-2444, or Miss Evelyn Parker WI 6-1238.

A pleasant social hour followed the business meeting and a delicious "tea" was served by Mrs. Clarke, with her daughter, Dorothy assisting.

1950 Standard Diaries now on sale at Wilson the Stationer, Star Bldg., Church street.

GREAT BOOKS DISCUSSION

Mr. Howard R. Bartlett and Mr. Richard A. Novak of Winchester are members of the Great Books Committee of Greater Boston. Former residents of the town also active in this committee are Mr. Georges Houle and Mr. John M. Kingman. E. Everett Clark, Director of the Division of University Extension of the Massachusetts Department of Education is the chairman of the Great Books Committee. Headquarters for this committee are at the Boston Public Library.

Winchester is to have its own discussion group of Great Books. Miss Sally Wund and Mr. Richard Novak, Winchester residents who have taken the leadership training course of the Great Books Foundation, will be the leaders of the local group.

The first meeting of the Winchester group will be held at the Public Library next week Thursday evening, December 8 at 7:30 P. M. All Winchester adults are cordially invited to join this discussion group if they are interested in reading selections from many of the Great Books of all time and joining in group discussion. No special educational qualifications are necessary for participation in the local group. Willingness to read, to express your views, and to face new ideas are the only requirements.

Why not come to the first meeting and help formulate plans for a winter of profitable reading and stimulating discussion?

Students' Room

The exhibit in the Students' Room should be of real interest to young nature lovers. From this special book collection, you will not only be able to learn a great deal about birds, but also you may become fascinated enough to decide to make a hobby of building bird houses or feeding the birds. Birdlore covers a wide range of subjects as seen by this sampling of books to be found in the library: "Bird Hiking," "Field Book of Wild Birds and Their Music," "Bird Studies with a Camera," "Bird Nests," "How to Attract Birds," and "Best Bird Stories I Know."

Let books help you with Christmas suggestions - how to make gifts for Christmas - new ideas for home decorations - your own greeting cards, etc.

Twenty-ton motor truck crane being used by the Boston and Maine Railroad to expedite a track resurfacing job between Winchester and Winter Hill. After rails and ties had been removed, the crane, with a bucket attachment, lifted out the old ballast and loaded it on dump trucks, new ballast being hauled in on other trucks.

Resurfacing of the Boston and Maine Railroad's double track between Winter Hill and Winchester, has been accomplished this year, with the replacement of worn ties by new treated ties, and the addition of new stone ballast. New 115-pound rail was installed earlier to replace 100-pound rail.

Between stations the track was raised approximately four inches by the installation of new stone ballast but through stations, where the track level could not be raised, the old ballast was cribbed out and replaced by new rock ballast. Butt welded rails also were laid through stations.

Because of the heavy commuter traffic handled both mornings and afternoons, the work of cribbing and replacing the ballast under bridges through station platforms, and so forth, is being done at night.

At Winchester the work was scheduled between the morning and afternoon rush hours, one track being taken out of service at a time, rails and ties removed and the old ballast dug out, using a new 20-ton motor truck crane which was acquired early this year. The crane was maneuvered on to the track bed and, using a bucket, the old ballast was picked up and deposited into dump trucks, after which the track was relaid, new ballast dumped in, and the track resurfaced.

Resurfacing work was conducted on only one track at a time, thus leaving a free track for either way operation of trains in between the morning and afternoon rush periods.

Approximately 12 miles of single track were involved in the project.

DASCHBACH NOMINATED FOR WEST POINT BY CONGRESSWOMAN EDITH NOURSE ROGERS

James McCloskey Daschbach, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Daschbach of 21 Crescent road, is one of three principals nominated by Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers from the Fifth Massachusetts Congressional District to enter the United States Military Academy at West Point in July, 1950. Daschbach is a member of the senior class at Winchester High School, a good student and popular with his classmates, though not particularly outstanding in student activities.

He was chosen for West Point by Congresswoman Rogers as a result of the recent competitive examination. He and John W. Spinner, Jr., of Graniteville, and Charles Howard Tewksbury of Lowell are the three principals, who will enter West Point unless one or all of them fail in the final examinations, including physical, given by the Military Board. In the event of failure the nine alternate appointees will be considered for the vacancy. A boy from the neighboring city of Woburn, William Jerome Weaver of 35 Bedford road, is third on the list of alternates, with an Arlington boy, John Judson Aikin of 87 North Union street, just above him in second place.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Dutch of Herrick street left Winchester yesterday for Aiken, South Carolina where they will stay at the Hankinson Cottage until the first of April.

LOCAL BOY WINS ATHLETIC AWARD AT HACKLEY SCHOOL

C. Russell Herrmann, son of Mr. Adolph Herrmann of 20 Wildwood street, was among the 122 students at the Hackley School, Tarrytown, N. Y., to be given awards and letters for their work on the football, soccer and cross country squads at the annual fall athletic banquet held this week. Herrmann won his award for his work as guard on the second football team.

At the same banquet, Rev. Donald B. Fitzsimmons of 4 Robinson circle, chaplain at Hackley, presented letters to the members of the varsity soccer team of which he is coach.

MYSTIC GLEE CLUB REPRESENTED AT 40TH ANNIVERSARY

Eight members of the Mystic Glee Club travelled to Beverly a week ago Saturday to sing in the 120 man chorus celebrating the fortieth anniversary of that well known group the Beverly Men's Singing Club.

An afternoon rehearsal of the entire chorus at 3:00 P. M. was followed by a dinner and the concert in the evening in the Beverly High School Auditorium under the direction of Willem Friso Frank. The concert was extremely well attended with close to 1100 people present.

Guest soloist for the evening was Nora Garner Riggs, soprano.

Other clubs assisting the Beverly Men's Singing Club were The Choristers of Beverly, Amphion Club of Melrose, Andover Male Choir, De-

Koven Glee Club of Lynn, and The Mystic Glee Club of Winchester. Members of the Mystic who attended were Pres. Robert O. Carlson, William Everett, Benjamin T. Marshall, Jr., Prof. Miggins, George Niles, Edmund Povey, James Sewall, and R. H. B. Smith.

Conrad A. Rosander, who died Saturday, November 26, in Woburn, was the father of Conrad S. Rosander of Meadowcroft road. The deceased was 72 years old and was for many years until his retirement, connected with the flower growing business.

Greatest Compliment a Car Ever Had!

NUMBERED AMONG THE HAPPIEST Cadillac owners are many, many dealers who sell and service other well-known makes of cars.

They feel perfectly free to avail themselves of Cadillacs because they know that all the world holds Cadillac in a class apart. Hence, it is no reflection on the cars they sell when they seek, for themselves and their families, the exclusive advantages which "the Standard of the World" provides.

This, of course, is the greatest compliment a motor car ever had—and the respect upon which it is founded has been fifty years in the building. Throughout all this time, there has been the strictest adherence to the highest ideals of engineering and production. Not once has the inflexible rule of quality been eased for a single day.

It is a wonderful thing to own such a car. It is a wonderful thing to drive it—to relax in it—and to have it as a cherished possession. All in all, it enhances the enjoyment of the whole day's activities.

We think you would sense all this—and more—after an hour or so at the wheel. Why not come in some day, quite soon—for a ride that's a revelation? We should be happy to have you any time.

Winchester BOY SCOUT News*FELLSLAND COUNCIL AT WEST POINT AFFAIR

The largest delegation of boys and men that any council has ever had present, attended the Wings of West Point conclave in August of this year according to a report recently issued. This event was a ten day training period under the auspices of the U. S. Air Force at Newburg, N. Y. We had a total of 53 men and boys out of a total New England force of 256. The Fellsland delegation flew from Bedford Air Field returning in this manner also. It is possible in the near future that some of these young men will visit various troops in the Council to tell of the fine program they indulged in.

Troop 12 News

Thursday, Thanksgiving-so, no meeting but a report follows of latest activity. Several members of the troop hiked to Camp Rankin in Medford recently which is a favored place with the troop to pass cooking and hiking tests. The troop has stayed overnight there in the past and sought permission to go again shortly perhaps on November 26th. Those boys attending were Ernie Reardon, Tom Gallagher, Ralph Kerrigan, Tim Sullivan who reported the trip, Dick Mawn, Henry Quill, Dave Flaherty, Dick DiMinico, Tom Grace with Denny Doucette and Bob Thorne joining the party at Rankin later since they had already passed the tests but went along just to be with the boys. Arriving at about noon-time, the scouts immediately built improvised fireplaces, pitched pup tents recently bought by the troop and indulged in a scouting game called "Capture the Flag" with patrol pitted against patrol which ended in a draw. Lunch was next on the agenda and as the report of the Tim Sullivan states, "what some scouts had was like a feast for two people with plenty left over". With lunch taking about an hour, including the care and watchfulness in making sure that all fires were out completely and all refuse destroyed, the following tests were passed: Cooking a meal in the open, cleaning up the camp site, and firebuilding. Scout Dick Mawn is leading in the race to pass Second Class to date, while the report continues that scout Laurie Erhard is almost First Class, and that this year looms as the best yet as far as advancement goes. Paul Manus, son of the Doc, and Dick Mawn plus Ed Power have passed Hiking Methods at the last meeting. There are three scouts to date who are studying for the "Ad Altare Dei" award which is administered by his Excellency Richard J. Cushing Archbishop of Boston at the Cathedral each February. This award, briefly, is merited by scouts who exemplify the "Scout Reverent" phase of Scouting. Rev. Fr. O'Neil, Troop Chaplain is assisting the boys in attaining the award. The Scouts who recently were mentioned in this column as having passed their tenderfoot tests have all been awarded their troop numerals, registrations, and badges and are working hard, now on their second class assignments. Scout Tommy Grace has passed second class first aid already to cite one. Troop 12 ends its report with the following: "We want to see more boys who are interested in Scouting and in how it works; boys who want to grow with a young troop, get wonderful training not mentioning the fun, games, rallies and competitive sports and outdoor life. Come to our next meeting." We are indebted to Scouts Gallagher and Power who collaborated on this report.

Scouting Pays in Many Ways
When Eagle Scout Lloyd Nice dove into a lake to fish out a drowning girl he didn't know it at the time but he also came up with a Certificate of Heroism from the Boy Scouts of America, a gold medal and a $500.00 scholarship from the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Lloyd is a member of an Explorer Post sponsored by a local branch of the American Legion in Wisconsin.

Sea Scouts, Ship No. 6 Reporting
Richard Hussey, reporting for Ship No. 6 of the Unitarian Church, Rotary sponsored Unit, says that the Sea Scouts held their last meeting on November 16th and plans for the social and advancement programs were discussed. Scouts attending this meeting were Robert Burnham, Herbert Clark, Douglas Hawkins, Richard Hussey, Jerry Moulton and Richard Phippen. The next meeting was held on December 1st with the Ship welcoming all who are interested. On December 2nd there will be a Senior Scout Dance sponsored by the Fellsland Council Senior Units, which will be held at Lyceum Hall, Winchester Square.

WI 6-1880 JAUDIO-VISUAL AIDS FAIR NOVEMBER 30 AT WYMAN SCHOOL

All Winchester public schools will close early on Wednesday, November 30, to permit teachers to attend an Audio-Visual Aids Fair in the Wyman School Auditorium and kindergarten rooms.

The Fair, open to all interested adults, will feature exhibitions of new equipment in the audio-visual aids field, demonstrations of items of equipment regularly used in Winchester schools, and an address by Carlton W. H. Erickson, Director of the Audio-Visual Aids Center at the University of Connecticut.

Mr. Erickson has been working in the field of audio-visual materials since 1933. He has participated widely in teacher education programs as a junior high school principal, as a director of a public school audio-visual education department, as a state extension lecturer and is at present the director of a university and state-wide audio-visual service center. During World War II, Mr. Erickson was Officer in Charge of the Navy training aids sections at Norfolk, Virginia, and Pearl Harbor.

Elementary school pupils will be dismissed for the day at the usual noon closing time.

Junior high school students will be dismissed at 1:20 p. m.

High school classes will be suspended at 1:30 p. m.

The Audio-Visual-Aids Fair furnishes an excellent opportunity for proponents of more visual education to see the latest type of equipment and to see what has been done in recent years to offset an unfavorable report on this vital phase of education that was set forth in the School Survey by Dr. John Guy Fowlkes in 1944. The Fair also furnishes an opportunity to see that audio-visual-aids are not merely for entertainment, but are integral parts of the instruction.

Frank Weafer, teacher of high school mathematics, is Director of Audio-Visual Aids.

CMDR. JOHNSON LECTURE GREAT SUCCESS

Mr. Lyndon B. Burnham was the genial master of ceremonies during the half hour drawing for the eight turkeys given away at the close of Cmdr. Irving Johnson's "Yankee's Wander-World" film lecture last Tuesday evening at the Winchester High School auditorium. The turkeys were all donated through the generosity of local markets, and proceeds from the entire evening's events were for the benefit of the Winchester Scholarship Foundation.

In her well worded introduction of Cmdr. Johnson, Mrs. George A. Marks, president of the Winchester Mothers' Association, pointed out the very important and worthwhile work of the Scholarship Foundation, and for the first time announced the new sustaining memberships in the Foundation which are now available to all persons interested to pay three dollars or more per year for such memberships. This arrangement enables more individuals to contribute to and share in the work of this great enterprise.

Cmdr. Johnson's beautiful films and informative as well as amusing commentary were extremely well received, and Mrs. John S. Swift and her able committee are to be congratulated on this popular project. The committee acknowledges gratefully the installation of the loud speaker system by the Winchester Appliance Company without charge. Users for the evening were Richard D. Bolster, William Haggerty, Frederick M. Ives, Jr., K. W. MacArthur, Dr. George A. Marks, Benjamin T. Marshall, Jr., and Philip P. Wadsworth.

TO VISIT HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. Norton I. Demsey, Jr., director of guidance at the Winchester High School, will have as his guest next Tuesday, December 6 Miss Nancy Lee Clark, assistant to the director of admissions at Goucher College, Baltimore, Md.

Miss Clark will visit the school at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and talk with girls who are considering Goucher as a possible college choice. A June 1949 graduate of Goucher, Miss Clark assumed her duties as assistant to the college admissions officer last July. She is a native of Idaho, and is the daughter of the former United States Senator from that state, D. Worth Clark.

SEASON'S GREETINGS

For several years we have discussed the preceding year, and our thoughts for the future as pertaining to automobiles. The spirit of Good Will which is so prevalent at this time is the philosophy on which we have endeavored to conduct our dealership.

The automobile business has operated in a so-called "Seller's Market" during the post War period, which meant that we were unable to deliver the car of your choice or even to deliver any car in many instances. During the coming year barring unforeseen circumstances the "Buyer's Market" will return. Once again the choice will be yours as to make of car; body style, color, upholstery, etc. We welcome this situation as we have operated most of our 25 years in Winchester under these conditions.

During the past year we have completed a substantial building addition and have purchased much new equipment to better service your car.

It has been an extremely satisfactory experience for us to represent the fine products and business policies of Ford Motors Co., in Winchester. Without question "The Fashion Car of the Year" with many fine refinements for 1950 is the finest car Ford has produced.

WOBBURN RECOLLECTIONS!

Most every one seems to think this year's was one of the best Winchester-Woburn games ever. From a crowd-pleasing angle it probably was tops. With seven touchdowns made by the two teams there was plenty of scoring, and those long thrilling runs by Co-Captain Bob Seire of Woburn and Captain Paul Amico of Winchester added the final touches. There haven't been too many such in Winchester-Woburn history.

On the record this year is the first time a losing team ever scored as many as 20 points in a Winchester-Woburn game. It is also one of the few times when the team scoring the first points didn't win. Another time was the year "Bill" West's team beat Woburn at Woburn in 1942. Woburn led at the half that time, 3-0, with Winchester finally winning, 13-3, on touchdowns by West and Bob Jackson.

The Winchester coaches would hardly subscribe to the idea that this year's game was one of the best ever. Bitterly disappointed with the playing of their charges in the second and third quarters, they feel that their team played poorly, and was lucky to come as close as it did.

Most people, in recapping the game will feel that Winchester's defensive lapses were responsible for its defeat. The Red and Black has been weak defensively all season, and on Turkey Day against a hard-hitting, inspired, traditional rival it was but natural that this known weakness should prove disastrous.

To our mind the game really hinged on a play early in the second quarter. After Winchester had held Woburn for downs at its seven yard line, Amico got off a good kick out to the 45, on which Seire made a nice run back to the 25. Woburn needed five long yards on fourth down from there and elected to run for them. That was the time a good line would have ragged in there, low and hard, breaking up interference, making it tough.

Nothing like this happened, and "Butch" McLaughlin was able to make those five vital yards that set up the Tanners' first touchdown. What matter if he made them by inches and with plenty of "forward progress" help. He made them, and that is what counted. Woburn was making first downs by scant margins all morning, and Winchester, by the same token, was missing them. That was the difference between the two teams. Woburn wanted the game worse than Winchester did, on the playing field, at least!

If Winchester had stopped McLaughlin short of that first down and taken over, it would have robbed the Orange of a lot of its fire. Having its running game stopped twice in succession down deep in the first half would have been bad for the visitors' morale.

Offensively, despite its three touchdowns, Winchester didn't play good ball. Ordinarily good blocking would have let Devin score on the opening kickoff, and surely would have gotten him all the way on that 37 yard reverse to the Woburn 20 in the opening minutes. The blocker was there on the reverse, but didn't block, failing even to slow up the Woburn tackler.

Again on Woburn's first punt after Winchester was stopped following Devin's run, Amico made a swell 24 yard run back to the Woburn 41 with most of his teammates standing around watching him, and doubtless thinking how well he was running. A couple of hearty blocks in there would have meant a touchdown on this play, as the last man between Amico and a score, "Sonny" Lisacki, brought him down.

Of course those two second quarter fumbles hurt like blazes, for one of them came as Winchester seemed definitely on the march at Woburn's 37, and the second came as the locals were trying to get started on their own 30. Both resulted in Orange scores.

That touchdown on Seire's 65 yard run was a nail in Winchester's coffin, of course, but the one that followed Woburn's second fumble recovery really screwed down the lid on the locals' chances. There was time for only three plays after the kickoff that followed this touchdown which gave the Orange a 19-7 lead at the half. Without that fumble it's dollars to doughnuts Woburn would not have scored again before half time, and one less touchdown would have done it!

Woburn's fourth and if you like, winning touchdown, was set up by a long wobbly pass that an alert defense would have intercepted and probably turned into a touchdown. Winchester's defense, however, wasn't alert, and hadn't been all year. The worst that should have been done on that one was to bat the ball down.

How the atmosphere of the stands changed after Devin's touchdown on that screen pass and Amico's beautiful punt return of 70 yards for a score. On those two quick scoring plays Winchester was bang-smack back in a ballgame, in which up to that time it had been hopelessly outclassed by superior hustle and fight.

And what a finish the game produced. No Winchester-Woburn game has been as tense since the day when Danny O'Brien, Pie O'Connor and the Gonsalves were trying to break a 7-7 tie in the final moments against "Steamer" Hanlon and Gerry Gaffney's team with the ball dangerously close on first down.

When Amico made that first down on the Woburn 4 late in the final quarter it looked like the tying touchdown was in the making. The locals however couldn't open a hole for "Paulie" in two tries at the line, and the hard-running fullback hit both times into the massed Woburn strength instead of veering toward the thin spots.

Of course Winchester did get over on that disputed lateral, which surely didn't go just because it was forward.

If that lateral was forward, and Brother Howe thought it was, it is the first time in the years Winchester has been using that particular play in which the fullback was able to get ahead of the fullback for the pass. And McGowan surely doesn't rate the fleetest of Winchester's tailbacks to handle this particular chore!

Perhaps it was poetic justice or something that "Hump" Howe spotted that forward-lateral, and Amico's good 4th down pass in the end zone wasn't completed. Woburn deserved to win, but it never would have done so without a lot of help from Winchester.

One little guy in the Winchester lineup, "Gene" Rotundi, played his heart out on defense, getting his chance after a lean season when O'Brien and Casey couldn't play.

Coach Knowlton lost "Sandy" Stevenson, big defensive left tackle, Casey, defensive fullback and Clark, reserve end, by scholastic deficiency. Bob O'Brien, speedy halfback, was ill with virus and couldn't play. These boys might have helped some. Casey, at least, has been a defensive standout over the latter part of the season and Stevenson is one of the biggest boys on the squad.

This boy, O'Blines, did a good job of masking the ball on Woburn's running plays. He did little carrying himself, but for all that made a big contribution to the Orange offense.

That was one of the biggest crowds in Winchester-Woburn history. There were 6,000 seats at the field and they were all filled, with surely 2,000 standees around the field.

The hands of both schools did their stuff between the halves, with Woburn's tooters being led by a big heavy of drum majorettes. Winchester put on a symbolic exhibition, with two groups of musicians, one at each end of the gridiron, playing against each other and out of tune. Finally the two groups joined in the center of the field, as symbolic of the United Nations set-up and played together in harmony.

It was a nice gesture, and well thought out, but we imagine just at that time the Winchester stands were in no condition to appreciate the musicians, being stunned by that 19-7 Woburn advantage at the half.

Fortunately nothing much came of the little rowdy-dow caused by the Woburn tooters carrying a dummy of Amico by the Winchester stands between the halves. The police broke up the fracas that started quickly, but would have done better to keep the Woburns and their dummy on their own side of the field.

LENTINE MEDFORD FRESHMAN HOOP COACH

"Andy" Lentine, former Winchester High football captain and ex-Boston College lineman, has been appointed coach of freshman basketball at Medford High School. "Andy" played basketball at Winchester High and New Hampton prep and last year was head basketball coach at Westerly, R. I., High School, a real hotbed of the sport. He didn't particularly like Rhode Island and returned this year to Greater Boston to teach and direct physical education at Roberts Junior High School in Medford. This fall he assisted Henry Knowlton at Winchester as football line coach.

WON HARVARD LETTERS

Three former Winchester football stars, "Chuck" Roche, John West and Sarto Walsh, team-mates on Walsh's great team of 1944, received varsity football letters at Harvard at the recent fall athletic awards. West and Walsh were receiving their first letters but Roche won his big "H" for the fourth time, due to war-time eligibility. "Eddie" Hicks, former football manager at high school and basketball and baseball letter winner, received a letter award as senior associate Manager, meaning he will manage the Crimson varsity in his senior year next season.

You just can't keep Winchester's "Bob" Guild, former Harvard player and coach, away from football. On Thanksgiving he was one of the officials at the Pynchard-Johnson High game in Andover, won by Pynchard 7-0. He was also one of those who froze to death at the B. C. Holy Cross Game at Braves Field last Saturday, which must have been a particularly pleasant pastime for one who loves football as "Bob" does.

WINCHESTER ELKS NEWS

The Lodge has accepted with regrets the resignation of Robert "Sam" Murphy as Trustee of the Lodge. "Sam" feels that because of the time his duties as Commander of the American Legion entail that it is for the best interest of the Elks that he resign his office. We feel that it is the Legion's gain and our loss as Sam is a very conscientious worker.

The tournament is under way again after the Thanksgiving holiday. Winchester journeyed to Everett this week and it will be active each week until Christmas and then will enjoy the holiday season after meeting Woburn on December 21st. It is the understanding of some that the bowling team under the direction of Fred McCormack is getting to be quite the team in the metropolitan area.

The Youth Activity Committee has been revived and the Lodge is looking forward to its progressing with a lively program. It is expected that a great many of the members will participate in the homecoming of District Deputy G. E. R. James Kelleher P. E. R. of Medford Lodge at the Medford Home on next Thursday evening.

Next week will be pretty busy with a Tournament on Monday, meeting on Tuesday and visitation at Medford on Thursday, so we'll be seeing you.

N. E. ELECTRIC ANNOUNCES PERSONNEL CHANGES

Irwin L. Moore, President of New England Electric System, announces the following organizational changes to become effective December 1, 1949:

Newell A. Clark, for the last five years in charge of New England Electric System companies in Western Massachusetts, succeeds Thomas G. Dignan as principal officer of the Mystic Valley and North Shore Districts with headquarters in Malden. Mr. Dignan leaves his present position to take over the presidency of New England Electric System's largest operating subsidiary company, the Narragansett Electric Company in Providence, Rhode Island. He will make his headquarters in Providence.

Newell A. Clark, who comes to Malden to direct the activities of the companies in his area which includes the Arlington Gas Light Company, has been associated with New England Electric System since 1921. After attending Clarkson School of Technology, he began his utility career as a Station Foreman at Bellows Falls, Vermont and has had wide utility experience, particularly the operation of retail gas and electric companies. He is married and has one son, a student at the University of New Mexico. He plans to move into the Malden area in the near future.

EVERGREEN DANCE

The First Congregational Church "Wednesday Night Club" officers and directors have been busily working out arrangements for the annual Evergreen Dance. This gala feature of the holiday season is to be held Friday, December 16th, at the Parish Hall. President Ed Robinson and his group feel that they have some novel ideas which assure a grand party. A rumor has leaked out to the effect that a new standard of excellence in dance music will feature the event. The committee has steadfastly refused to divulge the identity of the band. Reports that the musicians are fugitives from a South Shore Yacht Club have not been denied, however; and someone furtively leaving the Parish Hall late the other evening was overheard whispering about Rhumbas and the Business Man's Bounce!

Some new ideas in refreshments to be arranged by Mrs. Lawrence Pexton, Mrs. Eugene Pollard, and Mrs. George Gowdy sound intriguing. Mr. Otis Jason is directing the efforts of a capable committee to see that a suitable setting is provided. All the arrangements point to an evening to be remembered.

WINCHESTER CUBS VISIT HEADQUARTERS 2234TH AIRFORCE RESERVE TRAINING CENTER AT HANSCOM AIRPORT

On Friday, November 25th the oldest Cub Scouts of Winchester were invited on a field trip to Hanscom Airport in Bedford by Colonel Propst U. S. A. F. Mrs. Kenneth B. Toye, Chairman Military Manpower Committee in Winchester planned the trip with the various Den Mothers and drivers. Mrs. Paul B. Leverette, Mrs. Quentin C. Roberts, Mrs. Leo G. Manoli, Mrs. Wallace Moulding, Mrs. John D. McLean, Mrs. Albert D. Swazey, Mrs. Stephen G. Nichols, Mrs. Nelson K. Brown, and Mrs. Peter A. Murphy. All met behind the Fire Station at 1 P. M. More than 60 Cubs showed up in spite of rainy weather, knowing this was going to be one of the outstanding afternoons of their young lives. And it was!

Lt. Colonel John R. Propst U. S. A. F., Captain Leonard Gray U. S. A. F., 1st Lt. John J. Hamperian U. S. A. F., 1st Lt. Byron E. Kalin U. S. A. F., and 2nd Lt. George Tully U. S. A. F. met us at the Airport and each took a small group on tour. The boys were allowed in the bombers, and each took a turn "piloting" these mammoth planes. This led to a request to "sit in" smaller planes right down to a piper cub being repaired in a hangar. It was fascinating in these hangars, watching the repair crew at work on tremendous ladders and platforms on wheels - not stepping on a single part of the plane while working.

The Link trainer room was tremendously exciting, each boy taking a turn maneuvering a trainer. A few were young Lindberghs and kept the plane steady, but most Cubs had exciting trips of nose dives, tailspins, rolls etc. Sergeant Joseph Bigelow of the P. I. Office here took the names of each on the party.

The tower was worth the 100 stair trip up. The system of signaling planes on and off the field was shown in great detail to the Cubs, and the various lights and weather indicators explained.

Needless to say at least a million questions were asked these officers by the Cubs, and every one most courteously answered. Not for one minute were we made to feel this tour was in the line of duty only, the officers getting a great many laughs with and from the boys. The Cub Mothers were greatly impressed by the genuine friendliness and interest the officers showed toward the children, and were most grateful.

After seeking autographs the Cubs, quite tired and extremely happy, left Hanscom Airport all planning to be future recruits.

WINCHESTER BOYS IN YALE PLAY

Two Winchester boys will take part in the original play entitled "I've Met You Before" to be presented in the Yale University Theatre next Wednesday evening, December 7, as the first major production in the Yale Department for the 1949-50 season.

Ferdinand L. Manning of 28 Symmes road, who is a graduate of Tulane University and a second year student in technical production, is production manager of the new show.

Elbert R. Smith of 17 Bacon street, a Bates College graduate and first year directing student, is a member of the cast.

GIRL SCOUTS

With a fire roaring in the fireplace to warm our toes, the dedication of our Cabin will, on Sunday, December fourth, bring to fulfillment the dream of the entire Council of Girl Scouts!

All leaders and their troops (in uniform), the Council, townspeople who are interested, all who gave of time, money, labor, or goods, as well as representatives of the National Council, will gather together to dedicate our Cabin to and for the Girl Scouts of Winchester.

The Reverend Bailey of the First Baptist Church will give the Invocation... and rightly so, as he has been so cooperative with and understanding of all Scouting aims... Dr. Pollard, of Rotary, will be the narrator and tell briefly the story of how Rotary got behind and pushed, and made our dream come true. He will then introduce our Commissioner, Mrs. George Cary, who will express our appreciation and then turn the Cabin over to the "Junior Council" (which consists of a girl from each troop) which is to set up the rules for use and maintenance of the Cabin... In this way, the girls will be living the Scout laws as well as the democratic principles of Scouting and these United States... Father O'Neill will close the dedication with a fitting benediction, for he, too, is interested in our young people.

If you saw the fine article in the Saturday night Globe, we wish to correct one statement... i. e., that En Ka gave us their entire Street Fair proceeds... This is Not So. All Winchester knows full well that many organizations benefit from the generosity of En Ka... and the Winchester Council of Girl Scouts is but one of the many, and we are grateful for their thoughtfulness.

A Gift Committee has been set up to act as a clearing house for people's generosity... and thus prevent duplication of gifts. If you wish to give any furnishings or such, would you please call any of these members of our Committee... Mrs. George Cary, Winchester 6-1480; Mrs. Maxwell McCreery, Winchester 6-2036; or Mrs. Murray Moore, Winchester 6-1466... Thanks for everything.

UNITARIAN ALLIANCE

On December 13th, Mr. George F. Weston, Jr. will talk on Boston Common and Boston Preferred. This promises to be a wonderful time for us to take stock of Boston. Mr. Weston will talk about sights and sites of old Beacon Hill and the Common with enough of history to explain the places and the people, and enough of humor to prevent boredom.

Everyone is welcome! Luncheon will be served at 1 P. M. Season tickets are $2.00 and may be purchased at the door. Single tickets $1.75.

Members are asked to bring contributions for Displaced Children consisting of needles, common pins, safety pins, sewing cotton, darning wool, soap, wash cloths, and children's new cotton socks up to size 10.

AMERICAN MAGAZINE HAS STORY ABOUT HARVARD PROFESSOR

In the "Interesting People" section of its December issue, The American Magazine features a picture-story about Prof. Pitirim A. Sorokin of Harvard University, who has originated a research center to foster Christian spirit.

With the aid of a $120,000 grant by an anonymous donor, Prof. Sorokin and five assistants are off on a five-year plan to find out how to make Christianity work, relates the magazine. Convinced that too much emphasis is being placed on the negative - crime, war, insanity - the professor is endeavoring to convince people they should adhere to the Christian ideal and turn the other cheek rather than always seek punishment.

Prof. Sorokin resides at 8 Cliff street.

SENIOR FORUM HEARS ABOUT LABRADOR

The Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church met last Sunday for their monthly supper. They assembled in the Ladies' Parlor at 5:30 for a hymn sing accompanied by Mrs. Tarr. At 6:00 p.m. they were provided with sandwiches, hot cocoa, and ice cream served by the supper committee under the leadership of Dorothy Parker and Marjorie Zinn, assisted by Mrs. Carl Zimmerman and a group of mothers. During the supper, a quartet consisting of Sue Melanson and Priscilla Stone, piano, Ed Tarr, trumpet, and Scott Cunningham, saxophone, entertained the group.

Four new members and several visitors were introduced. Nancy Kittell made an important announcement about the Mistletoe Dance coming December 17 with music by the Harmonizers. Treasurer's report was made by Herb Skerry, and a report on the way the offerings are spent on church projects and benevolences by Barbara Macaulay. Douglas Hawkins gave a report from the Service Committee, and on the strength of it the Forum voted to give a Christmas party for a settlement house in Boston, and to continue the work project at Farrington Memorial for the Boston City Missionary Society.

As a speaker they heard Anne Thompson, a Forum graduate of '44 who has recently returned from a year spent at the Grenfell Mission in Labrador. Her talk was intensely interesting and the Forum members responded with many questions about the country and her work there.

Finally the Forum went down to Ripley Chapel for a beautiful candlelight worship service led by Carolyn Padelford and Janet Macaulay, assisted by the Forum choir and a solo by Dotty Brandt.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

The second museum trip of this season was to the Addison Gallery at Andover on Monday, November 21. Nearly fifty members met there to enjoy the fine collection of American Art on display, as well as the talk by the Director of the Gallery, Mr. Bartlett Harding Hayes, Jr. He told us about the work and the philosophy, as he sees it, required in managing a small museum such as the Addison Gallery. At the conclusion of his informal talk, there was ample time to enjoy and see the permanent and special exhibits displayed. At one o'clock, luncheon was served to the members at the Andover Inn.

The third museum trip will be our next meeting, and it will take place at eleven o'clock, Friday, December 9, at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. This promises to be a very special occasion, for Mr. Constable is speaking to us, and his talk is sure to be of great interest and benefit.

An experienced social service worker and Christian educationalist, Dr. Isabelle MacCauley, for ten years in Japan, - most of the time in the Department of Sociology and Applied Christianity at Kobe College, Japan, will speak Thursday evening, December 8th at 8:00 p. m. at the Second Congregational Church of Winchester.

"IT'S THE REAL MCCOY, JACK!"

Philip Chitel, veteran merchant tailor and haberdasher, gives his son, Jack, the word as they examine some of their carefully selected Christmas merchandise at their well stocked Men's Shop on Mt. Vernon Street.

FILLING STATION ATTENDANT SLUGGED AND ROBBED

John Graziano, 21, of 14 Olive street, an attendant at the Jenney Filling Station at the corner of upper Main street and Sheridan Circle, was slugged and robbed at the station by two young men shortly before 8:30 last Saturday morning.

Graziano was knocked unconscious by a blow from behind struck by one of the men. He was discovered shortly before 9:30 by Angelo Amico, 14, of 334 Cross street, who had gone to the station and found the injured attendant just regaining consciousness.

The police were notified and Officers John J. Murray and James E. Flaherty hastened to the station, followed by Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Officer William E. Cassidy in another car. A broken Coca Cola bottle was found on the floor of the station and a window was broken, evidently where the attendant had hit it with his head or with his hand as he fell after being struck by the thieves. Graziano had a bump on his head and one hand was cut and bleeding.

He told the police he had just finished with a customer when a 1935 black Ford sedan pulled into the station, headed in the direction of Winchester. Two young men got out of the car, one in the late twenties and the other apparently in the early twenties. One wore a red hunting jacket and the other a light camel's hair coat.

Graziano had no opportunity to talk to the pair after they entered the station, being struck down from behind and rendered unconscious. A sum of money believed to be between $30 and $35, which he had in his pocket, was gone when he regained consciousness.

An alarm was broadcast by the Police and all departments hereabouts were alerted. Graziano was not seriously injured by the assault.

MRS. DIETZ SOLOIST

On Monday afternoon, November 21, the guests at Llewellyn Lodge in Bedford were entertained at Llewellyn Lodge by the Frances E. Willard Auxiliary of Arlington Heights. Mrs. Llewellyn B. Parsons, president of the Auxiliary, presided and introduced Mrs. Albert G. Dietz of Winchester who delighted the audience with two groups of songs. She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Everett C. Bryant.

Dr. Webster Powell of Belmont was the speaker and his theme was in keeping with the Thanksgiving season. A social hour followed with refreshments served by the Auxiliary.

If you notice a stranger, or strangers, in your neighborhood who seem to be prowling around, or having no particular business there, notify the police at once. Call Headquarters immediately if you notice an unfamiliar car parked for any length of time near your home, with or without the motor running, especially if there happen to be one or two houses nearby where the occupants are not at home. If you see furniture, or other personal effects being taken from houses and the owners do not seem to be in evidence, give the police a ring. Let them investigate immediately any suspicious circumstance you see. They will be glad to do so, and there will be no reproach if the occurrence you report or the person you are suspicious of turn out to be all right. Breaks and robberies have been occurring to a great extent in surrounding communities, and Winchester is commencing to have its quota, to an extent that is causing the local police much concern. Chief Harold has asked the Star to request all residents to call the police number, Winchester 6-1220, any time they see any one or anything that does not look just right. Give the police a chance to do something before it is too late, to prevent, rather than investigate a crime. You will be doing your part as a good citizen if you do.

Elsewhere in this issue notice appears of a meeting of Winchester's Education Forum, to be held at the high school auditorium Tuesday evening, December 13, at 8 o'clock. At this meeting Chairman Speers of the School Committee will lead a discussion on the controversial subject of public school finance, and Dr. Norris, our superintendent of schools, will discuss the methods used for measuring the progress of pupils in the public schools. Here is an opportunity for all of us to get information about school matters from those who should be best qualified to give it. Especially the meeting should provide concrete information about what the local authorities have in mind for school expenditures, always an item of general interest, and now, of vital concern. You owe it to yourself to attend this meeting. Know what is being done and planned. Help shape the town's educational policies by expressing your ideas, before specific action is taken, not by criticizing what is done after it is too late. The school people in Winchester want you to know their story. It will in turn aid them in arriving at their important decisions if they know what the people of the town want, and will pay for!

Attendance at Winchester's football games fell off appreciably this fall, perhaps as much as 40 percent in the opinion of the high school athletic authorities. This is not entirely a reflection of the fact that the school did not have a strong team this year, for in investigation discloses that at most high schools, whether they had a winning team or not, attendance figures were down from 40 to 60 percent. What does that mean? Here, at least, where the high school pays its own way athletically, it means that the school A. A. can not sponsor the program it has been providing for the school students and keep out of the red. Only football and boys' basketball at Winchester High are self-supporting, and from football, largely, and from the big school vaudeville show, come the funds that provide for such sports as baseball, track, tennis, hockey, cross country, golf and all the girls' athletics. Unless something is done to increase the funds available for the athletic program at high school this year, it will have to be drastically curtailed, including all freshman sports. Local athletic authorities find that practically all schools with which Winchester competes get assistance for their athletic programs from their communities. Winchester faces the necessity for such assistance here, or in the alternative, the drastic curtailing of its present comprehensive athletic program. It should be remembered that the good old government takes 20 percent of all athletic receipts just as a starter, that police have to be paid and so do officials, football officials, for instance, from $15 to $25 a game. It takes quite a few paid admissions, less 20 percent of each, to pay these two bills, and others. Why has attendance at football games fallen off? Your guess is as good as ours. Television has helped of course, and one Boston schoolboy sports writer believes fans are not liking two platoon football and the inept attempts of schoolboys to make the "T" offense function. We think he has something there!

FILING DAY FOR LEGISLATIVE PETITIONS DEC. 7

Editor of the Star:

Through the columns of the "Star," I should like to remind Winchester residents that the last day for filing legislation for consideration at the 1950 session of the General Court is Wednesday, December 7th. Under the Massachusetts system, any resident has the privilege of proposing legislation for action by the General Court. Forms may be obtained at the State House or from members of the Legislature. The completed petition must be filed through members of the Senate or House of Representatives.

Yours very truly,
Harrison Chadwick, Representative,
29th Middlesex District, 24 Everett avenue.

COMMITTEE OF SAFETY CHAPTER D. A. R.

Mrs. William Goodhue, Vice Regent, Committee of Safety Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, opened her home, 13 Herick street for the November meeting of the Chapter. Dessert was served at 1:30 p. m. by the Hostess, assisted by Mrs. Charles Grant, Mrs. Harris Richardson, Mrs. William Purdy, Mrs. Earle Andrews, Mrs. Ralph Gustin, Mrs. David Choate, Mrs. George Byrne and Mrs. Marshall Pihl.

Mrs. David Choate and Mrs. Ralph Gustin poured during the Coffee Hour. Mrs. Earle E. Andrews, Regent, presided at the 2:30 p. m. meeting and the opening exercises were conducted by the Chaplain, Miss Grace Pound and Mrs. John B. Wills, Chairman Correct Use of the Flag.

Mrs. Paul Stoneman read the November message of the President General, Estella O'Brien, and reviewed the article, "Education for the New Social Order," by Col. Augustine G. Rudd, found in the November, Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine. "Colonel Rudd is Chairman of the Guardians of American Education Inc., and has taken much time out of his otherwise busy life to study, write and to lecture upon this vitally important subject of socialism and communism in the American system of Education." Through the Chapter the Winchester Library receives the D. A. R. magazine for circulation.

Mrs. Lilla Ryan gave a report of the November State Board Meeting held at the Copley Plaza Hotel on Friday, November 18. The program for the afternoon was the Ways and Means Project, A Food Auction, Mrs. Charles Wagner, Chairman, assisted by Mrs. Francis P. Carlson, Mrs. Harold Twombly, Mrs. Albert Comins, and Mrs. Richard Harlow. Mrs. Andrews was the Auctioneer and a substantial sum was realized for Chapter activities.

Mrs. Paul Stoneman drew the lucky number for a pound of the Creamy Mints, some of the delicious candy that is being sold by the Chapter for the National Building Fund, and Mrs. R. H. B. Smith took home the prize cake made Mrs. R. C. Terhune.

THANKSGIVING SHARED

A number of Winchester Hosts and Hostesses invited Foreign Students to share the gay festivities of a New England Thanksgiving Dinner in their homes last Thursday. Many faculty members of Tech, B. U. and Harvard regularly share their homes with students in their departments at Thanksgiving, Christmas or Sunday throughout the year, and find a real pleasure in the joy and opportunity given to the students to see an American home in action. Tech does an outstanding job in this respect. We do not have all these names at hand, but we would like to list those who responded to the appeal of the local committee of the International Student Association under the chairmanship of Mrs. Walter Winship.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Garrison, had a Swedish student.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Garrison had three Greek students.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Armstrong had a Dutch student.

Dr. and Mrs. Jost Michelsen had three German students and a German Doctor and his wife and children.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. B. Smith invited two Chinese students.

All the Hosts agreed that the students added much to their own enjoyment of the day, and that the taste of starting international friendships excelled even the taste of the turkey.

Mrs. Winship and her committee will be glad to give information to any wishing to extend hospitality during the Christmas Holiday.

TO A GUEST OF A SCAVENGER HUNT HELD ON NOVEMBER 10TH

With the assurance that it would be returned within the next few hours, or at the very latest by the next day, a very attractive young lady borrowed a foot rule from Mrs. Cutler B. Downer at 39 Everett avenue, on November 10th.

The rule is of no monetary value, but of real use, and sentimental value, and needed at this season in some way requiring accuracy. It is marked E M roughly on the back in pencil. Its prompt return would be greatly appreciated.

HIGH SCHOOL HOOP CANDIDATES BUSY

The Winchester High School basketballers are working out daily in preparation for their opening game with Danvers High on December 16. Three lettermen from last year's varsity form the nucleus around which Coach Bartlett hopes to build another strong quintet that will compare favorably with the record of the last two seasons in which the Red and Black chalked up 28 victories while losing only 10 games.

The trio of returning veterans is headed by Captain Dennis Sanford, a guard, who plays a smart, aggressive type of game and who should make an excellent leader. Big Walter Murphy returns at center for the Red and Black and is a hustling player who was second high scorer on last year's quintet. George Tansey, a guard, completes the trio of returning veterans and is an excellent set shot and a smooth playmaker who sets up many baskets for his teammates.

Thus, it can be seen that Coach Bartlett's biggest task will be to develop a front line that is capable of scoring often. Up from last year's second team to battle for the two forward positions are Dan Devlin, Bob Walsh, and Jack Costello. Dick Mathews, a reserve on last year's varsity, is also in the contention for a forward berth and is giving a good account of himself. It is from these four candidates that much of the scoring punch must come and they will be pretty much the key to the success or failure of this team.

Gone from last year's team that enjoyed a successful season in winning fourteen games while losing only six are Captain Ken Donaghey, Paul Roche, and Pete Dillingham. Donaghey's scoring power, in particular, will be missed as he broke all previous Winchester High scoring totals in leading last year's team. Tom McGowan and Bob Zirkel provided reserve strength last year that will be missed this winter. It is interesting to note that all five of these boys are in school this year, four of them in college and the other in preparatory school.

SPENT THANKSGIVING IN BALTIMORE

Mr. and Mrs. Morris L. Snyder of Hillcrest Parkway, with their son, Benson, and daughter, Cecelia, spent the Thanksgiving week-end in Baltimore with their son and daughter-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. Bernhart Snyder, Bernhart is working for his Ph. D. in mathematics at Johns Hopkins University and instructing in mathematics there. The Snyders had a rough trip back home from Baltimore, running into the big snowstorm while 30 miles from New York City. They arrived at that point at 10:30 in the morning Sunday, and it was 11:30 at night when they arrived home. Mr. Snyder reported driving conditions terrible with many cars disabled all along the way.

TOWN BASKETBALL LEAGUE ORGANIZED

Seven teams were represented at an organizational meeting of the Town Basketball League last Monday evening and will put a team on the court this winter in league competition. The Rotary Club was also represented at this meeting and a decision was to have been made at the Rotary Club meeting yesterday as to whether they will sponsor a team again this winter. With the expectation that the Rotary Club will again be in the fold, this gives the league a well-balanced eight team membership.

Five of the eight teams in the league this year were members of last year's organization. The defending champions, the Bonnell Motors, the champions of two years ago, the Rotary Club, the champions of three years ago, the American Legion, and the Sons of Italy and the Winchester Appliance Co. are last year's members that are again sponsoring a team this year. The three newcomers are three different groups of boys headed by John Dattilo, Alfred Nowell, and John Frongillo.

This program is supervised and directed by the Town Recreation Committee and is open to all residents of Winchester beyond high school age. All teams are permitted a roster of twelve players which provides for frequent substitutions and protects a team from being short-handed at any particular game. League play commences Monday evening, December 12, and continues on Monday and Wednesday evenings throughout the winter.

WINCHESTER GIRLS SING FOR BROADCAST

Three Winchester students at Wheaton College will sing with the other members of the choir on Monday, December 12, at 10:30 p. m. on a coast-to-coast broadcast of Christmas music over the Mutual Broadcasting System.

The students are Miss Margaret Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Holmes, 3 Lakeview road; Miss Emily Hood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert H. Hood, Jr., 6 Everett avenue; and Miss Judy Merrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Merrow, 61 Fletcher street.

The program will include ancient Christmas carols set to medieval modal music, traditional English carols, and selections from Rimsky-Korsakov's Christmas Eve Revels.

AN OMISSION

Due to oversight the Star's report of the recent lecture on Christian Science at the Winchester High School did not include the name of the person who introduced the lecturer. We are advised that the lecturer, Dr. Hendrik J. de Lange, was introduced by Mr. Morris K. Hand, first reader at the First Church of Christ Scientist in Winchester.

wife of Austin Horace Welsh, and a former widely known resident of Winchester, died Wednesday, November 30, at her home in Still 52 years ago, but spent virtually all her life in Winchester until her marriage, being educated in the Winchester schools and graduating from Winchester High School in 1914. For some years she was a member of the staff at the Winchester Public Library, making her home with her parents at 39 Prospect street. She was a direct descendant of Simon Willard, who won fame as a clock-maker.

Mrs. Welsh was widely known for her interest in, and knowledge of antiques, her historic home at Still River having been a Mecca for those interested in ancient lore and furniture. She was for many years active in the Fortnightly Women's Club, particularly in the work of its Antiques Group.

Her other affiliations were many and varied. She was a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution, daughters of Mass-

PICTURES SHOW CONTROVERSIAL PASS PLAY CLOSE

Motion pictures of the Thanksgiving Day football game between Winchester and Woburn unfortunately do not convincingly settle the dispute over the ruling that Winchester's touchdown-scoring lateral pass in the final minutes of play was forward and consequently illegal. Woburn won the game 26-20, but had this pass and its subsequent touchdown been allowed Winchester would have tied the score and had the opportunity to go ahead on the try for point after.

"Reggie" Wentworth and his son, "Jake", who have been taking motion pictures of Winchester's games for some years now took the pictures and provided the customary amount of film for the game. Woburn-Winchester games are, however, 48 minutes long instead of the usual 40 minutes of playing time, so their film ran out during this particular pass play, of all places!

The play, however, had developed well along before the pictures faded out and Amico is shown hitting off tackle and being stopped well inside the five yard line, somewhere between the three and four yard line. Before the action fades out he throws the ball and McGowan, the receiver, is shown awaiting it astride the five yard line. At that time, at least, he was surely behind Amico and his pose is one of a boy waiting to catch something headed his way.

The actual completion of the pass does not show clearly but enough of the play does show to indicate it was very close and that reported Woburn contention that the lateral was at least five feet forward, as printed in one Boston paper after the game, was wide of the mark.

Naturally the camera angle would have a lot to do with how the pass looked in the pictures but by stopping the film it is possible to see Amico and McGowan with what appears to be the ball in the air between them. At that time Amico was well inside the five yard stripe and McGowan right on it with one foot either side. It's too bad the film went pft just at that point, but two officials were in a position to see the play clearly and one of them called the lateral forward. His judgement paid off, though of course he could have seen the play wrong. Reports going the rounds to the effect that Winchester was going to protest the game were laughed off by Coach Henry Knowlton. "Who would we protest to, and what?" said Winchester's popular coach. "I surely couldn't protest the decision because I couldn't even see the play. I saw McGowan go into the end zone and the referee raise his arms to signal a touchdown. I thought we'd tied it and had sent in Smith to try for the extra point when I found that the play had been ruled illegal and we had drawn a five yard penalty. Decisions like that are matters of judgement, not rules and there is nothing to protest, no matter how much they hurt."

ORANGE BLOSSOMS

WINCHESTER DOWNS

That is, after all, the only view to take of the ruling, and after seeing the pictures any one, if he is fair, will have to admit that the game was hardly decided by that decision, important as it was. Woburn played the better ball and fought the harder. The Orange deserved to win, and on the showing Thanksgiving, had the better team. Luck favored the strong side on that all important last ditch lateral try and on that final forward pass in the end zone, which a teammate knocked from Ciruso's arms. Perhaps it was right that it should have, everything considered!

MISTLETOE DANCE

The Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church is holding a Mistletoe Dance in the Parish Hall, on December 17. On the strength of their excellent playing at a High School dance, the Hutchinsons Harmonizers have been asked to furnish the music.

Nearly fifty Forumites are working on the preparations for this dance, so it promises to be a big affair.

The Social Committee, headed by Buzzy Bird and Nancy Kittell, is doing all the necessary organizing, while delegating lesser responsibilities to various sub-committees, which will take care of decorations, refreshments, ticket-printing, and other similar tasks.

A SIMPLE SOLUTION it would be to alleviate the saddened hearts and inextinguishable yearnings of the two children with prayers in their fervently hopeful eyes for a gay and spirited Christmas by bringing them love, hope and faith of a cheerful Yuletide. Unfortunately there are thousands of children like these. This is why The Salvation Army, its local Service Units and corps agencies are planning extensive holiday programs so that gifts of toys, Sunshine baskets, food and clothing may be offered to the needy, the institutional and the shut-ins.

THE CHRISTMAS ORATORIO

The Unitarian Choir and The Mary Witham Singers are rehearsing together under the direction of Mary Kanton Witham for a presentation of Saint Saens' Christmas Oratorio at the Unitarian Church on the afternoon of Sunday, December 11, at four o'clock. Mrs. Witham's interpretation of the music is carefully and sensitively followed by the singers, giving promise of a beautiful Christmas service.

The solo parts will be taken by Dorothy Perkins, soprano; Sadie R. Horne, mezzo-soprano; Muriel Thorley, contralto; Edgar M. Randle, tenor; John Efstyn Jenkins, bass. Others in the choir are Sally Blanchard, Beth Hewins, Martha Hewins, Diana Mansfield, Barbara Michelsen, Carrol Shanklin, Lavinia Wadsworth, Joan Wolsey, Janet Burbank, Joan Sprague, Jean Wilde, and Connie Wood. The men's sections are composed of Ragnar Brandt, James Joslin, Clark A. Richardson, Sherman Russell, Harry Von Rosenvinge, Theodore Von Rosenvinge and Robert Wild, tenors; and Lindsay Caldwell, Charles R. Carter, Henry Dellicker, Jr., Gardner Handy and Garrett Shanklin, basses.

Members of the choir who also belong to The Mary Witham Singers are Justine King, Grace Norian, Mary Norian, and Frances Walton. Other members of The Mary Witham Singers are Louise Baghdoyan, Olive Bird, Sabina Brandt, Claire Curtis, Caroline Fitts, Elizabeth Gardner, Sophia Gardner, Nellie Hultgren, Mary Hyde, Justine King, Edith McEwen, Elizabeth Mouradian, Siran Norian, Evelyn Stone, Marian Wright, Madeleine Zimmerman. This large number of singers, so carefully trained, insures an impressive performance of the beautiful music.

Dr. Parks will be present to officiate in prayer, and the service is planned for all the community.

WINCHESTER SCHOLARSHIP FOUNDATION

Announcement was publicly made at a recent lecture of Captain Irving Johnson that the Winchester Scholarship Foundation has amended its constitution to provide for Sustaining Memberships.

At the lecture Mrs. George A. Marks, who presided, stated that the change was made as a result of suggestions received at a meeting of the mothers at one of the local schools. She expressed conviction that the change would be welcomed by many residents of Winchester who wish to contribute to the Scholarship Foundation but who feel that small amounts are not welcome.

Under the plan as outlined by her, anyone may become a Sustaining Member for one year on payment of a minimum of three dollars. Anyone who desires to pay more may do so.

The change further provides that the Sustaining Members shall have ample representation on the General Committee of the Foundation and it is felt that in this way a broader interest in the Scholarship Foundation will be attained.

During the fiscal year which ended July 1, nearly $4200 was raised by various organizations and contributed by a few individuals, and a large part of this was awarded to Winchester High School graduates who met the exacting requirements of the Winchester Scholarship Committee.

It is because it is felt that there is still a considerable lack of knowledge of the good work that the Foundation does that the changes have been voted, and it is the hope of the General Committee of the Foundation that the memberships will be heartily endorsed by the public generally.

The changes were made at a recent meeting of the General Committee, over which Mrs. Herbert F. Ross presided, and the Committee was guided in making the changes by Attorney Joseph Worthen, who is one of the trustees of the Foundation.

The annual meeting of the General Committee will be held in December, and at that time a new member of the Scholarship Foundation will be chosen to replace John I. Donovan, who is retiring as chairman this year.

Sandy Burbank, guard, and Dan Devlin, wingback, were the runners-up for Winchester's outstanding lineman and back honors in the Thanksgiving Day game with Woburn. Dave Hutchins, tackle, and Captain Paul Amico, back, were the first choices, and most people with whom we have talked believed Amico was the outstanding player on the field. The little battering ram put on quite a show.

DR. ISAAC HIGGINBOTHAM

WORLD MISSION SUNDAY

On Sunday, December 4th, Dr. Isaac Higginbotham, General Secretary of the Massachusetts Baptist Convention, will speak at the Morning Sanctuary service of the First Baptist Church.

Dr. Higginbotham's life is a history of loyal devotion to the cause of Christianity and its ideals, and he is well qualified to speak on the missionary aspect of the denomination since for many years he served in the Department of Missionary Cooperation, as Assistant Director, Field Director, and Director of that department. He has an outstanding message of vital interest that no one can afford to miss on the subject of "Baptist Missions in a Changing World."

Dr. Higginbotham will also assist the Pastor in the observance of the Lord's Supper at the close of the Morning Service.

HIGH SCHOOL CAST PRESENTS H. M. S. PINAFORE NEXT WEEK

On Friday and Saturday evenings, December 9 and 10, at the High School Auditorium, the combined Glee Clubs of the Winchester High School will present Gilbert and Sullivan's Operetta, H. M. S. Pinafore. Although this will be the first public presentation by the musical clubs of anything so ambitious as an operetta, the enthusiastic and thorough preparation by both students and directors promises to offer the Winchester public an outstanding performance.

H. M. S. Pinafore is a delightful comedy bubbling with romantic complications from the near-tragic to the ridiculous. It has its hero, faced by overwhelming obstacles between him and the girl he loves; its heroine, torn between her true love for the hero and her father's social ambition to marry her to an Admiral; its villain, muttering dark prophecies of disaster, and its comedians and comedienne galore. It has a hidden secret, the revelation of which at the climax of the story untangles the complications of the plot with startling results. Along with these elements there is a generous share of delightful foolery and nonsense. The operetta offers some wonderful songs, melodies that will remain in one's memory long after the final curtain.

In Dorothy Brandt, as Josephine, and Richard Riga, as Ralph Rackstraw, her sailor lover, the audience will find two young songsters (vocalists). The choruses of twenty-four boys and twenty-four girls support the principals admirably.

"Her Majesty's Ship Pinafore" was written as a good-natured satire on English political and marine affairs, and also of pomposity. Although its first reception by London audiences was somewhat cool, it has since proved one of the most popular and oft-repeated of the Gilbert and Sullivan operas. The stage setting for both acts is the deck of her Majesty's warship Pinafore, off Portsmouth, England.

Music for the Operetta will be supplied by the two-piano accompanists, Miss Charlotte LeClaire and Mr. Walter Russell. Miss LeClaire, teacher of English at the Junior High School, has been rehearsed accompanist. Mr. Russell, an accomplished pianist, is teacher of harmony and music appreciation at Arlington High School and is Director of the Arlington High School band.

The matinee performance on Thursday afternoon, December 8, will begin at three-thirty.

The entire cast of the operetta deeply regret the extended illness of Shirley Cary, who was originally chosen to play the part of Little Buttercup. Fortunately understudies have been selected for all the principal characters, and Little Buttercup will be admirably played by Patricia Carroll, a member of the freshman class whose voice is exceptionally well adapted to the lilting rhythms of Little Buttercup.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dineen of Lincoln street, spent the holiday weekend with their son, Jack, and his wife, and daughter, Deirdre, at Northport, Long Island.

PROFESSOR LAMSON SPEAKER AT BAPTIST YOUTH FELLOWSHIP

Sunday evening, December 4, at 7:00 p. m. the young people of the Youth Fellowship of the Winchester First Baptist Church will have as their guest speaker, Dr. Herbert D. Lamson, Professor of Sociology at Boston University. He will speak on the subject, "Dating Days." Dr. Lamson is one of our townspeople, a leader in his profession, and his message will be well worthwhile and of interest to all young people of the church and community. A cordial invitation is extended to the young people to attend.

ATTENTION SQUARE DANCERS

The Square Dance Group of the First Congregational Church will hold its first meeting this fall, Wednesday, December 7th, in the Parish Hall at 8:15 p. m. By purchasing a new form of round-trip ticket, good for 30 days, you can now ride in coaches anywhere on the Boston and Maine, Maine Central or New Haven railroads for exactly the same fare as you have been paying. No increase there!

By buying a new form of round-trip ticket, good for 30 days, you can now ride in parlor cars anywhere on these three railroads for LESS than you have been paying. A decrease there!

By buying a new form of one-day round-trip ticket, you can ride both ways in coaches between any two stations on either of these three railroads, if you complete the trip in a single calendar day, for LESS money than you have been paying for railroad fares. A decrease there!

And, this permits you to ride at these new lower fares, anywhere from Calais, Maine, to Rhode Island, Connecticut, or New York City; from Cape Cod to Troy, N. Y.; from Springfield to Newburyport; between any two points on these three big railroad systems serving all of New England and beyond, to New York City.

So, don't get the idea that the cost of traveling by train has gone beyond your pocketbook.

Look at the FARE FACTS in this advertisement.

They are typical examples of how it is actually CHEAPER now to travel by train than it was last week. Ask your local agent to tell you about how you can save money from your station by buying the new, lower-priced round-trip tickets on New England's railroads.

PARKHURST FIELD TRIP

Parkhurst fourth and sixth grade classes visited the Mapparium at the Christian Science Publishing House recently for their geography lesson. This thirty-foot globe conveys correct concepts of distance over the poles, and of the relative sizes of water and land masses. The Mapparium, only one of its kind in six hundred glass panels and light existence, is composed of more than thirty thousand light bulbs. Told as background material the story of the room's construction gave an insight into precision planning, and the spraying and baking of color into glass. Standing on an inch-thick glass bridge which has the strength of steel the children learned how the International Date Line was established, and observed electric clocks at the equator line which give comparative time throughout the world.

Fourth graders were excluded from a visit to the Press because of the age limitation, but the sixth grade was permitted to pass through the Publishing House to observe literary practices they have been studying in language classes.
A following visit to the Babson
Institute Relief Map is planned.
Interested parents assisted Mrs.
Ames and Miss Cunningham.

BREAK ON WEST SIDE

Upon returning to their home last Sunday night after attending the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia the family of Adm. Allan S.
Farquhar found that their home had been entered during their absence and a quantity of silverware and jewelry, taken. The thief or thieves entered the house through one of the doors as there was no sign of a break.

While in the house the intruders threw the main electric switch, shutting off all power. With the cold spell and no heat the water in the house froze causing considerable additional damage. The police were notified and commenced an immediate investigation.

Marge Carroll
Cirurso Football Captain

The walls of the assembly hall at the Wyman School bulged dangerously last Saturday evening as the Winchester High School held its All Sports Banquet for members of the school's athletic teams, their coaches and invited guests. A chicken pie supper was served by Caterer Emil Beauchamp. The banquet, usually held in the high school gymnasium, was held at the Wyman School because of a conflict in dates with the badminton group.

John Power, president of the school Athletic Association, presided over the post prandial program as toastmaster, welcoming the guests and calling first upon School Superintendent Forbes H. Norris, who responded in his usual witty and informative manner. Mr. William J. Speers, Jr., chairman of the School Committee, brought greetings to the dinner and also had an interesting message for the gathering.

Letter awards were made by the various coaches, Helen Jay Carroll, field hockey; Thomas Morse, cross country; Carl Reed, freshman football; Edward A. Bartlett, junior varsity football; and Henry Knowlton, football.

New captains for these teams were announced as follows: field hockey, Jean Farquhar; cross country, Gordon Bird and John Foley, co-captains; freshman football, Joe Donlon and Joe Vernardi, co-captains; and varsity football, Tony Cirurso. Phyllis O'Neil and Elaine Goodwin were announced by retiring Cheerleader Joan Wolsey as co-cheerleaders for next year.

Principal Wade L. Grindle announced the honor awards, keeping his audience in suspense as usual until the last possible minute. The Mansfield Sportsmanship Cup, presented by Former Athletic Director Wendell D. Mansfield, was awarded to Paul Amico, football captain and star fullback on the eleven for the past three years. The Wheeler Sportsmanship Cup, presented by Mrs. Mansfield, the former Girls' Coach Priscilla Wheeler, went to Marge Carroll, field hockey player and current basketball captain.

In addition to presenting the awards, Mr. Grindle presented Athletic Director Henry Knowlton with a handsome bamboo fly-rod from the A. A. in honor of having completed ten long years as athletic director, during which time he has coached football yearly and has also handled baseball, basketball and track at various times.

Principal Grindle paid high tribute to Coach Knowlton as an athletic instructor and as a man, placing him squarely in the front ranks of schoolboy football coaches in New England and calling attention to the fact that he has won and tied record at Winchester of 82 percent, with 75 wins, seven ties and 18 defeats in 100 games. Attention was also called by Mr. Grindle to the excellent athletic record Winchester has made this past year, with a Middlesex League Championship baseball team, a track team, undefeated in dual competition; a State champion in tennis, a cross country team undefeated in dual competition and winner of its divisional League Championship and another unbeaten girls' field hockey team. Mr. Grindle took occasion to praise highly the physical education system of the school which is able to attract nearly fifty percent of the student body into some sort of athletic activity.

After the banquet Coach Knowlton showed motion pictures of the Thanksgiving Day football game with Woburn, every one present, especially Mr. Bartlett, dieing a thousand deaths once more! George H. Curtis, faculty manager of athletics, headed the committee in charge of arrangements for the banquet.

WINCHESTER BOY SAILED SLOOP TO MIAMI

John Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Armstrong of Curtis Circle, is in Winchester to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents, having flown north from Miami, Fla., where his Friendship sloop, the Wilbur A. Morse, is a charter boat sailing from the popular Flamingo Club.

Mr. Armstrong flew north from Miami in seven hours, quite a contrast from his trip south in his sloop which ate up 29 days from Marblehead over the inland water-

WINCHESTER FIELD HOCKEY SQUAD

WINCHESTER GIRLS HAD UNBEATEN SEASON

Winchester High School girls field hockey team enjoyed another very successful season this year, being undefeated in regular competition and being edged only once, 1-0, by Shore Country Day at the annual hockey play day at Concord. The local girls beat Walpole, 1-0, and Cambridge School, 2-1, playing a scoreless tie with Middleboro in this informal but worthwhile event. Over the regular season Winchester won six and tied three, and it was the 1-1 tie with Winsor School that perhaps stood out most as an accomplishment. The local girls played some of their best hockey to earn a tie with the private school lasses. The 2-1 defeat of Arlington, the 3-0 whitewashing of Melrose and especially, the 2-0 victory over Lexington were other season highlights.

Coach Helen Jay Carroll departed this year from last season's practice of extensive substitution in her varsity lineup, sticking pretty much to eleven players over the entire season. This resulted in better team play and improved morale which were reflected in the season's record.

was elected captain of the team soon after the opening of the season, the other varsity players being June Ryan, right inner; Mary O'Connell, right wing; Bette Knocland, center forward; Marilyn Chase, left inner; Marge Carroll, left wing; Pat McDermott, left half; Harris MacDonald, center half; Marcia Kraft, right half; Sally Morgan, left back and Jean Farquhar, goal. Varsity managers were Ann Farquhar and Doris Casey.

The Winchester second team, while not undefeated, had a good season. Its players included Ginny Dyer, Ruth Peel, Marcia Flaherty, Phyllis DeAngelis, Anna Florenza, Connie Post, Gretchen Daschbach, Janet Easton, Bette Nelson, Sonia Norian, Lynn Stevens, Franceline Cullen, Cynthia Emerson, Bunny Chamberlin, Janice Collins, Jean Neiley and Jane Chiswell.

Following is the season's record:

Winchester, 1;	Concord, 0

Anne Tonon of 53 Lawson road, was a member of the dance team representing Read cottage Thanksgiving weekend on the Grinnell college campus, Grinnell, Iowa, in the annual women's dance intramural contest. One of the highlights of the social year, the affair was won by Read cottage, and with Cleveland cottage second, Loose hall third.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON BAZAAR

The annual Bazaar of the Florence Crittenton League of Concord was held at the Conkey Drury on November 29th and 30th.

The Winchester Circle reports a most successful event. The Palmyra Camera case and Six Films was won by Mr. F. J. Broadhurst of West Newton. Beautiful handicrafts were displayed and the sale was most gratifying. Mrs. Charles M. Vanner, chairman of the Bazaar table, wishes to thank all the members for their fine cooperation and especially the members of her committee whose able support helped so much in making this event a success.

WINCHESTER HAD GOOD FOOTBALL SEASON

Despite the fact that it won only six and lost four, including the Woburn game, Winchester High had a mighty good football season this past fall, though four games are the most the "Indians" have lost since Coach Knowlton assumed the coaching reins ten years ago in 1939.

Those close to Winchester football are still wondering how the local boys got through this year with the loss of only four games. At the start of the season the coaches were hoping for a fifty-five season, though they were by no means sanguine that they could produce a club from the available material able to win half its games. That they were able to win more games than they lost rates as a major achievement for the Winchester coaching staff. Head Coach Henry Knowlton and his assistants, Ted Bartlett and Andy Lentine and Carl Reed. They had to work hard and use a lot of Mr. Churchill's "blood and sweat" to turn the trick.

Last year's team at Winchester was virtually a senior team with nine of eleven starters against Woburn a year ago being graduated.

That left only Capt. Paul Amico and big Mario Mascioli, speedy end, available as a nucleus for this fall's team, though Charlie Capone, one of the biggest and strongest boys in school, saw enough tackle service last fall to have the coaches count heavily upon him as a line mainstay this year.

Mascioli turned 19 just before the start of the season last fall and became ineligible on that account. Capone decided that he wouldn't play football this year. That left the coaching staff with a single really experienced player, Captain Paul Amico, who literally carried this year's club on his broad shoulders during the early season games and was its meal ticket all the way, playing a brand of offensive football that puts him up there with the good fullbacks of the school.

Amico, behind a poor line, scored 16 touchdowns for 96 points, equaling the scoring record the fabulous, all scholastic, Bill West, hung up in 1942. Paul as a senior outscored such recent stars as big "Jawn" West, pile driving fullback on the 1946 State Class C Championship team. West scoring only 66 points by touchdowns and adding 12 for points after touchdown for a total of 78. Sammy Bellino, Winchester's other "gee-whizz" back of recent years, tallied 48 points via touchdowns and 4 points for conversions for a total of 52 points. Sam Tibauda, fullback and high scorer on Sarto Walsh's great team of 1944 tallied only nine touchdowns for 54 points, though it should be remembered he had guys like Walsh, Roche and Haggerty to help with the scoring detail.

We are not comparing Amico with any of these boys. He's no "Bill" West, but with a power team, against about as good opposition, he equaled West's total points, and probably would have exceeded them with any sort of line to clear the way for him.

Weak line play was responsible for Winchester's poor showing over the latter part of the season. Particularly against Reading, Belmont and Woburn it was the line that lost the ball games. Poor quarterbacking hurt in all three, but in the final analysis it was the opposing lines' superiority over the Winchester frontier that permitted the winning points to tally.

Winchester's secondary defense was by no means a tight one, particularly against passing, but the local secondaries had to play so close to bolster the weak line that they were poorly placed to defend against aeriels. Strange as it may seem the local coaches knew all this, but could do nothing about it, being faced by a choice of two evils!

Winchester's primary weakness was a great lack of speed, particularly at the ends and wingback spots. Oftentimes visiting backs simply ran away from Winchester defenders, who were in the right places but couldn't get out quickly enough. The coaches also knew this but speed is an inherent, not an acquired characteristic.

There was one important phase of offensive football at which the locals did excell, and that was in the conversion of goals after touchdown. Langdon Smith, big reserve tackle, booted in 20 big points from placement out of 27 tries, for a rating of about 75 per cent, great going for any one and superlative for a sophomore performer. Another second year man, Jost Michelsen, did the all important holding. "Smitty" will always contend that he should have had three out of three against Woburn, and from the press box at least it looked as if he was right, the ball being just inside the upright when it went over the bar and curving well outside after getting by. To show you how good Smith really was, Sarto Walsh, star converter of the 1944 Club, and one of Winchester's best to now, got only 16 out of 31 tries.

Winchester, for all it was no ball of fire this year, ran up a lot of yardage offensively, and with 185 points, had a good scoring record. No team was able to keep Winchester from scoring, even potent Watertown High, and the Thanksgiving day game with Woburn this year was the first in which a losing team was able to score as many as 20 points. As a matter of fact until this year the loser in this ancient classic, third oldest in Greater Boston, has always been held to no better than a single touchdown. That would seem to be some sort of answer at least to those who are continually claiming Winchester has no offense.

Toward the end of the year the shifting of Cirurso to end, the inclusion of McGowan in the starting lineup and the regular use of Errico and Casey on defense improved the local picture, and with seven of the eleven boys next year, plus some good sophomore talent and a big in-betwixt freshman team available, Winchester should be better, much better.

Following is the season's record:

Winchester, 8;	Milton,	7
Winchester, 21;	Swampscott,	18

J. ALBERT WILSON SHOWING NEW PAINTINGS

J. Albert Wilson, widely known in musical circles as organist and choirmaster of the First Congregational Church, has been showing informally at his studio in the church a new group of his oil and watercolor paintings.

Among the oils are several Vermont landscapes, including a snow scene, a charming little full sketch of a road winding away into the distance between trees gay in autumn foliage, and a fine study of an old weather-beaten covered bridge. Another large oil painting shows Monadnock in a winter setting with a logging team beside a river in the foreground dwarfed by the rugged, snow-streaked peak.

Mr. Wilson's watercolors were painted on the Cape, around Chatham and Orleans. They include waterfront scenes of boats and wharves, with a well drawn interior of the artist's own summer home in Chatham, and a nostalgic study of an old Cape Cod railway station, now a thing of the past.

Many friends have admired the paintings at Mr. Wilson's studio, and two of his pictures are currently on display in the show window of the Star Office.

Mr. Wilson is nothing if not versatile, his painting being very finished, particularly for one who paints as a hobby and for one whose busy musical profession leaves little time for art.

Besides playing the organ, directing the Congregational Choir, teaching voice, piano and organ, Mr. Wilson is establishing more than a local reputation as a bassoon player, being much in demand for engagements with Peoples' and Civic Symphony Orchestras throughout Greater Boston.

CHURCH WORLD SERVICE

Mrs. Gerald Hills, Chairman, wishes it to be known that the need for good used clothing, bedding, and sturdy shoes (no open toes or heels, no high heels, broad widths preferred) is still most urgent. Many, many people are still without these things and we are falling short of our goal in providing them.

They go where the need is greatest without regard to color, race or politics. They strengthen church life and influence in the receiving community. The Y. P. F. will collect your contribution on December 10. Call their President, John Roray, WI 6-2492 before that date.

DR. WELD HONORED

Stanley B. Weld, M. D. of Hartford, Connecticut and formerly of Winchester, has been recently elected president of the medical and surgical staff of the Hartford Hospital. Dr. Weld is a graduate of Dartmouth College and Harvard Medical School and served his internship in the Hartford Hospital. The demands upon this hospital necessitated the construction of its new $8,000,000 building which at the time of completion in the spring of 1949 ranked as the finest medical center in the East.

Hartford Hospital accommodates 750 patients, including newborn infants, and has a staff of about 150 physicians. The late George J. Mead, son of the late Dr. George Mead of Winchester, was chairman of the Board of Directors of the Hartford Hospital and was largely responsible for the completion of its building program.

Dr. Weld has been chairman of the Advisory Committee of the Cooperative Medical Advertising Bureau of the American Medical Association for the past five years, and for over thirteen years since its origin has served as editor in chief of the Connecticut State Medical Journal.

DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

The Winchester District Nursing Association was represented this week at the NPHN Regional Conference in Richmond, Virginia, by Mrs. George E. Connor, publicity chairman, and a report on the material and findings of this conference and its daily sessions is to be presented to the Association board meeting this (Friday) morning in the General Committee Room, Town Hall.

The National Organization of Public Health Nursing at its Richmond meeting discussed problems slanted directly to the layman and the board activities relating to local Association work. Demonstration board meetings, discussion of the financial outlook for voluntary agencies, personnel policies, getting new members into the work of the organization, the duties of the board and executive, keeping members posted on new trends and developments in the public health nursing field, were among the many vital topics considered at the Regional Meeting.

MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL

WINCHESTER NATIONAL BANK

SEASON'S GREETINGS

For several years we have discussed the preceding year, and our thoughts for the future as pertaining to automobiles. The spirit of Good Will which is so prevalent at this time is the philosophy on which we have endeavored to conduct our dealership.

The automobile business has operated in a so-called "Seller's Market" during the post War period, which meant that we were unable to deliver the car of your choice or even to deliver any car in many instances. During the coming year barring unforeseen circumstances the "Buyer's Market" will return. Once again the choice will be yours as to make of car; body style, color, upholstery, etc. We welcome this situation as we have operated most of our 25 years in Winchester under these conditions.

During the past year we have completed a substantial building addition and have purchased much new equipment to better service your car.

It has been an extremely satisfactory experience for us to represent the fine products and business policies of Ford Motor Co., in Winchester. Without question "The Fashion Car of the Year" with many refinements for 1950 is the finest car Ford has produced.

TONY CIRURSO
CIRURSO NEW FOOTBALL LEADER

Letter players of this year's Winchester High School football team have elected Anthony Cirurso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francesco Cirurso of Swanton street, as captain of next year's varsity team, their choice having been announced at the annual All Sports Banquet last Saturday.

Ciruso, a junior, played varsity football as a sophomore, though he was not a regular. He broke into the lineup as a reserve fullback spelling "Paulie" Amico, but he saw little service except when Amico was injured. His lack of speed prompted Coach Knowlton to convert him into a center, and over the latter part of last season he substituted for Bob Abrahamson on those few occasions when the durable "Gunner" needed relief. "Tony" got into the Woburn game a year ago, and in addition to playing center, he also kicked in two points-after-touchdown with place kicks.

This fall Cirurso started out as a center and played this position in all of the early and mid-season games. In an effort to bolster the offensive blocking on off tackle plays and sweeps Tony was again shifted, this time to end on offense and he played this position over the last few games of the season. What Tony's job will be next year remains to be seen, but whatever it is the big boy will be in there trying.

With seven boys who started against Woburn back next season Winchester should be better than it was this year, when only Amico could really be classified as an experienced player.

Ann Mathewson was in charge of refreshments for a Record Hop and Bridge at Lasell Junior College, Auburndale, on Friday evening, December 2. A senior, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Mathewson of 18 Glen road, Winchester.

TO BROADCAST CHRISTMAS CAROLS

Mr. James H. Buzzell of 239 Mystic Valley Parkway is planning to share a unique holiday feature with the public at his home during the Christmas season.

In front of the house there is to be erected a large panoramic picture of the Nativity, approximately 26 ft. by 7 ft. Floodlights will play upon the picture after dark and a loudspeaker will carry Christmas music, daily, commencing Thursday evening, December 15, at three separate periods, 7 to 7:30 p. m.; 7:50 to 8:20 p. m. and 8:40 to 9:15.

This schedule will not hold for Saturday, December 24, when the complete Christmas oratorio, "The Messiah," will be broadcast. On Sunday afternoon there will be additional religious music from 6 to 6:30 p. m. The broadcasts will continue through the holiday season for about a week after New Year's.

CHRISTMAS FAMILY SERVICE AT BAPTIST CHURCH

As part of the observance of Christmas in the First Baptist Church an all Family Christmas service will be held in the Church from 6 o'clock to 7 o'clock Sunday evening, December 18th. There will be singing of all the well-loved Carols, led by Dr. Cecil W. Pride, and the showing of the beautiful picture "Child of Bethlehem", acclaimed as one of the loveliest presentations of the Christmas story.

DURANT — CLARK

In a setting of white roses and chrysanthemums at St. Mary's Church on Saturday afternoon, December 3, Miss Mary Elizabeth Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Noble Clark of 58 Bacon street, was married to Joseph Durant, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Durant of Miami, Florida. Rev. John P. O'Riordan, pastor of St. Mary's, read the service at 3:30 o'clock.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Clark had for her honor maid her sister, Miss Priscilla Clark of Winchester. Another sister, Miss Joan Perlie Clark of this town was one of the three bridesmaids, the others being Miss Gloria Cary of Zanesville, Ohio; and Mrs. Frederick P. Goodrich, Jr., of Williamstown.

The bride wore an off-the-shoulder portrait gown of ivory satin with long pointed sleeves, a court train and seed pearl embroidery outlining the shoulders. Her chapel length veil of candlelight silk illusion was gathered to a cap of heirloom rose-point lace and she carried a bouquet of starlight roses with babies' breath and streamers of lace.

All the bridal attendants wore velvet portrait dresses and carried yellow roses and chrysanthemums. The honor maid, gowned in cinnamon brown, wore an ostrich feather headband. The bridesmaids, in seafoam blue, wore matching clothes.

John Peter Durant of Miami, Fla., was his brother's best man, and the usher corps comprised Parker Douglas Brewer, Payne Williams, 3rd, both of New York City; and Frederick P. Goodrich, Jr., of Williamstown.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, who assisted in receiving with the parents of the bridegroom and the members of the bridal party. House decorations were of smilax and white flowers and music was by Georges Trudeau. After January 1 Mr. and Mrs. Durant will make their home in Miami, Fla., where the bridegroom is completing his courses at the University of Miami. The bride is a graduate of the Winsor School and attended Vassar College.

SYLVESTER — HANER

Of Winchester interest is the marriage at St. John's Church in Clinton on Saturday morning, December 3, when Miss Ruth Maria Haner, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Victor Haner of 25 Prospect street, Clinton, became the bride of Francis Ralph Sylvester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph P. Sylvester of 366 Main street. Rev. Seraphin Schiavone, a cousin of the bridegroom, performed the ceremony at 11:30 o'clock and was also celebrant of the nuptial mass which followed.

Miss Haner was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white transparent velvet with a square neck, braided with seed pearls and a fingertip-length veil of illusion. Instead of a bouquet she carried a white velvet muff, decorated with a white orchid and matching streamers.

Miss Beatrice Sylvester of Winchester, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor and the bridesmaid was Miss Elaine St. Ivanyi of Jamaica Plain. Both wore off-the-shoulder velvet dresses with holly coronets, the honor maid wearing emerald green and the bridesmaid, clear red. Both carried velvet muffs to match their dresses with matching streamers and decorations of holly. Joseph Des Mueles of Winchester, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was decorated with chrysanthemums and azalias. The parents of both the bride and bridegroom assisted in receiving with the members of the bridal party.

Upon their return from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester will make their home at 376 Main street in Winchester.

The bride is a graduate of Clinton High School, Framingham Teachers College and of Bryant and Stratton Commercial College. Mr. Sylvester, who is a contractor, attended Winchester High School, Austen Cate Academy, Tufts, and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

CHRISTMAS TEA FOR BAPTIST PARENTS AND TEACHERS

A Christmas Tea and Planning meeting of Parents and Teachers of the Baptist Church School will be held in the Chapel of the First Baptist Church Sunday afternoon, December 11th, at 3 o'clock, to which all parents, teachers and interested persons are cordially invited.

The subject for discussion will be "Planning for Christmas." It is to be a sharing of the knowledge of parents and teachers to place the right emphasis on the Christian meaning of Christmas and how to create a truly Christmas atmosphere in the church and in the home. There will be discussions on teaching the children to plan, decorations, worship centers, making a creche scene, using the Christmas carols with an understanding of their meaning. There will be a brief talk by Mrs. Hugh Erskine of our Winchester Public Library on appropriate books and other books helpful for parents in teaching religion in the home.

A model Christmas eve worship service is to be enacted so parents may realize how such a program can be used in the home.

The Church School teachers plan to exhibit some of their regular religious educational material. An important part of the program will be the Christmas Question Box.

Tea will close the afternoon, giving an opportunity for parents, teachers, friends and the Pastor to enjoy fellowship together.

It is anticipated that many parents will avail themselves of this unusual opportunity to think together on how to make Christmas a truly religious Christian festival for our children.

For all the news, read the Star.

IN WHEATON CHOIR

Miss Nancy Townley-Tilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Townley-Tilson of 36 Foxcroft road, and Miss Elizabeth Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Barrett, of 34 Allen road, have been chosen members of the freshman choir at Mount Holyoke College on the basis of competitive tryouts. They will sing with the choir when it makes its first appearance at a college vesper service on Sunday evening, December 4. Both girls are graduates of Winchester High School.

MYSTIC GLEE CLUB PERFECTING CHRISTMAS CONCERT

The largest chorus ever to represent the Mystic Glee Club is perfecting its repertoire for the annual winter concert to be held Saturday evening, December 17th in the Winchester High School Auditorium. Keith Snyder of 4 Orange street, Reading, is in his second season as Conductor.

A graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University, Mr. Snyder is at present a professor of Music education at the Boston University College of Music. He is also the organist and choir director at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Reading.

Sixty-two men have loyally attended rehearsals throughout the fall, and are enthusiastically responding to Mr. Snyder's training on the interesting program.

The announcement last week in the Star that Wesley Coppstone, tenor, is to be the guest soloist for this popular Christmas season event, has brought much favorable comment from music lovers of Winchester who have heard his splendid voice.

Mr. R. H. B. Smith, chairman of the Sponsoring Membership Committee, has suggested that those who have not yet mailed in their checks for $4.80 (tax included) for this two-concert Tenth Anniversary season, do so at once, as only a very limited number are remaining unclaimed at the moment. Make your checks payable to The Mystic Glee Club and address your envelope to P. O. box No. 1, Winchester. Your check entitles you to two tickets to each of the season's concerts - winter and spring.

RUMOR HOLBROOK RESIGNS UNCONFIRMED

The Star has been unable to confirm persistent rumors that Town Engineer and Superintendent of Streets Parker Holbrook has resigned.

At the Selectmen's office it was stated that no letter of resignation has been received by the Board and those Selectmen the Star has been able to contact had heard nothing about Mr. Holbrook beyond the fact that he is presently on vacation, having been unable to take time off during the summer because of the press of road building.

At the Engineers' office in the town hall Asst. Town Engineer Jim Wakefield said Mr. Holbrook is on vacation and is expected back Tuesday. He, too, knew nothing of his chief's reported resignation. The fact that Hugh J. Grimes, town compensation agent and clerk in the Engineers' office, is reaching the retirement age next month may have caused the current rumors about Mr. Holbrook.

When Mr. Grimes retires his duties as compensation agent will be taken over by William P. Supple, agent for the Board of Public Welfare. Mrs. Alice Eberle, clerical assistant at the town hall, will take over the clerical work of the office.

Captain Kumpunen and his family arrived in Washington September 14, after spending two and one-half years in Tokyo, Japan.

KEEP CHRISTMAS MERRY!

(From Chief James E. Callahan of the Fire Department)

Each year fire turns Christmas, the most joyful time of year, into tragedy in hundreds of American homes.

Christmas fires occur because extra hazards - highly inflammable Christmas trees and decorations - are brought into homes. Other hazards include use of lighted candles, defective electric lights and inflammable costumes used in Christmas pageants.

Few people realize that the ordinary Christmas tree is one of the most inflammable objects known. It is filled with pitch and resin. Once ignited, a Christmas tree is very difficult to extinguish. Tests have shown that an average size tree takes less than TWO MINUTES to burn up. Such a tree can easily start a roaring blaze in your home BEFORE the arrival of the Fire Department.

The following simple rules, if followed, will help make your Christmas safe:

1. Choose a small Christmas tree, instead of a big one. Remember, a small tree can be as beautiful as a large one, as well as being much less hazardous.
2. Do not set up the tree until a few days before Christmas. Keep the tree outdoors until ready to install it.
3. Place the tree in the coolest part of the house. If necessary shut off the radiator closest to the tree.
4. Do not, under any circumstances, use cotton or paper for decoration on the tree or around the tree.
5. Do not place electric trains around the tree.
6. Use only electric lights, never use candles. See that all wires are in good condition and not frayed.
7. Provide a switch some distance from the tree for turning the lights off and on. Do not plug or unplug the lights beneath the tree.
8. Do not leave tree lights burning when no one is in the house. From time to time inspect the tree and see whether any of the needles near the lights have started to turn brown. If so change the location of the lights.
9. When the needles start falling, take the tree down and discard it.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR LEGION SPORTS NIGHT

Plans are practically complete for the big Sports Night Reunion and Banquet which is being held Saturday evening by Winchester Post, 97, the American Legion, at the Legion House on Vine street commencing at 7 o'clock.

Wendell D. Mansfield, athletic director at Pomfret School and former coach at Winchester High School from 1925 to 1937, is to be guest speaker, and among the other coaches who will be present are Rufus H. Bond, coach of Winchester's unbeaten team of 1922, and his successor, Ernest Roberts. Edward A. Bartlett, coach of the Legion's Junior Baseball Team, will serve as toastmaster, and his team members will be guests of the Post at the Banquet with members of the Post's championship sport ball team. Henry Knowlton, present high school athletic director and coach will attend and show motion pictures of the Winchester-Woburn game Thanksgiving.

Such former football stars as "Big Jim" Fitzgerald and the Amico Brothers, "Nutsy" and "Archa" are going to be on hand and Paule Lentine, Bruce Colpas and many others. "Nutsy" is trying to round up his team of 1928 to attend in a body.

You better get your tickets by tonight at the latest, so that the caterer can have some idea of the number to serve. A few tickets probably will be available at the door Saturday evening.

DR. HOWARD J. CHIDLEY

DR. CHIDLEY CO-AUTHOR OF NEW BOOK ON THE BIBLE

Under the auspices of the Journal of Living, published by Doubleday, Doran and Co., of New York, a new book entitled "Help and Comfort from the Bible," has just been issued from the press. The Editor, Leonard M. Leonard, developed a new technique in this book by asking certain outstanding Ministers, Rabbis, and Catholic Priests in the United States and Canada to contribute an interpretation and application of certain helpful and comforting Bible texts on such themes as loneliness, love and marriage, melancholy moods, handicaps from a person's past, and other down-to-earth problems which confront people. A chapter is devoted to each of these problems, and the reader may immediately find in the index the chapter which meets his own particular, immediate situation. This is something new in the arrangement of such publications. It is an excellent bedside book, the best on the market today.

THE MARCH OF DIMES

The 1950 March of Dimes, annual fund raising drive of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis which directs the never-ceasing battle against polio, will be held January 16 to 31, 1950, it was announced this week by Harold S. Lewis, chairman of the March of Dimes Campaign committee here in Winchester.

The need for funds has never been greater. This year in Middlesex County alone there have been 550 new cases through November, 1949. This is a hundred more than all the five previous years totalled. These new cases plus approximately 450 old cases need your help. You can help by generously contributing to the 1950 March of Dimes Campaign. The goal for Winchester is $5,000.00.

Mr. Lewis has just announced the committee for the forthcoming drive. It includes Mr. Vincent C. Ambrose of the Winchester Trust Company as local treasurer; Mr. William P. Coady, Commerce and Industry; Mrs. Katherine Herrick, Women's Division; Mr. Percy A. Goodale, Jr., House to house canvass; and Mr. J. Chandler Hill, Publicity.

There still remains a very urgent need for volunteers for all phases of the campaign. All persons interested in helping to promote this most worthy drive are urged to contact Mr. Lewis at 27 Canterbury road, Tel. Winchester 6-0448.

Advance gifts donations may be sent direct to Mr. Vincent C. Ambrose of the Winchester Trust Company or to his home.

Remember, one of the best ways to Fight Polio is to join the March of Dimes, January 16 - 31, 1950.

HIT BY CAR IN SQUARE

Vincent J. Erhard of 194 Washington street, well known in local Holy Name and Boy Scout circles, was painfully injured last Saturday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile while on his way home through Winchester center.

Briggs of 56 Woodrow avenue, Medford. His car was turning left onto Main street from Mt. Vernon street.

THREE CARS IN CRASH ON FOREST STREET

Three persons were injured and considerable property damage resulted from a collision involving three automobiles on Forest street near the Stoneham line early last Saturday morning.

According to the police Frederick W. Logan, Jr., of 212 Forest street, Arlington, was driving an Olds coupe south on Forest street when his car skidded and struck a tree, turning to head in a westerly direction.

Following the Olds was a Plymouth coupe, driven by Galen S. Vincent of 3 Manchester road. The Plymouth also skidded and collided with the Olds, striking it broadside.

Shortly after this collision a Dodge, driven by John F. Gerardi of 17 Harvard street, and also headed south on Forest street, skidded as the other cars had done, striking the right rear side of the Plymouth.

All three cars were damaged, the Olds being so badly smashed it had to be towed away.

Both Mr. Logan and Ruth Thorson, 22, of 45 Exeter street, Medford, a passenger in his car, were injured. Miss Thorson being cut about the right knee and bruised up. Mr. Logan sustained a shaken nose and cuts about the hands and face. Both refused to go to the hospital.

TOWN MANAGER PLAN FOR WINCHESTER FILED

Arthur J. Hewis, Jr., of 91 Swanton street has filed with the General Court a petition seeking permissive legislation to submit to the Town of Winchester the form of government known as the Town Manager Plan with Proportional Representation, more familiarly known as "P. R."

Representative Malcolm White of Woburn filed the petition for Mr. Hewis, pinch-hitting for Winchester's Representative, Harrison Chadwick, who was reported out of town on a short vacation. The plan submitted for Winchester in Mr. Hewis' petition is virtually the Saugus Plan, legalized under Chapter 17 of the Acts of 1947.

Under this plan there is provided a Town Manager who will appoint, among others, the Board of Assessors, the Collector of Taxes and the Town Treasurer, who shall be different persons; the Superintendent of Streets, Town Engineer, etc. The Selectmen and School Committee are still elected, for two year terms, but under proportional representation, which is really preferential voting, under this system voters mark their ballots for a first choice, second choice, third choice, etc., with the candidates getting the highest numbers of votes being elected.

Under Legislative procedure the General Court will hold a hearing on the Hewis petition, at a time and place to be determined by the court. At that time, or at any previous time, the petition may be altered or amended, but after the hearing the Court will either pass the petition in its final form, or give it leave to be withdrawn.

If the General Court passes the petition, it then goes to the Town to be accepted or rejected in the form passed by the Court. The town will vote on the plan by ballot at a special referendum meeting, with everyone voting, not at a limited town meeting.

Mr. Hewis championed the Town Manager plan of government at the annual town meeting last year. At that time a committee was appointed to study the matter and report with recommendations at the coming annual meeting in March.

Mr. Hewis believes that the committee will favor the Town Manager plan in its report. In the event the limited town meeting is favorable to such a plan, without the action he has taken, it would then be necessary to petition the General Court for permissive legislation. Such procedure would result in considerable delay, so that it would probably be another year before anything could be done toward putting the plan in operation.

It is to avoid such delay that Mr. Hewis filed his petition this year. He told the Star that he has no axe to grind, that he does not believe the men now running Winchester's government are incompetent or corrupt, or that the town's present system does not compare with that of any town operating similarly in the Commonwealth.

He does, however, believe that Winchester's present form of Town Government is outmoded and costing the tax payer too much, because of duplication of effort and the expensive individual purchase of equipment and supplies.

Mr. Hewis is not entirely sold on the plan he has submitted to the General Court, and is perfectly willing to have any changes made in its form desired by the town. He acted in filing his petition to avoid delay and make it possible, in the event the town decides in March to accept the Town Manager Plan, to get permissive action from the General Court at the earliest possible moment.

COUNTRY CLUB TO OBSERVE HOLIDAYS

Plans are practically complete for the Winchester Country Club's celebration of the Christmas and New Year's holiday season with a program announced which promises fun for every one, old and young and in between.

The Club's Children's Party promises to be a festive affair for the little folks. The entire Christmas program will take place at the club on Sunday, December 18, with the children's party leading off at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Carol singing with gifts and refreshments for every one will afford loads of fun for the kiddies, and of course Santa Claus will be present to add the final touch.

Commencing at 6 o'clock there will be a social hour with hors d'oeuvres, lasting until 7 o'clock, when a buffet dinner will be served. The Club's adult Christmas party will commence at 8:30 and the program includes carol singing, selections by a male chorus, monologues and other entertainment, concerning which the committee is very happy but non-informative.

New Year's is always a very festive date on the Country Club's calendar, and this year is sure to prove no exception.

On Saturday, December 31, commencing at 7:30 there will be a social hour at the club, followed by dinner, served from 9 to 10:30. Dancing will follow the dinner until 3 o'clock with music by Ken Reeves' Orchestra.

The December meeting is to be a Christmas Party and is to be held at the home of Mrs. Robert Smith of Brookside avenue on Wednesday evening, December 28th.

Mrs. Clarence Donaghey won the "Mystery Package".

A Social Hour followed the meeting; the hostess serving delicious refreshments to the Club members.

BOYS SAVED AT WINTER POND

William Callahan, 10, and his younger brother, Leo, 6, of 88 Pond street, were saved from possible drowning Wednesday afternoon when they broke through thin ice while skating at Big Winter Pond.

According to the Fire Department, a telephone call was received at the Central Fire Station shortly after 5 o'clock, reporting a child in Winter Pond. Ladder 1 went out immediately with the Service car and life-saving boat, Chief James E. Callahan accompanying the apparatus with his Chief's car. A call was put in at Police Headquarters and the Department's ambulance followed the fire apparatus to the pond.

Upon arrival the Firemen found the two Callahan brothers had been gotten out of the water, and there was no need for either the resuscitating apparatus or ambulance.

According to the story told the Firemen the younger brother had broken through the ice toward the middle of the pond near the point jutting out from the easterly shore line. The older brother went to his assistance, with the result that both broke through the ice.

Walter H. Barstow of 26 Pond street crawled out on the ice and succeeded in getting his hockey stick into the grasp of the boys, pulling them to safety assisted by Wellington "Wimpy" Burnett of 36 Wildwood street, former Winchester High School all around athlete, and Dan Rosa of 100 Main street, Woburn.

Burnett, in assisting the boys, broke through the ice and went into the icy water all over, also sustaining a cut on the face from the jagged ice. Rosa was wet up to his knees. Both he and Burnett were taken home by Chief Callahan in his car. The Callahan brothers were taken home on the Ladder Truck. The water is quite deep at the spot where the boys went through the ice.

WASHINGTON SCHOOL SIXTH GRADE TEA

On Thursday, December 1st, Mrs. Roderick Thomson, of Fells road, was hostess at a tea for the Mothers of the Sixth-grade pupils of George Washington School. This was the last in a series of grade teas and was well attended.

Mrs. Ruth Graham, sixth grade teacher, spoke on "Five Important Areas of Growth," namely:

1. Mental Growth. She stated that the I. Q. of a pupil can be changed by a more inspirational and stimulating environment.
2. Emotional Growth. Individuals of any age crave affection and must feel satisfaction from associations with others.
3. Social Growth. Girls tend to develop socially, more rapidly than boys, generally speaking.
4. Physical Growth. The ages between 9-12 years seem to be the most healthy years.
5. Spiritual Growth. The attitude towards parents changes at this age cycle, from a feeling of the divinity of the parent to a feeling of normal love. This is as it should be to avert fixations.

Mrs. Graham also stressed the importance of sympathetic vibrations in working with children.

The parental discussion followed the points mentioned in Mrs. Graham's talk.

At the conclusion of the sharing of ideas, satisfaction was expressed by the parents with the type of home reports now issued by the school. They hoped for a continuance of this simplified report card, for parent - teacher conferences, and for the letters which summarize these conferences.

Since there has been no opportunity for regular dancing class this year the sixth-grade Mothers agreed, that in the spring, they would take advantage of Mr. Curry's instructions for two lessons, for the children of this age group.

Tea arrangements were made by Mrs. Paul Rimback and Mrs. Warren Osborne, room Mothers. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles Peter, Chairman of Refreshment Committee, assisted by Mrs. Erskine Kelley, Mrs. Warren Osborne and Mrs. Paul Rimback.

Mrs. Paul Lamarch, president of the Washington Mothers' Association, and Mrs. William Urson presided at the tea table.

SENIOR FORUM TO VISIT HOME FOR THE AGED

Sunday afternoon, at 3 p. m., the Deputations Committee of the Senior Forum, under the chairmanship of Don Cameron and Pat Kaknes, will sponsor a visit to Winchester's Home for the Aged. "The Novettes," a newly formed band, will play Christmas carols and Ed Tarr will play a trumpet solo, "O Holy Night." The Forum choir will sing two numbers, and there will be opportunity for plenty of singing of familiar Christmas carols by the audience.

At the Forum service at 9:30 Sunday morning, Donald Cameron will be the chaplain assisted by Paul Leverette. Deacons will be Lester Godwin, Jr., and Bill Johnston. The Forum choir will sing, and the offertory will be played by Eddie Hammond. The speaker will be the Rev. Peter J. Doeswyk of New York City.

IMAGINARY BUT VERY TRUE

Through that keen sympathy with which a good hospital is endowed, your Winchester Hospital has long been conscious that its youngest "grateful patients" have been unjustly treated. These young ladies and gentlemen, known in the official statistics as the new-born, have had no part in the published expressions of appreciation which the Hospital has from time to time shared with its public. Take, for instance, the three hundred babies under a year old in Winchester today. Seven out of ten of them saw the light of day for the first time in the Winchester Hospital, yet - such are the limitations of verbal expression in this world of ours - those babies will be inarticulate so long that they will have forgotten what their first six to twelve days meant to them by the time they are able to write thank-you letters. Therefore, drawing upon our knowledge of the experiences of those young people in the Hospital Nursery, we have undertaken to write on their behalf. (The names are wholly fictitious. The experiences are wholly true.) The first letter is as follows.

To Miss Mildred Bagley, Obstetrical Supervisor.
Dear Miss Bagley: You probably knew me only as Baby Parsons when I was born rather unexpectedly in the Winchester Hospital on a hot day in August, 1949. Instead of having stayed in my previous home until I was a proper size and strong enough to fend for myself in the great wide world, I made a premature entrance with a weight of only two pounds and twelve ounces. I learned later that I did not make a very brave showing when I stepped before the footlights for the first time, and I was hurried into one of those Hess beds where oxygen and heat are supplied in such a way as to make an easy transition from the home I had left untimely soon. Probably it was the way to save me for this life of fun and frolic, but I must say that my first days were very dull indeed. I had an hunch that interesting things were happening within a short distance of me, but I was allowed to take no part in them. For a few moments every so often my little cell would be opened and a nurse would do something to me or for me, and then - with a gentle but firm click - my door would be closed and I would go on being terribly bored. However, the things done to me and for me must have been just right, for you know that I added ounce after ounce to my weight, and my food was made more and more like the regular nursery rations. Actually when my mother went home from the Hospital, I was able to go with her, and very proud everyone was when father bundled mother and me into the family car. I am writing this letter not only for myself, but for the many other babies whom you call with exasperated affection the "primis". We hope to make you feel that it was worth while to take the very special care which we required. Some day I'll come to see you. In fact, perhaps you will say that I have already done you credit when you look at the picture I am enclosing.

With love,
Carl Winters Parsons
aged four months

SENIOR FORUM TO SPONSOR MISTLETOE DANCE

Plans are going forward for the Mistletoe Dance to be sponsored by the Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church on December 17, 8:00 to 11:55 p. m. in the Social Hall. Music will be furnished by the Harmonizers, and all High School students and alumni are invited. The hall will be beautifully decorated for Christmas with plenty of mistletoe to provide surprises. Nancy Kittell and Gordon Bird, Junior, are in charge of the plans for the evening. An added attraction will be enjoyed when Dotty Brandt sings with the orchestra. Paul Leverette is rigging up a special microphone arrangement for Dotty. Norman Makechin is handling publicity for the dance and Leon Fernandez, Pres. of the Forum, will soon have the store windows shining with posters announcing the High School "Event of the Season" - the Mistletoe Dance.

Mrs. H. T. West and Mrs. E. H. Robinson of 24 Mason street returned to Winchester Sunday after a visit of several weeks at Virginia Beach, Va., where Kenneth West and his family live. Commander West is on the staff of Admiral Blandy, the Commander-in-chief of the Atlantic and the United States Atlantic Fleet.

ABERJONA POST NO. 3719 BUILDING PROGRESSING

Having followed with interest the progress reports that have been published regarding the Girl Scout building we have decided it is about time that a report on the progress of the new quarters for the Veterans of Foreign Wars is in order. The last public notice came about at the last Town Meeting when we asked for deferment of action on the Article relating to our use of the old Mystic School. Since then various ways and means of acquiring quarters have been brought to our attention. It was finally solved by five members of the Post forming a partnership and with the interests of the Post and all Veterans in sight arranging for a personal loan at the bank in order to obtain money to buy the old Girl Scout Cabin and relocate it. Land was bought from the Town at the corner of Arthur and White streets. The old cabin was torn down in sections, transported and re-erected on a foundation at the new location.

The completion of the project, for the present, is in sight and it is hoped the building will be completed by Christmas. Inside finish of knotty pine, heating and flooring will be finished by the end of next week. The original amount of money borrowed has long been spent and the notes have extended to five times the original amount borrowed. Very little of the money has been spent for labor, the members of the Post, experienced in trades giving their time and experience to the project. The Fitzgerald Construction Co. dug out the cellar at no charge to the Veterans; Winchester Brick gave fill and some brick; McGonigle Co. gave the sand; Bolivar Contr. gave materials and labor; Fred McCormack's Pharmacy donated $200.00 in cash to the building fund. Even the neighbors in the district pitched in and helped with labor and usual kibitzing.

It has been hard work and it has been fun, at times. Now we have received phone calls from interested parties inquiring as to our needs to finish up. If any reader has any article of furniture or any furnishing they do not need we will be glad to have a call from them and we will pick it up and assure them the Post will be happy to have more than an empty building for our opening. As for the partnership still holding the responsibility of the notes they too will be more than glad to receive any donations which will enable them to turn the building over to the Post and relieve themselves of the Trusteeship of the building. If you wish to help kindly contact Commander Thomas E. Duddy at WI 6-3244; Sr. Vice-Commander Joseph Duran at WI 6-0116 or John T. Horn at WI 6-0930-W. Contributions should be made out to the V. F. W. Building Fund.

WINCHESTER TAKES PART IN HOSPITAL PLANNING

A week-end conference on hospital designing and building brought to Boston during the past week-end more than one hundred hospital architects and administrators. The meetings were made specially valuable through joint sessions with the combined membership of six New England chapters of the American Institute of Architects. Mr. Paine of Winchester Hospital was one of the hospital management group attending the conference. The presiding officer was Dr. Otis Anderson, Assistant Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service. In the opinion of Dr. Anderson, new hospital facilities costing $500,000,000 are needed in this country, and of this amount Federal aid is prepared to supply one-third to communities and regions where the other two-thirds can be raised from other sources. Efficient operation, the number of beds per floor for best nursing service, and the coordination of hospitals in the overall national plan (with rural units, intermediate general hospitals for suburban regions, and large teaching research hospitals for metropolitan areas) were discussed, in addition to the more technical matters of the architectural field.

AMICO SHOWED WELL IN ALL STAR CLASH

Paul Amico, captain and star fullback of the Winchester High School football team this past fall, played well for the victorious Suburban All Stars against the North Shore All Stars at Manning Bowl in Lynn last Sunday afternoon.

Amico was in the first string Suburban backfield, playing mostly on defense, and doing well enough to win the commendation of one of the Princeton coaches who was at the game in search of possible collegiate material. "Paulie" threw some devastating blocks and did some effective tackling averaging four yards a carry on the few times he was permitted to rush the ball.

It is too bad the sturdy Winchester battering ram didn't have more chance to run with the ball. It would have been interesting to see what he could do with some help up front.

The win of the Suburban Stars gave them a trip to Charlotte, N. C., to meet a Southern All Star scholastic group, and Amico won himself a place in the roster of the boys going south.

DANVERS OPENS BASKETBALL SEASON HERE

The Winchester High hoopsters are gradually rounding into shape for their opening game at home next Friday evening against Danvers High. Two scrimmages have been held this past week against Arlington High, with the locals giving a good account of themselves under game conditions. Coach Ted Bartlett plans another scrimmage next week against Medford High as a final tune-up for next Friday's opener.

The Red and Black basketballers showed good teamwork in their two performances against Arlington this past week. The boys appear to be using a fast break to better advantage this year and were frequently beating their opposition back down the floor to score easy baskets. An encouraging feature was the desire and willingness of this group to set up their offense and they opened up the defense on several occasions to drive through for baskets on set plays. Captain Dennis Sanford and George Tansey showed encouraging accuracy on their set shots from outside which should discourage the opposition from using a zone defense.

Sanford and Tansey have definitely clinched the starting guard berths while Walter Murphy appears to be a fixture at center. The chief competition for starting positions is at the troublesome forward berths with Jack Costello and Bob Walsh having the edges at present. Dan Devlin and Dick Mathews are still in the contention for these positions and may oust the present incumbents by next Friday. Bob Welch is being groomed to provide relief for Murphy at center while Tony Cirurso will spell Sanford and Tansey in the rear court.

Only two juniors have been retained on the squad but Coach Bartlett has a promising group of sophomores upon which to build for the future. Tony Cirurso and "Sonny" Crowley, both juniors have clinched starting positions in the second team along with John Dilorio, a sophomore. The other two positions are wide open and probably will remain so through the first three or four games. The squad has been cut down to workable numbers and, in addition to the above named players, includes Dick Errio, Stowell Symmes, Dave Russo and Peter Coon as forwards, Rodney Long and Bruce Corthell as centers, and Doug Hawkins, Charlie Murphy, John Farrell, and Paul McGowan as guards.

BASKETBALL GAME TO BENEFIT POLIO FUND

Athletic Director Henry T. Knowlton of Winchester High School has announced a basketball game to be played in the high school gymnasium on Saturday evening, January 14, between Winchester and Arlington High Schools for the benefit of the March of Dimes Polio Fund. Further information concerning this game, which should prove interesting for local fans, will be announced later.

1950 Standard Diaries now on sale at Wilson the Stationer, Star Bldg., Church street.

TOWN HOOP LEAGUE OPENS MONDAY

The Town Basketball League opens its winter activities Monday evening at the high school gym. Three games will be played each Monday and Wednesday evening throughout the winter with the public invited to attend free of charge. This marks the fourth season of this popular recreational program sponsored and directed by the Town Recreation Committee.

Eight teams have applied for admission to the league this year which will make for a well-balanced circuit. The curtain-raiser next Monday evening will find the Sons of Italy pitted against the American Legion. In the second game of the evening the defending champions, the Bonnell Motors, will take on a team managed by Alfred Nowell. The final game of the evening will match the Yanks against the Winchester Appliance Co. The other two teams that will swing into action on Wednesday evening are the Rotary Club and a team managed by John Frongillo.

Each team is permitted a player roster of twelve which is subject to change throughout the season. If there are any young men that are residents of the town and have not been signed by one of these eight teams, they are invited to come down to the high school gym on Monday evening and Director Ted Bartlett will be glad to place them on a team. The program is open to all residents of the town that are beyond high school age and all who wish to take advantage of this program are urged to do so.

SCIRE AND ADAMS ELECTED CO-CAPTAINS AT WOBURN

Bob Scire and Earl Adams have been elected co-captains of the Woburn High School football team for 1950. Scire, who was co-captain of this year's team, is a back. Winchester will not soon forget his long touchdown jaunt on Thanksgiving Day. Adams is a lineman, playing both tackle and guard.

COACH KNOWLTON HAS FINE RECORD HERE

This past season marked the tenth year that Henry Knowlton, athletic director at Winchester High School and head of the Department of Physical Education, has coached the school's varsity football team.

On last Saturday at the All Sports Banquet which the high school holds each year for its complete roster of student teams, Mr. Knowlton was presented by the Athletic Association with a fine bamboo fly-rod as a token of appreciation of his faithful service as athletic director and coach and as a reward for the excellence of his work here.

In presenting the rod to Mr. Knowlton, High School Principal Wade L. Grindle paid a high tribute to the popular athletic director whom he rated with the best schoolboy football coaches in New England. In support of his statement he quoted figures to show that Coach Knowlton, since coming to Winchester has won 75 games, tied seven and lost 18, for a won-and-tied record of 82 percent, little short of phenomenal at a school like Winchester. This year he had his poorest season since coming here in the fall of 1939, winning six and losing four games. Many a coach would be delighted with a six-and-four record any season in a town like Winchester, but some of the Monday morning quarterbacks and drugstore coaches were dissatisfied after the losses to Watertown, Reading and Belmont this year and were asking "what is the matter with Winchester football", a la Harvard and Holy Cross!

Close followers of Winchester High School football will always rate the six wins amassed over the 1949 season as a major achievement by Coach Knowlton and his assistants, ranking with the Coach's work in producing the unbeaten State Championship seasons of 1942 and 1946. The material just wasn't around this fall on the heights above the mill pond.

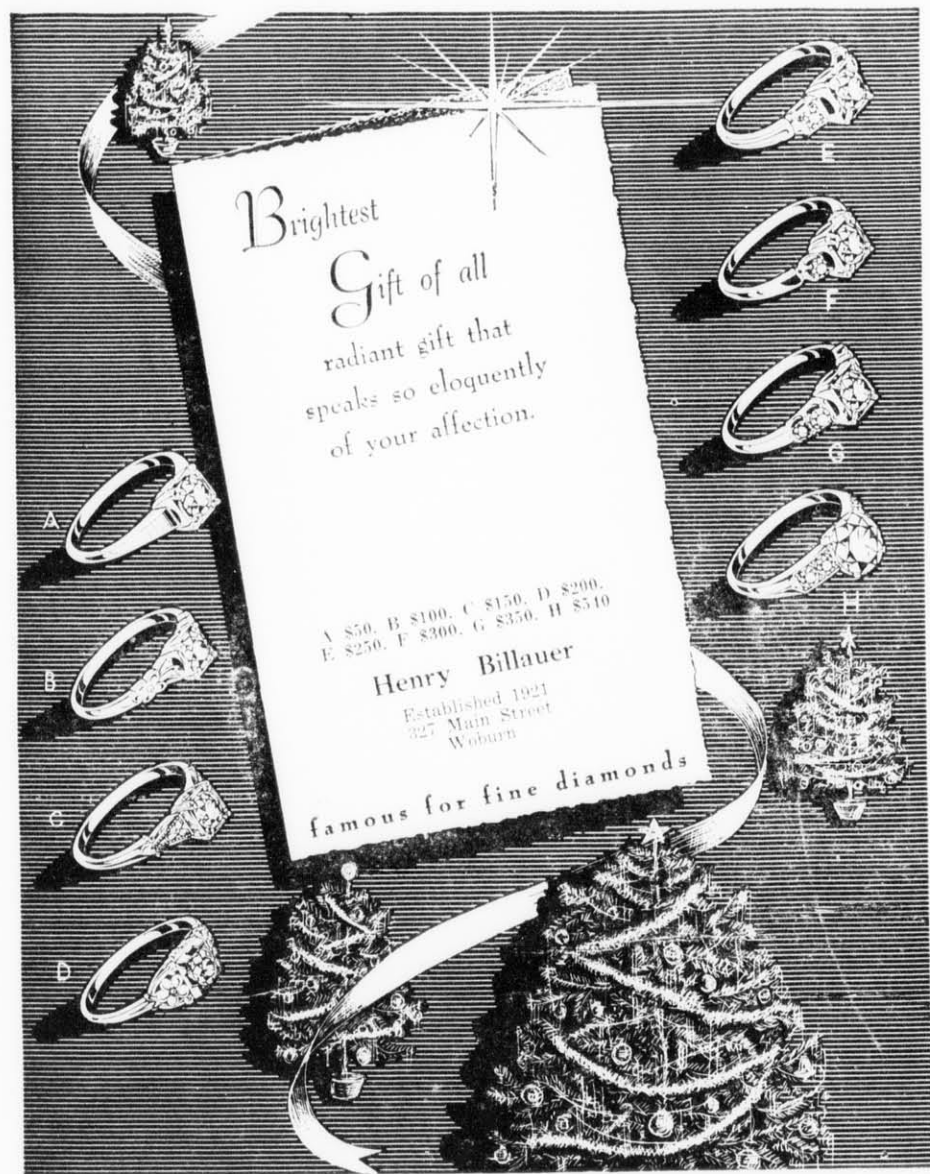

Coach Knowlton grew up in Winchester and first played football for Winchester High as a freshman under Coach "Ernie" Roberts. Later as a sophomore, junior and senior he developed under Coach Wendell Mansfield into one of Winchester's all time football stars, a great halfback and kicker, and an outstanding tackler, one of the best this writer has ever seen.

After captaining the last Winchester team to win a Mystic League title in 1927, as a senior, Coach Knowlton followed his friend and mentor, Coach Mansfield to Springfield, where he played freshman, and for three years, varsity football, captaining the college team in his senior year and being hailed as one of the best punters in New England football. From Springfield Coach Knowlton went to New Hampton prep for a year's coaching. Then he spent a season as assistant to Coach Mansfield at Winchester. For five years he coached at Plymouth High before returning to Winchester as head coach and director of athletics in 1939. Popular with his players, fellow teachers and the public, he has carved a niche for himself high in the local athletic scheme of things. The broad athletic program which he has instituted and maintained at Winchester High paid off well during World War II as a conditioner of Winchester boys for service duty as well as serving yearly as a real morale and character builder for both the school and town.

NEW HIGH SCHOOL MASCOT

By vote of the student body Winchester High School has adopted the Indian as the official school mascot, and henceforth the school teams will be known by the nickname, "Indians." Cleverly designed little Indian decalcomanias, executed by the school art department are now available and are commencing to make their appearance on windshields, notebook covers and luggage.

The high school athletic teams have been "the locals" in the Star's book for a long time, and we ask the indulgence of the high school boys and girls if this familiar descriptive word continues to sneak into our sports reporting for a while at least. We'll try hard for this new "Indians" thing, but we may miss occasionally along at first. Bear with us, then, and be advised, we think your new little "Injun" is quite cute, too!

To the Man Who Is Worried About His Friends...

OCCASIONALLY, we encounter a man who hesitates to buy a Cadillac for fear his friends might think him ostentatious.

For all such people, we have the most reassuring news: The experience of Cadillac owners would indicate that your fears are without foundation.

True, the world has long since recognized that a Cadillac car is a fine and distinguished possession—but most people understand that quality is not a luxury, and that distinction is the offspring of goodness.

The facts in support of Cadillac's practicality are so convincing that the mere recital of just a few should be sufficient reassurance for the most hesitant buyer. Take, for instance, the matter of cost. There are eight other makes of cars which actually have certain models that are priced above the lowest-priced Cadillac. There is long life, for example, Four Cadillacs, of the 1942 Series, ran a total of 2,599,000 miles in a test recently concluded by a great tire manufacturer—almost 650,000 miles per car. All four were then sold into private service—and are still going strong!

Then there is economy. Innumerable tests show that the 1949 Cadillac actually approaches the lowest-priced popular cars in gasoline economy.

And, finally, there are the dependability records—which prove that the car's freedom from the need of repairs is just as unusual as its performance and beauty!

Yes—if you are ready for a Cadillac, come in. You will never make a more sensible purchase—or one of which your friends will more heartily approve.

GIRL SCOUT CABIN DEDICATED Largely Attended Exercises Held On Sunday Afternoon

The dedication of our Girl Scout Cabin will long be remembered by our girls as well as their parents, friends, the Rotary Club and various Scout officials from the National, Regional and Massachusetts Headquarters. It was cold up there in the Fells what with the fresh snow and all, but the warm glow of the fire in the outside fireplace reminded us of our own inner glow that comes from a job well done. For as Dr. Pollard said in his narration, "It was a hot day in August when Al Elliott stated Rotary should not give money, but build the Cabin for the Girl Scouts." It is really an epochal achievement for three reasons: 1) it is the fulfillment of a dream; 2) it was for the most part done in such a short time (from the second week in September until the dedication December 4th); and last but not least 3) it revealed a community spirit long dormant but quickly fanned to the height of "Let's do it" by the men of Rotary.

The ceremony was pleasantly brief. Mr. Bailey's kindly invocation and Father O'Neil's benediction made us again cognizant of the Greater Spirit over all of our efforts. Mrs. Cary's "M. C. ing" was as always, easy and friendly and humorous; and after the narration by Dr. Pollard, her remarks, as she presented the Awards, were very apropos. Watching from our vantage point, we had the pleasure of watching the faces of the several men, listening in great patience then gradually registering that Hazel Cary was really meaning each one as she gave the job description and finally, the name: Those who received Scout Awards were: The Rotary Club, Al Elliott, Charley Murphy, Bill Davies, Harry Cheffalo, Bill Cleary, and Nick Fitzgerald.

Next, Hazel Cary awarded Girl Scout pins for their untiring efforts to: Brad Hersey for being so patient with the distaff side pros and cons about the Cabin; Jay Willing, for keeping such excellent books for the Cabin Fund Committee; Burt Miller, for his aiding and abetting, and his selfless living during the campaign; and last but not over the least, Olive Miller for her super job of being the chairman of Cabin Fund drive, etc., etc., (and those are many). To the recipients of the awards, the pins, and all else who helped in Any Way:

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

We appreciate that the remaining days before Christmas will be busy ones for everyone but we urge all of our members to make a special effort to attend the meeting on Tuesday, December 13th, as it promises to be one of the most interesting of the year.

From one to two o'clock we will hold our Holiday Goodie Sale, featuring nuts, candy, fruitcakes, jellies and all those little "extras" needed for the holiday season. This will be followed by the Reception to New Members at two o'clock.

The highlight of the afternoon will be the Christmas program presented by The Mary Witham Singers with Grace Norian, accompanist and Constance Elrod Merrill, reader.

This talented group of singers needs no introduction to our Winchester members and we can promise our out of town members and guests an afternoon of unusually fine entertainment. The Guild of the Infant Saviour is very grateful to Mrs. Witham for including us in her busy holiday schedule.

Tea will be served as usual at four o'clock by Mrs. Hugh McPartland and her hospitality committee.

Now for news of the Bazaar. Despite inclement weather hundreds of members and friends of the Guild turned out on Tuesday, November 29th, to make our annual bazaar the same successful affair it has been in the past. The gaily decorated tables held hosts of budget and attractive gifts for the budget-minded Christmas shopper; from The Country Store lovely dolls to gladden the heart of any little girl and from The Apron Table those "perky" aprons for which The Guild is famous, and prettier than ever this year we might mention. The White Elephant Table held its usual fascinating array of articles from skis to playing cards and The Swap Shop was well stocked with good, used wearing apparel. The Medford Tables had a display of much needed electrical appliances and a beautiful assortment of handkerchiefs and The Pantry Shelf was laden with a toothsome variety of home-baked goods, candies and jellies. A special low bow should go to the members of The Snack Bar committee, particularly Mrs. Peter A. Murphy and Mrs. C. Douglas Wheeler, for the excellent luncheon served from 11:30 to 2 o'clock. Our many friends and members, who look forward to this luncheon every year, were not disappointed for it lived up to its usual reputation for quality plus quantity.

For those of you who were unable to be present or have not heard, the following are the lucky winners of the table prizes: Mrs. D. E. Bates of Pierrepont road, Winchester, won the beautiful tray painted and donated by Mrs. Michael Hintlian; Mrs. Carl Thomas, 9 Water street, Winchester, won the lovely needlepoint stool made and donated by Mrs. Daniel J. Doherty; blankets were won by Mrs. P. Glendon and Mrs. John J. Gorman of Winchester; Mrs. Catherine Rourke of Medford won the dinnerware and Mr. John Geary of Belmont won the whole ham; Mrs. Edward M. O'Loughlin of Winchester won an S. S. #### Thanks A Million!

This dream of the Winchester Council of Girl Scouts has revealed, en route to its completion, a wealth of friends we didn't know we had; and a community spirit among our men that snow-balled into the building of our Cabin. Many who came to watch stayed to help... some with hammer and saw, some with concrete or bricks and mortar... and aching backs; and many there are with all of these plus a little thinner pocket book. The thing that most recently gave us a thrill was the following letter, which Al Elliott received:

"Dear Alfred:
"On June 3 I gave the Girl Scout Building Fund a check with my 'tongue very much in my cheek' because I didn't believe it would be at all possible on a contract basis to construct the building planned for anything like the money the drive was aiming at or was likely to collect.

"Since that time I have contributed only a few nails to the roof and two skunk knees in the process. Your leadership and energy however, have achieved such a wonderful example of community cooperation in building the cabin that I would like very much to help out further financially along the lines of our conversation of this morning and increase my original contribution.

"I am enclosing a check for $... (triple the amount of the first) made out to the Winchester Girl Scout Building Fund for the use at your discretion at any point where you feel something additional is needed. I think the idea of a 'crazy patchwork quilt' tiling job which you suggested would be a real addition to the future upkeep and cleanliness of the cabin, and I would be glad to have the check applied specifically for this purpose.

"Beyond this, my wife and I would like to extend our congratulations to you, Bill Davies, Mrs. Cary, Mrs. Metcalf, and all of the many others who contributed so much in the way of personal enthusiasm, energy, effort and materials to the success of this undertaking. It is a perfectly swell job, Al. You all can be very proud of it."

With best regards,
Sincerely yours,
A Girl Scout Father.

WINCHESTER BOYS AT HARVARD CLUB

The much harassed Arthur Valpey, head coach of the Harvard football team, will be the speaker at the December meeting of the Eastern Middlesex Harvard Club to be held December 14 at the Bear Hill Country Club, Stoneham.

In making this announcement to its members, the officers of the club inferentially stated their belief that the head coach had done a good job in the face of difficult conditions.

Other guests who are invited to the meeting are three Winchester boys who played on the varsity team, Roche, West and Walsh; also Pete Dillingham of Winchester, who played on the freshman eleven; and Manager Richmond of the freshman team, who also lives in Winchester.

Coach Valpey addressed this club in the spring of 1948 at the conclusion of spring practice and made an excellent impression. His invitation to return as a speaker is regarded as a vote of confidence in him, as least in the Eastern Middlesex sector of the Harvard Alumni Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Armstrong, Jr., of Sylvester avenue are the parents of a son, Robert W. Armstrong, 3rd, born December 2 at Richardson House in Boston. Mrs. Armstrong is the former Suzanne Boynton Burr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney A. Burr of Central street. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Armstrong of Curtis Circle.

PAINTING METHODISTS

A number of members of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church learned of their versatility when paint brushes covered the walls and ceilings of the up-stairs Sunday School rooms. The sea green, blue and rose colors add brightness and delight to the newly decorated rooms.

Only one mishap came when one of the painters said he was getting relief from home duties. Several minutes afterwards he fell over a roll of paper and got his head almost completely covered with paint. He was allowed an hour off to beg forgiveness at home and came back smiling.

The pastor is asking for every available man to come and help finish the job. The time is set for tonight (Friday) and all day Saturday and a great deal of help is needed and it is good to be in the "swing" of things anyway.

Mr. and Mrs. L. I. (Babe) McEwen of Quincy, Illinois, are announcing the birth of a second daughter, Natalie Jean, born November 7th, at the Quincy Hospital. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Quincy, Illinois and Mrs. A. McEwen Laird, of Winchester.

FIELD HOCKEY SCORING RECORDS

Bette Kneeland, center forward on this season's undefeated Winchester High School field hockey team, had the distinction of leading the team in scoring with 12 goals. Marilyn Chase, left inner, had six goals for second place and June Ryan, right inner, was third with 2. Included are the scores of the Play Day games at Concord and one inter-school, inter-class game.

Winchester scored 14 goals to their opponents' 5 for the regular season, the totals for all the games being Winchester, 20, Opponents, 8. This great offensive edge indicates the high caliber of goal tending turned in by Goalie Jean Farquhar through the year.

Paul Amico, Winchester High School's football captain, left Wednesday at noon with the Suburban All Star Football Team for Washington, D. C. After seeing the sights in the Nation's Capitol the All Star will go on to Charlotte, N. C., where they play a Southern All Star schoolboy team tonight. Amico played a fine defensive game for the Suburban Stars against North Shore last Sunday at Manning Bowl, Lynn, and is expected to give another good account of himself tonight.

WINCHESTER LODGE, NO. 1580 NEWS

The Winchester Lodge Bowling League rolled their 8th and 9th matches on Tuesday, November 29 and Tuesday, December 6 at the New Bowladrome on Swanton street.

The 8th match wound up with Fordham still in the lead, by the skin of their teeth. Holy Cross is in second place with Santa Clara, St. Mary, Boston College, Notre Dame, Georgetown and Villanova following in that order.

On Tuesday, December 6 the 9th match was rolled and it resulted in Holy Cross and Fordham going into a tie for 1st place as far as points won and lost is concerned.

As there are only 2 more matches in the 1st series it looks like it's going to be a battle in the home stretch, as Santa Clara is trailing by only 3 points.

Harry Chelaflo took the high for the night with a 316. The team high was taken by Santa Clara.

Two weeks ago the writer of this column was the victim of as smooth a "fast one" as has been pulled for sometime. When I went to the clubhouse for the bowling results I saw a bowling sheet on the bulletin board with 4 strings of bowling on it, the fourth string being topped by "Mingy" Frongillo's name. The total for his string was 186.

I looked and looked at the sheet and it looked good to me. I asked several of the boys if it was o. k. and they nodded in the affirmative. I misinterpreted the smiles on their faces, so I "fell" for the gag. Thanksgiving day came the dawn on the gag, but it was too late to do anything about it as the Star office was closed.

I can imagine "Mingy" taking bows in his nonchalant way and playing it up for all it was worth, as that type of a gag is Frongillo's meat, as many of his friends will testify.

At the regular monthly meeting held on Monday, December 5, the Christmas Party Committee reported that plans were nearing completion for the annual Christmas Party for the members' children.

Don't forget the A. C. A. meeting on Friday, December 16. The Building Committee has a very important report to make, which will be of interest to all the members.

PARISH PLAYERS TO PRESENT CHRISTMAS PLAY, DECEMBER 18TH

The Parish Players, of the First Congregational Church, will present Lawrence Housman's "Bethlehem", in the Church Auditorium, Sunday afternoon, December 18th, at 4:30.

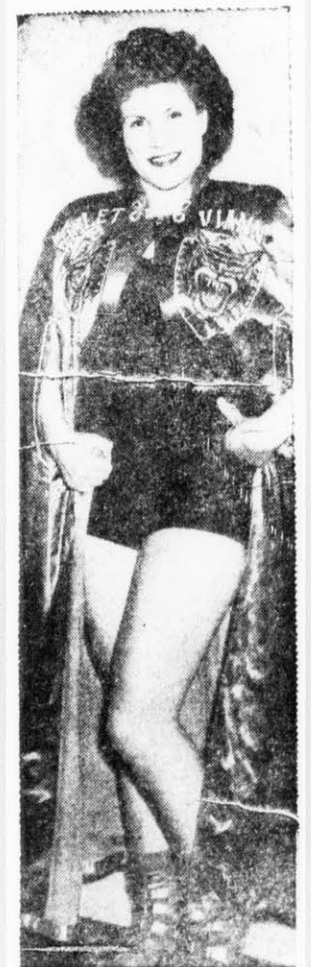

The presenting of this play every other Christmas has become a tradition with the Church. The Church is usually full of parents and children on these occasions. The purpose of the play is to emphasize the Christmas story so that Santa Claus will not crowd out the Christ Child in the minds of children at the Christmas season.

Children ten years of age or under should be accompanied by parents. The public is welcome.

REPUBLICAN 21 CLUB

The next meeting of the Republican 21 Club will be held on Friday, December 16 at 8 o'clock at the home of Donald Frew, 12 Wedgemere avenue. The speaker will be Mr. Ernest Johnson of the Building and Labor Union.

VIOLET VIAN

GIRL WRESTLERS AT STONEHAM V. F. W. HALL TUESDAY

Girl wrestlers will be back as the feature attraction at the regular weekly Stoneham V. F. W. wrestling shows next Tuesday evening, December 13, when Miss Violet Vian from Kansas City, is matched in the main bout with Cecilia Blevins of Tulsa, Oklahoma. These girls have both wrestled in Stoneham on previous occasions and are known as skilled performers in the squared circle.

Violet Vian is a former ranch hand, real estate investor and one of the most spirited and competitive girl wrestlers in the business today. She has a home that is the showplace of her neighborhood, of which she says: "That home is my pride and joy. Wrestling built it for me and I am just as proud of showing it as showing the public what I can do on the mat."

The semi-final will pit Red O'Malley of Philadelphia against Bob "Bibber" McCoy of Cambridge. Charro Aztec of Mexico City, well known also to Stoneham wrestling fans, meets Jackie Nichols, a popular athlete from Portland, Me., in the special opener.

Ladders and other life-saving equipment at ponds around town have a serious purpose. They are put there to save life. Why any one would tamper with them, or take them from their usual place, except in an emergency, is hard to understand, and yet boys have been doing just this. We can promise that any one caught fooling around with life-saving equipment will be in for a bad time, and we believe everyone will agree that he should be, for the absence of such equipment in a time of need may mean the loss of a life. Surely no one wants to feel that his idea of fun could have so serious a result. Leave ladders placed at ponds alone! If you see any one fooling with them, explain the seriousness of such action, and if they still persist, call the police.
Life-saving equipment should be inviolate!

CONDITION OF SIDEWALKS
A DISGRACE

Editor of the Star:
The condition of the sidewalks of this town is a disgrace and apparently only an aroused and irate citizenry will be able to get anything done about it.

Let those who have inveigled against the School Committee in your recent columns for proposing to continue the single-session school day in January and February take a look at their sidewalks and the pedestrians already walking in the streets after only insignificant snowfalls. Let all who do not ride in automobiles every step of their way but trudge in exasperation along the uneven, icy sidewalks ankle-deep in snow or worse ponder upon their unhappy lot and record their opinions with the selectmen.

It takes no Solomon to understand that neglect of sidewalks in the early season snowfalls builds up a cumulative ice condition that in later falls makes the sidewalk lanes actually impassable even to power equipment. What are the selectmen and the superintendent of streets waiting for?

The basic trouble is that the great majority of Winchester citizens ride everywhere they go and it is difficult for them to understand the troubles of the pedestrian. They don't hesitate, however, to send their own children out over these icy, dangerous paths! Or, when those paths inevitably become blocked through continued negligence, into the street themselves to take their chances with the untrustworthy wheels of winter traffic!

Let's have an end to this shrugging of shoulders and defeatist attitude on the part of those directly responsible for the disgraceful negligence of our sidewalks. It is a serious problem and has got to be solved. If the selectmen can't get it remedied let them follow the example of most of the cities and towns in the United States and require every householder to clean his own sidewalk and reserve their puny efforts with town equipment to clean the business center and the walks in front of vacant land.

Richard M. Rush, Member,
School Committee, 6 Woodside Rd.

THANKS FROM SCOUTS

Editor of the Star:
May I use the medium of the Star to say "Thank you" to all who have in any way participated in the building of the new cabin for the Girl Scouts. The Rotary Club has done such a perfectly superb job for us that we find words inadequate to express our thanks, and the generosity of our townspeople has been inspirational.

A COMPLIMENT

Editor of the Star:
I have received all the papers
I ordered with printing of the Christian Science lecture and I thank you. Your prompt and courteous service is appreciated. Is it too late to order ten (10) more - Friday, November 25th? A check for $1 is enclosed. Some of these papers are being mailed to friends, one to California and another to England.

Just a word for your fine paper.
I have looked it thru carefully including the advertisements, and read much of it. The quality of paper and of printing is excellent and the layout most attractive, fact is, it is the best weekly I have ever seen. I was quite impressed with page 7 "Across the Common."

Yours very truly,
Miss Allie Bristol
Wallingford, Conn.

THE EDITOR HAS A BIRTHDAY

"T. P." had a birthday Sunday!
"T. P." to you is Theodore P. Wilson, T. Price for short, editor of the Winchester Star, and this isn't his first birthday by quite some considerable. In fact he has had so many of the blame things that he didn't want any party; got his back right up and just wouldn't have any party. That was all there was to it!

The "little woman," however, you know how Frances is, she didn't actually invite anyone to a birthday party. Not at all! She just casually mentioned that Price was having a birthday Sunday, and, er, you know, just having a birthday!
He wouldn't have any party!

Well, the net result of the "little woman's" getting around and spreading the word was that between eighty and a hundred neighbors and friends dropped in at the Wilson House during the day, forenoon, afternoon and evening, to offer congratulations and best wishes, and to enjoy the Wilson hospitality.

Lester and Marion Gibson came down from Southampton, N. H., and Sumner and Melvina Crosby came up from Falmouth to be house guests of the Wilsons over the week-end, with the Editor's old boy-hood friend, Sumner McCall of Williamsville, Vt., showing up Saturday; and the birthday festivities really got going Saturday night, when all hands, plus Joe Harting of Boston, went in town to dinner. Afterwards the girls went to a show and the boys took in the "Barbershop Quartet" singing at Tremont Temple, all agreeing that the close harmony was a little bit of all right.

"T. P." nearly got separated from the gang on the way home when he was held up trying to get through an elevated turnstile. The Editor doesn't see as well in the dark as he used to and he tried to work the stile with one of those New Deal lead cents, to no avail. Joe Harling rallied around and got him through all right and there was no further untoward incident.

The birthday was really quite a success. The Editor, in his favorite velvet smoking jacket, greeted all his guests personally and showed them Lowell Smith's present, complete with explanations of the unusual features involved. He even took time to demonstrate the intricacies of his granddaughter, Lee Hakanson's big musical top to his youngest guest, little two year-old "Cathie" Spencer, who watched
"T. P." round-eyed and very apparently fascinated.

Everything went well and everyone had a good time. The next time T. P. doesn't have a party you better plan to be there!

IN MEMORY OF ARTHUR BRYER

The Animal's Friend
by Porter Ellis

The animals have lost a friend
Who loved and served them dearly.
"The Shelter," now is silent - closed -
Where he labored so sincerely.

No matter what the task ahead
Or late the hour of night,
He gladly gave his willing aid
To dumb friends in their plight.

About the place he loved so well
His spirit lingers still -
This man so kind to animals
Did well his task fulfill.

While unexpressed, his just reward,
Dumb friends cannot repay -
May gratitude his service bless
In some Celestial way.

A HEARTY THANK YOU

May we take this opportunity, through the Star, to thank all those generous individuals whose assistance made it possible for us to provide holiday cheer of food, clothing and fruit for our less fortunate neighbors at Thanksgiving.

We especially appreciate the assistance afforded us by the Winchester Branch of the Salvation Army, the Winchester Chapter, Red Cross; the town churches and societies.

May we ask your continued generous assistance through the Christmas season, especially on behalf of the town's needy children, who must look to you for the means to make their Christmas a merry
one.

BADMINTON NEWS

Congratulations to Jack Tarbell for being the only competitor from Winchester to receive a piece of hardware from president Charles Newhall of the Mass. Badminton Association at the conclusion of the "D" Tournament on Saturday evening. Jack sailed along to the finals with apparent ease eliminating opponents with many more years of experience than he has had.
The finals of the men's singles between Jack and Bill Goodman of Shady Hill was a good match, but the eighteen year old Harvard student, whose long legs and long reach enabled him to cover the court in a stride proved a little too much for the 'old' man from Dartmouth - indeed young Goodman proved his superiority over all his opponents for he and his partners won the men's doubles and mixed doubles thereby taking home one of each of the first prizes from the trophy table. Other Winchester players survived the first rounds but bowed to the superior strength of visiting opponents, and again Jack showed himself to be our number one "D" player by reaching the semi-finals in the men's doubles with Whit Gray and mixed doubles with Mary Moore of Shady Hill.

runs toward the unusual, visit the store of Henry Billauer, "The Square Deal Jeweler" in Woburn.
Mr. Billauer comes from a family of jewelers and from long experience has been able to assemble jewelry and silverware that will please you with their quality and delight you with the price tags attached.

his name really means something.

Christmas, or watches or silver, or any of the many items stocked by the better jewelers, you will find them at Billauer's, all carefully selected and priced so you can save money as well as shopping time. It is just a short run up Main street to Billauer's by car or bus.

CHRISTMAS CHORAL CONCERT

"The combined choir of the First Baptist Church of Medford, Massachusetts will present at the church on Sunday evening, December 18th, 1949 at 7 p. m. a carefully selected program of Christmas music including choral arrangements of Christmas carols from many lands and featuring the very effective Fred Waring arrangement of The Song of Christmas.
This program will feature a full chorus of mixed voices, soloists, organ, piano and bells. Narration and script is being handled by Arthur Jones of radio station
WBKA. Soloists will include Elaine Wynne of Everett, Adele Khoury of Boston, Edgar Isherwood of Arlington and John Hardy of Nat-tucket. The whole concert is under the direction of Dr. Arthur J. Watzinger of Wellesley, the Minister of Music of this church.
The public is cordially invited to participate in this musical treat."

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

Celebrating Christmas was once a crime. In the Puritan England of Oliver Cromwell any observance was illegal, even the hanging of a child's stocking, the eating of a holiday dinner, or the decorating of a festive tree. The ban was initiated by special act of Parliament in 1652, and retained until the return of "merrie" Charles II in 1660, the National Geographic Society recalls.

An Alaska sealskin is so light and pliable that an entire belt can be passed through a napkin ring.

Letters addressed to the old names of European cities and towns whose designations have been changed since World War II face possible non-delivery, notes
the National Geographic Society.
Some mail so addressed has been returned, marked "No such place."

At Rodanthe, a small village on wind-swept Hatteras Island off the North Carolina coast, residents still celebrate Christmas on January 6, the ages-old Twelfth Night.

"Leghorn" hats take their name from the Italian port of Leghorn, or Livorno to the Italians, through which they long have been shipped.
However, the hats actually are produced in Fiesole, a suburb of inland Florence, notes the National Geographic Society.

The first lighthouse erected by the federal government was a sandstone structure built in 1791 on the tip of Cape Henry, Virginia.
Still standing today, it served for 90 years before being retired in favor of a taller, iron light.

In making glass fibers, used in materials that resist water, acids, heat, cold, and electricity, the industry first makes big glass marbles, from which continuous filaments are drawn out faster than a mile a minute. A strand of glass fiber may be 15 times finer than human hair, and have a tensile strength greater than steel, says
the National Geographic Society.

European monks, skilled long practice as manuscript illuminators, brought stained glass craftsmanship to its highest level in the 14th and 15th centuries. By rediscovering their painstaking methods, American craftsmen of the past 80 years have recaptured this lost art, notes the National Geographic Society.

THE CHRISTMAS ORATORIO
THIS SUNDAY

On this coming Sunday afternoon at four o'clock, in the Unitarian Church, the community will have an opportunity to hear the Unitarian Choir, augmented by Sadie R. Horne, Ragnar Brandt,
Clark A. Richardson and the Mary Witham Singers, present Saint-Saens' Christmas Oratorio under the direction of their leader, Mrs.
Witham. Mr. Weston L. Brannen, whose playing of Brahms' Requiem was so inspiring last spring when this same group sang it, will again be at the organ.
Rev. Charles E. Park is to conduct the service, giving a brief address. The program will open with a few carols by the Mary Witham Singers, well known in past seasons for artistic presentations.

RESEARCH IN ANTARCTIC REGIONS BRINGS FACTS - PLUS ADVENTURES
Eleven men are waiting and watching, on an icebound island off the deep-freeze continent of Antarctica, for their ship to come in.

The ship, which is now on her long way to the South Polar regions, is the British John Biscoe, which will try once more during the coming "moderate season" to pick up scientists left for nearly three years on Stonington Island, in Marguerite Bay, off Graham Land.

This marooned party, notes the National Geographic Society, is one of a number of research and exploration teams sent out by the British Government's Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey.

The Stenington group, stationed at the farthest-south base of the Survey, was due for relief early in 1949, after two years' duty. Unusually severe ice-pack conditions at the time, however, prevented the relief expedition from getting through. The present try, to be made months hence, is fortified by two ski-equipped planes for alternative air rescue.

Blak, Lonely Spot
Although British expeditions had explored and mapped the general area before World War II, the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey (FIDS) set up the first permanent research stations in 1943.

As the name indicates, the area involved covers related territories grouped with the Falklands, which lie east of the South American tip shared by Argentina and Chile.

The Dependencies themselves are bleak and windswept patches of land scattered southeast and south of the main Falklands to the Antarctic mainland. They include South Georgia, and South Sandwich, South Orkney, and South Shetland Islands, plus the main land peninsula of Graham Land.

Through the 1948-49 winter, seven British bases were maintained at various points in the Dependencies. Among their personnel were meteorologists, geologists, biologists, and surveyors, whose findings are now being correlated with others for the unfolding picture of conditions in this long blank Antarctic spot.

Valuable Data Gathered
Through the years, valuable material on temperatures, winds, and other weather conditions has been obtained. Mineral samples have been collected. A seal count is being carried on at all bases.

In the field of exploration, thousands of miles of Antarctic wastes have been mapped. Ice-free streams and lakes have been discovered in the heart of frozen lands.

In 1947-48, an American party which had established a temporary base on Stonington Island joined with the British stationed there for a sledging and air expedition that covered considerable territory and added much detail to maps.

The United States has made no formal claims in this or other parts of Antarctica, in spite of extensive research and exploration. Argentina and Chile claim overlapping areas of the Falkland Dependencies, which have been under British sovereignty since 1908. Argentina also has a long-standing dispute with Britain over the main Falkland Islands, held for more than a century by the British.

According to reports, mineral discoveries in the Falkland Dependencies have so far proved disappointing. The surrounding seas, however, are of great economic value as the world's last major whaling field.

ARE THE SOUTH SEAS PARADISE? THE ANSWER IS: "YES, BUT..."
Want to live in a tropical paradise? The British Colonial Office reports it operates a real one--the dime-size Gilbert and Ellice Islands of the storied South Seas. Among other attractions, the islands have no housing shortage, no poverty, and very low taxes.

But whether a would-be immigrant can expect to find a genuine Utopia there all depends on what he seeks, observes the National Geographic Society. If, for instance, it's isolation, there probably are few places in the world more peaceful. News from the outside is meager, supply ships make only occasional calls, and planes are rarely seen.

Or if it's a superb ocean climate, the thermometer seldom dips below 72 degrees or rises above 92 in the shade. Robert Louis Stevenson, famed author who visited the islands in 1889, wrote of day-light hours spent in a gleaming sun and bracing wind, and nights of a "heavenly brightness."

Finally, some sportsmen claim there is no finer fishing ground anywhere than in the Gilbert group. The surrounding waters boast an abundance of "big ones," including sharks, spearfish, barracuda and others.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE NOTES

At the recent School Committee meeting, Dr. Forbes H. Norris discussed with the Committee plans for improving further the high school program, particularly for the students not planning to go to college.

The Committee heard a report on the work of rebuilding the floor of the Junior High School gymnasium. Examination of the old floor uncovered the work of termites which have made it necessary to do a complete job of reconstruction.

The sum of $22,736.65 has recently been received as Winchester's portion of State aid for schools.

Plans for the Mystic School addition have been approved by the State School Building Assistance Committee. Although no amount of reimbursement has been stated, the town stands to recover from State funds twenty per cent of the cost of construction.

THE WINCHESTER HOME AND GARDEN CLUB

The Annual Christmas Workshop of the Winchester Home and Garden Club will be held at the Baptist Church on Wednesday, December 14 at 10 a. m.

There will be samples of Christmas Decorations, and the materials available for making them, with suggestions and help from the more expert members. Everyone is advised to bring clippers, shears, gloves, etc.

Lunch will be served at the church at 12:30 by the Social Chairman, Mrs. Wellington Caldwell, but reservations must be made with her by calling her (Winchester 6-0879-M) on or before December 12.

Saturday afternoon at 1:29 the Fire Department was called to put out a fire at the new town dump at the rear of the old Puffer Plant off Swanton street.

MRS. CHARLES P. HOWARD

TO SPEAK AT WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The December meeting of the Women's Republican Club of Winchester will be held at the Music Hall on Wednesday, December 14. Mrs. Robert B. L. Singer and her social committee will serve dessert at 1:30 P. M., after which there will be a reception to past presidents, State officers and new members. The Christmas Musicals will feature Miss Helen Bedford, harpist, with Mrs. George L. Witham at the organ. Vice-President Mrs. Theodore C. Browne will preside at the meeting and introduce the speaker, Mrs. Charles P. Howard, Secretary of the Republican National Committee. Mrs. Howard has brought the Christmas message to the Women's Republican Club of Winchester for several years and has always been very well received and greatly admired by her Winchester audiences. Her subject this year will be "Good Will Toward Men."

Mrs. Howard is of New England parentage though born near Savannah, Georgia. She was for several years a resident of Winston-Salem, North Carolina. There she was graduated from Salem Academy, Salem College and then from Smith College, Northampton, Massachusetts, where she majored in Government and history. She is the wife of Colonel Charles P. Howard who was attached to the Headquarters of the United States Forces in Austria and Vienna during the recent war. Her daughter, Margaret is now a student at Columbia University and her son, Herbert Graham, is studying at Harvard.

For eighteen years, Mrs. Howard was a member of the Reading Republican Town Committee of Massachusetts and Vice Chairman of the Committee for ten years. She became a member of the Reading Town Meeting in 1944 and was an alternate-delegate at large to the Republican National Convention. Mrs. Howard has been active in the American Red Cross. Governor Leverett Saltonstall appointed her a Trustee of the Boston State Hospital in 1944. She served as President of the Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts from 1942 to 1945, previously serving as Activities Director and Vice-President and she was a member of the Arrangements Committee of the Republican National Convention, a member of the sub-committee on Housing, and a member of the Resolutions Committee at the 1948 Convention.

At present, Mrs. Howard is the Secretary of the Republican National Committee, an ex-officio member of the Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee, a member of the Executive Committee of the Republican Club of Massachusetts, a member of the Executive Committee of the Republican State Committee of Massachusetts, as well as a member of many church and civic groups.

Members are reminded of the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of the Boston Women's Republican Club. If you have extra linens, please bring a gift of either new or used linen to the meeting on Wednesday. Some of the items needed are tablecloths, napkins, banquet cloths, bath towels, bathmats, huck towels, and bureau covers. Your gifts will be presented as a birthday gift from the Women's Republican Club of Winchester to the Boston Women's Republican Club.

GIFTS TO PARKHURST SCHOOL

The executive board of the Parkhurst Mothers' Association, after a luncheon for the teachers recently voted to purchase auditory equipment for the school.

A record player having the tone quality and amplification desirable for music appreciation was approved, and a sum of money voted for the selection of rhythm records for primary grades, and long-playing and standard classics for all grades.

Two radios for classroom use were chosen so that the fifth and sixth grades may benefit from the educational programs that are so skillfully prepared for elementary grade students.

For the kindergarten the choice was a sturdy, manually controlled record player, low enough and easy enough for the school's youngest members to operate.

Members of the Mothers' Association had many conferences with the teachers concerning the gifts. Their concerted efforts insure the best possible selection for the educational and cultural purpose in view.

Speaking for the Parkhurst teachers, Miss Martha Cunningham praised the Mothers' Association for their thoughtfulness in providing the highly regarded auditory aids.

Richard Smith, former Winchester High School three-sport athlete, was one of 29 members of the Norwich football team recently awarded varsity insignia. Smith is a sophomore at Norwich.

JERARD JENNINGS

TO GIVE BENEFIT CONCERT

Jerard Jennings, the remarkably gifted child prodigy, will present a concert at Symphony Hall, Boston, on Sunday afternoon, December 11th, for the benefit of the Cenele Convent Building Fund.

Jerard is a healthy, lively lad in an entirely normal and engaging way when he is away from the piano, but at the keyboard he displays a surprising degree of interpretative ability as he plays the master works of Mozart, Bach, Chopin, Beethoven, Liszt, and others. His own composition, "Serenade To Children" is beautiful and penetrating.

"I WAS NEVER SO PROUD IN ALL MY LIFE"

This was the heart-warming remark heard many times at the Red Cross Blood Donor Center on Friday, December 2 when 67 people of Winchester generously contributed a pint of their blood in order that others might live.

Each day there are in this Commonwealth, hundreds of people whose life may depend on success in getting someone to give him a little blood. There's the three year old who in her short life has had sixty blood transfusions; there's the five year old who needs a pint a month to keep her alive; these are dramatic incidents which have drawn public attention but the day-by-day needs for blood in healing the sick is not so dramatic but it is equally important.

Through the combined efforts of the various services of the Red Cross, the staff of the Mobile Unit, the Girl Scouts, the Junior Red Cross, the Precinct solicitors, and the donors themselves, a total of 67 pints of blood was credited to insure the health of the community. Those who made appointments and were unable to keep them, can do so on March 15, 1950, the next Blood Donor Day.

To these people we are most grateful, and if a generous donor was heard to remark, "I was never so proud in all my life," some grateful recipient will say, "I never knew there were so many wonderful people in the world."

Christmas ed. by Randolph Haugan

An American Annual of Christmas Literature and Art including Christmas articles and stories, poetry, music and photography. This beautifully illustrated volume also includes Customs and Legends of European Countries.

Students' Room

It would probably be amazing to know the number of people who first became interested in their vocation through a book they read when young. Many career books may be found in the Students' Room. "Sue Barton, Neighborhood Nurse" by Boylston continues the story of Sue as wife of a handsome doctor and mother of three children and her usefulness to her community. "The Thread that Runs So True" is the true story of Jesse Stuart's years as a Kentucky school teacher. "Kathie, the New Teacher" by Rosenheim is another excellent teaching novel. Helen Hayes and Mary Kennedy have written an absorbing book, "Star on Her Forehead" which follows the stage career of two young girls and thereby acquaints the reader with the complex life of actors and actresses.

RED CROSS THANKS COMMUNITY FOR BLOOD DONOR DAY COOPERATION

Dedicated to saving lives and preventing human suffering, the Blood Program of the American Red Cross offers an unparalleled opportunity for men and women to rally to the cause of humanity.

There was undeniable proof of this on December 2, Winchester's Blood Donor Day when so many townspeople volunteered their blood, their time, and their services.

The Chapter wishes to extend its sincere thanks to the Star, for its generous contribution of space; to Hevey's Pharmacy, for the window display space; to the Congregational Church, for the use of its Parish Hall; to Mr. Foley, for the use of his window for a poster; to Leon Smith, whose services on Blood Donor Day are indispensable; to Mr. Hiram Moody, for the loan of a car; to the Gray Ladies: Mrs. Alan Lindblad, Mrs. Harold Twombly, Mrs. Roy Wilson, Mrs. Mary Copley, Mrs. Charles Farrar; also to Mr. White, Mr. Wright, Mr. Seldon Jopp, and Mr. Joseph Santo, who helped with Motor service and did the lifting and carrying of our office equipment.

To the Staff Aides: Mrs. Joseph DePaulo, Mrs. Robert McArthur, Mrs. Raymond Strawbridge, Mrs. Caroline Fitts, Mrs. William Hollich, Mrs. Edward Zimmerman, Miss Helen Monroe, Mrs. Ruth Hilton, Miss Ruth Leydon, and Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini; to the Canteen workers: Mrs. Ray Mauger, Mrs. Kingman Cass, Mrs. William Thompson, Mrs. John Wills, Mrs. Eben Ramsdell, Mrs. Alan Howard, Mrs. Lester Gustin, Mrs. H. Linwood Doughty, and Miss Anna Hermanson.

To the Nurses' Aides: Mrs. James Beale, Mrs. Alan Smith, Mrs. John Collins, Mrs. Harvard Mann, Mrs. George Marks, Mrs. Harry Easton, Mrs. Edgar Trott, Mrs. Charles Butler and Mrs. Harry Nutter.

To the Girl Scouts: Carolyn Stone, Elizabeth Curtis, Betsy Freeman, and Barbara Kaknes; and to the Junior Red Cross: Joan McNeil.

To Mrs. James H. Coon, Blood Donor Chairman, whose unceasing and untiring efforts have played such an important part in the success of this service of the Red Cross, and to her precinct workers, for their fine telephone solicitations.

To all those who helped in any way, the Winchester Chapter is very grateful.

The interior of the Winchester News Company's store on Thompson street has been changed considerably in appearance by the addition of a huge greeting card rack extending along the entire left hand side of the store as you enter. Cards of all kinds and for every occasion may be conveniently found there.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The "Fortnightly" will start their annual Christmas program and Presidents' Day with a dessert to be served at one o'clock. This meeting will take place on December 12th.

The members will welcome former presidents of the club at this meeting and will have as guest of honor, Mrs. D. Talmadge Erb, 8th District Director.

The Christmas Program is titled "Mistletoes and Holly" and will include "Character Portrayals" by Beth Cary, well known on stage and radio for her clever impersonations.

The High School Glee Club composed of forty boys and directed by Miss Eleanor Anifantis will entertain with a group of songs and conclude the program with Christmas Carols.

Although this is not a guest day, we are expecting a good turnout of members for this gala meeting.

Literature Committee Meeting

"Hawthorne's contribution to Early American Literature" was the subject of the paper given by Mrs. Blanche S. Barnard at the second meeting of the Fortnightly Literature Committee last Monday afternoon. Mrs. Barnard gave a very thorough, scholarly and critical survey of Nathaniel Hawthorne's principal works and a careful appraisal of his lesser writings.

"The Scarlet Letter," "Blithedale Romance," "The Marble Faun," and "The House of Seven Gables" were reviewed in considerable detail to show why Hawthorne belongs to the group of famous writers of Romance, "Mosses from an Old Manse" and "Twice Told Tales" were discussed with special emphasis on Hawthorne's ability to present symbolic tales and to show his poetic approach to symbolism, which was such an important part of all his thinking.

Throughout the paper enough biographical material was included to furnish the necessary background. Many references were made to his many valued friendships among the authors of his day, and to his intimacy with his one political friend Franklin Pierce, whose biography Hawthorne wrote to assist him when he was a candidate for President.

Prof. John R. Woodruff of Sheffield road is directing the production of Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer" being staged by Pen, Paint and Pretzels Dramatic Society in the Tufts Arena Theatre December 2 through 10. Nancy Nutter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winslow Nutter of Black Horse Terrace, and a student at Jackson College, is a member of the cast.

TAKE THE OCEAN SPRAY SPECIAL

More than 12,000 Christmas bulbs were illuminated last night at the Edaville Railroad in South Carver when the annual Christmas display of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis D. Atwood, which attracted 51,000 visitors last year, was turned on.

In a brief ceremony attended by crabsmen, town and city officials and newsmen and photographers, Marcus L. Urann, president of the National Crabbers Association threw the switch to usher in the Yule Season at Edaville, the home of the only 2-foot gauge steam railroad in America.

A few moments later, the Ocean Spray Special with its train of 14 cars including the parlor car for the guests, started its initial trip of the holiday season. The train was decorated with more than 1,000 Christmas lights and 28 powerful floodlights to illuminate the countryside as it moves out over the 7 miles of track through the cranberry bog country.

Train trips through Edaville's Christmas Land will continue nightly from December 8 through New Year's with the first trip being made each afternoon at 4:30 o'clock and the last trip each night at 10 o'clock. When warranted, an additional train will be added to the twenty minute run.

Christmas at Edaville this year will portray images of reindeer, Santa Claus, churches, crypts of the Nativity and objects of humorous nature. Workmen have been busy for the past three weeks in setting up the 12,000 Christmas lights used in the display.

Santa Claus is back again to greet the children, Christmas carol music will be heard in the background and parking space will be available for over 1,000 cars.

Edaville Railroad is located off Route 58 in South Carver and directional signs are well posted to aid the driver to the display.

The railroad with its crew of engineers, firemen, conductors and brakemen consists of 5 steam locomotives, 6 gasoline locomotives, 80 cars and over 7 miles of track. It was collected from four railroads in Maine by Mr. Atwood and first put into operation at Edaville in May 1946. Since that time some 600,000 people have totalled its riders.

The train will be operated nightly through New Year's from 4:30 p. m. to 10 p. m.

EN KA PROVISIONAL MEMBERS PRESENTED AT TEA

Mrs. Harold B. Richmond of Swan road graciously opened her lovely home on Friday, December the second, making it possible for the En Ka Society to greet their newly elected provisional members at an afternoon tea.

Mrs. Richard D. Bolster, Mrs. Lyndon B. Burnham, Mrs. Paul H. Comins, Mrs. Hollis A. Dyer, Mrs. Leslie J. Scott, and Mrs. Robert B. L. Singer were welcomed and introduced to the Board by the president, Mrs. Thomas M. Righter, Jr.

Following a social hour the members gathered to meet the provisionals and enjoy the hospitality dispensed by Mrs. Vera McKenzie and her committee.

The dining-room was festive with lovely pink flowers and an attractive arrangement of roses flanked by a gleaming silver candelabra made a gracious setting for the trays of decorative sandwiches and delicious cakes. Mrs. Harold F. Meyer and Mrs. Percy Burgee presided at the coffee urns.

BREAK ON YORK ROAD

While the family was away on Monday, between 11 o'clock in the forenoon and 10 o'clock at night, the house of Morris G. Gotlob at 8 York road, off Chardon road, was broken into and ransacked.

Access was gained through an unlocked bulkhead, the intruders then forcing the cellar door and the door at the top of the cellar stairs leading to the kitchen. In both instances part of the lock was pried loose from the woodwork.

All the rooms in the house were ransacked and Mr. Gotlob's desk was thoroughly searched. A wrist watch and other jewelry were reported missing with some blankets and suitcase, but a complete list of missing articles could not be given the police at once.

Early last Saturday afternoon Officer William E. Cassidy discovered on Bacon street a Buick sedan which had been reported stolen in Somerville Friday. The machine was found to be the property of Willard R. Booker, 4 Fairview road, Woburn.

CHRISTMAS NAMES SPANGLE THE LAND

Christmas may be "a floating bit of dreamland," as some poet has said. But you can find traces of it even in Uncle Sam's Official Postal Guide, in the form of place names that suggest nearly every known phase of the holiday season.

Santa Claus, Indiana; Bethlehem, Connecticut; and Christmas, Florida, are a few of the more familiar post offices which each year handle a flood of mail from senders wishing to obtain yuletide postmarks, notes the National Geographic Society.

Although the federal Post Office Department has now barred extra flourishes by local postmasters using Christmas symbols and mottoes, a town's own holiday name can still give that festive touch to a greeting or package of toys.

One Santa Clause Indiana's Santa Claus is the only town so designated in the United States. The privilege is reserved to its post office by Congressional Act. There is, however, Santa, Idaho. There is also only one Christmas - the one in Florida - plus a Christmas Cove, Maine.

On the other hand, seven Beth-lehems answer the seasonal roll call: they can be found in Ken-necutt, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Maryland, New Hampshire, and Pennsylvania. The Bethlehem, Connecticut, post office was one of several stations that figured in headlines recently on the use of especially - designed cancellation stamps bearing the now-forbidden Christmas tree decoration. The town's population is about 350.

Largest of the Bethlehems is Pennsylvania's important steel center, with nearly 70,000 people.
Its name was inspired, legend says, by hymns sung on Christmas Eve more than 200 years ago, when pious Moravian settlers founded the city.

There are two Noels - in Virginia and Missouri. Last year, Missouri's Noel post office reported hand-cancellation of a record 650, 000 pieces of Christmas mail - 800 for each of the town's residents.

Biblical, Holiday Links
Besides specific Christmas names that dot the land there are dozens that call up Biblical or holiday associations. There is Advent, West Virginia, for the Nativity. Kentucky has a Mary, and Oregon and Utah a Joseph each.

One Wiseman is found in Alaska and another in Arkansas. The third, it may be assumed, is in Wiseman, Kentucky. There are five Stars and four Shepherds.
West Virginia contributes Goodwill; Missouri, Peace Valley; and there is Joy in Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, and Texas.

For the Christmas party, Turkey is available in four states; Cranberry in three. Kentucky has a Mistletoe. Six states count an Evergreen; seven a Pine, and three a Holly.

Louisiana comes up with Trees,
Alabama with Candles; and to top the decorations, Pennsylvania has its Angels.

Young America on Santa Claus list may be located in Indiana and Minnesota. His Bells are in Tennessee and Texas. There is Snow in Oklahoma, and although no reindeer as such, the jolly old fellow can call on Vixen and Comet, both in North Carolina, for two of the Christmas poem's eight prancing steeds needed to carry a sled over Chimney Rock, also in North Carolina.

P. S.: The Postal Guide also carries a post-Christmas reminder for the head of the house: Of course
it's Bill (Wyoming).

WHALERS, EN ROUTE TO ANTARCTIC, SAIL WITH STREAMLINED FLEETS

Bad news for the world's whale population. Now sailing south, en route to the Antarctic, is the vanguard of the 1949 whaling season fleet.

Its departure, notes the National Geographic Society, points up the modernization which has overtaken this ancient maritime industry in the last half century. The 1949 whaler goes to sea as a member of an expertly equipped, highly skilled expedition.

Flagship of the fleet is the large floating factory-vessel, where the valuable whale oil is extracted, the meat cut up, and important by-products prepared. First introduced in the 1920's, these ships today carry tons of machinery, and usually have such up-to-date equipment as radar and deep-sea sounding devices.

For whale-catchers, the expedition has a number of smaller craft, about the size of trawlers. Manned by crews of 15 to 25 men, these "killer boats" fire the deadly harpoons and tow the captured whales back to the factory ship, to be hauled aboard and processed.

These streamlined, open-sea methods, say trade spokesmen, are highly effective, but they have scuttled much of the industry's old glamour, with its tall tales of whales swallowing whole boatloads of men in one enormous mouthful.

Two centuries ago the plucky men who went whaling had to go out in rowboats, lowered from sloops, to harpoon their prey. And because methods were clumsy and hazardous at best, the catch was confined to the smaller, slow-moving species, known as right whales and sperm whales.

The modern age of whaling began about 1860, when Svend Foyn, an inventive Norwegian, devised the harpoon-firing cannon. His invention made possible the hunting of the speedy and larger species, particularly the big fin-whales, now found only in Antarctic waters.

Whaling in the south polar regions, however, is a recent development. Not until 1904 was the first land station opened there on South Georgia Island, some 800 miles southeast of the Falkland group.

Today the Antarctic waters south of 40 degrees south latitude are the world's last whaling ground of major commercial importance. In an effort to conserve the remaining whale stocks, international treaty regulates both the fishing season and annual catch there.

Whale oil, the chief reward of the expensive Antarctic expeditions, is used extensively in the manufacture of margarine, soap, machine oil, and a host of other products ranging from vitamin pills to lipstick. In Japan, whale meat often appears on dinner tables. Europeans, however, usually grind the meat into a meal, for livestock feed.

It was Chief Mary McGoff for a while Monday morning when the slippery conditions of roads, especially around Symmes Corner, called out all available officers to investigate accidents on the highways, and finally sent Chief Harold out to transport an injured motorist to the hospital. Mary was in full charge of Headquarters in the Chief's absence, and seemed to have everything under control when the Star reporter looked in!

SNOW SURVEYS OF WESTERN STATES HELP FARMERS "OUTWIT DROUGHT"

"Outwit the drought!"
Behind this slogan, heard in America's soil-rich but semi-arid states from the Rockies west to the Coast Ranges, are the pooled efforts of scores of state, federal, and private agencies that collect data about mountain snow.

For water means life and wealth in the West. And snow has finally won recognition as a vital basic resource of the region, says Andrew H. Brown, writing in the current (November) National Geographic Magazine on "Snow-Cats Mechanize Oregon Snow Survey."

Operation Snow-Cat Cascade With R. A. Work, a senior irrigation engineer of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service, and five other men, Brown traveled along the white crest of the Oregon Cascades for 573 miles in two Sno-Cats - those motorized track-ski-and-pontoon snow sleds. Quoting Work, Brown writes: "People in the West have come to realize that high-country snow pack must be measured, conserved, and 'harvested' as carefully as soil, forests, food, and fuel."

Snow-survey reports indicating coming water supply make crop failures unlikely, save time, seed, labor, and money. When farmers can be forewarned of drought, Brown notes, they plant only such crops as will mature with low water supply. They prune and thin orchards, and move livestock out of water-short areas before they starve. They develop wells and storage ponds.

In years of plentiful water, on the other hand, farmers can bank extra cash from added acreage brought under cultivation. Surplus water means bonus crops.
Water requirements for grain, fruit, or pasture for a given soil type can be precisely stated.

Power companies, too, depend on snow runoff. Destructive early summer floods on many western rivers are due largely to melting snows, Brown notes. The magnitude and time of each flood, is, therefore, approximately predictable on the basis of snow surveys.

Winchester K of C tournament team goes to Revere tonight for a cil.

SEASON'S GREETINGS

For several years we have discussed the preceding year, and our thoughts for the future as pertaining to automobiles. The spirit of Good Will which is so prevalent at this time is the philosophy on which we have endeavored to conduct our dealership.

The automobile business has operated in a so-called "Seller's Market" during the post War period, which meant that we were unable to deliver the car of your choice or even to deliver any car in many instances. During the coming year barring unforeseen circumstances the "Buyer's Market" will return. Once again the choice will be yours as to make of car; body style, color, upholstery, etc. We welcome this situation as we have operated most of our 25 years in Winchester under these conditions.

During the past year we have completed a substantial building addition and have purchased much new equipment to better service your car.

It has been an extremely satisfactory experience for us to represent the fine products and business policies of Ford Motor Co., in Winchester. Without question "The Fashion Car of the Year" with many refinements for 1950 is the finest car Ford has produced.

IMAGINARY BUT VERY TRUE

(Winchester Hospital Herewith Prints Two More Letters Written on Behalf of The Recent Graduates Of The Hospital Nursery.)

Dear Nursery Nurses:

Please pardon me for not using your names. There seemed to be several of you while I was in the Nursery, and you were all just wonderful to me. I was probably your worst problem baby during my first three weeks, and I was terribly sorry not to be able to speak and tell you how much I admired your long, long struggle to get me to eat. For days and days it must have seemed like a losing battle, but we stuck to it, didn't we, you and I, hour after hour, and in the end the drop-by-drop record changed into a swallow-by-swallow success. Now that I am at home, mother is telling her friends that I am really no trouble at all, though the truth is that feeding time is still rather long and tedious for both of us.

The whole difficulty, you will remember, was that big hole in my palate region, and the trick my tongue had learned while I was in my former home - the trick of holding my tongue in that strange gaping hole. This trick of mine jolly nearly sealed off any hope of getting food into me by the normal route, and I can quite understand that I must have seemed hardly worth the hours you had to spend teaching my tongue to keep out of the way of liquid food. I didn't like the long trail of learning any better than you liked the teaching, but all is forgiven by me now, and I am beginning to have some fun.
Best of all, I've overheard my mother and the doctor say that the inconvenient hole can be closed when I am a year old - and it seemed there is nothing wrong with my lip, which is often scarred when a palate is cleft.

My best thanks - and a Merry Christmas to all in the Nursery.
Arthur Becker
aged three months

To Miss Dorothy Smith.

Dear Miss Smith:

Our house is all of a dither with Christmas preparations, and my father and mother are making a great to-do over me because this is to be my first Christmas. They wonder whether I can join them in all the celebration without getting too tired, and whether it is safe to let the aunts and uncles and cousins come near to me when they may possibly be carrying "colds", whatever those are. Yesterday mother said that she would feel safer if I could be sent back into the Winchester Hospital Nursery

"for the duration of Christmas." Those words reminded me of the happy six days I had with you. Do you remember me - a seven-pound girl baby born on June 10th? I liked my Nursery home from the very first minute, and the journeys from it to my mother at feeding time. I liked the many cooing and crying babies who were near enough for me to hear them. Some time will you tell me their names so that I can play with them - if our mothers will perhaps arrange it for us? After all, we do belong to a sort of club, and we would like to compare our experiences of first-days-in-this-world. Those were the days when fathers came and looked at us through the glass Nursery windows, and I guess my father would be surprised if he knew that I was almost frightened the first time I saw him - much too big - making funny motions at me. At that moment I was certainly glad to have the warm strong feeling of your arms (was it you, or some other nurse?). When I think of those days, I am wishing I could talk them over with you so that I will not forget all the fun of doing things for the first time. I don't want to forget. How proud I was when the nurse whispered, as she looked at the scales in which she had laid me, that I was gaining the proper amount each day, and how pleasant each morning's fresh white gown was, and how exciting it was to have changes almost every day in what the nurse put into my mouth - from nothing to something sweet and watery, then another something called formula. Perhaps some day if I come back to see you, there will be time to tell exactly what did happen.

Thank you for everything - and Merry Christmas!

Phyllis Gardner
aged six months

Henry Knowlton, athletic director at Winchester High School, attended the meeting of the Massachusetts Coaches Association last Saturday at the Hotel Lennox in Boston, sitting at the dinner with his old buddies, Harry Arlanson of Weymouth and Mike Romano of Plymouth. The roast beef was really thrown for a loss by that trio!

H. M. S. PINAFORE PRESENTED

"H. M. S. Pinafore", a Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, presented by the Glee Clubs of Winchester High School, drew near capacity and capacity audiences last Friday and Saturday evenings and a fair gathering of youngsters at the Thursday matinee. Comment on the performances was favorable to the high schoolers who, in general, were better than satisfactory.

When one presents an operetta, a Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, he does so knowing that he can never find an audience in which there will be no Gilbert and Sullivan admirers.

In selecting "H. M. S. Pinafore" for high school presentation, Miss Eleanor Anifantis, director of vocal music, selected something practically within the range of her students.

Dorothy Brandt, who played the part of Josephine, the Captain's daughter, did an exceptionally fine job of acting and singing. Her interpretation of "The Hours Creep On Apace" deserves special credit. It really showed the work she put into it. Co-starring with Dotty was Richard Riga, who also did a splendid job in his performance of Ralph Rackstraw, Josephine's lowly suitor.

Benson Snyder as the foppish Sir Joseph Porter, First Lord of the Admiralty, certainly made the Gilbert and Sullivan satire obvious and did a creditable job with "When I Was a Lad" and "For I Hold That on the Seas".

Peter Sharon, the short boy with the deep voice, did a superb job with his solo, "He is an Englishman." Patricia Carroll, showing up well as Shirley Cary's understudy, came up with an entertaining performance, although she was forced to learn the part in a little over a week.

Edgar Hammond in the role of Dick Deadeye, villain deluxe, practically stole the show from Josephine and Ralph. His hunch-backed antics on the stage and his gravelled voice scraping out subtle wit throughout the show definitely provided the balance for the show.

Andrew Antipapas, as Bob Beckett the carpenter, was cast in a straight role, setting up the laughs for the Boatswain. Nevertheless, during the by-play carried on by the two, Andy easily received as much applause as his cohort. Very definitely he made a hit with the audience with both his hilarious acting and his excellent singing.

As Sir Joseph's first cousin, who wanted above all to get a man and ended up getting the first lord of the Admiralty, (Sir Joseph), Phyllis O'Neil did an excellent job portraying that flighty girl.

Hardly recognizable under his sideburns and makeup, David Holdsworth gave a good characterization of a British captain, even though he suddenly learned that his world had turned topsy-turvy and he had become a common sailor.

The chorus of Sir Joseph's sisters, cousins, and aunts, even though alarmed by the fact that they were in the presence of sailors, managed to come through with a commendable performance, although regretting that Janice McCarthy had to watch from the audience due to a sprained ankle.

The boys' chorus, the Sailors, sounded exceptionally well for a high school group. The harmony was well represented throughout the performance and the volume and enthusiasm were pleasant.

That this was a large undertaking for a school the size of Winchester High School is shown by the large percentage of the students and faculty necessary to "put it over".

ANOTHER STEP IN A THRILLING PROGRAM

In its program for the promotion of Human Relations both at home and abroad, the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church at its regular December meeting Thursday evening the 8th, were privileged to hear Dr. Alexander St-Ivanyi speak on "What can we expect from the Soviet."

Dr. St-Ivanyi was a member of the Hungarian Parliament, President of various political and philanthropic organizations and Deputy-Bishop and President of the Hungarian Unitarian Church. He served during the Nazi occupation and later after the war, during the infiltration of the Soviets, and hence was well qualified to speak on this subject from his "on the ground" experiences.

A Russian soldier who will shoot two adults in robbing them of toys to give to a sorrowing child; a Russian officer who was so crazy about wrist watches that he had a number of them on each arm; such things make the Russians hard to understand said Dr. St-Ivanyi.

He further traced the history of the satellite countries composed of some 120,000,000 people, pointing out that over the years they have tried out many political ideologies, but underneath there has always been an inherent love of freedom. However they have always been the prey of their more powerful neighbors. Now the Soviets have come in, following the usual pattern of first infiltration, and then as they become stronger, gradual liquidation of opposition, and finally complete domination.

Dr. St-Ivanyi summed it up by saying that Communism is a fighting ideology, that the Communists are convinced the Liberal West doesn't believe in anything, hence we are not willing, as they are, to die for a cause, that there will eventually be an economic crisis in capitalism providing fertile ground for the expansion of their doctrines.

He emphasized particularly the need for the western democracies to find themselves, to restate their ideals and policies and develop their convictions, that for themselves and all mankind they represent the road to ultimate peace. The Soviets will not fight against such idealism backed up by spiritual, moral and economic force.

President Murray Moore of the Men's Club outlined briefly the work that is being carried on by the members in sending magazines to and corresponding with many people in Greece and in the sending of clothing and other kinds of material aid, to those in stricken areas. Extracts were read from many appreciative return letters.

This type of work now being carried on by many organizations throughout our country, is doing and can do more, to improve international relations throughout the world, than all the diplomats, ambassadors and official representatives combined.

This highly successful meeting was preceded by a short concert by the church orchestra under the direction of Mr. Herbert Clement. For a group who were making their first appearance we would say it was a wonderful debut.

THEY GOT THEIR DEER

Gaspere P. Cottone and Mario P. Cottone of Winchester shot one deer each the first day of the hunting season. One was a four pointer weighing 185 pounds and the other was a spikehorn buck weighing 165 pounds. They were both shot at Groton, Mass., on December 5, 1949. Gaspere resides at 46 Harvard street and Mario at 91 Irving street, Winchester.

THE FORTNIGHTLY PRESIDENT'S DAY

On Monday, December 12th, the Fortnightly entertained presidents and officers of neighboring clubs in the pleasant atmosphere of candle-lit tables and festive decorations of Christmas greens and garlands, beautifully arranged, around the hall. The tables were lovely, the centerpieces on each table being a prettily decorated Christmas tree, flanked by candleabra holding red candles.

During the coffee hour as members and guests were arriving, beautiful carols were played which added their joyous notes to the Christmas spirit of the meeting. The pourers at the coffee table were Mrs. Clifton S. Hall, Mrs. Michael H. Hintlian, Mrs. Frank H. Knight and Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini. The social committee with their chairman, Mrs. George Budd, are to be congratulated on the table decorations and also for the delicious ices and cakes served at the coffee hour.

The club is indebted to Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Mitchell for the decorations on the platform and also the lovely corsages presented to our guests.

Mrs. W. H. Wightman and Mrs. R. A. Smith planned the Reception corner and decorations to harmonize with the Christmas colors used throughout the hall.

Mrs. Harold H. Given, the president of the Fortnightly, opened the meeting with a welcoming address to the members and guests. She thanked the members for their contributions of soap wrappers. These will be turned over to the soap company which has promised to send a cake of soap to the European Relief Agency, for each two wrappers sent to them.

Two special guests of Honor were presented to the club members by Mrs. Given. Mrs. D. Talmadge Erb, who is the 8th District Director spoke briefly about "Federation Topics" Federation club magazine, and Mrs. Earl R. Weidner, who is the Northeastern Regional Vice President gave a short talk on the Forest Memorial which the Federation is purchasing at Wayland.

After a short business meeting Mrs. Given then presented the program for the afternoon, "Character Portrayals", by Beth Cary who charmed us with the delightful and skillful manner in which she portrayed the various characters of her plays and poems.

Her first presentation was a short play called "Christmas Conversation", by Gladys Wilcox. Then followed an amusing monologue about "Mazie and the Sign of the Zudiac". An interesting character, portrayed by Miss Cary was the vigorous old lady who directed the Village Choral Society.

Her last selection was a very appropriate one for this occasion called "The littlest Angel" from the book of that title.

The Winchester Junior High School Boys' Glee Club with Miss Eleanor Anifantis directing, gave us a most memorable finishing touch to our President's Day with the singing of Christmas carols which were an inspiration to all. Much credit is due Miss Anifantis for her work with the boys.

Mrs. Walter W. Winship, chairman of the International Relations, announced the January 9th meeting as International Relations Day to be an open meeting.

The club is indebted to all the committee members who made the day so successful. We are also indebted to Mr. Mouradian for the loan of the oriental rug used in the hall.

The Chairman of hostesses was Mrs. Robert H. Perkins.

A good sized dog was trapped by the fence on the island at the rear of the town hall Tuesday morning. He was able to get over the fence, placed there to protect the ducks, but was unable to get back. Park Superintendent Stanley Mullen was obliged to take down some of the fence to free the dog.

To the Man Who Is Worried About His Friends ...

OCCASIONALLY, we encounter a man who hesitates to buy a Cadillac for fear his friends might think him ostentatious.

For all such people, we have the most reassuring news: The experience of Cadillac owners would indicate that your fears are without foundation.

True, the world has long since recognized that a Cadillac car is a fine and distinguished possession—but most people understand that quality is not a luxury, and that distinction is the offspring of goodness.

The facts in support of Cadillac's practicality are so convincing that the mere recital of just a few should be sufficient reassurance for the most hesitant buyer. Take, for instance, the matter of cost. There are eight other makes of cars which actually have certain models that are priced above the lowest-priced Cadillac. There is long life, for example. Four Cadillacs, of the 1942 Series, ran a total of 2,599,000 miles in a test recently concluded by a great tire manufacturer—almost 650,000 miles per car. All four were then sold into private service—and are still going strong!

Then there is economy. Innumerable tests show that the 1949 Cadillac actually approaches the lowest-priced popular cars in gasoline economy.

And, finally, there are the dependability records—which prove that the car's freedom from the need of repairs is just as unusual as its performance and beauty! Yes—if you are ready for a Cadillac, come in. You will never make a more sensible purchase—or one of which your friends will more heartily approve.

LEGION NOTES

Norman Noonan and his Social Committee are receiving the congratulations of the Post upon their success in boosting the Post membership to the thousand mark.

The Post's Christmas Party for children up to and including ten years will be held at the Legion House Sunday afternoon, December 18, commencing at 2 o'clock. There will be ice cream, candy, cookies and gifts for the children and Santa Claus will be on hand to make everything official. Members are urged to bring their own children and any other children to the party. Martin "Coo" O'Donnell is in charge of the committee of arrangements.

The annual Turkey Drawing of the Post will take place in connection with the giant Social Night and Dance which the Post is staging at the Legion House tomorrow night, December 17. All returns should be in before that time and to all who have never attended one of these red letter parties, here is a tip. Don't miss this one. It promises to be the best ever!

As Post welfare officer, Past Comdr. Ed Woodbury is doing an outstanding job of boosting the morale of sick comrades and caring for the needy. All Post members are urged to assist by reporting to Comrade Woodbury any case needing his attention.

The Post's Auxiliary was host to the Middlesex County Council on Saturday, November 26, at which time 214 persons were luncheon guests. The affair took place at the Legion House and the decorations were the subject of admiration by all. Speakers were Miss Adelaide Fitzgerald, Department Secretary; Miss Marguerite Eichorn, Recreational Director at Bedford Hospital; Forbes H. Norris, Superintendent of Schools in Winchester, and the town's Police Chief, Charles J. Harrold, past Comdr. of Winchester Post, A. L. President Ruby S. McKee of the Auxiliary, welcomed the guests.

"BETHLEHEM" PAGEANT SUNDAY, DECEMBER 18

"Bethlehem", the quietly uplifting and inspiring pageant by Laurence Housman, which so truly brings to listeners the peace and grandeur that is Christmas, will be presented on Sunday afternoon, December 18, at 4:30 o'clock in the First Congregational Church by the Parish Players. A very cordial welcome is extended to all to attend biennial this Christmas program, and to come when the doors open at 4 o'clock. A carefully planned program of Christmas Carols and other Christmas music by the choir will precede the play.

The role of Mary is played with simple dignity and feeling by Marian T. Blake, and Robert P. Blake plays the role of Joseph, the gentle man whose greatness is written forever in the story of that first Christmas eve. George S. Hebb, Jr., David Coon, Marshall Pihl, Jr., the singing shepherd, and Trevor Smith, are the shepherds. F. Milne Blanchard who has played the "blind shepherd" for some fifteen years - a role he counts his favorite among the many he has enacted for the Players - once again plays the part this year, and is led into the stable by a small shepherd boy, played by Elliott Speers.

Eugene M. Pollard will be Gabriel, and the three kings will include John E. Teger, George Gowdy, Leon Fernandez. The children gathered about the Child will include Roberta Coon, Virginia Blake, and Robert Gowdy.

"Bethlehem" is presented only every other year by the Parish Players, and the pageant has now become a tradition in the annals of the Players and the Church, beloved by those who have seen it many times, and will be witnessing it again this coming Sunday, with their youngsters and friends.

Miss Ruth D. Elder is director. Mrs. Howard J. Chidley, production chairman, assisted by Mrs. Ganson P. Taggart. Mrs. John B. Wills is prompter. Miss Suzanne Gleason, in charge of costumes. Miss Sylvia Smith, music. Bob Higgins, of Capron Lighting Company, will take charge of the unusual lighting effects in the pageant; Mrs. George E. Connor, publicity.

Bob McGrath, Winchester's swimming ace, was among the point winners for Bowdoin in the Polar Bears' one-sided victory over the University of Massachusetts at Brunswick, Me., last Saturday. McGrath was a member of the 150 yard medley relay team and placed third in the 440 yard freestyle event.

ON EYES HISTORIC EDINBURGH FOR 1950 GENERAL ASSEMBLY

If the United Nations decide to shift their 1950 session overseas, Scotland's historic capital of Edinburgh is ready to offer something new in the way of scenic backdrop for the next sitting of the General Assembly.

"Stately Edinburgh throned in crags," Wordsworth described it. Formally nominated by Britain as a successor to London, Paris, and Lake Success, Long Island, the previous hosts to the General Assembly, this city is prepared to hold its own against other bidders for handsome site, romantic history, and personality, notes the National Geographic Society.

Literature is full of references, by talented native sons and visitors, to Edinburgh's picturesque character and dominating position atop the rocky ridge that overlooks waters of the Firth of Forth.

"Queen City of the Forth," "The Grey Metropolis of the North," and "Mine own romantic town," as Sir Walter Scott called it, are a few of the telling descriptions. "When I have forgotten thee, Auld Reekie," wrote Robert Louis Stevenson when he was far from home in the South Seas, "may my hand forget its cunning."

"Auld Reekie" (Old Smoke) was the name given long ago to the old Edinburgh of towering masonry and high, smoking chimneys.

Today's Edinburgh is actually two packages in one—the somber Old Town, looking back on more than a thousand years of often turbulent history, and the new one of wide boulevards, spacious parks, and imposing public buildings. Between the two sections lies a pleasant valley, now covered with public gardens in place of the onetime lake.

Like an illustration for some medieval fairy tale, the Old Town rises on a narrow, craggy ridge, crowned by Edinburgh Castle. From Castle Hill, the contrast between the two towns can be seen as from nowhere else, wrote Washington Irving: The new one "gray and glittering like a section of Paris as seen from Notre Dame . . . the other with the shadows of a thousand sad memories mingling with the light of other days."

The cramped gray buildings in which nobles, judges, tradesmen and cobblers once lived are still standing along the narrow, steep, and twisting streets of the old city. But the great homes have lost their former grandeur and turned into tall tenements, whose crumbling walls bear only occasional hints of the past in aristocratic mottoes and arms.

An educational and literary center from early times, Edinburgh was already well launched on its Golden Age of learning when the New Town was built at the end of the 18th century.

Associated with the city, among the gifted company that included Scott and Stevenson, are such notables as the fiery 16th century reformer, John Knox; philosopher David Hume; economist Adam Smith; biographer Boswell; J. M. Barrie, novelist and playwright; and Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone.

Present-day Edinburgh has a population approaching the half million mark. As the Scottish capital, the seat of the country's chief law courts, and home of the well known University of Edinburgh, the city still has a strong professional and literary flavor. But it is not without an industrial side. Edinburgh is the center of the British printing industry, operates a major Scottish port at nearby Leith, and supports considerable light industry.

recorded in an average year. But for vast spreading Hawaiian acres, where sugar cane and pineapple grow, irrigation is essential to the crops.

The vapor-laden monsoon off the Bay of Bengal drenches forests of the mountains of Burma and Assam in rain that totals 30 feet a year at some points. Most of it falls in two summer months. In contrast, desert reaches on the several continents vie for "driest" honors with points where annual rainfall ranges from virtual zero to one inch.

In the United States, Louisiana, drawing Gulf of Mexico moisture, can claim state rainfall honors with 4½ feet per year over a 50-year period. Nevada is the only state averaging less than one foot of rain.

The world's regions of heaviest rainfall are mostly close to the equator and on the seaward side of high mountain ranges. In Oregon and Washington, the Cascade Range illustrates how mountains take moisture from sea winds. These states match Louisiana's rainfall on the seaward side of the range and are almost as dry as neighboring Nevada on the landward side.

The Amazon Valley, the south coast of Africa's western bulge, and the islands of Indonesia, lead equatorial areas receiving the heaviest moisture.

16,000,000 Tons a Second

Mountains wring damp sea winds nearly dry by forcing them to rise, with resultant cooling and moisture condensation. Water vapor becomes microscopic droplets, which combine to form raindrops that fall of their own weight before the mountain ridge is crossed. A raindrop one-eighth inch in diameter contains as much water as several million cloud droplets.

Illinois in an average year has 37 inches of rainfall. To make one inch of rain over that state would take four billion tons of water. Over the world as a whole, it has been estimated, rain or snow is always falling at the rate of 16 million tons per second.

Record books show that the rainiest 24 hours in United States history was at New Smyrna Beach, Florida, October 10-11, 1924, when 23.22 inches of rain fell. That was barely half the heaviest recorded 24-hour rainfall on earth, 45.99 inches, at Baguio, Luzon, Philippine Islands, July 14-15, 1911.

The Star learns that three of the town's intrepid duck hunters, Lou and Ward Godda, and Hennie Knowlton, went down to Salisbury Spit last Saturday morning early for a try at their favorite game. Aside from frost-bite and chilblains the trio got little but their exercise in the brisk morning air to repay them for their trouble!

FIREMEN BUSY OVER WEEK-END

Chimney fires and automobiles kept the Firemen busy over the past week-end, their first call coming at 1:28 Friday afternoon.

This fire was brought right to the Central Fire Station's door, with Harry Donovan of 41 Lincoln street driving up to report the rear seat cushions and arm rest of his Ford sedan ablaze. The Firemen quickly extinguished the fire with the principal damage done the upholstery of the car. A spark from a cigarette is believed to have caused the trouble.

Saturday morning at 3 o'clock the Central Station was called for apparatus to assist Woburn with a house fire on Cambridge road near the Kimball Arms antiques shop. Engine 3 responded with a crew under Captain Ray Hanson, but the local apparatus was not needed. The fire was confined to an ell at the rear of the house.

Box 263 came in Saturday afternoon at 4:14 for a fire in a Ford sedan in the garage at the home of James Willing, 16 Ledyard road. A short circuit in a battery cable caused the fire, which did no extensive damage.

At 7:23 Saturday evening there was a chimney fire at the home of John G. Lindsey, 26 Harvard street, and at 10:07 that night, another automobile fire, this time in a Ford on Main street near the Medford line. The car, owned by Ted Brown of 4 Allston street, North Reading, was not badly damaged. A broken top hose, permitted alcohol from the radiator to fall onto the hot motor and catch fire.

The last run of the week-end came at 10:45 Sunday forenoon for a chimney fire at the home of David P. Cameron, 54 Fletcher street.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Grand Knight Walter W. Prue of Winchester Council No. 210, K. of C. will lead a large delegation of local Knights of Columbus to the annual mid-winter sectional conference of K. of C. officials scheduled for Sunday, December 18 in the Copley Plaza Boston.

The Star welcomed a visit from Patrick H. Craughwell this week. After a long illness he informed us that this was his first visit to the center since last May.

The Star extends thanks to George Clark and Stanley Lavender of Ward's Market for one of their combined calendars and thermometers. A nice memorandum of the Christmas season.

AMICO EXONERATED

Coaches Jackie Fisher and Denny Gildea of the Suburban All Stars football team that beat a picked Southern High School eleven at Charlotte, N. C., last Friday night, fully exonerated Winchester's captain and fullback, Paul Amico, of dirty playing, following his ejection from the game by officials for "unnecessary roughness."

Amico was heart broken over his ejection, the first time in a four-year span he has ever been accused of playing not in accordance with the code. "Paulie" himself said he simply made a roll tackle, such as he has been making during his entire high school career and such as he has been taught to do as a protective measure.

Any one who would accuse Amico of dirty playing, or even unnecessary roughness, is wide of the mark. The sturdy little battering ram, hits hard both offensively and defensively, but his play has always been as clean as a whistle. No one in Winchester will take his ejection seriously. The fact that he was only recently voted the Mansfield Sportsmanship Trophy indicates what his team and school mates, as well as his coaches, think of his athletic code.

While in the game down South, though used exclusively on defense, Amico made his presence felt, making tackles all over the field. There naturally would be no connection between his play and his expulsion from the game, and the incident will have to be put down as just another time when an official read into an act something that wasn't there!

LEGION SPORTS NIGHT
BIG SUCCESS

Former Coaches and Players Recall the Old Days

More than 150 attended the Sports Night Reunion and Banquet of Winchester Post, 97, the American Legion, at the Post Headquarters on Vine street last Saturday evening. Many former Winchester High School football stars were among those who greeted their old time coaches, Wendell Mansfield, Rufus Bond, Ernest Roberts, Meldon Wenner and Alfred Muerling, as well as the present high school athletic director, Henry Knowlton and Edward A. Bartlett, who coaches both basketball and baseball and assists Coach Knowlton with football. Andy Lentine, line coach at high school this fall, was also present. The menu featured baked Virginia ham and potatoes au gratin.

Commander Sam Murphy extended the Legion's welcome to all present and called upon Ted Bartlett who served as toastmaster in his usual competent manner. Incidentally the introductions of the various coaches showed clearly that the toastmaster had been to considerable trouble to acquaint himself with their backgrounds and the statistical information given in each instance was of much interest. In addition to acting as master of ceremonies and keeping the tempo of the party at a proper pitch, "Bart" had to pinch hit for Warren Branch, chairman of the town's recreation committee, who was unable to be present.

It was to have been Warren's duty to commend the Legion's Soft Ball Team for its achievement in winning the Town League championship last summer. In his absence Mr. Bartlett, who was director of the league, did the honors, and called on Manager Freddy Donovan, who said a word for the team.

"Bart" also, as chairman of the Legion's Junior Baseball program, spoke about the success of this movement in town over the past two years and thanked the Post for giving the boys of the town the opportunity to participate in this worthwhile program, not forgetting Ralph Bonnell of Bonnell Motors, local Ford dealers, for his gift of uniforms and his general interest. John Powers, a member of the team over the past two years, spoke for the boys, expressing their appreciation of the Post's interest in their welfare and development as expressed in its youth program.

In introducing the various coaches Mr. Bartlett pointed out that those present covered a coaching span of 29 years with but two exceptions. Carl Lindeman, who coached a year while Coach Mansfield was studying at New York University, and George Lauer, who handled the coaching assignment for three years after Coach Mansfield's departure, were unable to be present.

In introducing "Rufe" Bond, coach of Winchester's unbeaten football team of 1922, winner of the Mystic League championship, and coach of Winchester's Mystic League championship baseball team of 1923, Mr. Bartlett described him as the man who introduced good coaching to the Mystic Valley. Coaching hereabouts as we know it now began with him and it was his expert tutelage that enabled his great team to go through its season with but two touchdowns scored upon it, one by Milton Academy in the season's opening game, and one by Watertown late in the year. Scores like 39-0 against Arlington, 41-0, against Melrose, 40-6 against Watertown and 44-0 against Belmont were rolled up by this club, to mention only a few.

Mr. Bond proved a witty and interesting speaker. A bit lighter than in his coaching days the former Harvard athlete is now a lawyer in Boston. He mentioned many amusing incidents in connection with his days at Winchester, told of the difficulty "Bob" Guild, then chairman of the School Committee, had in getting him his job here over the objection of the superintendent and got many a laugh as he recounted his efforts to get and keep his star fullback, Aby Winer, eligible for the '22 season. "Ernie" Roberts is now now Dr. Roberts, an optometrist in Medford. A big man, he has toned down a lot since he reasoned so successfully with two Woburn youths who badly misjudged his derby, horn glasses and green student's bag when he first arrived in Winchester to coach and teach latin, and was living temporarily in Woburn. Dr. Roberts also recalled some interesting highlights of his stay in Winchester, recalling particularly the time his star southpaw, Francis Tansey tried to slip his fast one past Shanty Hogan with a man on base and Winchester leading Somerville in a special game between the two schools at Dilboy Field.

Meldon Wenner, now at Belmont, and "Mickey" Muerling, junior high athletic mentor, added their word to the general interest, with Mr. Bartlett getting a laugh by saying Winchester is always glad to see Mr. Wenner except during the basketball season.

Principal Wade L. Grindle made his usual fine address, and added to the amusement of the gathering by recounting some of the current eligibility problems at the school. He was praised by Mr. Bartlett during his introduction for his co-operation with, and interest in the school's athletic program since becoming principal here in 1925.

Coach Knowlton got a big laugh when he prefaced his remarks by telling of how he as a freshman at high school was issued big Jim Fitzgerald's football suit from the year before and discribing his appearance in the 240-pound Fitzgerald's castoffs.

The present high school A. D. paid a high tribute to Coach Mansfield for his influence upon the boys he coached so well and thanked the Legion Post for its interest in the high school athletic program especially as exemplified in the transportation committee, headed by Ken Hall, of which many Legionnaires are members.

In introducing Coach Knowlton, Mr. Bartlett praised his outstanding record of 82 percent winning football over ten years and called attention to the greatly increased athletic program at the school, for which he is responsible.

In introducing Coach Mansfield, now at Pomfret School, Mr. Bartlett told something of his record while at Winchester High, when he had a winning record of 84 percent for 11 years in football, winning four championships outright and tying for two more, as well as winning three championships in basketball.

Mr. Bartlett, who had assisted Coach Mansfield at High School, told of how the Mansfield influence is still felt at the school and of how that same influence has been felt by the hundreds of boys who were under him while he was in town. Association with Coach Mansfield, in Mr. Bartlett's opinion, is one of the finest things that can happen to a boy, and continuing, he told of the esteem in which the former Winchester coach is held by football's top flight coaches and players.

Coach Mansfield spoke of some of his famous teams, showing pictures of the groups and mentioning a number of individual players, as well as recounting many humorous incidents of the playing field and locker room.

Winchester will always be Coach Mansfield's home town, he said, and returning the compliment, the former local mentor told in turn of what his boys have done and are doing for him through the years. He praised the Legion for its Youth Program and urged its members to do even more for boys and athletics as one of the best methods possible to promote good citizenship in this country and international peace.

After the speaking program Coach Knowlton showed motion pictures of this year's Thanksgiving Day football game, explaining the pictures as he went along and raising his voice at strategic spots to cover Mr. Bartlett's deep sighs and muttered imprecations.

It was long after midnight when the old football and baseball players quit fighting their battles over again and finally took leave of their coaches. Every one had a great time and the general consensus was the party was the best of its kind they had yet attended.

A number of old stars couldn't make it. A letter was received from "Steamer" Hanlon, co-captain with Gerry Gaffney of the 1934 team, now with the Providence Journal and given a sports assignment for Saturday night. Gaffney, now in the State Police, couldn't come either, but his father, James Gaffney of New Meadows road came down to take his son's place, with son-in-law, "Artie" Johnson, ex-Braves pitching star, who, if memory serves, caught the forward pass from "Fran" Murray that gave Winchester and Coach Mansfield a surprising tie with Marblehead in 1936.

CHRISTMAS GIFT TO ALL

The Philharmonic Society of Arlington, Inc., will for the 17th year, present Handel's great oratorio, "The Messiah" as a Christmas gift to the town. Under the direction of Leonard D. Wood, conductor, it will be presented Sunday afternoon, December 18, at 3 o'clock in the Robbins Memorial Town Hall. As an overflow crowd attends, an outside public address system is planned.

The Orchestra of sixty pieces and chorus of one hundred and twenty-five will be assisted by Alice Farnsworth, soprano; Ruth Clymo, contralto; Donald Sullivan, tenor; Camille Girouard, bass.

The concert is free.

Santa Claus Comes Tomorrow

Santa Claus came to Winchester on Saturday, December 10th at about 10:00 A. M. He will land "Across the Common" on Church and Common Streets. Come and see the Merry Old Fellow in person. He will visit daily until Christmas.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

On December 8, the W. S. C. S. of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church held their annual Christmas party. A delicious pot luck supper was served, each member contributing a covered dish. After a short business meeting conducted by the president Mrs. Donald Wilkins, a most inspiring devotional service was led by Mrs. Harris LeRoy. Following this each group put on a ten minute skit which in all cases was most hilarious.

"The Wildwood Group", had a story telling session with members dressed as little girls. Mrs. Alonzo Nicholas was the teacher, the following were the girls: The Messrs. Leonard Allen, Harold Bergquist, Lea Burroughs, Omer Goodwin, Kenneth Lamprey, William Maxwell, Lewis Moore, George Regnier, William Seaton, Renee Tolman, Paul Leitch, Lawrence Kinney. "The Good Cheer Group" had a "Meller Drama", which was very entertaining, the following participated: The Messrs. Stanley McNeilly, Paul White, Roger Burgoyne, Harry Dyson, S. Mortimer Ward, Leonard Griffiths. "The Olive Group" had a playlet entitled "Every Woman Back of The Whole Program", with the Messrs. Charles Brown, Ernest Seller, Donald Wilkins, Fred Dodge, R. MacConnell, Harris LeRoy. "The Hillside Group" had a very fetching performance with all men dressed in short dresses and hair bows. The recitations were given by the Messrs. Stephen Burgoyne, Leigh Roberts, J. Wilson Armstrong, Fred Folmet, Ralph Hatch, Molly Hodges, Richard Smith, William Costello, Clyde Mullen, John Harrington. "The Hillside Group" finished the programs with the Messrs. Milton Galucia, Jerome Foster, Frank Herick, Norman Osborne, Lewis, sitting around the Christmas tree waiting for Santa. When he came it was to give gifts to Mrs. Phyllis Snook in the form of a baby shower. She received many lovely gifts including a high chair and a baby carriage.

The real estate office of P. T. Foley reports the sale for Mr. McIntyre of his house at 9 Warren street to Mr. James Gustin of the Winchester Arms. Mr. McIntyre has purchased a new home at 18 York road. Both families will occupy their new homes immediately.

EVENING STUDY GROUPS OF COLLEGE CLUB OUTLINED

The Evening Study Groups of the Winchester College Club, with sessions beginning after the dinner meeting on Monday, January 16, in Parish Hall, Church of the Epiphany, have been announced by the steering committee, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Connor, chairman, Dr. and Mrs. Norman J. Padelford, Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Grosvenor, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Spaulding.

The Play Reading group will be led this year by Dr. and Mrs. F. Milne Blanchard, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Gowdy; "Catching Up on Current Books," Mr. and Mrs. John Phelan, Mr. and Mrs. Roland V. Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Davis; "The World of Operatic Music," Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pexton, chairmen, with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rogde, Dr. and Mrs. Eugene M. Pollard, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Kirkwood.

"How Good Are Our Schools" is a new challenging topic to be introduced to the study group members this year, with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Drake, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Spaulding in charge of the group, and Dr. and Mrs. Forbes Norris serving as consultants. "Contemporary World Problems" is still another new discussion and study topic for members, with Mr. and Mrs. Gilman Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis L. Wadsworth, Jr. serving as the capable leaders.

The sixth study group for 1950 concerns the all-vital and current "Atomic Energy, and Where it is leading" — a course intended to spot troubled areas, proposals, and policies of governments that create international problems. Dr. and Mrs. Padelford, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Hatch will be the group's leaders.

Miss Janet Briggs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Briggs, of 26 Allen road, was among the students, and their escorts, who enjoyed the Annual formal Christmas Dance of The Fay Secretarial School, at the Hotel Somerset on Saturday evening.

GEOGRAPHIC ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

The 1950 census to be taken in all Western Hemisphere nations will supply vital statistics and basic facts on occupations and standards of living of an estimated 150,000,000 people in the United States, 50,000,000 other North and Central Americans, and 100,000,000 South Americans, says the National Geographic Society.

In Kyoto, Japan, sea shells take the place of church bells. Shinto priests there call the people to worship by blowing into giant conchs, which produce a sound not unlike that of a foghorn.

Australian aborigines, whose cultural status is perhaps the world's lowest, can draw fairly reliable sketch maps in sand. Their "eye memory" makes them good geographers, says the National Geographic Society.

In Branford, Connecticut, east of New Haven, a national trolley museum collects worthy antique streetcars. They can be operated on the museum's 17-acre proving ground by hobbyists burning with thwarted ambition to be motormen.

Up to 60,000 workers in Switzerland are normally employed in the watchmaking trade — one out of every 35 persons engaged in the nation's industries.

Of some 180 species of holly growing in various parts of the world, only about a dozen are found in the United States. The most important variety commercially is Ilex paraguayensis, whose leaves are the source of South America's popular tealike drink, mate, notes the National Geographic Society.

The coldest official temperature ever recorded in North America was a reading of 81 degrees below zero taken in February, 1947, at Snare, a small Yukon Territory outpost near the Alaska border.

SECRETARY AT COLBY JUNIOR

Miss Susan St. Clair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James F. St. Clair of 6 Bacon street, has been elected secretary of the junior class at Colby Junior College, New London, N. H.

Active in college affairs, "Susie," as she is known to her classmates, was cast in one of the leading roles in the play given by the college at the Town Hall in New London.

Last month the Winchester girl saved property damage to the college and possible loss of life when she discovered a fire in progress in Colgate Hall, one of the college dormitories. With commendable promptness, "Susie" stamped out the spreading flames and summoned the watchman, averting what might have been a major disaster. A smoldering cigarette butt, emptied from an ash-tray to a waste basket caused the trouble.

1950 Standard Diaries now on sale at Wilson the Stationer, Star Bldg., Church street.

Thank you Mr. and Mrs. New England

"I would like to tell you how grateful we are that so many thousands of you have taken the time to visit us at our new Long Distance Center. You have shown a keen interest in and understanding of the new switchboards and dialing equipment, and the lasting benefits that they are bringing to the New England business and social community.

"For this is a project we have undertaken for the people of New England.

"You have seen how operator toll dialing has brought about remarkable service improvement. You have seen too how the miracle of speed often makes it possible for you to make your long distance call in less than forty-five seconds. Most important, you have seen that it is not only buildings and equipment that provide you with your telephone service, but it is people — a lot of highly skilled telephone people.

"The next time you make a long distance telephone call, you'll reach the long distance operator, and you will find her — just as always — friendly, courteous and ready to help you."

VINCENZO CEFALO

Vincenzo Cefalo of 1 Cedar street, a resident of Winchester for the past half century, died at his home Tuesday night, December 13, after a long illness.

Born in Italy 73 years ago, Mr. Cefalo was the son of Enrico, and Carmella (Tedesco) Cefalo. He came to this country as a young man and for fifty years had been a well known resident of Winchester, working for many years until his retirement for the Winchester firm of J. O. Whitten Co., manufacturers of gelatine. He was a member of Winchester Lodge, Sons of Italy in America; and of both the Christopher Columbus Society and the Christopher Columbus Club.

Mr. Cefalo leaves his wife, the former Theodora Cefalo; two sons, Harry E. and Anthony, both of Winchester; three daughters, Mrs. Joseph Petrucci of Wakefield, Mrs. Salvatore Lazzaro of Winchester and Mrs. Gerald Cagnina of Woburn; six grand-children and one great-grandchild.

The funeral was held this Friday morning from the late residence with solemn requiem high mass, celebrated at St. Mary's Church at 9 o'clock. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

CHRISTMAS EVE SERVICE

A Christmas Eve Candlelight Service will be held at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church Saturday evening, December 24th at 11 P. M. Miss Fay Brown, talented young reader, will bring an unusual dramatic Christmas story in the form of a reading. Members and friends are cordially invited to welcome Christmas morning in its first moments in the Church of Christ as we commemorate His birthday.

PHILATHEA CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Philathea group of the First Baptist Church met for their annual Christmas party on Tuesday evening, December 13th, at the home of Mrs. Leon Leavitt. A large number gathered to enjoy "Christmas in Song and Story" presented by Mildred Zwicker Abrahamson. Her beautiful soprano voice, the well-chosen selections for both her songs and readings, and her charming manner all combined to provide a delightful program. Mrs. Abrahamson was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Harley Hart.

There was the usual Christmas tree with a "Yankee Swap" of the Christmas gifts brought by the members, which resulted in a great deal of hilarity and much good-natured repartee. Gifts were also brought for a layette which is to be given to a young DP mother-to-be who is a newcomer to this country.

Refreshments in keeping with the holiday spirit of the occasion concluded a most pleasant evening and successful party. Serving as co-hostesses were Mrs. Theodore Gray, Mrs. Ralph Carlisle, Mrs. Emilie Day, Miss Jennie Ralph and Miss Doris Emery.

BAPTIST SERVICES

Two special Christmas services are planned for the First Baptist Church for December 18th, the preceding Christmas Day. At the 10:45 Morning Sanctuary service the children of the Church School will bring their White Gifts to the altar. This is an annual custom and the gifts brought are distributed to needy children. At this service the children's choir under the direction of Mildred Zwicker Abrahamson will sing and the pastor, Rev. Walter Lee Bailey will preach on "Making Christ Real at Christmas".

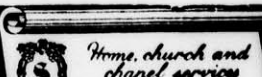

In the evening at 6 o'clock a family Christmas service will be held. There will be the singing of Christmas carols led by Dr. Cecil W. Pride and the showing of the beautiful sound film "The Child of Bethlehem". This is a service for all the family and everyone is welcome.

MISS HATCH FETED

A surprise birthday party was given last Friday evening for Miss Jean Hatch of Meadowcroft road by Miss Joan Bostwick at her home on Hillcrest Parkway.

Miss Hatch was accompanied by her fiancé Mr. Donald Wrisley and the guests included close friends of the couple.

A buffet supper followed by games completed a delightful evening.

COLLEGE CLUB ART GROUP

A large group from Winchester met at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, Friday morning, December 9, expecting to hear Mr. Constable describe his work as Curator. It was therefore disappointing when Miss Randall of the Museum Staff announced that he had been called out of town. She then presented to us Mrs. Barbara Parker, a recognized authority on John Singleton Copley, who ably substituted for Mr. Constable.

At the conclusion of her half-hour's talk, we had the rare privilege of going to the "laboratory" of the Museum. There we actually saw behind the scenes, and to artist and non-artist alike, it proved to be a fascinating experience.

To climax fittingly the unusual day, a special luncheon was served at the Museum for the Winchester ladies.

Attention is called to these current exhibits.

Through December 18, at the Institute of Contemporary Art, 138 Newbury street, Design For Christmas, "an astonishing array of new wrinkles in furniture, tableware, toys, hangings, pottery, glass, silver and kitchen utensils."

From December 18 through January 29, 1950 at the Worcester Art Museum, "Art Work by Children of North America." This is an exhibition of paintings, drawings and prints produced by young people of North America from 6 to 18 years of age. It has been arranged in cooperation with the National Gallery of Canada, the Instituto de Bellas Artes of Mexico, and the U. S. Department of the Interior, Office of Indian Affairs. "Here can be found a picturization of the natural resources, the people, and the activities of the No. American continent as seen and expressed by its youth."

MONEY TAKEN FROM STORE

While Alfred Sooserian, manager of the Queen Quality Cleaners at 570 Main street, was busy discussing men's trousers with one of two women who entered his establishment Tuesday forenoon the other wandered about the store examining merchandise on display.

After the pair had left Mr. Sooserian missed the sum of $42 which had been on his desk at the rear of the shop. He notified the police, giving descriptions of the women. Merchants are warned to keep an eye on strangers who enter their establishments, particularly on business of a doubtful nature.

SENIOR FORUM MISTLETOE DANCE

The Social Committee of the Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church met Wednesday afternoon to put the finishing touches on the plans for the Mistletoe Dance to be held at the Social Hall Saturday evening from 8:00 to 11:30 p. m. Nancy Kittell and Gordon Bird, Jr., presided at the meeting and appointed Leon Fernandez in charge of decorations, Scott Cunningham in charge of lighting effects, Paul Leverette in charge of refreshments and microphone, Tina Tonton in charge of the clean-up committee, Herb Skerry in charge of tickets at the door, Don Cameron to secure the mistletoe. Music will be provided by the Harmonizers and everyone is looking forward to an enjoyable evening.

Plans were discussed also for the Hayride to be held Tuesday, December 27, 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. After the hayride the crowd will assemble at the church for hot cocoa and sandwiches and a square dance. The alumni of Forum are to be invited to the hayride and square dance.

WITH BOWDOIN GLEE CLUB

Winchester music lovers who enjoyed the broadcast by the Bowdoin Glee Club last Sunday over Station WBZ may or may not have known that a Winchester boy, "Bob" Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Johnston of 83 Washington street, was a member of the "Meddibumpsters," featured octet of the club. The "Meddibumpsters" are one of the best known college vocal groups in the east and have pleased audiences in many big musical centers in this country and abroad, singing particularly for the G. I. s in Europe last summer. Another Winchester boy, "Charlie" Lovejoy, formerly sang with the Bowdoin Glee Club, but was unable to do so this year because of playing varsity football and the press of studies due to preparing for graduation in February.

TWO CHRISTMAS SERVICES

The Methodist Church is conducting two Christmas Sunday morning services. Along with special music by both the Senior and Junior Choirs. This Sunday the pastor, Rev. Snook, Jr., will bring an appropriate message on "Gifts From the Tree of Life."

'Twas The Week Before Christmas

'Twas the week before Christmas

And all through the Town,
The people were wondering
How to get their lists down;
A trip into Boston became quite a chore,
Trying to push their way into Store after Store;
When out of this paper jumped just the Ad
To make it so simple for Mother and Dad;
To the WINCHESTER SPORT SHOP they strolled one day,
And shopping became fun almost like play;
There were things for Junior, Mother and Pop,
Everything so simple it's easy to shop;
Skis and Skates, Basketballs and Hoop
Will make the youngsters holler and whoop;
A Racket for Tennis will bring such a smile
You'll remember this gift for quite a long while;
A Fish Pole, Plug, Trout Fly or Line,
To a Fisherman will be like a taste of rare wine;
The new Ski-Boot Tree will bring such cheer
'Twill make their Ski Boots last year after year;
A Baseball or Glove along with a Bat
Will make a young boy purr like a cat;
For the Golfer to aim 'til the Spring comes again
In the Playroom will hang a fine Dart Golf Game;
Golf Club-Head Covers and fine Golf Balls
Will make Dad's grin the broadest of all;
The healthy School Boy that is Hockey inclined Loves Sticks, Gloves and Skates at Christmas to find;
We'll deliver your gifts right to your house,
And be as quiet and secret as a mouse!

HOLIDAY RECREATION ACTIVITIES

The Town Recreation Committee is planning to sponsor two social activities during the Christmas Holidays for recent high school graduates. The program was enthusiastically received and will be continued again this year.

The first of the two events is the Basketball Jamboree to be held in the high school gym on Tuesday evening, December 27. Girls' teams and boys' teams of the last four years will play short games, foul-shooting contests, dribbling contests, relay races, and similar events will spice the program. In the past two years this get-together has proven to be a lot of fun and laughs for participants and spectators alike.

The second of these events is the Alumni Stag Dance on Thursday evening, December 29, at the high school gym. These stag dances have become a tremendous hit with the present high school students and the graduates of recent years know what a lot of fun they can be. The same orchestra that has played for most of the high school functions in recent years has been engaged for the occasion and so good music is assured.

The Recreation Committee hopes that these two events will provide the alumni with two evenings of fun and friendship and will help to enliven the vacation period. It certainly should provide the alumni with an opportunity to see many of their former classmates and have a grand reunion. The Recreation Committee wants to make it clear that an invitation is extended to all alumni to attend these functions, regardless of age or year of graduation.

SANTA'S AGENTS!

That's what they are at the Winchester Sport Shop! "Charlie" Koch has so many suggestions for the sportsman's Christmas that you would think he had been in direct communication with old Kris Kringle himself and knew exactly what these outdoor devotees of yours want under the tree Christmas morning.

The Sport Shop is headquarters for fishing equipment. See the man in your life float over the tackle you can get there, the poles, reels, flies, lines, hooks, etc. Does junior go in for football, baseball, basketball or track? You can get him something to delight him from the fine lines at the shop covering all these sports.

Winter sport fans will find the latest in skis and equipment, toboggans, sleds, hockey skates, sticks and gloves; and the shop hasn't forgotten the tennis and badminton enthusiasts. You'll find their favorite bats and birds and racquets and balls and caps and what have you, waiting to be taken home and gift wrapped.

Make your Christmas shopping easy at the Sport Shop. See Charlie and his staff. They're full of ideas, and good ones, too!

Guest of Winchester High School and Norton E. Demsey, Guidance Director, today, will be Mr. Milton Lindholm, Director of Admissions at Bates College. Mr. Lindholm will discuss with interested students and parents the requirements necessary for entering Bates and for continued success in that college. In the past a few worthy Winchester students have received substantial scholarships at Bates.

DANVERS OPENS WINCHESTER BASKETBALL SEASON TONIGHT

Winchester High will pry the lid off its 1949-50 season tonight when it encounters Danvers High at the local gym. Coach Bartlett is starting the season with three letter-men in Captain Dennis Sanford, Walter Murphy and George Tansey. Jack Costello and Bob Walsh have nailed down the other two starting berths for this opening game. Sure to see action in the curtain-raiser are Dan Devlin, Dick Mathews, Bob Welch and John Farrell as Coach Bartlett is anxious to see them in actual competition.

The Red and Black quintet this year is very much of a question mark and close observers have been unable to decide whether this group will go on to have an outstanding season or a mediocre one. This team needs the testing of two or three games to shake it down a bit so that a more accurate estimate of its ability can be made. It has looked promising in scrimmages with Medford and Arlington in the past two weeks but the forward positions are causing considerable worry and the team is woefully weak in reserve strength. Several untried sophomores may have to be used in these earlier games to acquire the much needed experience for the later more important Middlesex League games.

Danvers High will have the advantage of having already played a game this week, defeating the Essex Aggies by a score of 43-21 on Tuesday. Last year was the first time that the Red and Black has played Danvers in basketball and the locals did not experience too much trouble in winning last year. This year may well be a different story, however, for this present Winchester club does not appear to be as strong as last year's outfit, at least at this stage of the season. All in all it should be an interesting game as the locals strive to put the opener in the win column. As has been the custom in the past, there will be two games tonight with the second team game getting underway at 7:30 P. M.

We missed a drowning accident at Winter Pond by a narrow margin last week, and there has been insufficient cold weather since that time to make skating on the deeper ponds really safe. The Star offers this word of warning with the hope it may be taken to heart, and that some Winchester home will not be saddened by a skating tragedy during the holiday season.

It used to be foolish individuals lighting matches to see how much gas their tanks contained who were taken to hospitals, burned or battered or both. Now it is equally senseless people who are setting fire to their cars by holding lighted matches over their radiator vents to see about their alcohol. While not as inflammable as gasoline, alcohol fumes will ignite readily as a number of local motorists have found out to their sorrow and the added activity of the Fire Department. Better use a flash-light when you want to check fuel or antifreeze!

Many in Winchester, and they include those who are and have been close to the town's government, will regret the decision of Town Engineer Parker Holbrook to resign with the beginning of the new year. Forty-two years is a long time, particularly for public service, and during that span Mr.
Holbrook has contributed much to the town, particularly in the field of road-building, in which he is an acknowledged expert. He hasn't always pleased every one. Public relations have never meant as much to him as the job to be done. That he had the respect and liking of a vast majority of the Selectmen under whom he worked and of the employees who worked for him would seem to indicate that those who have known him best think and have thought he did his job well. That he gave too much of himself to his work those close to him and the trials which have beset him in the past few years are convinced. Every one regrets his impaired health and joins in wishing for him a speedy recovery and a well-earned vacation. The Season's Greetings, Parker!

The new two-hour parking regulation in force around the common resulted in the Police tagging 35 overtime parkers on Monday. Undoubtedly the parking situation is one of the most pressing problems awaiting solution in Winchester, just as it seems to be everywhere else. One thing that is causing congestion in the unlimited parking spaces is the parking of cars there by owners who wish to take advantage of Winchester's excellent train service. Many of these machines get to the spaces early and remain late. So far nothing has been done about this situation, and indeed, whether anything can be done about it, is another thing for the authorities to ponder. The meter boys are sure these little gadgets are the answer to our parking woes and we have heard more than one in favor of turning the common into an unlimited parking lot. We can just hear the squawk that would go up over this proposal when and if it is ever advanced! And if such action would simply mean that more people could leave their cars all day in Winchester so that they could more conveniently spend the day in some other community we would be "agin it" too. There is little question that parking is a problem, here and everywhere.
Some of the veteran police officers have some ideas on the subject. The Selectmen will undoubtedly talk with them before arriving at any decision on the overall traffic problem.

WINCHESTER'S HISTORIC CELEBRATIONS

Editor of the Star:
In scrutinizing a recent issue of the Star I observed that the inhabitants of Winchester shall be called upon in the year 1950 to commemorate the incorporation of the infant town, complement to Colonel William P. Winchester a resident of Watertown, Mass.
1890 and 1900 saw two interesting historical celebrations. In 1890 the town observed the two hundred and fiftieth anniversary of its settlement by Edward Converse and the Richardsons. In 1900 it celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of its incorporation as a town.

In 1950 the inhabitants most likely will celebrate the 100th anniversary of its incorporation. The late ex-Selectmen James J. Fitzgerald, James Hinds, Irving L.
Symmes and Henry A. Emerson supervised the various units that participated in the parade on the third and fourth of July, 1919 when Winchester welcomed home its service men and women with a celebration that will long be remembered by those who witnessed it.
The arrangements were in the hands of a large committee of which Selectman Arthur A. Kidder was chairman and ex-Selectman James J. Fitzgerald, secretary.
The parade was the most elaborate affair of the kind that the town had ever witnessed. Arthur A.
Kidder was Chief Marshal and the marshals of the three divisions of the parade were James J. Fitzgerald, James Hinds, and the late C. Herbert Symmes. It would necessitate several articles to present the complete roster of the procession. I participated in the parades of 1890, 1900, and 1919, hence I am able to ascertain definitely what transpired on those occasions.

Colonel Winchester never enjoyed the hospitality of the town for on August 6, 1850, he died at the age of forty-nine.

During the past 99 years several men with national reputations have resided in Winchester, the Athens of America eight miles from the gilded dome, including a United States Senator who delivered the oration at Gettysburg, brilliant attorneys with national reputations, a war Governor, Admiral Thatcher, Captain Spicer of the United States Navy, a doctor who served in the Civil War, a President of Harvard College, several noted educators, and several successful businessmen and women.

Apparently Winchester is a delightful place to choose a home.

Very truly yours,
Patrick H. Craughwell.

EXTRA PARKING FOR CHRISTMAS

The Board of Selectmen has been attempting to locate additional parking facilities during the Christmas season.

Through the very gracious offer of the Winchester Theatre, permission has been granted to the citizens of our town to use the theatre parking lot for public parking up to 6 p. m., with the exception of the area marked for private use.

The Metropolitan District Commission has agreed to allow parking on both sides of the Mystic Valley Parkway from Washington street to Main street and from Main street to Manchester Field.
Both of the foregoing arrangements are purely temporary and will not be in use after the first of the year.

Very truly yours,
Board of Selectmen
James F. Dwinell, Jr., Chairman.

TOWN ENGINEER RESIGNS

Parker Holbrook in Winchester's Service Since 1908

Parker Holbrook, town engineer, superintendent of streets and tree superintendent, resigned to the Board of Selectmen at his meeting Monday evening. His resignation, to take effect January 1, was regretfully accepted by the Board.
Mr. Holbrook's leaving the town's service is voluntary and prompted by the advice of his physician, Dr.
Richard W. Sheehy, who has told the veteran town engineer that it is necessary for him to be relieved of all business responsibility if he is to recover his health.
Educated at Malden High School and Franklin Institute, Mr. Holbrook entered the town's service in 1908 under the late James Hinds, then town engineer and superintendent of streets. He became assistant town engineer in 1912 and succeeded Mr. Hinds as superintendent of streets in 1927.

Upon Mr. Hinds' death in 1933
Mr. Holbrook was appointed town engineer, continuing as superintendent of streets and also becoming tree superintendent. He has held all three positions since that year and in recent years the collection of garbage has been added to the routine of the Highway Department.

Mr. Holbrook's last year in Winchester's service has been a busy one. The sum of $100,000 was expended under his direction in the construction of several new streets around the new West Side school and an additional $16,000 was spent on the Chapter 90 reconstruction of Forest street. Since 1933 all the main highways of the town have been rebuilt, including Main and Church streets, Forest street, Washington street, Highland avenue, Cross and Pond streets.

Mr. Holbrook is held in high esteem in State and County highway circles. He has served for six years as director of the Massachusetts Highway Association, being vice president of the organization in 1948. A member of the Board of Governors of the Association, he was a member of the committee in charge of arrangements for the big exhibitions of roadbuilding methods and equipment held in Boston in 1948 and 1949. He has been a member of the Boston Society of Civil Engineers since 1917, serving on several subcommittees of the society. His reputation as a road-builder is deserved and statewide.

The Board of Selectmen, upon receiving Mr. Holbrook's resignation, at first attempted to have him reconsider, and accepted his resignation only when convinced that the state of their engineer's health made it necessary for him to give up his arduous duties.

Following is the Selectmen's Statement:

December 13, 1949
"The Board of Selectmen announces that a request of Parker Holbrook for retirement was submitted at its meeting last evening.
Mr. Holbrook, for over forty years a highly esteemed employee of the Town, has been serving as Superintendent of Streets, Town Engineer and Tree Warden and seeks to be relieved of his duties at this time on advice of his physician.

Under the circumstances the Board feels that it has no alternative other than to accede to his wishes, although Mr. Holbrook has agreed to stay on in a consulting and advisory capacity until after the 1950 budgets are completed.

We, therefore, state most reluctantly that his request shall be granted, to be effective January 31st, 1950. In so doing we wish to commend him highly for the quality of workmanship and public service he has rendered the Town. We hope that in retirement he will be enabled to completely regain his health.

Effective immediately all matters pertaining to the Highway, Engineering and Tree departments shall be placed under the supervision of James A. Wakefield, Jr., who has been named temporarily as acting superintendent of these departments."

TOWN MANAGER PLAN

Matter Under Consideration By Committee

Editor of the Star:
At the last annual Town Meeting a special article was inserted in the warrant with respect to the possible adoption of a Town Manager Plan of government in Winchester. The sponsors of the article were:

Carl G. Richmond, 4 Grove street
Allan T. Buros, 14 Cabot street
Harry H. Whiton, 24 Sargent road
Charles R. Fish, 20 Myrtle street
Otto E. Schaefer, Jr., 79 Pond street

John G. Harder, 95 Pond street
Ralph P. Webster, Jr., 32 Myrtle terrace
Richard C. Chase, 110 Middlesex street
Warren E. Branch, 82 Middlesex street

Jane Lee Harder, 95 Pond street
Barbara P. Clark, 3 Greeley road

At the adjourned Town Meeting held March 24, 1949 the Town Meeting members approved the article which provided for the appointment of a committee of five to be known as the Town Manager Committee.
The vote instructed the committee to "investigate, study, consider and make any recommendations as to the advisability of the appointment or employment of a Town Manager or any reorganization of the town government that will provide a more united, integrated, efficient or economical administration of the executive functions and public services of the Town. They shall make their report in time to be printed in the next annual Town Report and shall make their recommendations to the Town as to what, if any, action is desirable and appropriate."

Subsequently the Moderator appointed the following citizens to serve on the committee:

William C. Cusack
Richard F. Fenno
Maurice T. Freeman
Carl G. Richmond
Elliott F. Cameron

Organization of the committee was effected on June 24, 1949, and Elliott F. Cameron was elected Chairman, and Carl G. Richmond, Secretary.

Since that time, the committee has been at work collecting data in regard to the Town Manager form of government, particularly in respect to its use in other towns in the State; has interviewed authorities on the subject; and has made progress toward an adequate understanding of the advantages and disadvantages of the various possible changes in the set-up of the town government. In line with the instructions in the special Article, under which the committee was established, an interim report of the Town Manager Committee is being included in the annual Town Report now being prepared.

It appears that Mr. Arthur J.
Hewitt, Jr., who was not a sponsor of the original Article, but who did advocate the passage of the vote on the Article in the Town Meeting, has filed a petition in the General Court seeking permissive legislation to provide a Town Manager Plan of government, and to make certain other far reaching changes in the set-up of the Town of Winchester.

The Town Manager Committee was not consulted in respect to this petition by the petitioner.
Neither did he in any way discuss or ask to discuss this matter with the committee, or with any member of the committee prior to the introduction of the petition in the General Court.

The first information received by any member of the committee with respect to the petition was on the evening of December 7th, when the petitioner called the Chairman of the committee on the telephone and informed him that the petition had been filed that day in the General Court.

Very truly yours,
Town Manager Committee
December 12, 1949

TRAFFIC CONTROL STATION MOVED

The street traffic control box for police regulation of traffic in the center has been moved from its position between the railroad gates in the center of the square to a location on the sidewalk at the Corner Drug Store where the first traffic box was originally located.
The signals will still be controlled in the second story of the gate tower, the street control being an auxiliary.

FIREMEN TO FIREPROOF XMAS TREES

Chief James E. Callahan of the Fire Department is urging all residents of Winchester to have fireproof Christmas trees and greens this year, and as a special service, residents may have their trees fire-proofed by bringing them to the rear of the Central Fire Station where the firemen will do the job without charge.

Non-treated Christmas trees are potentially very inflammable and have caused bad fires. You can obviate this danger by having the firemen treat your tree.

KEEP CHRISTMAS MERRY!

(From Chief James E. Callahan of the Fire Department)

Each year fire turns Christmas, the most joyful time of year, into tragedy in hundreds of American homes.

Christmas fires occur because extra hazards - highly inflammable Christmas trees and decorations - are brought into homes. Other hazards include use of lighted candles, defective electric lights and inflammable costumes used in Christmas pageants.

Few people realize that the ordinary Christmas tree is one of the most inflammable objects known. It is filled with pitch and resin.
Once ignited, a Christmas tree is very difficult to extinguish. Tests have shown that an average size tree takes less than TWO MINUTES to burn up. Such a tree can easily start a roaring blaze in your home BEFORE the arrival of the Fire Department.

The following simple rules, if followed, will help make your Christmas safe:

1. Choose a small Christmas tree, instead of a big one. Remember, a small tree can be as beautiful as a large one, as well as being much less hazardous.
2. Do not set up the tree until a few days before Christmas. Keep the tree outdoors until ready to install it.
3. Place the tree in the coolest part of the house. If necessary shut off the radiator closest to the tree.
4. Do not, under any circumstances, use cotton or paper for decoration on the tree or around the tree.
5. Do not place electric trains around the tree.
6. Use only electric lights, never use candles. See that all wires are in good condition and not frayed.
7. Provide a switch some distance from the tree for turning the lights off and on. Do not plug or unplug the lights beneath the tree.
8. Do not leave tree lights burning when no one is in the house.
From time to time inspect the tree and see whether any of the needles near the lights have started to turn brown. If so change the location of the lights.
9. When the needles start falling, take the tree down and discard it.

NOONAN SCHOOL TEA

On Tuesday afternoon, December 13, at 3:30 P. M. the Third Grade Mothers of the Noonan School met at the home of Mrs. Samuel Bor, 55 Hemingway street. Miss Mary Doherty, teacher of the third grade pupils spoke on "Grade Three Objectives." She proceeded to explain how these can be achieved. "Children can and should enjoy arithmetic." Pupils learn easiest when things seem logical in everyday life. She compared teaching arithmetic to teaching a child to swim; language, on the other hand depends largely on the teacher knowing the children and the environment in which they live. She closed her talk by passing out printed matter for the mothers to read, together with flash cards for the children's home study.

Miss Leonor Rich, principal, conducted a question box. A delightful collation was served by Mrs. Bor, hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ernest Sellen and Mrs. Frank Gerbick.

Mrs. William Haggerty, president of the Mothers' Ass'n., announced that the remainder of the Grade Teas will be held following the Christmas Holidays.

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS

Miss Virginia Farnsworth and Miss Karen Lindblad, students at House in the Pines, Norton, are at home for the Christmas holidays. Miss Farnsworth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr. of 8 Worthen road, and Miss Lindblad is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Lindblad of 9 Cliff street.

Miss Farnsworth was a chorister for the Christmas pageant, and sang at the Christmas glee club concert. Miss Lindblad was a member of the cast for a one-act play, "The Ghost in the Green Gown," which was presented recently by members of the dramatic club.

TO SPEAK TO FORUM SUNDAY

On Sunday morning at 9:30, the members of the Senior Forum will participate in their Annual Christmas Service at Ripley Chapel, the First Congregational Church.

The speaker will be Dr. Osbert W. Warmingham, Associate Director of the American Youth Foundation, who travels throughout the country as a Christian lecturer to students at our American colleges and universities. For many years Dr. Warmingham was professor of English Bible at Boston University. He is the author of three books of poetry.

The subject of the address of Dr. Warmingham will be, "The Faith of a Protestant," the last in the present series.

Leon Fernandez will be the chaplain. Ushers will be Dick Wickerson and Tom Wilder. The Forum choir will sing. The worship committee under the chairmanship of Dick Rush has worked hard to make this one of the most beautiful worship services of the year.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK COMPLETED

Volunteers, who contributed a total of over 250 hours to the painting of the Sunday School rooms at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, found a great deal of joy and satisfaction in the "new life" touch which was added to the up-stairs rooms of the church. The children will also find much pleasure as they worship and study in the surroundings of new and fresh color schemes.

The pastor, Rev. John Snook, Jr., is very appreciative of the fine spirit and fellowship of the men, along with the time and effort involved. The leadership of Norman Osborne, who was there almost constantly was a great factor in the success of the work.

Parents and members of the church are cordially welcome to visit the rooms this coming Sunday morning after the services.

MARYCLIFF ACADEMY TO PRESENT CHRISTMAS PLAYS

Next Sunday afternoon, December 18, at four o'clock the pupils of the preparatory department of Marycliff Academy will present a varied Christmas program in the auditorium of the academy in Winchester.

The upper grades will give a folktale play entitled The Cobbler and the Elves. Leading roles will be played by Janice Nangle, Margorie Nangle, Rhoda Nicolai, and Yola DiCecca.

The primary grades will entertain the audience with charming little entractes; the tiny tots will appear in a Christmas Drill and the third grade pupils will perform with their rhythm band.

The program will close with The Christmas Story told in a series of tableaux. The part of Our Lady will be taken by Catherine Crotty, St. Joseph by Patricia Glasheen, the Angel of the Annunciation by Mary Clancy. The narrator will be Carol Ann Avalone.

On Wednesday evening, December 21, at eight o'clock, the Dramatic and Glee Clubs of the High school department will present A Christmas Mystery in the Medieval Manner by Howard D. McKinney.

COMMITTEE OF SAFETY CHAPTER D. A. R.

The Committee of Safety Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution will meet on Monday, December 19, 2:30 p. m. in the Ladies Parlor, First Congregational Church. The Guest Speaker is Mrs. Edward F. Timmins of Boston, who will speak on "Glass Beads and the part they have played in our History". Members are invited to exhibit, and to bring small glass beads for the American Indian Committee.

Mrs. Edward M. Sargent is the Social Hour Hostess.

Mrs. Paul Stoneman, Chairman of the Candy Selling Project will have Peanut Crunches and Old Fashioned Creamy Mints available for Christmas.

CHRISTMAS PARTIES AT THE FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Primary, Junior, and Intermediate Departments of the First Congregational Church School will assemble Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. for Christmas parties at which the children will play Santa Claus by bringing toys for the children of Hale House in Boston. Nursery and Kindergarten Departments will have their parties Sunday morning at the regular church school hour, 10:45. A highlight of the parties will be the visit from Santa Claus when the children will fill his sack and help him make Christmas a merry time for other boys and girls.

John E. Allen, Jr., of 71 Church street, has been pledged to Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity at Worcester Polytechnic Institute, where he is a freshman.

RICHARD PARKHURST
PARKHURST MYSTIC TERMINAL HEAD

Richard Parkhurst of Oak Knoll, former member of the Boston Port Authority and later with the United States Maritime Commission, has been elected president of the Mystic Terminal Company, Boston and Maine Railroad waterfront operating subsidiary, and also general manager of maritime terminals of the Boston and Maine Railroad. E. S. French, B. and M. president, announced the election Tuesday, December 13, to be effective January 1, 1950.

Mr. Parkhurst is one of the country's outstanding authorities on waterfront and shipping matters. For 16 years he was a member of the Boston Port Authority, serving as chairman from 1940 to 1943. During this time he worked in close contact with railroads, steamship lines, labor, port terminals, federal and state officials, and with the United States Maritime Commission as well as the Interstate Commerce Commission. He was chairman of the Boston Waterfront Protective Committee in 1942 and 43, working with the United States Coast Guard for port security and being cited for the effectiveness of his service.

Granted a leave of absence from the Boston Port Authority, from February, 1943, to February, 1946, Mr. Parkhurst served with the Office of the Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs in the Division of Administration and Transportation. In February, 1946, he was appointed by President Truman to the United States Maritime Commission, serving to the expiration of his term in April, 1948. He later served as a consultant to the Economic Cooperation Administration, working on a survey of New England ports.

Mr. French, Boston and Maine president, made the following comment upon Mr. Parkhurst's election to the railroad posts:

"Mr. Parkhurst's intimate knowledge of all waterfront and shipping activities and his extensive experience in serving on the Boston Port Authority and the United States Maritime Commission will add strength to the Mystic Terminal Company. Under the leases which we have made with the State for operation of the new and modern Hoosac and Mystic wharf properties, it is our intention to do everything that we can do to attract new traffic to the Port of Boston and to handle it expeditiously. We feel that Mr. Parkhurst's services will be of great value to the Port and to the Railroad."

Mr. Parkhurst is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Parkhurst, long time and prominent residents of Winchester, his father having been principal of Winchester High School and later for many years head of the publishing firm of Ginn and Company, serving also as a member of the State Legislature and for many terms as a trustee of Dartmouth College. His son was educated in the Winchester schools and at Andover Academy, graduating from Dartmouth College in 1916 and attending Harvard Law School in 1916 and 1917.

During World War I Mr. Parkhurst served as a chief petty officer in the United States Naval Reserve. He has been prominent in local Legion affairs, having served Winchester Post, 97, as commander, and he has been active in Scouting in Winchester. Mr. Parkhurst is married to the former Katharine Ryder, and they have two children, Margaret and Stephen Ryder. Parkhurst. Another son, John Wilder Parkhurst, lost his life in World War II while serving with the British forces in Burma.

CHAMOIS SKI CLUB

The Chamois Ski Club of Winchester held its second regular meeting of the year, Wednesday evening, December 7, at Chandler's barn, 130 Forest street, Burt Gurley who will again handle race details this season made an appeal for a larger club turnout. He explained that the Eastern Interclub race setup caters to the average club skier rather than to a group of seasoned experts and is projected as much in the spirit of good fun as competition. The combined team score is what counts in this case and not the individual score. The club hopes to enter the field this year with a full quota on both the men's and women's teams. 'Bon' Verplanck, a former Yale skier will add weight to the 'A' team and most of last year's competitors will again be on hand. Arrangements have been made to secure slalom flags and numerals.

The first club meet is to be held on the first weekend in January, and on Sunday, January 29, the Interclub open meet will take place. This contest is open to individuals of member clubs and is limited to Class C, unclassified, and veteran (32 years old or over) skiers. The location of this meet will be announced later.

This season the club will conduct free ski classes for members both junior and senior. The sessions will be held on Saturdays at Horn Pond Mountain, snow conditions permitting, and will be under the direction of Phil Twombly, Wendell Irving, Roly Nault and Harry Bean. Harry is qualified to give fourth and third class proficiency tests to those individual members of USEASA who wish to take them.

This is the year that the U. S. plays host to skiers from all over the world at the F. I. S. international competition to be held at Lake Placid, N. Y., and Aspen, Colorado. In order to raise money for the support of the U. S. team and also to make the various events possible, the U. S. Amateur Ski Association has asked member clubs all over the country to contribute. It was voted at this meeting to run a square dance for the benefit of the International Ski Federation. Phil Dennett, an expatriate State of Maine who has worn out more than one pair of shoes at country dances was named to head the dance committee. Phil will also henceforth be our corresponding secretary for hot flashes to the various ski publications and the Boston papers.

During the past weekend, an aggregation from the club skied at the Waltham slope which operated last year for the first time. Among those throwing their first turns of the season on Saturday were Allen Cotton, Helen Goodwin, Roly Nault, Langdon Smith, Dud Samoiloff and Bon Verplanck. On Sunday another group turned out to practice racing and test the hill at Groton. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bean, Burt Gurley, Roly Nault, Bill Senior and Butch Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Preston, Helen Goodwin, Bob Ellis number one and Bob Ellis number two, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Twombly, Mr. and Mrs. Jordon Chandler, Dud Samoiloff and Ted Trott.

The next meeting will be held on Friday evening, December 30 at Chandler's barn at which time it is hoped that the ground will be whiter and the mercury considerably lower than at present.

With the high stakes of a 1950 Cadillac against the Common, the cribbage supremacy of Winchester was settled on Tuesday it is reported. The contestants were Hi Moody and "Bill" Murray. Reports on the outcome of the contest are not available, but we notice that the Common is still there this morning.

GIRLS BASKETBALL CANDIDATES OUT

Candidates for the girls basketball team at Winchester High School, though busy preparing for their opening game, are getting little actual chance for work in the gymnasium this month because of the demands for the floor made by the boys' squad whose schedule of games begins much sooner.

The girls are doing class work in basketball and having blackboard drills and motion pictures as Coach Helen Jay Carroll seeks to acquaint her charges with important rule changes which will be encountered this season.

Of these the most radical are the continuous dribble which replaces the old two-bounce variety and the new rule governing free throws. The latter, made to cut down intentional fouls, puts the ball in play after a free throw, by the shooting forward opposite the foul line.

Coach Carroll has only one letter player back from last year's sextet, Marilyn Chase, forward, being available this season. Several of last year's second team, however, are among this year's candidates, led by Marge Carroll, guard, who will captain the team this season.

Other second team players are Pat McDermott, Joan Wolsey and Harris MacDonald, guards; and "Ducky" Baldacci and Jean Neiley, forwards. More promising newcomers include Priscilla Symmes, Bette Kneeland, Jan Meacham and Meimzie Damon, forwards; and Carol Hawkins and Jane Chiswell, guards.

Winchester opens its season January 11 with an interclass series of games with Belmont at Belmont. The first varsity game is January 13 with the Lexington girls team playing here.

FRANK SEXTON AT STONEHAM TUESDAY IN MAT FEATURE

Frank Sexton, world's heavy-weight wrestling champion, will be featured at the Stoneham VFW hall next Tuesday night, December 20, when he is matched with Guy LaRose of Toronto, Canada. Sexton is considered one of the best mat performers to emerge from the wrestling game in recent years.

The semi-final will be a contest between Tiger Tasker of Canada and Red O'Malley of Philadelphia. The special of the night sees Chorro Aztec from Mexico City meeting Clyde Stevens of Malden. The first bout is at 8:30 and fans may make reservations by calling Stoneham 6-7013.

On Wednesday evening, December 28, the Music Hall on Bacon street will be the scene of the annual Junior-Senior Christmas Dance. The young people of the upper classes in the High School and those home for vacation from other schools always anticipate this event and this year it promises to be as gay and festive as ever. Chappie Arnold's orchestra will play for the dancing and refreshments will be served.

The second dance of this series will be held on March 31, 1950. Support of these dances make it possible for a contribution to be made to the Winchester Scholarship Foundation.

STAFF &amp; KEY SOCIETY CHRISTMAS CAROLING THROUGH THE TOWN

John 12, 21

Friday evening, December 23, the Winchester Staff and Key Society, light opera group of the community, will go through the town singing the traditional Christmas carols.

The musical organization, augmented by friends of members and prospective members to whom a cordial invitation to participate has been extended, will travel by sleigh if the ground is covered by snow; but if there is no white covering for the gliding runners, the trip about the town will be made in an old fashioned hay wagon. Regardless of the weather, however, there will be singing.

Members and their friends will gather at 8 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Drew, 12 Wedgemere avenue. Their conveyance will move through the streets of the town as the group sings carols. Special stops will be made at the Winchester Hospital and at the Home for the Aged on Mt. Vernon street.

At the end of the caroling the group will return to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Drew where dancing will be enjoyed and refreshments served.

In preparation for the December 23 caroling, members of the Staff and Key Society will meet for a rehearsal next Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Miss Ann Hall, 63 Washington street.

In charge of arrangements for the Christmas caroling are Mrs. William Williams, chairman; Miss Ann Hall, Miss Jean Kelly, and Bateman Ewart.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hevey of Canal street left town Wednesday to spend the winter at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

WE WOULD SEE JESUS

John 12, 21

This title is the text of a sermon preached by Rev. Charles E. Park, Pastor Emeritus of the First Church in Boston, at the Winchester Unitarian Church, Sunday, December 4.

This sermon created much favorable comment among those who had the pleasure of hearing it, but it was an impromptu sermon and unfortunately no copy of it is obtainable.

The writer has been asked to report what remains in his memory of this inspiring sermon. My answer is: A picture of the man Jesus. All the rest is just a series of impressions, a sort of tone poem, and out of it all there comes a clearer picture of Him whose leadership we strive to follow.

We would see Jesus: Jesus whose memory is surrounded by so many attributes, by so many superstitions. We would see the real Jesus. We are overcome by the very exuberance of the titles bestowed upon Jesus. We want to see the man as he stood before men. The body of the Gospels were written by those who wanted to spread the doctrines of Christianity, and the human side of Jesus is lightly dwelt upon.

So much doctrinal religion and so much ritualism has had a tendency to put the human side of Jesus away in a dark corner. We are apt to become greatly excited over the relation of miracles and extravagant statements, which however exciting are neither rationalistic nor natural.

Let us accept the natural probabilities and assume that Jesus was born of Mary, and that Joseph, a man of mature age who had other children had taken Mary for his second wife.

Joseph was a carpenter, and the family must have lived in humble circumstances like all their neighbors in this little town of Nazareth. As happens frequently a loving kinship was established between old Joseph and the young Jesus. Perhaps the older children may have imposed upon the young lad of such a quiet and reticent nature who could commune with himself, and their rough play and perhaps disdain caused him more and more to seek the shelter of retirement. Perhaps his mother may have scolded him occasionally. Then he would go with his father to work, and the gentle old man and the serious lad would have many a talk, and many an avenue of deep and rich thought would be opened and travelled.

Perhaps Joseph was in many ways responsible for the growth of soul in the young man. Many a time they must have talked about the forces needed to make the souls of men richer and happier.

Under these conditions the mind of Jesus was developed. Then

Joseph died and Jesus was thrown on his own resources. He had the trade of a carpenter, but the mind and soul of a leader and a captain of souls. Wherever Jesus went he appealed to the individual soul.

Despite all the organizational activities of the church through the centuries, the simple human soul is still planted firmly in every one of us. We can not get away from that inner voice which tells us to hold fast that which is good. Like those Greeks of old who said to the Disciples "We would see Jesus," our souls long to be perfect, and the life of Jesus presents to us the kind of soul that we all may possess. No one can give to us or take from us the soul with which we have been endowed. It is our all and there is no limit to its enrichment.

What a beautiful temple is a soul patterned after the leadership of Jesus. It needs no miracles, no superstitious reverence, no attributes of majesty, but just the desire of the soul to expand and to deal with every other soul as our Leader tried to do in his humble and yet so eminently successful life.

In his treatment of men God holds no aces in his sleeve, because all men have to live within the possibilities of the human soul. No: Jesus was a man who could see the power in every soul to do, to be, and to dare to live courageously.

The quiet man who lived and died for others, still lives in the souls of those who in the hurry of the day or the quiet of the evening come to the Temple of God which is everywhere and in every soul and truly say: We would see Jesus.

UNUSUAL CALENDAR

The Star acknowledges the receipt of a most unusual calendar from John Coakley of Parker Lane Winn Company, coal and fuel oil dealers. The illustration shows a kiddo in a baseball uniform set at the plate to hit a pitched ball as hard as he is able. Determination is written all over his youthful countenance. In the clouds above him is the spectral figure of the great Babe Ruth, fists clenched urging him on. Underneath the illustration are the words "C'mon Kid!" Thanks John! We have the calendar up already, even though we are beating the gun a bit thereby.

ELECTED CO-PRESIDENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Watts, Jr., of Fall River have recently been elected Co-Presidents for the coming year in the Church Couples Club to which they belong. Mr. and Mrs. Watts entertained 30 members of the group with a Christmas party at their home last Saturday evening. Mrs. Watts is the former Ruth Aseltine of Cabot street.

ALICE DIXON BOND

Mrs. Bond began her third "Book Talk" of this season with a review of children's books suitable for Christmas presents. Some of the most outstanding of those mentioned were three on the Christmas theme, "Miss Flora McFlimsey's Christmas Eve" by Mariana, "The Pussycats Christmas" by Margaret Wise Brown and "The Christmas Story" by Elizabeth Yates. "The Christmas Story" is a beautiful narrative based on the Gospel story which Mrs. Bond felt would be of "permanent value and lasting beauty to any child."

There were two humorous books mentioned for children that sounded as if they would be fun even for adults. One was the "Back Seat Driver" by Mabel L. Robinson and the other, "The Fabulous Flight," written and illustrated by Robert Lawson. A historical novel highly recommended for its text and superb illustrations is "America's Ethan Allen" by Stewart Holbrook.

Mrs. Bond entertained the audience with pictures from Clare Barnes, Jr.'s newest book "Home Sweet Zoo." This book contains photographs of animals that might be in our home. Two other humorous books for adults that Mrs. Bond found very entertaining were, "Please Pass The Hostess," a book of cartoons by Whitney Darrow, Jr. and "One On The House" by Mary Lasswell. The latter book is a continuation of the ribald but amusing tales of the author's former book, "Suds in Your Eye."

An intimate sidelight on past White House residents is recorded in Era R. Smith's, "Dear Mr. President" and in Eleanor Roosevelt's,

"This I Remember." Both are interesting reading and good gifts. "The Yankee Wander World" by Irving and Electa Johnson, was recommended as a "highly exciting and colorful story" that any man would love. Two welcome gifts for women are either of two Cook books: the beautifully illustrated "Fireside Cookbook" by James A. Beard or the revised edition of the famous "Toll House Recipes."

A beautiful inspirational book that combines pictures and poetry and devotional services is Charles Franklin Parker's "Come Under Me."

These were just a few of the books reviewed by Mrs. Bond.

GIRL SCOUTS

With the dedication of the Cabin a sweet thing of the past, and Christmas in the offing, everyone is very busy. Troops are making presents for their parents, planning and making their contributions to Miss Hope's Christmas parties for little children, practicing carols and generally getting the Christmas spirit!

One of the interesting items for discussion at the monthly Leaders Club meeting was that of the new Policy Committee. This committee has been set up to act as interpreter of Council policies as they affect troop activities, etc.

Another committee that was discussed was the new Camp Policy Committee, this being a junior council of girls, each troop having elected a representative. These girls will meet with the Camp Committee (adults) and help set up the policies and standards of maintenance and usage of the Cabin. They will be responsible to the Council when their troop uses the Cabin, and must see that the established policies are carried out. This is the first time this type of self-government has been introduced in Scouting in Winchester, and the Council and leaders think that having a voice in making the rules will lead the girls to taking better care of their Cabin.

Mrs. William Glowacki, president of the Leaders Club, after asking for reports of various representatives, then divided the meeting into Brownie and Intermediate sections. Ideas were exchanged and problems discussed and each troop gave a report on their service projects. (You should see our Service Chart!) Mrs. Edmund Wright led the Brownie section.

One thing of interest to all in Scouting and to friends of Scouts and Scouting, Registrar Connie Lane says, is the fact that in Winchester we have the astonishing figures of 650 girls, 235 adults (Council Leaders) all active. We have the grand number of 47 troops covered with complete leadership. Some of the leaders are old timers and some are new to Scouting; and some others are girls who only fairly recently were scouts themselves. With new friends and old friends we look forward to an even better year in 1950, with higher ideals, better program for all ages of Scouts, and new goals to be achieved.

Notice to all Intermediate Scouts: Please check with your leaders, for a rain this year we have been invited to sing carols at Filene's. Your leaders signed up for special times next week, and you of course want to be there...

in complete uniform, if possible. The hours are as last year... 4 P. M. to 4:30 P. M. each afternoon during the week and on Saturday from 10 A. M. to 10:30 A. M. See you caroling!

Congratulations to the following girls... they are the winners in the Cookie sale:

Mystic School - Suzanne Goodwin
Wyman School - Mary Alice Codding
Washington School - Linda Thomson

Noonan School - Sandra Phinney
Lincoln School - Irene Mullen
Parkhurst School - Susan Black
These girls all win a ticket each to "Cinderella" sponsored by the Mystic School; and will be contacted by Mrs. Melvin Sears at a later date. The Junior High and High School winners will be announced later, inasmuch as their money is not all in... hurry up girls!

Much credit is due to Mrs. Sears and fine committee for selling so many boxes this year... And many thanks to the townspeople for buying over 7000 boxes.

in English, the languages, and special subjects, were all evaluated. In most cases, Dr. Norris assured his listeners, the results have been satisfactory with outstanding arithmetic improvement noted in the Junior High School, and language improvement in the High School.

Dr. Norris spoke of his aim to improve the program for the non-college students, not in terms of passing them through school, but in terms of genuine, worthwhile achievement. He closed his remarks by pointing out that the school must do more than teach the three R's, that desirable habits and behavior are products, not by-products of education.

Chairman Speers opened the meeting for discussion on the single session day. He said the committee had one, and perhaps two, valid reasons for the single session. Of first importance is the real hazard of travelling to and from school when sidewalks are unplowed and pupils must walk in the street, risking accidents with motor cars. The second reason, which he admitted was less valid, was the children's arriving at school in wet clothing.

One speaker called for a longer lunch hour, one hour. Another sought a forty-five minute lunch period. Still another criticized the original poll of the parents as having been made with too little explanation.

Some parents thought pupils were too tired and nervous at the end of a single long session, while others saw their children happier.

In answer to a question about co-operation of other town committees, Dr. Norris told of the cooperation of Mr. Holbrook whenever he could control conditions, but that on some streets during a severe winter there isn't room for disposing of snow without obliterating sidewalks. When asked about the householder's responsibility to clear sidewalks, Mr. Speers said that by-laws do not make clearing sidewalks mandatory.

Following a few questions and comments on the two main speeches, the meeting adjourned. The Forum will be convened again in January to discuss the Junior-High School building problems.

Another poll of parents on the single session day is contemplated.

CHRISTMASIDE OPENING AT THE UNITARIAN CHURCH

The Christmas service at the Unitarian Church last Sunday afternoon was a finished presentation of worshipful song such as is anticipated when the Unitarian organist and choir director, Mrs. Witham, plans a program of church music.

The opening carols by the Mary Witham Singers were well-chosen, varying from tender lullaby to joyous gladness and closing with the devout adoration of Lo, how a Rose e'er blooming. Still grows the evening over Bethlehem town, traditional Bohemian, and the Ukrainian Carol of the Bells, were a capella, sung with effective balance and control. Bethlehem, a folk song of Glatz, not heard here before, had a light background of organ, and opened with an exquisite duet sung by Louise Baghdoyan, soprano, and Olive Bird, alto, whose voices harmonized with great beauty. The Mary Witham Singers are well balanced and produce a fine tone quality with depth of feeling. They are sensitively responsive to their leader's admirably flexible direction.

After prayer by Dr. Park, who at a later interval gave a brief address of impressive significance, the main body of the program was presented. Saint-Saens' Christmas

Oratorio is seldom sung, yet it has great beauty and is enveloped throughout with a spirit of sincere and sacred devotion. Its soprano solos are very high and extremely intricate. Because of the sudden illness of the Unitarian soprano soloist, Dorothy Perkins, her part, at a day's notice had to be taken by two of the Mary Witham Singers, Louise Baghdoyan and Sophia Gardner. Mrs. Witham is to be congratulated on having sopranos with such lovely, blending voices and with such keen intelligence and application. To learn that music in a day, as they did, was an amazing feat, and they sang it with remarkable finish and with a unity which produced a tone as of one voice.

The oratorio opens with a delicate organ prelude which leads to an introductory section into which are brought all four solo voices, tenor, alto, soprano, and baritone, telling of the angelic announcement to the shepherds, and climaxed by a choral gloria using the words of the heavenly host. In contrast there follows a quiet mezzo-soprano solo in which Muriel Thorley's voice was warmly sympathetic and earnest. "Patiently, patiently, I have waited for the Lord." The tenor voice then sings a particularly touching solo, "In my heart I believe, O Lord, that thou indeed art Christ." For this, Edgar M. Randle's lyric quality was very lovely and moving.

The Benedictus which follows is a brilliant duet for soprano and baritone, the voices alternately contrasting and augmenting each other, and the rich, powerful tones of John F. Jenkins effectively balanced and complemented the lovely soprano of Louise Baghdoyan and Sophia Gardner. A powerful chorus, "Why do the heathen clamor?" changing to a beautiful gloria, seems a close to the first half of the oratorio. It then proceeds with a Trio for soprano, tenor, and baritone, using the first lines of the Magnificat. It is something of a tour de force for organ as well as for voices, the high point of the oratorio, and it was brilliantly played and sung. It was followed by a Quartet of alleluia for the solo voices, after which a Quintet, Louise Baghdoyan, Sophia Gardner, Sadie R. Horne, Muriel Thorley, Edgar Randle and John Jenkins, with the chorus, leads to a closing climax. The clarion call, "Arise now, Daughter of Zion!" given first by tenor solo, was deeply stirring, and the final chorus of praise to God concentrated the devotional feeling of the oratorio. The service was a fitting opening of Christmaside, giving a fresh realization of the sacredness of the season.

Mrs. Witham has achieved fine results in training her choir and her singers. Their chorus work

WINCHESTER Hospital

WINCHESTER HOSPITAL NEWS

A change in Christmas plans at Winchester Hospital this year resulted in a decision to set up a fund in place of making gifts to individuals among the employees. The generous amount of money collected was turned over to the Treasurer of the Community Relief Committee, Mrs. Harry C. Sanborn. The report of the Secretary of the Committee, Miss Nellie M. Sullivan, indicates that as many as a dozen families will probably be supplied with Christmas dinner baskets through the gifts of the Hospital staff.

Families and friends of Winchester Hospital patients will be glad to know that the usual Christmas open house schedule will be observed on December 25 and 26. Visits will be permitted at any time between ten in the morning and eight-thirty in the evening when necessary care of patients does not interfere. If visitors arrive at a time when they cannot immediately see a patient, they will be asked to wait, but it is not expected that such delays will be of long duration. The Hospital wishes to do all that is possible to bring the joys of home to those who must spend Christmas here rather than in the midst of their customary family pleasures.

The professional staff of the Winchester Hospital held a Christmas party in the Nurses Home on the evening of December 19 with an attendance of more than one hundred. In all parts of its program the party set a high mark, and the nurses' committee of arrangements can well take satisfaction in having given a very good time to every one present. The representative of Santa Claus, Charles Edward Bagley, distributed gifts to the doctors which high-lighted the hobbies for which those gentlemen are best known. A forty-minute variety performance was given by the Victory Troupers of the Clarendon Players of Boston, ably directed by Lucille Tyler, whose monologues are of professional excellence. Delicious refreshments were served in the spacious sunroom, and social dancing concluded the evening.

A Very Merry Christmas to everyone!

Work will probably begin sometime in January or February, the pastor, Rev. John Snook, Jr., announces.

WINCHESTER LODGE NO. 1580 NEWS

On Sunday, December 18, 1949, the Winchester Lodge No. 1580 gave its annual Christmas Party to the children of the members. The affair was held in the Lincoln School Hall and it was attended by about 250 children and 100 grown-ups. All the children up to ten years of age received gifts from Santa Claus. Refreshments were served to all those present.

This year's party was the best one ever put on by the Lodge, according to those who attended. The Committee, headed by Joseph Amico, as chairman, included Dominick Provinzano, Secretary; Anthony Vespucci, Treasurer; Victor J. Ficociello, Peter Fiore, Ralph Fiore, William Fiore, James Violante, Anthony Paonessa and Joseph Paonessa, Angelo P. Tofuri, Peter Longro and Charles Gullotti also assisted the committee.

The tenth and eleventh matches of the Bowling League were rolled on Tuesday, December 13, and Tuesday, December 20, at the Bowladrome, ending the first half of the series.

On December 13 Fordham broke the tie with Holy Cross by taking 4 points from St. Mary's. Holy Cross could only take 1 point from Boston College while Santa Clara took 4 points from Villanova which put them in a tie for second place. Georgetown, Boston College, Notre Dame, St. Mary's and Villanova followed in that order.

On December 20, Fordham took 4 points from Notre Dame, thereby clinching the 1st position in the 1st half. Santa Clara took 3 points from Boston College to hold onto 2nd place, while Holy Cross was holding onto 3rd place in spite of a 4 point loss to St. Mary's. Georgetown, St. Mary's, Boston College, Notre Dame and Villanova finished in that order.

The bowling is going into the second half next week and the teams that didn't finish in the first three places are determined to wind up in first second or third so that the playoffs will be made tough and interesting.

Tony "Deadhorse" Chelalo is still leading the pack in the average column with a 101.2 while his brother Harry is holding the High Single with a 131 and the High 3-string with a 336.

SENIOR FORUM ALUMNI OPEN HOUSE

On next Thursday evening from 8 to 10 at the First Congregational Church, there will be an Open House in the Ladies Parlor for all graduates of Senior Forum.

This will afford an opportunity to young people away at college and at work at their chosen occupations to meet informally to renew old friendships. Arrangements have been completed to have Dr. and Mrs. Howard J. Chidley, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Tarr and Miss Evelyn Scott at the Open House. It is felt that many of the young people would enjoy the opportunity of talking to these friends once again.

Mrs. Robert A. Drake is chairman of a committee of lay people making arrangements for a few of the former adult workers of the Senior Forum to participate in the affair. Refreshments will be served.

What Makes A Christmas?

What makes a Christmas? Is it place, or time.
A Christmas card, a holly wreath, a rhyme?
Is it a gift tied up with ribbons gay.

Does it mean Christmas when you "Merry Christmas" say?

The bells may softly chime "O Holy Night!"

The Christmas tree may glow with candle light.

The table may be spread with festive cheer

And yet no Christmas spirit hover near.

No, Christmas is from all these things apart,

It needs but a warm and open heart.

And sorrow, pain, and fear are swept away

When Christmas comes into the heart to stay.

For Christmas is but faith, and trust, and love,

A lifting of the eyes to Him above.

The Christ who came to earth to set men free,

God's gift of love supreme to you and me.

And as the angel choir their anthems sing,

The story of God's love to man they bring,

The promise of abiding peace impart.

'Tis Christmas when Christ dwells within the heart.

- Jesse Williams

To All of The Townspeople

Greetings and best wishes for a Merry Christmas from the Library Trustees, the Librarian and Staff of the Winchester Public Library.

One of the most attractive of the many fine Christmas windows in town is that of Cummings the Florist on Thompson street. A white, gaily decorated fireplace forms the central motif and there is a Santa Claus and sleigh in the foreground with all sorts of seasonal flowers, plants and Christmas greens. Several shelves and supports in the window are white to simulate ice and the general effect is both unusual and very lavish. Many have stopped to admire the window, and Charlie Forrester, store manager, has had many well-deserved compliments.

TWO FIRES OVER WEEK-END

The Fire Department had a comparatively quiet week-end last week, answering only two alarms. The first at 5:19 Friday morning was for a flooded oil burner at the home of Mr. Michael J. Connolly, 814 Main street. The second was also for a defective oil burner at the home of Mr. Emerson Roberts, 6 Holland street. Box 38 was put on for this fire at 10 o'clock Sunday night. Little damage was done in either instance.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

Monday shortly before 3 o'clock Officers Clarence Dunbury and Irving Keardon recovered a stolen car on Church street opposite Wedgemere avenue. The machine, stolen in Somerville, had apparently been abandoned after colliding with a hydrant on Church street, the front of the machine being smashed. The Water Department was notified to take care of the hydrant and the owner of the car, Joseph Mercurio, called for his machine later in the day.

The School Committee's notes in this week's Star contain the information that the committee has rescinded its decision to have a single session school day for younger children during the bad winter months. The committee retains the right to be guided in the matter of school sessions for elementary pupils by weather and road conditions, but the arbitrary one-session day for all school children of the town is out, for the present at least. In deciding to change its mind the School Committee, in the Star's opinion at least, has gained in stature. We like public servants who can reconsider decisions when the public they serve seems at odds with steps they have taken. We hope the School Committee will also reconsider very seriously their decision not to grant any increased compensation for extra-curricular work done by teachers, as stated in their notes this week. The loss of the services of more of the outstanding men doing extra-curricular work at high school for lack of adequate compensation would be in the best interests of neither the School Department nor the town.

TOWN MANAGER RASH

Editor of the Star:
In the Star of December 16 an article signed by the Committee to look into the question of the advisability of a Town Manager brings up an important question.

I personally do not know any of the persons who signed the petition yet I think they are rather new citizens of the town, likewise I do not know any of the members of the Committee who signed the article.

There seems to be sort of a rash that has broken out to have Town Managers of late. Perhaps in some towns where political parties try to dominate town affairs a better job could be done by a competent man - but this is not the case in Winchester.

I have known this town for over seventy years and have seen it grow from a quiet village of less than 6,000 people to its present population of about 16,000. Next year the town as such will celebrate its one hundredth birthday 1850 - 1950.

In or about 1870 the town built its first water supply system, in 1892 it began its sewer system, in 1897 it started to build modern macadam roads - and in 1899 or 1900 voted to have an engineering department.

During all these years these principle governmental functions have been carried out by the Selectmen and other Boards and to my knowledge the men who carried on the Town's affairs have been able citizens for the most part. Perhaps with the passing of Mr. Lewis Parkhurst who was the last of the prominent old time citizens who were responsible for moulding the town's public affairs, both fiscal, and physical improvements. There were many others serving on town Commissions and Boards that were equally responsible for good government and a sound fiscal policy.

As we will not know what this committee will recommend until the annual town report is distributed, it is my hope that they will not advise the setting up of a Town Manager form of Government.

To my mind it might be well to combine all Public Works functions under one head, call him Public Works Commissioner, or whatever. Such a man should have had much experience as an engineer, and with sound executive ability.

Such a man might well organize the Public Works - so that there would be a saving in costs over that of the present set up - for this is important, since the trend in municipal affairs is - an upping in costs resulting in higher and higher tax burdens. There must be an end to such - from our town on up - to the Federal Government.

We should not - place too much power in any one man - to govern the rest of us - as has been the case of City Mayors or even the President of the United States. Let us keep this town government - as near as possible with the Town Meeting saying what should or should not be done.

E. D. Fletcher.

PERNICIOUS, BEGUILING SLOGANS

Editor of the Star:

This is America. In the recent election a County Cork Irishman, an ex-hod carrier, bartender, and policeman was elected mayor of New York, the richest city in the world and the largest city in the United States. In the same election a Jew, ex-governor of the State of New York, was elected to the United States Senate, our highest legislative body. In the last presidential election an amateur pianist and small business man, a Pen-dergast trained, to-the-victor-be-long-the-spoils type of politician was elected to the highest office in the gift of the people, President of the United States. This is democracy in action.

True to his training the President has put the welfare of his political friends above the national interests. Loyal friends who contributed to his campaign funds are thereby, in his estimation, qualified for any government office from the multifarious executive positions to membership in the United States Supreme Court, lack of training and knowledge for the job being no disqualification.

Lenin, Russian revolutionary and social philosopher, prophesied that this country would spend itself into bankruptcy. Well, it's doing it. Evidently the Moscow communist leaders are satisfied Lenin was right. President Roosevelt's "New Deal" started the United States on the way to financial chaos and the Truman "Fair Deal", called that for political purposes, is hastening it in that direction to the satisfaction of the Russians.

The people have been hood-winked by the beguiling catchy slogans, "New Deal" and "Fair Deal". Both are frauds. The "New Deal" is over two thousand years old and the "Fair Deal" is a misnomer because it enslaves the masses with high taxes while favoring only a few. Its policies have always failed.

Our national debt at present is over 257 billion dollars and the Truman administration is adding to it at the rate of fifteen million dollars a day, spending that much more than its daily income. Thirty-two presidents of the United States from Washington to the end of President Franklin Roosevelt's administration, spent, in a period of 156 years, a little over 179 billion, 600 thousand dollars. In less than five years, beginning in 1946, President Truman spent a little over 191 billion, 81 thousand dollars, a sum greater than the total of all the others. This means that our children and posterity for generations to come will be enslaved by high taxes to pay the annual interest on that vast sum, plus the concurrent expenses of the government. That will be their inheritance from the selfish "economic illiterates" of the last two Democratic administrations. Do you call that a "fair deal"?

How much better to institute thrift voluntarily by the wise administration of selected economies, than to be forced to retrench by extravagance, mismanagement, and bankruptcy. It is one way or the other now. The first would maintain the approximate value of the disseminated government bonds; the second would devalue them. "Think that over."

Daniel C. Dennett, M. D.

MYSTIC GLEE CLUB CONCERT

On Saturday evening a capacity audience filled the High School auditorium to hear the Mystic Glee Club, conducted by Keith Snyder, present its tenth annual Christmas Concert with Wesley Copplestone, well known tenor as guest artist.

The Club sang a varied program but often it lacked the technical and tonal perfection of previous concerts. Perhaps this has come about because of the greatly increased membership of which we were all greatly aware.

The concert opened with four selections by Bach, Palestrina, Schutz and Rachmaninoff. The first two, "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" and "Adoramus Te" were creditably performed. However, the next number "Give Ear O Lord" was poorly rendered, lacked balance of parts and left us feeling that much more practice was needed. The last number in the group, "Glorious Forever," which can be a thrilling work, lacked precision, good interpretation and coordination between conductor and chorus.

The second group which was in a lighter vein was well sung and pleased the audience. We missed the sound effects in the "Musical Trust" but the wonderful piano accompaniment of Miss Wood in the "Galway Piper" made up for this. The "Dear Old Woman" was to be congratulated on their tone. "Dry Bones," the last number in the group is always popular and the Club really went to town, amusing both themselves and the audience with a fine performance. However, why do they have to spoil it with repetition?

In the second half of the program the Club sang eight numbers ranging from Praetorius to Folk Songs. The first selection, "Erie Canal" was well sung with the solo part by Robert Carlson. The next number "Spin Spin" was the most successful in the entire program and the audience was delighted. Here the club displayed fine tonal balance and a sympathetic interpretation of the conductor's wishes. In Hayden's "The Interrupted Lover" we had a fine example of musical humor, and the stirring "At Father's Door" brought the group of numbers to a close. The last four selections, "Lo How A Rose," "Twins in the Moon of Winter-time," "Go Tell it on the Mountains" and "I Wonder as I Wander" were pleasantly sung although many of the entrances were blurred and Mr. Snyder at times was unable to get the attention of all the men. In "I Wonder as I Wander" Mr. Copplestone took the solo part and it was unfortunate that he had to stand in darkness while he sang. For encloses the Club chose "The Russian Picnic" and Waring's "The Night Before Christmas." The former got off to a bad start but the prompt and accurate accompaniment of Miss Wood saved the day.

Mr. Copplestone was in splendid voice and sang his program with taste, warmth and color. Especially fine was "Die Mainacht" by Brahms. It was a pleasure to welcome Mr. Copplestone back to Winchester. He was adequately accompanied by Robert Ewing.

Mr. Snyder is to be congratulated for the fine spirit he has created in the Club, and his fine musicianship was apparent in his conducting. Never has Mary Louise Wood the Club's accompanist played more brilliantly. She is a very talented musician and stands foremost in her field. The Club is more than fortunate to have her.

A word should be said about the lighting and stage presence which left much to be desired. If the crowded conditions on the stage can be remedied, the next concert will be greatly improved from both the point of view of the audience and the efficiency of the Club.

MAKE HOLIDAY TELEPHONE CALLS EARLY

Long distance Christmas calls will have a much better chance of going through without delay if they are made a day or two before Christmas or on the following Monday when, by the way, holiday rates still apply. And the same is true of New Year's calling.

Such is the Telephone Company's hint to the wise and wary as it prepares again to meet the annual crush of holiday calling. A volume of calls fully as large as a year ago is expected. Delays then on some calls run up to four hours or more, especially on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

The Company reasons that if, this year, people will spread their holiday calling over several days, fewer and shorter delays should result.

But it is not to callers alone that the Company is looking for a remedy. It is also reaching down deep into its bag of tricks for new ways of employing long distance circuits to the best advantage in accordance with the unusual characteristics of holiday calling. And of course, as usual, there will be plenty of operators on duty.

What makes Christmas traffic unusual, the Company explains, is not only the extremely heavy volume but the out-of-the-ordinary distances and places the calls go. In addition, answers at distant ends are slower and people talk longer on their calls. Strangely, too, there is an unusual proportion of "Don't answers."

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

The offices in the town hall were gay with Christmas decorations this week, those of the Treasurer and Collector of Taxes being especially ornate. Employees of the town hall had a delicious Christmas luncheon Thursday noon, served by one of their former associates, Lillian Hardy, in the General Committee Room. An electrically lighted bulletin board in the entrance hall has served as a repository for Christmas cards.

LT. Col. Nathan Thumim of Oxford street has so far recovered from the heart attack he experienced in the fall as to be able to be out and drive his car. He told the Star reporter in the center Wednesday that he is feeling much better but is still taking things very easy.

First Congregational Christmas Offering to go to the Crippled Children of Europe

"Thank You For Loving Me So Much"

At the Christmas Service at the First Congregational Church, Christmas Sunday, on December 25, at 10:45 a. m. Dr. Chidley will preach a special sermon on "Life's Crowded Inn". There will be special music by the combined choirs of over one hundred voices and special Christmas decorations.

"Now it is different for me," writes Franco Davide, ten-year-old Italian boy who lost both legs as a result of war bombings, "before, my friends had to carry me on their shoulders, and when they were not around I had to move on all fours. I thank you for the legs, and for loving me so much."

Franco is but one of thousands of children who have been maimed and disfigured by war. Funds are needed for plastic surgery, artificial eyes, and limbs.

The Foster Parents' Plan is helping children of fourteen different nationalities in Greece, France, Poland, Belgium, Italy, Holland, England, Czechoslovakia, and China. By aiding these children you are working for the greatest aim of all -- for peace.

For those who would like to contribute to this cause, envelopes will be found in the pews next Sunday morning.

GRANGE, EN KA AND RED CROSS BRIGHTEN VETS CHRISTMAS AT BEDFORD

On Saturday, December 17 the true Christmas spirit was manifested by several Winchester women, who put aside all hustle and bustle of personal affairs and under the sponsorship of En Ka the Grange and Red Cross brought happiness and joy to some of the veterans at Bedford.

Christmas parties were held throughout the hospital and Winchester's party was held in Building 5 where they were hostess to 100 men.

Because singing and Christmas carols are so much a part of the season's festivities, a very fine accordion player went along with the women. Mr. George Springer, the accordionist, along with Mrs. Philip Walker of Winchester who lead the singing, kept the men in a festive spirit all the afternoon. The members of the Grange made the hundreds of delicious cookies that were served and the members of En Ka donated the ice cream. This was a rare treat to the hospitalized men whose day in and day out diet lacks that home-made touch.

Mrs. Harry Goodwin, Red Cross Motor Corp driver and Mrs. Ray Mauger, Canteen Chairman for Red Cross, with Mrs. Kingman Cass, Mrs. George French, Mrs. Paul Howard, Mrs. Alan Howard, Mrs. Charles Farrar acted as hostesses for this very successful party.

Many weeks of planning preceded this party. On December 12 the following members of En Ka spent a long day at Bedford attractively wrapping 1,600 gifts which were distributed during the afternoon. Mrs. Richard Harlow, Mrs. Alan Kimball, Mrs. Edward Peabody, Mrs. Edward Kuypers, Mrs. Paul Comins, Mrs. Harold Richmond, Mrs. Lyndon Burnham, Mrs. Charles Emerson, Mrs. Earl Spencer and Mrs. John Murray.

The members of the Grange: Mrs. John E. Hanlon, Mrs. Clyde Mullen, Mrs. Benjamin Manzie, Mrs. William Callahan, Mrs. George Osborne, Mrs. Warren Osborne, Mrs. Donald Wilkins, Mrs. John Dewar, Mrs. Laurence MacNamara, Mrs. Leslie Dewar, Mrs. Paul Howard, Miss Ada Sleet, Mrs. Henry Roberts, Mrs. Windover Robinson, Miss Helen Brownell, Mrs. Harold Turner, Mrs. Elsie Mobbs, Miss Elsie Lyons, Miss Marguerite Troop, Mrs. Ethel Troop, Mrs. Margery Saltmarsh, Mrs. James Hardy, and Mrs. David Meskill, all worked feverishly the days before the party making cookies in the shape of Christmas trees, filled cookies, ginger cookies, and all the other fancy cookies that add a holiday touch to a party of this kind.

At the end of the day the men were reluctant to have the hostesses leave but one and all had spent a memorable afternoon.

To those whose thoughtfulness has made Christmas brighter for these men, a very sincere thank you.

Reginald A. Holm, manager of the Winchester office of the N. E. Tel. and Tel. Co. for the past two years, has been transferred to the staff of Division Office, Boston. During his term of office in Winchester Mr. Holm has made a host of friends, all of whom extend best wishes to him in his new position.

Mr. Harold P. Davis, Jr., a native of Waterville, Me., will occupy Mr. Holm's Winchester position. Mr. Davis, a graduate of Colby, served in the U. S. Navy Air Force for two years of the war and saw service overseas as a Lt. Commander. He has been serving as manager for the Company in Salem, where he now lives with his wife and two daughters until he can acquire a Winchester home.

HAS ARTICLE IN ETUDE

Miss Marion Horwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley P. Horwood of 29 Westland avenue, has an interesting article on Hand Bells in the current number of Etude, the music magazine.

Miss Horwood, now a senior at the Boston University College of Music, is one of the girls who learned to play hand bells from Mrs. Ethelraby Poveleite of Warren street. For several years she played with Mrs. Poveleite's group in and around Winchester. In the Etude article, besides explaining the voices and playing of the bells, Miss Horwood tells something of their history.

She has been active at Boston University, singing in several musical productions there. She also sings at the First Baptist Church in Woburn.

The Winchester National Bank is distributing for the New Year a handsome calendar of the engagement type, illustrated with artistically executed pencil drawings of Winchester done by the well known local artist, Ernest Dudley Chase. Those fortunate enough to receive one of the calendars will prize it highly, both for its practicality and for the beauty of the Chase plates.

ASHENDEN GRANTED PATENT

On December 6, 1949, the United States Patent Office granted patent number 2,490,501 on a "Coffee-Making Apparatus" to Richard C. Ashenden, Jr., of Pond street, Winchester, Massachusetts.

This invention pertains to an improved coffee-making appliance for use in restaurants and hotels where it is necessary to keep on hand a substantial supply of the hot beverage and to prepare large amounts of same on short notice. As particular features, it is of compact and self-contained construction, fully automatic in respect to temperature control, and operable by gravity as distinguished from pressure derived from boiling water.

According to Mr. Ashenden, the pressure contrivances, heretofore employed, have suffered from numerous disadvantages. For example, it was necessary for them to be heavily built in order to withstand the force of the steam; they constantly were subjected to strains which often resulted in leakage; and it has been difficult to clean them because steam-tight joints are inconsistent with easily removable covers.

The apparatus of his invention overcomes the foregoing limitations and, basically it comprises a housing within which a relatively tall water-reservoir is positioned between two coffee-making units. Each of the latter has a brewing chamber within which is a container for holding a charge of the ground coffee and also a mechanism for spraying such coffee with water. To complete the assembly, a brewed coffee reservoir is located below each chamber; and electrical heating devices, water supply conduits, valves, etc. are provided.

In the use of Mr. Ashenden's equipment, the turning of an operating handle supplies the water reservoir with a predetermined amount of water. Further manipulation of this handle causes a measured quantity of this water to be discharged by gravity upon the ground coffee in either of the brewing chambers from which it flows, also by gravity, into the reservoir for the beverage. Of course, both the latter reservoir and that for the water are heated, and means are set up for maintaining the necessary temperatures and safety controls.

The application for this patent was filed on February 1, 1945.

WINCHESTER WON AT GARDEN

Staging a terrific second half comeback, Winchester High defeated Brunswick, (Me.) High by a score of 49-33 at the Boston Garden on Tuesday afternoon. This is the first Winchester quintet to win a game on the Garden floor as the Red and Black has suffered three defeats at the North Station surface in previous years.

The game was very even in its initial stages with the score being tied at the end of the first quarter at 9-9. Brunswick forged ahead during the second quarter to take a half-time lead of 21-16 as the locals seemed unable to penetrate the zone defense set up by the State of Mainer. In the third period, however, the Red and Black caught on fire and scored 13 points in that period while holding Brunswick to a solitary basket. This spirited rally gave Winchester a 29-23 lead at the end of the third period and they continued their torrid pace by piling up a 49-29 lead before the clicking combination was broken up to give the reserves some needed experience.

Thus, over this stretch of fourteen minutes the Red and Black outscored their rivals 33-8 for one of the finest performances put on by recent Winchester quintets. Leading the scoring during this drive was Bob Walsh with considerable help during the late stages from Denny Sanford. It was Jack Costello who caught Coach Bartlett's eye, however, for he set up most of these scores by clever passing and starting the fast break that enabled the others to break down the floor for a basket before the Brunswick defense could get set. In addition to this, Costello played forward, center, and guard as Coach Bartlett juggled his combinations to make maximum use of his limited manpower.

It was a nice victory for the locals to win for it showed that this team has fighting qualities that will prove valuable throughout the year, that it has good teamwork, and that it is in excellent condition. This group may yet surprise some of the so-called experts who have predicted such dire results this season.

BATTLE ROYAL ON MAT AT STONEHAM TUESDAY

A battle royal will be the feature attraction of the Stoneham VFW wrestling program at Stoneham VFW Hall next Tuesday night, December 27. The sports committee has teamed up the Phantom Brothers to meet Bob "Bibber" McCoy from Cambridge and "Rebel" Rob" Russell from Revere. The Phantom Brothers, who wear masks in the ring, are colorful performers, but Russell and McCoy vow that when the action starts it won't be long before the masks are ripped off.

The committee has also lined up a top semi-final for the stellar card. The semi will bring together Charro Aztec from Mexico City and Guy LaRose from Canada. Both these boys have wrestled in Stoneham before and they have proved crowd pleasers.

In the special of the night, Harry Armus from Baltimore will be in there battling with Tiger Tasker from Canada. The first bout will be at 8:30 and a heavy crowd is expected. Fans may make reservations for Tuesday by telephoning SToneham 6-7031.

SELECTMEN URGE SAFETY CARE DURING HOLIDAYS

The Board of Selectmen called today upon the people of Winchester to do their part, along with the National Safety Council and 160 other national cooperating organizations, in holding down accidents during the Christmastime holiday celebration.

"Let's take our place in this nationwide holiday safety campaign," the Selectmen said. "No body can be safe for himself. It is the individual's responsibility to himself and his family to recognize the extra holiday hazards and the extra means to meet and overcome them."

"It cannot be a merry Christmas unless we make certain it is an accident-free celebration. Needless and preventable accidents that mar the holiday with suffering and tragedy make a hollow mockery of the Yuletide spirit. Let's all remember this and make it a personal responsibility to keep our Town's holiday celebration the safest on record."

FRANCES E. WILLARD
AUXILIARY CHRISTMAS PARTY

On Thursday, December eighth, The Arlington Heights Auxiliary of The Frances E. Willard Settlement were entertained for their Christmas party by Mrs. Denton Randall, at her home on Everell road. This meeting, always one of the most popular of the year, was attended by all but one of the members. The club now has six Winchester women, Mrs. Edmund C. Filler and Mrs. George Traut of Madison avenue, west, Mrs. Carl Richmond of Grove street, Mrs. Robert Keeney of Chesterford road, Mrs. E. H. B. Smith of Dix street, and Mrs. Randall, in the membership which is limited to twenty.

This year it was voted to change the nature of the party and instead of the usual exchange of gifts between the club members, each one brought a gift and the materials for wrapping it to be given to one of the girls in one of The Frances E. Willard Homes. The competition in decorative wrapping was won by Mrs. Smith, who was awarded a lovely snow scene in oils, painted by the club's president, Mrs. Llewellyn B. Parsons of Arlington.

The house was artistically decorated with red carnations, holly, candles and a tiny Christmas tree, so that after the delicious Christmas dessert served by the hostess, and the gift wrapping, the guests caught the Christmas spirit well in advance of the holiday's arrival.

Lou Goddu and Hennie Knowlton don't always get skunked when they go out after fish or game. While reported to be somewhat below Ward Goddu's skill with the rifle, they sometimes do well with rod and reel, and last week-end Trainer Lou hooked a 25 inch, four and a half pound pickerel at Baptist's Pond. Several who saw the fish report it was a beauty, and the largest taken from Baptist's in a long time!

"It was on the afternoon of December 19, 1881, that twenty-two ladies met at the house of Mrs. Nowell to concert measures for bringing forward in a tangible shape some plan for the formation of a woman's club in which mutual good should be aimed at and the mental, moral, and physical improvement of its members promoted. It was also hoped that if the projected organization should grow and strengthen, its influence might be extended beyond its own members, and from it might emanate broad and practical benefits which should tend to the general elevation of the community in which we live. At the second meeting held December 27, 1881, the Club was organized and after considerable discussion the new association assumed the name "The Fortnightly". So reads, in part, a report from the Fortnightly records dated June 1883.

Winchester was one of the first Towns or Cities in eastern Massachusetts to organize a woman's club, there being only two others in existence at that time.

How well those early workers and their followers succeeded in their aims and desires, is expressed in the long list of achievements as recorded in the following calendar of The Fortnightly.

1881-82—The Fortnightly began almost immediately after its formation, to sponsor public lectures on Progressive Education, and in the Spring of 1882 a series of lectures given on "Public Instruction of Our Children" followed by further promotion work on the part of the club resulted in the first appointment of a Superintendent of Winchester Schools.

1883-84—Active cooperation with the Law and Order League of Winchester, and with the W.C.T.U. in their efforts to promote temperance.

1884—A committee known as the "Library Committee" was established and served for five years in cooperation with the Trustees of the Winchester Public Library in selecting suitable reading matter for the juvenile department of the Library.

1884—The Fortnightly established an evening school for adults, this school proved successful and later on became a Town project under the supervision of the School Board.

1885—A petition from The Fortnightly to the School Committee resulted in the replacement of an Art Course in the public schools which had unaccountably been dropped. At the same time a request from The Fortnightly asking the School Committee to initiate Sewing as a part of the regular school course, was granted. This project also proved a success and soon Sewing became an integral part of the School system of Winchester.

1885-86—The School Committee was again approached, this time with the idea of initiating Manual training as a legal part of public school curriculum. This was rejected by the School Board as not applicable for use in the public schools. The Fortnightly then hired a room for the purpose of establishing an evening school, to include carpentry and advanced sewing. This school proved very popular and at the end of the season The Fortnightly offered to lend their carpentry equipment to the public schools but the School Board still not ready to accept the idea as a school function refused the offer and The Fortnightly reopened their evening carpentry school the following season and continued until 1889 when at last the School Board capitulated, accepting the project as feasible for regular school curriculum.

1886—Home nursing courses for Winchester was instituted by The Fortnightly.

1887—Cooking was also a branch of instruction introduced into the Winchester schools via The Fortnightly. The club again provided and equipped a room for this purpose until the schools were ready to accept the plan as a legitimate part of the school system.

1889—Physical Training for women and children was first started in Winchester by The Fortnightly.

1890—The Fortnightly became a member of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

1893—The Fortnightly was represented, by an exhibit, at the World's Fair.

1893—At the opening of the Home for the Aged in Winchester the record shows that The Fortnightly contributed sufficient funds to furnish the dining room and china closet. The club still contributes to the support of this Home and provides free transportation to any resident of the Home desiring to attend any of The Fortnightly's open meetings.

1895-97—The Fortnightly's building fund was started under the administration of Mrs. Pleasant Wilson, fifth president of the club.

1897—A vacation playroom was established for the younger children of the town, several rooms being equipped to accommodate the care of approximately 100 children. Picnics, large rides and other outdoor vacation pleasures were provided by The Fortnightly. This playroom was maintained for several years. A nursery school was added later and that too was operated for several years.

1904—The Fortnightly made a successful crusade against brown-tail moth destruction for the Town of Winchester.

1908—The Fortnightly, ever alert to meet the needs of emergencies in their own Community or in others proved the force of their organization in the aid rendered the residents of Chelsea, Mass., when on April 12, 1908 the city was devastated by fire. The very next day the club organized a sewing bee—see picture accompanying this article—900 finished garments was the result of that one day sewing bee.

1925—The first Community Christmas Tree on Winchester Common was presented to the town by The Fortnightly.

1949—December. On this the 69th birthday of the Club, as we review the highlights of achievements, its members feel that they have reached, to a great extent, their objective as found in Article II of the Constitution—"The object of this Club shall be the promotion of social educational and civic interests."

Miss Mary Eleanor Seaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Seaton, is home for the holidays from McMaster University in Hamilton, Ontario.

WINCHESTER POPULATION TRENDS

School Authorities Believe Building Inadequate

Town Planning Consultants, Adams, Howard and Greeley, associated with the architects engaged by the High School and Enlarged Junior High Building Committee, have completed studies indicating that Winchester's population may increase from its present level of about 17,000 to a maximum of about 21,000 in the next twenty years.

Their estimates were made on the basis of available residential building area, national population growth, birth rate, population movement and other relevant factors. The forecast coincides closely with independent estimates based upon studies made by the Building Committee. With continuing population growth, a peak student enrollment of about 850 in Grades 7, 8, 9, and 750 in Grades 10, 11, 12, may be reached, according to the Consultants. In the light of present enrollments, 584 in Grades 7, 8, 9, and 501 in Grades 10, 11, 12, existing facilities in the Junior and Senior High Schools will become grossly inadequate long before maximum enrollment figures are reached.

SMITH TOASTMASTER

The Annual President's Dinner of the Lawrence Portland Cement Company at the Engineers Club in Boston on the evening of December 12th, was of more than usual local interest. The toastmaster was Mr. R. H. B. Smith of Dix street, New England Sales Manager of the Host Company, and among the invited guests were Mr. John E. Allen of Church street and Mr. Edward R. Grosvenor of Fenwick road.

At the head table, in addition to Mr. Smith were Mr. James H. Ackerman, Lawrence, President; Mr. Philip H. Kittfield, Chief Engineer of the Massachusetts Department of Public Works; and Col. R. M. Harlow, Division Engineer of the War Department Corps of Engineers. Other guests included heads of the leading engineering, contracting and building supply firms in Greater Boston and adjacent cities.

Walter C. Wilson, Jr. of Lowell, one of the invited guests, flying from Miami in an effort to be in attendance, was grounded in Washington due to bad weather conditions. Mr. Wilson was backfield coach of the successful Lowell football team that won the Intercollegiate High School game in Jackson the last Friday night.

Entertainment during the dinner was provided by Saly Caviechio, xylophonist and afterward by Joe Bates, recitator of French Canadian dialect stories of hunting and fishing experiences in the north woods and streams.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel S. Keyes of Cleveland, O., are the parents of a son, Stephen Symmes Keyes, born December 19, in Cleveland. Grandparents are Mrs. Walter P. Keyes of Sanborn street, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Wjasal of Brockton.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. Roger C. Hadley was hostess for the Winchester Garden Club, Thursday, December 15. If one were to wish for an ideal place to commemorate this special season, the Roger Hadley's quaint and friendly house is the answer. The large dining room has a Dutch oven—this room was the original kitchen. There, the long serving table with its white and red fringed tablecloth, was set with old English and delphinium. An old silver Tea Set graced the setting and typical of the olden times, a glass compote with mackintosh apples and sprigs of pine were in the center of the table.

Mrs. William W. Goodhue, president, cut the decorative Christmas cake with its Holidy Greetings and wreaths of holly around it. The hostess, Mrs. Hadley, was at the sherbet bowl. The pourers were Mrs. Arthur Pitman and Mrs. Theodore von Rosenzweig. Sr. Mrs. Hadley wore a red and white fringed dimity costume, trimmed with white rick rack braid. Her petticoat and pantsuit had hand-made lace. She wore her grandmother's chaste gold tear-drop pin and earrings to match. Mrs. Pitman wore a black tulle costume with a black lace cap. Her gold pin and earrings are heirlooms. Mrs. von Rosenzweig wore a black lace costume with sequins over black satin, a pearl pin, a small bonnet with violets.

Throughout the house, flower arrangements carried out the theme of Christmas. In the living room a brown earthen pitcher held a striking arrangement of white chrysanthemums, yellow and rust pom-poms and hemlock. An amber vase contained yellow chrysanthemums, hemlock, pine and leucod. Among the many treasures in this living room is a large decorated Chinese tray done by the hostess, Mrs. Hadley. Many rugs in the home are the creative work of the hostess. A braided rug 8x10 with its colors of rust, brown, gold and green blends harmoniously to its surroundings. There is an Aaron Willard clock (1820) on the mantle in the living room.

The Music Room had potted plants of lavender and white chrysanthemums on old ivy pattern brackets. There was an old French Epergne with its vases filled with varied colors of chrysanthemums picking up the hues to enhance its green and rose colors.

The place-setting this month was arranged by Miss Mary Alice Fitch. It was just ten years ago when Miss Fitch was president that the club met at this delightful home. Miss Fitch did a charming setting using Canton Medallion, goblet and silver; a Chinese arrangement of narcissi, bir balsam and two lemons on an open-worked Chinese plate, resting on a white table cover with lace made by Miss Fitch completed the setting. Her costume was a beautiful white satin embroidered Chinese creation.

Mrs. Herbert T. West brought an unique arrangement to the club consisting of a large wreath of cellophane pecan nuts with tinsel roses. This rested on red velvet in a circular low basket.

Mrs. William W. Goodhue presided at the short business meeting. Mrs. Norman Mitchell, who was one of the Judges at the Long-fellow Garden Club of Portland, Maine recently, gave a very interesting report of this special exhibition where each class represented the different symbols of Christmas.

Mrs. Warren C. Whitman read "The Littlest Angel" by Charles Tazwell. Her interpretation was indicative not only of dramatic experience but a keen sensitivity of thought and emotion.

Mrs. Herbert T. West with her gem-like sparkle could never be surpassed in her rendition of the hilarious travesty of Katherine Brush "Not Even A Mouse Stirring-My eye."

A Christmas card and messages from the members of the club were sent to Mrs. Frederick A. Russell who is visiting in England. It was a happy event to have Mrs. Clarence A. Warren attend this festive day after months of absence.

Christmas carols sung by the members, accompanied by Mrs. Newell Ritchie of Billerica on the old family organ was the finale of this happy day.

Only three permits were issued by the Building Commissioner for the week ending Thursday, December 16; alterations to dwelling at 9-11 Cutting street, and reshingling dwelling at 3 Lagrange street.

HIGH SCHOOL WON HOOP OPENER

Danvers Beaten, 45-18

The Winchester High hoopers breezed to an easy 45-18 victory over Danvers High last Friday evening at the high school gym. The Red and Black had very little trouble with the visitors and were in complete control of the game all the way, enabling Coach Bartlett to make free use of his reserves. Because it was the opening game for the locals, their play was erratic at times and drills this week will be devoted to smoothing out the offense and improving the ball handling.

Scoring honors for Winchester were pretty well divided with regulars Costello and Murphy getting 8 points apiece, Walsh netting 6 points, and Tansey setting the pace with 12 points. The biggest disappointment to Coach Bartlett was the scoring of only 9 points by the reserves who played a large share of the contest. The problem of reserve strength is a vexing one for if anything should happen to one or more of the regulars the team would be greatly handicapped. Another problem that will receive considerable attention this week is that of improving the foul shooting accuracy as the locals did not do a good job in this important department of the game.

The Winchester Seconds made it a clean sweep for the evening by defeating the Danvers Seconds by a score of 52-36. It was pleasing to see a second team score as high as 52 points, as the locals used twelve players in this contest, with no less than ten of them entering the scoring column.

TOWN BASKETBALL LEAGUE

The Town Basketball League opened its 1949-50 season last week with seven teams operating which is the same number as last year. The league appears to be quite well balanced this year which should make for very interesting competition. A considerable change of personnel is evident in the make-up of the teams this year as there has been quite an influx of younger players as the older boys find the present League a bit too fast for them.

The defending champions, the Bonnell Motors, and the American Legion fives have been installed as the co-favorites for the League championship with the Winchester Appliance Co. quintet a distinct threat to the two favorites. Both of the favorites lived up to their reputations in last week's games, with the American Legion the more impressive as they beat the Sons of Italy 44-25 and the Mercurio Insurance 55-22.

The Bonnell Motors won both of their games but were harder pressed as they defeated the Mercurio Insurance 30-22 and the Sons of Italy 31-26. High scorers in this week's games were Roger Latham with 18 points, Art Howard with 17 points, Ken Donaghey with 16 points, Doug MacNeil with 14 points, and Paul Roche with 13 points, all in one game each.

BASKETBALL AND DANCE FOR H. S. GRADS.

Alumni of Winchester High School are reminded of the two activities planned for them during the Christmas vacation by the Town Recreation Committee. The first of these two events is the Basketball Jamboree to be held in the high school gym next Tuesday evening, December 27, at 7:30 p. m. The Jamboree in the past two years have been enthusiastically received and have provided a lot of fun to both the participants and the spectators.

The second of these events is the Alumni Stag Dance next Thursday evening, December 29, at the high school gym at 8:00 p. m. Last year's dance was a huge success and with a popular orchestra engaged for the occasion, this year's attendance should surpass that of a year ago. This dance provides the alumni with a real chance to get together and visit with their former classmates.

No admission is charged for the Jamboree and only a nominal charge to cover the chief expenses is made for the Stag Dance. The Recreation Committee wishes to make it clear that all alumni are invited and urged to attend either or both activities on next Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

WEST'S TEAM WON REGIMENTAL CHAMPIONSHIP

You just can't keep Bill West away from football. The former Winchester High, Dartmouth and West Point backfield star is now in the United States Army stationed some 12 miles outside Tokyo, but this doesn't prevent him from maintaining his active interest in the game he used to play so well. Bill, now 1st Lt. William I. West, serves as director of athletics and recreation for the 8th Cavalry Regiment and coaches the Regimental football team. His eleven won all eight of its regimental games and the regimental championship. So good was its showing that it was selected to play against the Division Championship Team, chosen from a much larger group, losing by a single point.

Football games in the Tokyo area are played in the so called "Rice Bowl" stadium there. A year ago Bill captained and played on the victorious Far Eastern Ground Force eleven against the Air Force. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. West of Wedgemere avenue, and "big brother" of John West, pile-driving fullback on the Harvard team this past season.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON LEAGUE

Music Hall was festive with beautiful holiday decorations to welcome the members and guests of the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion on Friday, December 16th at the Annual Christmas Meeting.

The President, Mrs. Frank H. Knight, introduced Reverend Mr. John Snook, Jr., Pastor of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church who opened the meeting with prayer.

The members listened with interest, to Mrs. Ann Thibault, Social Service and Guidance director of Welcome House as she told of the new methods being adopted at the House to better prepare the girls for a happy future life.

Our speaker, Miss Ann Slattery, was enthusiastically received. Her subject "America and the Far East" was so well presented that the audience felt better acquainted with the Far East problem at the close of her lecture.

Mary Ranton Witham, presented the Unitarian Junior Choir. Miss Grace Norian, accompanist, in a number of well loved Christmas carols. The young people ranging in ages from 5 to 14 years were well trained and proved an inspiration to all those present.

The President announced the next sewing meeting will be held on January 19th at the home of Mrs. Charles Greco, 27 Sheffield West, at 10 A. M. and urged all members interested in sewing to attend. New members will find this a most enjoyable way to become better acquainted. Members are asked to bring a box luncheon, dessert and coffee will be furnished by the hostess.

The tea table, tastefully decorated with Christmas flowers and candles was graciously presided over by Mrs. Albert K. Comins and Mrs. Walter W. Winship.

A delightful tea was served by the hospitality committee, under the able chairmanship of Mrs. Francis C. Bowes.

The decorations, which were so outstanding, were made by Mrs. Theodore H. Elliott and added much charm to the occasion.

HOME FOR HOLIDAYS

Two Winchester boys, Marshall W. Jones, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Walker Jones of Ridgefield road, and Arthur Withington, 2nd, son of Mrs. Frederic B. Withington of Mystic Valley Parkway, are home from Governor Dummer Academy in South Byfield for the Christmas holidays. Jones played football at the Academy this fall and Withington played soccer. Both boys are members of the Glee Club and Withington is also a member of the Camera Club.

The proprietor of a store on upper Main street bought what he thought were four coats in boxes from two men who came into his shop with the garments for sale. The price was tempting and the sample coats all right. The catch came after the men had left and two of the boxes were found to contain cheap sweaters instead of coats. The police were notified but the gyp artists had gotten a good start and were not immediately located.

A drive around town this week showed relatively few outside lighted trees, but that many houses are using novel lighting effects for their front doorways, there being one particularly fine example at a house on Hillcrest Parkway. The tallest lighted tree we happened to see was on Cabot street, and among the most attractive displays of outside lighting are those at the Winchester Hospital and Winchester Arms.

The Winchester School Committee, meeting in regular session at the Administrative Building last Monday evening, voted that the action taken at a previous meeting on the Single Session day be rescinded. The Committee voted to defer any change in the school day pending weather and street conditions. The Superintendent was asked to take a poll of the patrons as to their views on the matter.

The Committee considered further a revised pay scale for extra-curricular work of teachers. Assistants for basketball and baseball were added, but the pay revisions were not approved. The scale now set up in the salary policies' section of the Rules and Regulations is to be amended to include the two new assistants.

Dr. Norris reported on the repairs being made to the Lincoln School roof, the Junior High School gymnasium floor, and a break in the heat line at the Parkhurst School. The Junior High gymnasium floor, at present unusable because of construction going on, will be available shortly after the Christmas holidays.

Dr. Norris's recommendation of Mr. David Kotkov to be Head of the Foreign Languages Department at the High School was approved. Mr. Kotkov was elected to the position, the effective date of the election being January 1, 1950.

LOCAL POST OFFICE REPORTS

HEAVIEST MAILING EVER

Postmaster Thomas J. Gilgun reports that the mailing this year is the heaviest ever in the history of the local office. Each year has seen an ever increasing amount of mail and a corresponding increase in the receipts of the local office. This shows that the town is continually growing and as Washington judges everything in terms of stamp sales, it follows that the larger the receipts, the better the service that can be expected.

Mr. Gilgun augmented the regular force by the addition of over forty men. Each carrier has had extra men to take out the first delivery and take part of the second delivery if the regular man could not finish. The parcel post has been taken care of by the addition of a two-ton truck as well as two smaller ones. Extra men were used as they were needed as the amount of parcel post for the different sections increased.

Mr. Dennis J. Collins, the newly appointed Superintendent of Mails deserves much credit for the able way the mail was handled.

Letter cancellations for the Christmas rush were over 100,000 more than they were a year ago at this time, and at the present writing there are less than five hundred cards to be dispatched out of town, which speaks well for the dispatching clerks.

The incoming parcel post has been about 35% heavier than this time last year and several times a freight car was sent out from Boston attached to a regular train and left at the station to be unloaded. As this had to be done before another train came from Boston, it will be seen that there was no time wasted. At the present moment, there are less than one hundred packages in the office to be delivered. Whether we are reaching the end or not remains to be seen, but regardless every effort will be made to insure delivery.

The outgoing parcel post according to the estimate of Mr. Gilgun is about 20% above the same period last year.

It is very noticeable how the window business has slackened down the last few days. Years ago the lobby was crowded until the day before Christmas, but this year the last few days has seen very few people mailing. This is due to the fact that the public has begun to realize that it takes time to effect deliveries and Mr. Gilgun wishes to thank his patrons for their cooperation in mailing early.

RAINBOW MOTHERS

The regular monthly meeting of the Rainbow Mother's Club held its meeting at the home of Mrs. Edith Knoetner, Sachem road. A delightful social hour was held in the form of a Christmas Party. Games were played, Christmas Carols sung. A delicious refreshment was served by Mrs. Knoetner assisted by Mrs. Kinney and Mrs. Ray.

Next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Chaulk, Burlington street, Woburn, January 16. Mothers please take note of change in meeting.

MEN'S CLUB FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH SUPPER MEETING

Thursday Evening, January 5th,
6:30 P. M., Parish Hall

Supper: "A Gourmet's Delight"

Speaker: Mr. L. E. Tsoo. Subject:

"Can the World Afford a Communist China?"

A Chinese journalist, lawyer, and business executive, Mr. Tsoo, who speaks English fluently, is well qualified to discuss the present situation in China and its possible effect on the adjacent countries in Asia. As a former Chinese government official, he travelled widely in India, Siam, Burma, Indo-China, and the Straits Settlements.

He served as chief liaison officer to General Chennault in the Chinese Air Force, and in 1948 was appointed Social Affairs Officer to the United Nations at Lake Success.

Men and women of the First Congregational Church and their guests, as well as members of the Men's Clubs of other Winchester churches, together with their wives, are cordially invited to attend.

WINN'S CHRISTMAS PARTY

J. H. Winn's Sons Annual Christmas Party was held in Metcalf Hall, Winchester, on Thursday evening. A delicious chicken pie dinner, with all the fixins, was enjoyed by all.

The Master of Ceremonies was Henry L. Clark, Jr., whose humorous introductions—especially of our Eminent Commander Sam Griffin—were enjoyed by everybody.

The first guest speaker was Father O'Riordan, who spoke on the economic value of Winn's to the community, and his appreciation of the feeling of fellowship amongst them all.

S. H. Griffin gave a witty talk—ending by praising the South, and Mr. Snow also gave a short greeting.

The second guest speaker was Rev. Walter L. Bailey, whose humor and sincerity were widely applauded.

Mr. Dade gave the main address of the evening. His speech was in the form of a report that might be given to stockholders of the company. He reviewed the business of the past year, referring to the progress that had been made and outlined plans for the future. His talk was very informative and enabled the employees to better appreciate the generosity of J. H. Winn's Sons.

This year in place of having the entertainment furnished by the Employees, it was decided to have outside talent. The Dancing Johnson Family of Winchester, consisting of George, Noreen, Marguerite, and Carlene, rendered several enjoyable numbers. Baby Carlene captured the hearts of the audience.

Several Hill Billy numbers were given by the Arthur Wood Trio, and the excellent performance of Magician Frank Hubbard, assisted by our own Leonard MacNeill and Rose Pandolfi, brought blushes and many chuckles.

Special mention should be made of the table decorations and the individual favors which were made by Robert L. Low and his committee, which added to the pleasure of the evening.

The evening finished with dancing to the Duke Hurland Band from the Officers' Club at the Navy Yard.

MISS CLENNON, MR. POIRIER ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene M. Clennon of Wedgemere avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Adele, to Mr. Francis Lester Poirier, son of Mrs. Francis L. Poirier of Mt. Pleasant street, Winchester, and the late Mr. Poirier.

A graduate of Edgewood Park Junior College, Miss Clennon is now attending Boston University, department of practical arts. Mr. Poirier served with the Army Air Force and graduated with the class of 1949 from Tufts College where he was a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

POLIO VICTIM REMEMBERED BY SCOUTS

Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Mulea of Quincey court wish to thank the Lincoln School Girl Scout Troop 19 and their leaders Mrs. Louise Hewis and Mrs. Louise Fish for being so thoughtful of their little daughter, Nancy.

Nancy age 6, a first grade pupil at the Lincoln School, was stricken with polio in August and has not been able to attend this year.

A party was given in her honor at the home of Mrs. Swett, Wolcott Terrace and she was presented with a doll and a basket of fruit.

HELMS — FORD

A wedding of Winchester interest took place in Oak Ridge, Tenn., on Saturday, December 17, when Miss Nancy Camille Ford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Ford, 2nd, of 104 South Tampa Lane, Oak Ridge, formerly of 5 Copley street, in this town, became the bride of Ira Lander Helms, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Lander Helms of Portsmouth, Va. Dr. Walter Nance, recently returned from fifty-three years as a missionary in China, officiated at the double-ring ceremony which took place at the Chapel on the Hill before an altar decorated with greenery, white gladiolus and tall white tapers. Mr. Robert Siebert, organist, presented a musical program during the seating of the guests and also played the bridal music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin with a net and pearl embroidered jewel necklace, bracelet-length sleeves with pearl bracelets and a full-length skirt extending to form a cathedral train. Her fingertip-length veil of English blue illusion was caught to a single orange blossom and she carried a white nosegay with a bouquet of white, camellias and valley lilies tied to white satin streamers.

Full colored taffetas with long matching mitts and matching circular veils were worn by the bride's attendants, and they carried nosegays of fall flowers tied with net to match their veils.

Mrs. Alan S. Hauenstein of Dayton, Ohio, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, wearing mauve taffeta, as did three-year-old Jodey Bonnet, the flower girl. The bridesmaids were Miss Ann Helms of Richmond, Va., sister of the bridegroom, in fuchsia; and Miss Irene Webster of Boulder, Col., and Galesburg, Ill., a sorority sister of the bride, who wore French pique.

David Kirkman of Pleasant Garden, N. C., college room-mate of the bridegroom, was best man, and the ushers were Virgil Helms of Sylacauga, Ala., brother of the bridegroom; Alan S. Hauenstein, brother-in-law of the bride; and Ephraim B. Wilkinson, Jr., of Knoxville, Tenn.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's five-tiered wedding cake was cut and champagne punch was served. Mrs. Ford wore a gown designed by Trigere of navy blue crepe with a white helmet-shaped hat decorated with white dove feathers and a nose veil. Her corsage was of lavender orchids, and Mrs. Helms, mother of the bridegroom, wore the same flowers with her electric blue gown and matching hat.

After a honeymoon spent in the south Mr. and Mrs. Helms will make their home at 112 E. Hunter Circle, Oak Ridge, Tenn.

The bride, whose father is director of Community Affairs for the Atomic Energy Commission at Oak Ridge graduated from Winchester High School in the class of 1945.

A VISIT FROM ST. NICHOLAS

Tom Parker, Winchester's "Santa Claus Across the Common," who greeted shoppers young and old around Common and Church streets during pre-Christmas shopping, made a special trip in the police cruiser last week to visit little John Gallivan, 5 year old victim of last fall's accident at the Mystic School and son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Paul Gallivan of 6 Alden Lane.

Needless to state John was delighted to see Santa, and after his warm greeting, he told St. Nick everything he wanted for Christmas, adding a cordial invitation to come again next year when the little boy hopes to be "all well."

Everyone echoes this hope and feels his heart a bit lighter because of Santa's visit to this courageous little lad who has had his cross to bear. It was a kindly thing to do.

Air Corps, has been heard as soloist with leading symphony orchestras throughout this country and Europe.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB OF WINCHESTER

A committee has been appointed to formulate plans for a Testimonial Dinner in honor of Senator and Mrs. Harris S. Richardson to be held at the First Congregational Church on Saturday evening, January 28. Mrs. Frank R. Creelman will head this committee and her co-chairmen will be announced later. Inasmuch as there must be a limit of three hundred fifty guests, it was decided to set a deadline for reservations as of January 23. The names of members of the ticket committee will be published at a later date. It is hoped that Senator Richardson's many friends in the town will make their reservations early.

The committee met on Tuesday afternoon and the board met on Wednesday morning at the home of the president, Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes. The board members reviewed the action taken by the committee for the Testimonial Dinner and discussed plans for the next regular meeting of the Club. This meeting will be held at the Masonic Hall on Wednesday, January 11, at 2:30 P. M. The speaker will be Mr. Warren G. Harris of Millbury, member of former Governor Bradford's Council. Mrs. Robert B. L. Singer and her social committee will serve tea.

J. W. SMITH B. M. VICE-PRESIDENT

The appointment of Frank W. Rourke of Melrose as Vice-President-Operations of the Boston and Maine Railroad, effective January 1, 1950, was announced this week by E. S. French, President of both roads, along with the appointment of J. W. Smith of 10 Sheffield road in this town, as Vice-President assigned to special duties.

Mr. Rourke, with forty-one years of service on the Boston and Maine, in his new position will continue to carry on the duties of General Manager. He started as a telegraph operator at West Medford, Mass., and filled various positions in the Operating Department.

Mr. J. W. Smith has been Vice-President-Operations of the Boston and Maine and Maine Central railroads until his present appointment as Vice-President assigned to special duties. He was formerly General Manager of both roads, and in recent years served on national committees conducting railroad wage negotiations.

WARM WEATHER

The record breaking warm weather of the last fortnight has led to so many tales and fancies that one is almost ready for anything in the field of romance and reality. With the chief interest in the height of the thermometer, along with blooming pansies, violets, pussy-willows and sap from sugar maples, anything else may be taken as in season, along with Dr. Speers' pet snake, who Doctor has a family of snakes who live in his backyard, and over the week-end he saw one of them out and looking things over. He did not say which one or what it was looking for. Possibly for Rudolph the Red Nose Reindeer. 'Tis too bad the cold spell of yesterday has reduced the phenomena of unseasonable blooms and reptiles, but perhaps a warm winter is under way.

CAST IN NEW YORK MUSICAL

Miss Priscilla Morrill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore P. Mes-ser of Priscilla Lane, is in the cast of the off Broadway musical show, "Of Sugar and Spice" to be presented January 2, 3 and 4 at the Carl Fischer Music Hall in New York.

Miss Morrill, who spent Christmas with her parents in Winchester, has been singing alto in a quartet at the New York City Theatre and the New York City Center.

A graduate of Winchester High School, Miss Morrill was graduated from the Dramatic Department of Carnegie Institute and is engaged in theatrical work in New York.

GUILD NEW FOOTBALL COMMISSIONER

Will Name Officials for High School Football Games

Robert F. "Bob" Guild of Cabot street was on Tuesday appointed Football Commissioner of the North Suburban High School District, with the duty, among others, of naming officials for football games among the district member schools. Winchester and most of the schools it meets regularly on the gridiron are members of the North Suburban District.

Schoolboy authorities, recognizing Mr. Guild's football background, tried to get him to serve as North Suburban Commissioner, two years ago, but he declined because at that time he was doing a lot of officiating himself and he did not want to give up this more active connection with the game he loves so deeply. Since that time the authorities have been searching for the right man to handle this rather difficult detail, but it was not until Mr. Guild agreed to take the portfolio recently that their search was over.

"Bob" Guild is certainly eminently fitted for his new duties. He has the football background of a player, having played at Roxbury Latin School, Stone School and Harvard, and he also coached a war-time Harvard informal team. He has been a gridiron official for 43 years, working many college games, such as the Boston College-Holy Cross classic, but devoting most of his officiating hours, through preference, to schoolboy contests. For many years he worked Exeter-Andover games and for 27 straight years he officiated at the big private school games between Groton and St. Mark's. His last officiating job was Thanksgiving Day when he worked the Pynchard-Johnson High game in Andover.

Just how "Bob" is going to find time for his new duties only he knows. He is public relations director for the Boston Stock Exchange, which is surely a full time job, and he likes to take in all sorts of sports events, from local swimming meets to the B. A. A. track games, at which he has often officiated.

"Bob" has been active civically in Winchester. He has been a member and chairman of the School Committee and an independent member of the town's limited town meeting who has never been backward about making his opinion on controversial matters known. As School Committeeman he was responsible for bringing Rufe Bond to Winchester as football coach in 1921, and with Bon's coming being the present era of coaching in the Mystic Valley.

MISS ABBIE WILKINSON CURRY

Miss Abbie Wilkinson Curry of 188 Mystic Valley Parkway, a long time and widely known resident of Winchester, died on the evening of Christmas Day, December 25, at the Winchester Hospital after an illness of several months. She had been in the hospital since November 11.

Miss Curry was the daughter of Edmund A. and Hannah (Lamont) Curry. She was born April 21, 1863, in Medfield, but spent all but one of her 86 years in Winchester, attending the Winchester schools and being long identified with the business life of the community.

As a young woman she was a clerk in the shoe store of Willard Templeton, then located on Pleasant street, now Mt. Vernon street, at the site of the present Central Hardware Co. Later she was for several years with Miss Nutter at the Winchester Exchange, located first on Main street near Converse place and later on Mt. Vernon street at the other end of the same place. Her last position, which she held for some years until her retirement, was as manager of the Winchester office of Baileys' Cleaners and Dyers, in the National Bank Building.

Miss Curry grew up in the family homestead on Water street, but had made her home on the Parkway since 1929. She leaves two sisters, Mrs. John Lothrop Brown of Villa Nova, Pa., and Miss Elma Janet Curry of Wollesley Hills.

Private committal services were held at the Curry family lot in Wildwood Cemetery on Tuesday.

NEW YEAR'S PARTY

Miss Betty Alden Perry, 361 Main street, will be hostess on Monday evening, January 9, to members of the Business and Professional Women's Guild, First Congregational Church, at a special New Year's party. Games and stunts and refreshments will comprise the social evening, a pleasant one. Mrs. Perry will be assisted by some of the members, including Miss Helen Monroe, Miss Ruth Albee, Miss Helen Crawford, Mrs. Ruth Hilton, and others. The party is for members only, and those planning to attend are asked to notify Mrs. Perry on receipt of their regular card notice.

PARKHURST SCHOOL RECEIVES $60,000

With recent approval by the Massachusetts School Building Assistance Commission of the new Lewis Parkhurst School, Winchester is scheduled to receive payments totalling about $60,000, or 20% of the cost of construction. Under the present statute school furnishings and equipment are not considered in computing the cost basis upon which aid is given, although there is a movement to liberalize the statute. Payments will be made over a period of five years in amounts of about $12,000 per year. The school was financed out of cash reserves of the Town without the necessity of a bond issue. Payments on a similar basis are expected for the Mystic School addition some time after completion of construction in 1950.

At a recent informal meeting, Dr. John E. Marshall, Administrator, outlined the qualifying standards for state aid to members of the Junior and Senior High School Building Committee. Assistance may be granted where a new school building is erected or where an outside addition is made to an existing building. Location of the proposed building, area of usable land, topography and drainage, adaptability of the building to current educational needs are some of the salient factors in the state's decision to grant or withhold aid. No aid is available to help defray the cost of interior modernization or renovation of an existing building. Because of these considerations it was felt that proposals for renovation of the present High School Building would not meet state aid requirements and would have to be borne entirely by the Town.

THE WATER DEPARTMENT REPORTS

Chairman Edmund C. Sanderson of the Water & Sewer Board told the Star yesterday that during 1949 the Water Department added 100 services to its system, 57 less than the services added in 1948. It is expected that another 100 will be added in 1950.

Water Department figures show the town has grown about 1000 in the past two years, and agree with School Department figures that the current total population of the town is about 17,000.

The sale of water in Winchester during 1949 was the largest in the history of the local Water Department, amounting to $82,000, which represented an increase of $16,000 over 1948. Mr. Sanderson said that his department was particularly pleased to be able to supply water to the people of the town without restrictions during the year, but warned that the excessive drought and consequent use of water for lawns and gardens would result in water bills much higher than usual in many instances.

The town's reservoir supply of water, though very low for this time of year, with the reservoirs down about six feet, is holding its own nicely, and Mr. Sanderson sees no reason to be alarmed over the possibility of a shortage, at least in the near future.

VISITED BROTHER AT NORTHFIELD

Winchester Friends of Rev. Arthur L. Winn, former widely known resident, will be pleased to learn that he spent a pleasant Christmas Day at the Inn in East Northfield, and that he is well and happy. During the day he received a visit from his sister, Mrs. Francis Smith of Wakefield, who found that her brother has as a table-mate at the Inn an old friend and former resident of Winchester, Dr. Lilly Eaton. Doubtless the two enjoy talking over the old baseball days in Winchester when both were among the town's better players.

With Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Sanborn wintering at The Inn Winchester is certainly well represented.

Typed on ordinary yellow teletype paper with the letter 'X' as a Christmas tree flanked by candles at the top of the sheet and surrounding a solid block of 'X's with a map of Massachusetts, cleverly formed by leaving the center of the paper blank in the proper outline.

At the bottom were the words: Greetings from the Massachusetts State Police. The sheet, which was the work of Officer Dwyer, went to all teletype-equipped police stations in the Commonwealth.

CHRISTMAS AT WINCHESTER HOSPITAL

Christmas in a hospital poses a very special problem which we believe was well solved at the Winchester Hospital this year. The patients who spend such a festive time in a hospital are there only because they are really ill, and the problem is to bring a bit of Christmas feeling into the air without making the care of these sick people any less effective for their recovery. The hospital administration, the doctors, nurses, and employees cooperated splendidly to give the patients every assurance that Christmas was being brought to them. There were special menus prepared by the dietary staff, served on gaily decorated trays, and bearing messages of greeting from the Hospital. Of the favors and other tray decorations a large number were supplied by the Girls' Friendly Society of the Parish of the Epiphany and others were made by Girl Scouts.

Visiting hours were limited only by the necessary nursing care, so that families and friends were able to spend a generous amount of time with the patients. As they arrived at the Hospital, visitors found wreaths hung outside each window, festoons of green on the entrance awning, and a very lovely sparkling tree in the lobby. After dark these decorations sprang into life with vari-colored lights. One final touch of consideration of which patients were probably unaware was that many nurses gave up cherished personal plans in order to assure adequate nursing coverage during the week-end.

Groups of carollers have given much pleasure to those in the Hospital. Pupils of the Sixth Grade from the George Washington School made the first of these visits on Wednesday, the 21st. These boys and girls had been well trained by their teacher, Mrs. Arthur P. Graham of Woburn, and their sweet singing was made even more pleasant by their effective choir gowns. The afternoon of Friday, the 23rd, was marked by a visit from seventh-graders of Troop 18, Winchester Girl Scouts, led by Miss Dorothy Clarke, assisted by Miss Virginia Ashworth of Squantum. That evening, thirty-five members of the Staff and Key Society, under Dr. F. Milne Blanchard, gave a fine program of carols outside the Hospital, and the next afternoon Troop 10 of the Girl Scouts, with Mrs. James K. McElroy as Leader, brought "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer" and other Christmas songs to delight both old and young. The Scouts will long remember that it was "Rudolph" who changed to smiles the tears of one small patient. The Hospital gives warm thanks to all these carollers.

WEEK-END FIRES

Commencing last Friday shortly after midnight the Fire Department had several runs over the holiday week-end.

At 12:12 a. m. Friday there was a grass fire on Pond street near the Edison Station and at 7:22 Friday morning Mrs. F. McLaughlin of Arthur street phoned headquarters reporting her house full of smoke. The men found a refrigerator motor had frozen, scorching the wall behind the machine and doing considerable smoke damage.

Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock the department was called to put out leaves burning in the old quarry at the rear of the Wildwood Cemetery. Later in the afternoon Engine 2 answered an alarm from Arlington Box 357, a mutual aid box. This alarm was for a range burner fire at a home at 358 Mystic street, Arlington.

Sunday at 7:04 a. m. there was a chimney fire at the home of L. B. O'Callaghan, 10 Winslow road.

The worst fire of the week-end was that at the home of Mr. Charles A. McGreggs, 7 Forest circle at 10:40 Sunday forenoon. In this instance occupants of the house reported it filled with smoke and when the firemen arrived they found so much smoke in the dwelling that it was seeping out around the eaves. A defective oil burner in the cellar was found to be the cause of the trouble. Veteran firemen characterized the smoke as among the densest they had ever encountered.

J. Stewart Chaffe, a student at New Hampton School, New Hampton, N. H., is at home on the Christmas holidays. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Chaffe of 7 Warren street.

THE FORTNIGHTLY

Advance Notice, International Relations Day Chairman,
Mrs. Walter W. Winslip

The Fortnightly opens the New Year with an impressive program scheduled for an open meeting, to be held on January 9 at 2:00 p. m. Frank T. Samuel, teacher of geopolitics and economics, lecturer on military and world conditions, will be the speaker for the afternoon. His subject: "Blueprints for the Future", a lecture which treats of "obvious and obscure world trends, based on our contemporary global conditions and their causes". In his discussion Mr. Samuel poses three pertinent questions, namely:

"What will be the shape of mankind if today's pertinent forces persist?"
"How can we leash the great force of America to a unified, effective plan for future world stability and prosperity?"

An experienced, comprehensive speaker, Mr. Samuel is in popular demand by both men and women's clubs, also colleges and radio audiences.

Fortnightly members are urged to invite their guests early for this noteworthy event. Guest fee as announced in The Fortnightly Year Book. Watch the Star for further announcement.

FORUM BRINGS CHRISTMAS SPIRIT TO SICK AND SHUT-INS

About 80 members of the Senior Forum of the First Congregational Church went caroling on Christmas Eve to bring the spirit of Christmas to sick, elderly, and shut-ins of the church. Fifteen cars transported the young people as they made their rounds to the homes of folks who were looking forward to this annual occasion. The singing was ably led by Dotty Brandt. At 9:30 the crowd assembled at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Howard J. Chidley where they sang carols and then were treated to hot clam chowder. The evening's festivities ended at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Howard Ulfelder where hot cocoa and doughnuts were served with background music being supplied by the Forum orchestra. Dotty Brandt sang "The Mistletoe Kiss", and Marshall Phil sang "Brahms' Lullaby". The climax of the evening was the presentation to Rev. and Mrs. Tarr of a beautiful Christmas gift in appreciation for their work with the Forum, by Barbara Macaulay, Vice President.

BEGGS CAR SMASHED AT TRAFFIC CIRCLE

Attorney and Mrs. William N. Beggs of 17 Stowell road escaped injury, but their Cadillac sedan was badly smashed at the front end in an accident that occurred at the traffic circle at Symmes Corner last week Wednesday shortly after 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Beggs told the police she was driving south on Main street at the time of the accident and turning left through the traffic circle to enter Everett road. As she left the traffic circle the Cadillac was in collision with another automobile owned by Hollis G. Case, 4 Hobson avenue, Woburn, and driven by Hollis G. Case, Jr., who was headed north. Both cars were disabled and had to be towed away.

HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES HAD REUNION

The Winchester High School classes of 1947 and 1948 held a reunion and open house Tuesday evening at the Music Hall on Bacon street after the Alumni Basketball Jamboree at the high school gym. A large number of members of both classes in town for the holidays attended the affair and several members of the high school faculty were guests. The Music Hall was gaily decorated with pine boughs and other Christmas greenery, and there were tall red candles and a single red and black streamer, reflecting the school colors was extended across the top of the room. Refreshments were served buffet style from a long punch table at one side of the hall.

The entertainment program was on the informal side. A quartet comprising Mallory Smith, David Eldredge, Al Switzer and Bill Everett offered some close harmony that was well received, and Jim Hennessey and Bobby Horn, those old Vaudeville stalwarts, added piano selections and songs that were warmly applauded.

After their act the piano was pushed out into the middle of the hall so that everyone could gather around for group singing of school and popular songs. Jimmy Hennessey was spelled with his accompanist's chore by several unannounced substitutes. A committee from the Class of '48 handled details for the affair, which was voted a complete success.

ALUMNI BASKETBALL JAMBOREE

Close to three hundred alumni gathered at the high school gym on Tuesday night for the annual Alumni Basketball Jamboree sponsored by the Town Recreation Committee. Approximately sixty of these were active participants in the various games and contests that spiced the program and it is a question as to whether the players or the spectators enjoyed themselves the most.

The alumni boys of the class of 1947 won the alumni basketball championship by defeating the class of 1948 by a score of 12-10. This marks the third successive year that the class of 1947 has won the alumni championship.

In the girls' competition the class of 1949 edged the class of 1946 in a sudden-death overtime period to win the girls' championship. Dee Barrett, Peggy O'Leary, Ginny Gaffney, Fay Zamanakos, Beverly Gay and Carolyn Zinn were the members of the winning team, with Ginny Gaffney throwing in the winning basket for the 1949 champs.

In the special relay race in which both the girls and the boys of each alumni group performed, the class of 1948 won in a close contest. In spite of near casualties to Carolyn England and Joan Wolsey, this event proved to be so popular that another race was staged with the class of 1947 emerging the winner in this second contest. The final event of the evening saw a team of boys defeating a team of girls by the close score of 10-7. The boys were handicapped a bit by being forced to play girls' rules and wearing boxing gloves but managed to pull out a victory thanks to the efforts of Don Armstrong, Doug Macneill and Harry Easton.

The whole affair was a huge success and the Town Recreation Committee was well pleased with its reception by the alumni. Special praise for rounding up the teams to represent their classes goes to Jean Monson, Libby Fenno, Dee Barrett, Marge Carroll, John Patterson, Dean Blanchard, Al Switzer and Ken Donaghy. Anne Murray, Henry Knowlton and Ted Bartlett were in charge of the activities and turned in their usual efficient job.

SELLER'S MARKET HAS NEW OWNER JANUARY 1

Seller's Market, one of Winchester's oldest business establishments, is being taken over on January first by Donald R. Wilkins of Clematis street.

Mr. Wilkins is no stranger to Seller's customers. He has been running the business since the death of the former owner, Albert B. Seller. He has been associated with the market for nearly four years and is married to the former Olive Seller, whose father, the late Herbert B. Seller, was until his death associated with his brother, Albert, in the business founded by their father some fifty years ago.

Mr. Wilkins came to Winchester from Wilton, Me., where he had general store experience and was before coming to this town associated with the Wilton Woolen Company. He announces that the market will continue under the name of Seller's Market, and that the old Seller policy of quality merchandise at reasonable prices will be rigidly maintained.

VETERAN WINTHROP BEAT WINCHESTER

Winthrop High handed Winchester High its first defeat of the season last Friday night at Winthrop by a score of 35-28. The Red and Black made it a real battle for the first three periods against the entirely veteran Winthrop quintet which is always tough to beat on its hand-box floor. In the last period the inexperienced locals lost their poise, causing their offense to stop functioning smoothly, and were able to score only one basket in that final quarter.

The contest was very close for the first three periods as Winthrop pulled away to a 9-6 lead at the quarter and increased it slightly to 21-17 at the half-time. Winchester came out fighting in the third quarter to reduce the lead to 29-26 at the end of that period. In the fourth quarter, however, the locals became excited and were pressing too hard as they were guilty of poor ball handling and did not use their offense to set up scoring opportunities. Winthrop was held to only 6 points in that period and if the locals could have kept their offense clicking they might well have overhauled their opponents.

Captain Dennis Sanford and big Walter Murphy were outstanding for the Red and Black. Murphy used his height to good advantage in taking the ball off both the offensive and defensive backboards while Sanford, in addition to rebounding well defensively, did a fine job of setting up plays on the offense. Coach Bartlett expressed himself as well pleased with the performance of his charges over the first three periods against the capable, highly-favored Winthrop five.

The Winchester Seconds pulled out a close 28-24 victory over the Winthrop Seconds in the preliminary game. Johnny Farrell with 14 points and Stowell Symmes with 10 points were the high scorers for Winchester while John Dilorio turned in an outstanding all-around performance.

CAR STRUCK WALL

Richard G. Berry of 13 Burlington street, Woburn, told the police he fell asleep at the wheel before his Chevrolet sedan collided with a stone wall on the property of Mr. Angelo Ghirardini at 24 Chesterford road. Berry was driving west at the time. The Chevrolet was damaged about the front end but was not disabled and Berry though shaken up was not sufficiently injured to require medical attention. The wall was damaged by the force of the collision.

The Mercurio Insurance pulled the upset of the evening in edging the Winchester Appliance by a score of 31-28 in the Town Basketball League on Wednesday evening. Successful foul conversions provided the margin of victory as the losing Winchester Appliance quintet outscored the winners from the floor.

The other two games were easy victories for the American Legion and the Bonnell Motors as the Legion piled up the highest score of the season in defeating the All-Stars 62-26. Roger Latham with 22 points and Roger Swanson with 17 points were the pace setters for the winners. Art Howard and Al Switzer used their height to good advantage in scoring 20 points and 18 points respectively in leading the Bonnell Motors to an easy 52-20 victory over the Yanks.

There will be no games next Monday evening because of the holiday but the League will resume with the customary three games on Wednesday evening. The Sons of Italy and the Winchester Appliance who are tied for third place will meet in the feature game of next week's program.

WINCHESTER BOYS HARVARD CLUB GUESTS

The pre-Christmas meeting of the Harvard Club of Eastern Middlesex was held Wednesday, December 14, at Bear Hill Country Club, Stoneham, with a record breaking attendance.

The speaker of the evening was Arthur Valpey, coach of the varsity football team, who spoke about trends in Harvard football since 1920. He was very well received and at the end of his speech was roundly cheered.

John I. Donovan, 1913, presided as president of the club and introduced as guests John West, Charles Walsh, Charles Roche of the varsity football team; and Edward Hicks, Mallory Smith and John Richmond, managers of various football teams. All six boys live in Winchester. Pete Dillingham, who played so well for the Harvard freshmen against Yale, was unable to be present because he was competing in a swimming meet. He is a former resident of Winchester, and ex-high school all around athlete. Henry Knowlton, director of athletics at Winchester High, who coached West, Walsh, Roche, Richmond and Dillingham as schoolboys, was also a guest of the club.

BAPTIST WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Moving pictures of Missions in China and India will be shown on the afternoon program at the January meeting of the Women's League of the First Baptist Church to be held at the Church Thursday, January 5th.

From 10 to 12 o'clock the women will work on White Cross sewing. Mrs. E. H. Garrison is chairman of the committee in charge of the luncheon at noon. Devotions led by Mrs. Frank McCullough and the pictures on China and India will provide the afternoon program. All women are invited.

TOASTMISTRESS CLUB

On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock the Winchester Toastmistress Club held a Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Helen Pietz, 99 Pine Ridge road, West Medford.

Mrs. Rena Bagley spoke on "What Christmas Means to Me". Mrs. Lillian Last gave a talk on "Christmas in England". Miss Ann Mootz was Toastmistress for the evening.

Christmas carols were sung by the members with Mrs. Lennie Bowen at the piano.

WINCHESTER AT WAKEFIELD TONIGHT

Opens League Schedule Against Veteran Quintet

Winchester High opens its Middlesex League schedule tonight when it travels to Wakefield to engage Wakefield High. Although the Red and Black has looked good in winning two out of its three pre-league games, Wakefield must be considered the favorite to win tonight as they boast an all-veteran quintet that was able to divide victories with the Red and Black a year ago. Coach Bartlett is planning no changes in his line up and will start with Captain Denny Sanford, Walter Murphy, George Tansey, Jack Costello and Bob Walsh. The preliminary second team game gets underway at 7:30 p.m. and there are plenty of seats available at Wakefield.

On Tuesday afternoon Winchester goes to Lexington to meet the perennially tough Minutemen in their second Middlesex League contest. On next Friday night the Red and Black plays host to a visiting Stoneham five which is regarded as a real factor in the League race this year. Stoneham also boasts a veteran outfit and the locals will be hard pressed to pull out a victory in this one.

CHUCK MONTANA AT STONEHAM MAT SHOW

Another top wrestling show has been lined up by the Stoneham VFW sports committee for next Tuesday night, January 3, it was announced today. The main bout will bring an old favorite back to the Stoneham ring, namely Chuck Montana, who will come to grips with Manuel Cortez of East Boston. Chuck, who hails from Detroit, built up an excellent reputation as a mat performer before coming East to portray his ring skill.

The semi-final for next Tuesday is one of the best offered thus far to wrestling fans at Stoneham. Henry Vermarch from France will meet the noted Tiger Tasker of Canada. Tasker has performed in Stoneham before but this is the first local appearance of Vermarch. Vermarch, by the way, is a protégé of Henry DeGlane and this is his first appearance in any American wrestling ring. He has won a top reputation as a grunt and grown artist in France and is now anxious to win the favor of American wrestling fans.

The special of the night will see popular Harry Armus from Baltimore meeting Clyde Stevens of Malden. Clyde has been wrestling in Stoneham quite frequently and has proved a wrestler who never disappoints the customers. A big crowd is looked for on this coming Tuesday, the night after the holiday. The first bout goes on promptly at 8:30 and fans can secure their reservations by telephoning SToneham 6-7021.

The Star received Christmas cards from two transplanted Winchesterites in California, Stanley Mobbs and Mary "Fish" Marchesi. Mary, an ardent sports fan, added a postscript to her card stating that she is attending the Rose Bowl Game on New Year's Day.

Before you call the police for that "peeping Tom" outside your house make sure it isn't one of the neighbors watching your television show.

If you happen to see a V before the registration number on an automobile, show the driver every consideration possible. For the V means that the car is owned and driven by an amputee who probably lost his leg or legs in the service of the Country. Try also to remember not to ask the driver of the car what the V means. Some of the boys don't like to talk about their handicaps, no matter how sympathetic the audience. Just remember to give the driver of a V car a break. He deserves it!

The Star has at this office a Massachusetts Ski Guide published by the Massachusetts Development and Industrial Commission. It lists everything of interest to skiers, from the important big ski events to remote trails, gives the best routes to get everywhere for skiing and generally covers the sport from the angle of the novice and the most experienced skier. Skiing isn't much in the Star's line, at least so far as the editorial and reportorial staff is concerned, and the book as a consequence is of little use to us. If there is a skier, or ski organization wanting the book, it is theirs for the asking.

sort one who has his background of player, official and coach. As a player and coach he knows what incompetent officials can do to important football games. As an official for 43 years he knows the difficulties that beset those who try to call close plays in objective contests when the feelings of players and fans are at a fever pitch. That he won't please everyone in his new post is to be expected. Knowing "Bob", we are sure that the good of the game and the boys who play it will always come first with him, and before his own personal popularity. That he will do his level best to administer his new duties wisely and impartially is beyond question. The North Suburban High School District is to be congratulated upon its choice of its first Football Commissioner. Good luck, "Bob!"

Another year has run its course and on Sunday, January 1, the new 1950 comes over the horizon. The year which is rapidly waning to its close hasn't been all fun, but as we look back we can recall little heart-warming incidents that have balanced the trials and tribulations, just as there generally has been pleasure with the pain as far back as any of us can remember.
On January 1 the Star will be beginning its 70th year as Winchester's newspaper. We have known personally many of those whose vision and labors have aided it to grow well. In our own right we have tried to be of service to the community in which we are located and to which we look for financial and moral support. We have had both through the years, and we are grateful for the assistance and encouragement of our subscribers, advertisers and friends. If, as they say, the first ninety years are the hardest, we still have twenty years in which to struggle along before the uphill road levels off. Our friends have aided us thus far, and we appreciate their help. We are hoping to merit their continued confidence this New Year and in the years to come. Meanwhile, Happy New Year, everybody, and may this new hundredth anniversary year of the Town of Winchester be one of its very best!

FAIR DEAL DOES NOT ENSLAVE MASSES WITH HIGH TAXES

Editor of the Star:
I would like to take the liberty of replying to the letter on the editorial page of Friday's issue by Daniel C. Dennett, M. D., regarding the elevation to high positions in our democracy of "a County Cork Irishman, an ex-hod carrier, bartender, and policeman", "a Jew", and "an amateur pianist and small business man, a Pendergast trained, to-the-victor-belong-thespoils type of politician".

I am interested in just what moral or scientific reasons the doctor can advance for his position toward Mayor O'Dwyer and Senator Lehman. To me, they are better men for rising to their present positions in spite of the ignorant prejudice that has sometimes hindered them because of their origins.

As for President Truman, I would remind the doctor that no taint of the Pendergast corruption has ever touched him. He turned to politics in the local machine, which later became corrupt and discredited, but remained above the machine itself. The doctor might consider a child placed in a school where he would be taught that the earth is flat. Is it not a sign of greater integrity for such a child to discern for himself that the earth is round, than if he were taught the truth? I have a strong suspicion that if Mr. Truman were not loyal to his friends he would be criticized at that score. It is unfortunate that some of his friends are not of the best. However, the Republican investigation of "five percenters" showed nothing except that the President's Military Aide had been indiscreet. It is equally unfortunate that our leaders are subjected to wild rumors instead of sober facts.

The popular misconception that our current expenses of government are produced by the "Waf-fare State" is a Republican propaganda. About three-fourths of these expenses are caused by the Warfare State in which we live.
President Washington never had to equip the world's mightiest war establishment and arm half of the rest of the world to overcome the threat of a Hitler or a Stalin.

Even World War I was a tea party compared to the recent war. Anyway, to compare expenses without recognizing the changing value of the dollar is fallacious reasoning. I wonder if the doctor is aware that President Roosevelt's financial policy in the 30's was based on sound economic reasons.
If we were on the "way to financial chaos" that way was dictated by the world-wide depression which began some years before the Roosevelt administration, in a Republican era, as I recall.

In conclusion, I cannot believe that the Fair Deal enslaves the masses with high taxes to benefit only a few. President Truman's program is the most idealistic and enlightened one in our history, including even those of Lincoln and Roosevelt. Let us lend it our constructive support.

CERTAINLY A GRAND CONCERT

Editor of the Star:
As a sponsoring member who has long followed with keen interest and a sense of civic pride the progress and development of the Mystic Glee Club, I feel it was done a rather decided injustice in the review of the December 17th concert which appeared in the last issue of the Star.

Fair criticism by a "qualified critic is something any good musical organization can stand and thrive on. However, it would seem that this reviewer started off on a note which had a decided ring of malice and ill-will in it, with in-nuendos about the size of the group
"of which we are all so well aware", etc.

If that concert was as bad as the reviewer thought it was, it seems strange that a truly capacity audience would show such obvious enthusiasm in their loud and long applause. There was nothing merely "polite" about that applause. It was genuine and from the heart.

Obviously, a lot of men have,
over the years, given a great deal of their time, thought, planning, and labor toward the building of The Mystic Glee Club. They certainly deserved a better shake than your reviewer gave them.

Fortunately, those men enjoy singing together so much that I doubt if a bad write-up will affect them at all. But from the standpoint of justice—there was very little in that article.

It is groups such as this which enrich the life of the Community.
We have always looked forward with keen pleasure to the concerts of the Mystic Glee Club, and have taken friends of ours from Boston each year who have enjoyed themselves as much as we have. My husband and I rate the Club high on our list of favorite choral groups. Their singing has always been good and their programs interesting.

The concert on December 17th wasn't our idea of their best concert to date, but it was certainly a grand concert and deserved nothing but praise.

Sincerely,
Marion M. Moses,
119 Forest street.

HAD HIS BEST CHRISTMAS

Winchester Polio Victim Thanks
Friends

December 28, 1949

Editor of the Star:
Last Saturday on my first visit home since August, when I came down with polio, friends and fellow students made an already wonderful Christmas even better for me when they presented me with a television set and a 100-dollar savings bond. The bond is already resting safely in a bank vault and a television set can do more to lighten the hours in a hospital bed than anything else I could possibly think of.

I am aware that many of my kind benefactors do not even know me. That is why I hope you can print this note so I can let them know how deeply grateful I am for their and all the others' thoughtfulness.
They gave me the best Christmas I have ever had. I hope they all can visit me at the Children's Medical Center in Boston, and at my home upon my return later. May their New Year be as happy as mine already is.

Sincerely yours,
Bill Carleton

On Thursday morning, December 22nd the pupils of the kindergarten entertained their friends and parents with a Christmas program of singing, dancing and recitation.

At the close of their very entertaining program each child presented his or her parent with a tiny gift, gayly wrapped in paper, finger painted by the pupil.

Many hearty thanks were extended to Mr. John C. Wakefield, 176 Forest street, who provided each room with a Christmas tree.
He also took all the trees to the fire station to be fireproofed, before giving them to the pupils.

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include:
"The first demand of this Science is, 'Thou shalt have no other gods before me.' This is the Spirit. Therefore the command means this: Thou shalt have no intelligence, no life, no substance, no love, but that which is spiritual. The second is like unto it: 'Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.' It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth, and Love" (p. 467).

1949 EXPEDITIONS COMBED CONTINENTS, PLUMBED SEAS, EXPLORED STRATOSPHERE

Scientific expeditions, roaming every continent and probing the mysteries of ocean depths and atmospheric heights, pushed back frontiers of knowledge in all quarters of the globe during 1949.

U. S. anthropologists studied native life from the mist-shrouded Aleutians to jungle-clad South Pacific isles, reports the National Geographic Society. As part of one program called Sim - scientific investigations in Micronesia - a versatile team of scientists did research ranging from languages to poison fish in former Japanese-mandated islands.

University of California pick-and-shovel scientists unearthed a treasure trove of fossils of Colombia's isolated Magdalena Valley. Described as one of the century's most important paleontological finds, it fills a wide gap in the story of South America's prehistoric animal life.

South Africa shed more light on the history of man's development. John T. Robinson, assistant to Dr. Robert Broom of the Transvaal - who last year found remains of the giant Swartkrans man - discovered the jawbone of another so-called "missing link," a borderline ape-man or man-ape. Johannesburg's Prof. Raymond A. Dart announced discovery of a pre-human, manlike race of pygmies who lived more than a million years ago, walked erect, used fire, and hunted with clubs.

Such widely separated places as Alaska, southern India, and Switzerland yielded important Stone Age relics. Czechs reported uncovering the skeleton of a mammoth-hunter of 30,000-50,000 B. C., and Japanese found traces of a shadowy "Dawn Man" who inhabited their islands 5,000 years ago.

Archaeologists dug deep to uncover the ruins of lost civilizations. In southern Iraq excavations continued at Nippur and Eridu, ancient Sumerian city-states. Eridu disclosed traces of a well built temple that excavators believe may belong to the period of 5,000 B. C.

In southern Turkey Prof. Helmut Bossert, head of the University of Istanbul's research institute, discovered a bilingual tablet with inscriptions in old Phoenician and Hittite. It may provide the key to ancient Hittite writings as the famous Rosetta Stone did for Egyptian hieroglyphics. It may even, Bossert declared, help decipher other lost languages, such as Cretan.

The first U. S. archeological team to Afghanistan, from New York's Museum of Natural History, stumbled on what is believed to be the lost city of Peshawarum, an Afghan legend for centuries. Once garrisoned by troops of Alexander the Great, it reached its peak importance during the Crusades and became a ghost city when its water supply apparently failed.

In his tenth archeological expedition to Middle America for the National Geographic Society and Smithsonian Institution, Dr. Matthew W. Stirling explored Panama's Chiriqui highlands by helicopter, truck, and dugout canoe. A wealth of artifacts revealed a prosperous pre-Columbian culture which was destroyed by earthquake and volcanic upheaval.

Six nations - Great Britain, France, Norway, Australia, Chile, and Argentina - moved to establish permanent bases on the fringe of vast, ice-draped Antarctica. Britain began operations to rescue eleven men of the Falkland Islands Dependencies Survey marooned by pack ice for two years at its southernmost base in Graham Land. The Survey, continuous since 1943, is chiefly meteorological.

Norway, Britain, and Sweden launched a three-nation, two-year expedition to Queen Maud Land on the Antarctic continent opposite Africa's Cape of Good Hope. The scientists will explore ice-free areas reported in the interior, prospect for minerals, and make long-term climatic observations.

Glacialists, studying the behavior of vast ice sheets, sought proof that the world's climate is getting warmer. An Arctic Institute of North America expedition, summering among the continent's highest mountains near the Alaskan-Canadian border, collected valuable data on the mighty Seward and Malaspina glaciers. Stanford Research Institute scientists probed Taku glacier, near Juneau. Dr. Robert L. Nichols, Tufts College geologist, led a group high into the southern Andes. His object: to determine whether southern hemisphere glaciers, like the north's, are receding.

Comdr. Donald B. Macmillan, on his 28th and stormiest Arctic trip, charted unknown fiords on the coasts of Labrador and Baffin Island. Canadian exploration of unvisited islands in Foxe Basin north of Hudson Bay produced some new names on the map. One island was named for Britain's infant Prince Charles.

With a special nine-lens aerial camera U. S. Coast Guard and Coast and Geodetic Survey teams continued mapping strategic Alaska. The Air Force announced that it has mapped nearly half of the rugged Territory, much of it previously unexplored or uncharted. The Royal Canadian Air Force mapped vast areas of remote Yukon and Northwest Territories.

Six "floating laboratories" from the Woods Hole (Mass.) Oceanographic Institution charted North Atlantic tides and currents and tackled a variety of marine problems. The University of Hawaii announced an expedition to explore "untouched natural resources" under the Pacific. The U. S. Navy began a systematic survey of the bottom of the Atlantic. Aided by the California Academy of Sciences, it launched a similar exploration of Davy Jones's Pacific locker.

Off the southern California coast Otis Barton, Boston marine explorer, dived to a record 4,500 feet in his spherical "benthoscope," breaking by 1,472 feet the record he set with Dr. William Beebe off Bermuda in 1934.

Polio Epidemic Over BUT Not for Him!!

THE MARCH OF DIMES GAME

On Saturday evening, January 14, 1950, the Winchester High School basketball team plays Arlington High at the local high school gym. It is the "March of Dimes Game", played for the benefit of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. More specifically, it is a game played for the benefit of the men, women, and children who are vitally in need of help by the National Foundation.

Through the eager cooperation of the high school officials and the Winchester polio campaign committee, it has been arranged to turn over the entire proceeds from the game to fight infantile paralysis. This is a fitting kick-off for opening the annual March of Dimes drive which begins January 16th and runs through the rest of the month.

Tickets for the game will be available shortly. The admission price will be 5 dimes for students, and 10 dimes for adults—all dimes will go to help battle one of our greatest enemies—POLIO. Remember the March of Dimes Game, Winchester vs. Arlington.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT ASSOCIATION NEWS

A holiday program of unusual interest is being sponsored by a large number of local organizations for the 2,000 foreign students in the Boston area, said Lawrence M. Mead, Director of the International Student Association in Cambridge. The American Friends Service, schools and colleges, English Speaking Union, Pan-American Society, National Student Association, International Student Association, United Council of Church Women and the United Council on World Affairs are cooperating with many industries and businesses in the greater Boston area who are acting as hosts to this group of young people.

Some of the factories offering inducements are: Ford Motor Company, Hoods Dairy, Gillette Razor Company. The John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company and the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company will guide groups through their new buildings. The Stop and Shop and the Quincy Market in the Faneuil Hall area have arranged for those interested in marketing to visit these two types of food markets. There will be behind the scene visits to hotels and eating places to see kitchens and food preparation. Time and Life magazines have arranged for a motion picture-preview and tea at the Statler Hotel, and the Boston Garden will be host to a large group on the day after Christmas. Museums have offered guided tours and special concerts, and the Appalachian Mountain Club has arranged for two groups of skiers at their lodges at Pinkham Notch and Cardigan if there is snow!

On Christmas Eve, the sponsoring groups held an open house for all foreign students in the Boston area from seven to ten o'clock at the Charles Street Meeting House in Boston. There were music, carol singing, refreshments, with home-made cookies provided by the International Friendship League, and a short program by Mrs. Arthur Shurcliff and her famous bell ringers, and other events during the evening for those students going or coming from festivities on Beacon Hill or on their way to midnight services in churches.

The International Student Center at 5 Phillips Place in Cambridge held open house on Christmas and will New Year's day, with music and refreshments from four to ten o'clock.

Mrs. Catherine T. Johnson, in charge of hospitality at the International Student Association reports that many Winchester people are sharing their holidays with students from abroad. Among those are: Mesdames Frank Gundy, Henry Harris, J. J. Michelson, Burton A. Miller, Townley-Tilson, and Donald Tarr, John Chipman and William L. Thompson.

One hostess who had planned to have a foreign guest wrote to the International Student Association, "We are to be away for Christmas day so we cannot invite a foreign student to come here. Will you please use this check to give some one of them a little extra Christmas cheer."

While in New York attending the Manhattanville College Glee Club Christmas Carols, Miss Adeline Hintlian, of 115 Church street, and Miss Mary Becker, of Walpole, were guests at the Park Lane Hotel, New York City.

LIBRARY NEWS

Winchester will celebrate its One Hundredth Anniversary as a town in 1950. The townspeople may be interested in a little history of the Library.

A Bit of History
Ninety years ago, in March 1859, only nine years after the founding of the Town of Winchester, the people of Winchester decided that they would have a public library. In the spring of 1859 the Winchester Library Association offered their library, then consisting of 1,000 volumes, to the town as a nucleus for a public town library. The town accepted the offer of the Association March 29, 1859. Since the establishment of the Town Library, there have been 22 Town Librarians and the present incumbent.

The following is quoted from "Historical Sketch of the Winchester Public Library" written in 1889:

"Since the town's ownership of the library, it has been maintained by annual appropriations voted by the town. Since 1870, the fees paid for dog licenses to the county have been returned by law to the town, and have been appropriated to the use of the library. The whole amount received to date from this source has been $6,124.68, which certainly disproves the ancient theory that dogs were only 'made to bark and bite'."

Approximately 300 people attended the Christmas programs at the Library this year. "Scrooge" was given in movies Friday afternoon and Friday evening of last week.

Saturday morning there was a special program for boys and girls of elementary school age. Judging from the laughter of the youngsters, they enjoyed the special program of movies which included a very human little story of Santa Claus' visit in a typical American family. There were several cartoons and two winter sport pictures. Santa Claus himself called in at the Library during the Saturday morning program to see the boys and girls.

There will be no Library movies this week but the programs will resume next week with Family Night at the Library Friday night, January 6th, at 7:30 p. m. and Saturday morning, January 7th, at 10:15 a. m. for the younger children. The program may be obtained by calling the Library, Winchester 6-1106, beginning Monday of next week.

It is very much hoped that the townspeople will make sincere resolutions to return their Library books promptly during 1950. If they do this, they will be assisting the Librarians to serve better the community.

Happy New Year To All

Chief Charles J. Harrold of the Police Department and former Chief William H. Rogers attended the farewell party at Chickland Wednesday evening for retiring Chief Tom Crosswell of North Reading. Police chiefs of this district sponsored the affair.

CATS IN CONVENTION

Big cats, little cats, black cats and white cats; cats of all colors; cats with pedigrees and some without—all will congregate at Horticultural Hall in Boston on January 6 and 7, to compete for cash awards, ribbons and other honors. Owners are even now busily grooming the little ladies and gentlemen to the last whisker for this great show. Aristocrats will look down their little noses at the domestic pet and everybody will have fun.

Every Dog has his day—the Cats also have theirs. Utterly oblivious to diplomatic, international or domestic relations, foreign policies or the national debt, the aristocrats of all breeds will be on parade. Two little immigrants, actually flown from Spain recently, will be "among those present" displaying their passports and other documentary evidence of their legal entry into this country. And as is usual, there will be other extremely interesting features at this show. So cancel all engagements and plan to bring the family to this show Friday and Saturday, January 6 and 7 at Horticultural Hall in Boston, 10:00 a. m. to 10:00 p. m.

Mrs. Ralph T. Mabie of Sharon, Mass., will judge the all-breed classes, and Mrs. John Revington of Bristol, Tennessee, will judge the solid color classes.

JANUARY ART ASSOCIATION MEETING

On January 3rd at eight o'clock in the evening, the Art Association will gather for its regular monthly meeting at the Winchester Public Library.

Inasmuch as during the month of January there will be an exhibition of original paintings and drawings loaned by Rust Craft Publishers of Boston, the meeting will be centered around a talk about the history and how greeting cards are made, by Mr. John Beuret of the Rust Craft organization. Mr. Beuret plans to trace the greeting card from its first inception up to the present time, and judging from the great interest shown at other talks of this kind, it will be a very enlightening discussion.

In addition to the talk itself, there will be shown two reels of Kodachrome movies showing the making of greeting cards from start to finish. Many have said that no one has any conception of the amount of planning, work and study that goes into the making of cards for every occasion. The film graphically shows most of the intricacies of the various steps.

Mr. Beuret will be introduced by Ernest Dudley Chase, one of the pioneers of the greeting card industry as we know it today, and he will also operate the moving picture projector.

The exhibit itself covers a very wide variety of subjects in almost every medium and will include a panel showing antique Christmas cards from about the 1870 period, and another panel is filled with Valentines from about 1830 through 1880. In addition there is a layout showing a specimen greeting card with its verse, design, drawings and finished product.

Cpl. Joseph J. Giacalone of 51 Oak street was a long way from home this Christmas, being stationed in Osaka, Japan, with the Eighth United States Army. "Joe" used to play the bass viol in the high school orchestra and the sousaphone in the school band before entering the service. He is now working in the 25th Divarty dispensary at the Army's Mori maneuver area.

CITY WATER PROBLEMS VARY WITH ENVIRONMENT FACTORS

Droughts in New York State in 1949 and in California in 1947-48 have imposed severe tests on two marvels of American engineering -- the fresh-water supply systems of New York City and Los Angeles. The dry spells illustrate how local factors determine each city's method of water supply.

Each of these cities borders a salty ocean. Moreover, the mighty Hudson flows past New York. But with "water, water everywhere," Father Knickerbocker's metropolis and Los Angeles must reach far inland to fresh mountain streams for drops to drink, notes the National Geographic Society.

Supplied From Catskills, Sierras Wells served Manhattan Island colonists from New Amsterdam days until 1776, when a reservoir was built, and hollow-log water pipes were laid for a New York of 22,000 souls. Derision greeted state governor DeWitt Clinton in the 1820's when he proposed going 40 miles north to the Croton River for an "inexhaustible" water supply. Croton water, a reality since 1842, now supplies about one-fourth of New York's daily demand.

Most of the rest of the city's normal draft of 1,200,000,000 gallons a day comes by giant aqueduct nearly 100 miles from the Schoharie and Esopus watersheds in the lower Catskills. By 1956, reservoirs now under construction will impound upper Delaware River water, adding vast new reserves to New York's mountain-water storage system.

Los Angeles, out of reach of Aleutian storms that drench America's west coast farther north, in early years quenched its thirst from its Los Angeles River. The rapid rate of growth by 1907, however, dictated construction of a 238-mile aqueduct to bring in Owens River water, product of melting snows on the high Sierra Nevada.

Today's greater Los Angeles population, ten times the 300,000 of 40 years ago, is still largely supplied by the Owens River. Its vast new reservoir is the Parker Dam, 155 miles downstream from the Hoover Dam on the Colorado River. About one-sixth of the current daily draft of Los Angeles and twelve neighboring cities comes 392 miles from the Parker Dam via the Metropolitan Aqueduct, a gigantic construction achievement.

Great Lakes Good Supply San Francisco draws through a tunnel under the Coast Range from Hetchy Hetchy River waters 170 miles away. Boston created the largest lake in Massachusetts on a branch of the Connecticut River, and built a huge tunnel to bring its water through the hills. Seattle has abundant soft water from a mountain stream fed by the snows of the Cascades. Albany draws a plentiful supply from its big reservoir filled by Adirondack streams.

Great Lakes cities like Chicago and Duluth have a comparatively simple problem. Their supply pipes reach two to eight miles offshore to bring lake water from beyond the range of city-caused pollution.

Many riverside cities, large and small, draw their supply from near-by upstream. The flow of Washington's Potomac is enough for six New Yorks, and the Capital's only bottleneck is filtration-plant capacity. Philadelphia's problem is making its large Schuylkill and Delaware river supply fit for human use. London drinks from the rivers Thames and Lea, and from numerous artesian wells driven into its underlying chalk.

At parched Bahrain in the Persian Gulf, water sellers collect drinking water at the bottom of the salt sea. They dive in with collapsed goatskins and take fresh water from fountains in the floor of the Gulf.

At arid Baku on the salty Caspian, sea water can be distilled at low cost because of plentiful oil heat. In most dry places, however, sea distillation cost is prohibitive, but the commercial harnessing of atomic energy may remove this drawback in the distant future.

Pure, fresh water is a rarity in many parts of the world. The great consumption of wine in southern Europe, of beer in northern Europe, and of tea in the Orient is in part a health matter -- avoidance of germ-laden water.

TVA-TYPE ENGINEERING PROJECTS GIRDLE GLOBE AT CLOSE OF 1949

The world-wide spread of the TVA idea of large-scale water use, control, and conservation is cited as an outstanding phenomenon in engineering and construction achievements of 1949, summarized in a year-end bulletin of the National Geographic Society.

Afghanistan, Australia, Brazil, Ceylon, India, Mexico, Norway, Portugal, Yugoslavia, and others started or extended multiple dam projects in this year when Tennessee's Watauga Dam turned its first power into the TVA system and the Dale Hollow Dam also was completed in the state to add to the vast expanse of the new "Great Lakes of the South."

Australia's big Darling River Control Project, just begun, will conserve water to make an arid, Texas-size area bloom in the continent's southeast. Brazil must build roads and bridges as well as dams in taming the wild valley of the Rio Sao Francisco, which flows northeastward 1,964 miles from a source in the mountains near Rio de Janeiro.

Afghanistan's "KVA" completed its first dams in a six-year plan to harness the Kabul River and its tributaries. The Ganapuri Dam in Bombay Province, the Lower Bhavani Dam in Madras, and the Chumbal Dam in the Madhya Bharat Union typified the trend in India, where water-use construction is among the most extensive undertaken in any of the world's sovereignties.

U. S. dam building, meanwhile, continued at high level. The Colorado River's Davis Dam began backing impounded water 67 miles upstream to the base of the Hoover Dam. Work on the Fall River Dam in Kansas was finished and Bull Shoals in Arkansas moved far along. Grand Coulee's tenth power generator whirled into action, thereby making it the greatest single electric power producer in the world.

Bridge Builders Busy In another construction field, finding homes for 3,500 displaced people was one difficult phase of building the two-level, three-lane Mystic River Bridge, more than two miles long, connecting Chelsea with Boston. Chicago put in service its Bataan-Corregidor Memorial span over the Chicago River at State Street, the fifth bridge to be built at that same site since 1861. It is a massive double-leaf bascule like its neighbor at Wabash avenue.

A 4,000-foot, 34-pier bridge now carries motor traffic 135 feet skyward in crossing the Chesapeake Delaware Canal at Chesapeake City, Delaware. It is important not only in plans to prepare the canal for larger ships, but as a link in the proposed north New Jersey-Virginia super turnpike, which is to by-pass Philadelphia, Wilmington, Baltimore, and Washington.

Overseas in Germany bridges at Mainz and Bonn approach completion in the half-finished program for restoring the 18 Rhine River bridges destroyed in World War II. A war emergency bridge used for the Thames at London's Victoria Embankment emigrated to Bulawayo, Northern Rhodesia, to span the Kafue River there. The Hawksworth Bridge in British Honduras completes a vital 94-mile route from northern Guatemala to the Caribbean Sea.

Highways Shortened by Tunnels The year's highway developments were notable. New York's lower East Side has a new Roosevelt elevated roadway. A completed route from the Lincoln Tunnel to Clifton, N. J., cuts 20 minutes from motoring time to northern New Jersey towns. The final link in a Chester-to-Philadelphia industrial highway was opened. The Whitehurst Freeway along the Potomac is Washington's first elevated motor road. California opened needed freeways at Santa Rosa and Santa Ana.

A 1,200-foot, twin-bore tunnel now completes the Wilbur Cross Parkway's by-pass of New Haven. Tedious drilling on the longest vehicular tunnel in the world, eight miles under Mt. Blanc on the Franco-Italian border, slowed progress on the project that will shorten the Rome-to-Paris highway distance by 107 miles.

Warsaw calls its new East-West Drive -- four miles of wide, direct city boulevard including a bridge, tunnel, viaducts, bordering parkways, and buildings -- the largest construction job in any European city since the war. Mexico's Christopher Columbus Route from El Paso, Texas, to Guatemala has stimulated hotel and motel building at a dozen towns, and contributed to the year's great expansion of the west-coast resort, Acapulco.

Railroads, Subways, Airports Oil royalties finance a 400-mile railroad being built by American engineers from the Persian Gulf oil port of Damman west across the Saudi Arabian desert to Riyadh, the inland capital. Israel inaugurated service on its Haifa-Tel Aviv line. Italy and Sicily restore some war-shattered trackage. Austria worked on new cable roads in three scenic mountain areas. The year saw subway systems expanded in Stockholm and Buenos Aires.

ENIWETOK, ATOMIC PROVING GROUND, IS MUCH BLUDGEONED PACIFIC ATOLL

When the history of the 1941-1950 decade is written, Eniwetok Atoll will take top rank among the most bludgeoned of Pacific land spots: Typhoons, World War II bombs, and atomic weapon tests will have pooled their awesome power to put it there.

Eniwetok, soon again to feel atom blasts in its role as proving ground for the Atomic Energy Commission, has already been battered by all three of these forces in the now waning decade, notes the National Geographic Society.

This northwest outpost of the scattered Marshall Islands, 2,725 miles southwest of Honolulu and about the same distance southeast of Tokyo, was home to 138 island natives two years ago when its destiny in the atomic program was announced. The inhabitants were moved to Ujelang, 150 miles southwest of Eniwetok, a few weeks before the first secret atomic tests at Eniwetok in the spring of 1948.

They left with little regret, since the main islets containing Japanese installations had been razed to their coral bases and denuded of trees by heavy bombardment in mid-February, 1944. That attack culminated in a quick conquest of Eniwetok by U. S. amphibious forces.

As to Pacific windstorms, Eniwetok takes its share of the typhoons that tend to form within the Marshalls almost annually in late August. They regularly wreak some changes in the sand-strip islets of the atolls, and occasionally blow so hard as to erase an islet or pile up a new one on a coral base in a few hours' time.

Eniwetok shows some 30 small sand strips along the 70-mile that forms the low atoll. Eniwetok islet, at the atoll's southeast end, outdoes the others in all dimensions, being 2 1/2 miles long, about 700 yards at its widest, with an extreme altitude of 16 feet -- subject to change.

Parry, Japtan, Ruunitto, and Engebi are names of smaller Eniwetok sand strips, all along the east side, built by the easterly winds that prevail from October to June. The big blue-green lagoon, 23 miles across and nearly 400 square miles in area, has ample depth and size to accommodate a large fleet at anchor. There is an excellent deep entrance between Parry and Japtan.

Bikini, where the first postwar atomic bomb tests were conducted, is Eniwetok's neighbor 190 miles to the east. Both lie not quite 12 degrees north of the Equator. Their now-displaced natives, like all Marshall Islanders, were good fishermen and navigators, and lived by fishing, raising pigs and chickens, and picking coconuts. The soil-less sand gave them little chance at vegetable cultivation.

Kwajalein, Jaluit, Marjuro, and Wotje are other names of Marshall atolls made familiar by Pacific warfare. The group's 32 or more larger atolls and nearly 900 reefs are divided fairly evenly between the Radak, or Sunrise, Chain on the east, and the Ralik, or Sunset, Chain on the west. Their total prewar population was about 10,000. The total land area is about 70 square miles.

The Marshalls, probably visited by Saavedra in 1529, take their name from the British captain who, with Gilbert, explored the southern atolls in 1788. Japan, as Great Britain's ally, ended a three-decade

German tenure at the start of World War I, and was assigned to administer the group for the League of Nations in 1920. They are now wards of the United States under United Nations trusteeship.

clock strikes midnight the grapes are held high overhead and eaten for luck -- one for each month in the year.

In England a glass of wine and slice of bun loaf are rewards for visitors who "first-foot" (arrive first) at a home following the birth of a new year. A "first-foot," sometimes called lucky bird, brings with him the traditional symbols of warmth and prosperity -- coal, bread and salt -- and is welcomed because he "lets in" the New Year. Representing the old year, too, he leaves by the back door.

The Mobile carnival grew out of a spontaneous celebration in 1831 when a group of gentlemen diners at a famous Creole restaurant felt called upon to wake up the citizenry in the early morning hours of New Year's day. This quaint custom did not originate nor remain at Mobile. As the new year of 1950 is ushered in, a surprising number of Americans are likely to follow the Mobile example.

12 Grapes for Months
Unusual as are some American observances, however, a great body of New Year festivities here are inherited from Europe. In France and Scotland New Year's day became and remained the most important festival of the year; a time for exchanging gifts, cards and visits among kith and kin.

The traditionally dour Scot threw tradition to the winds and named his New Year's eve, Hogmanay, grouping it with New Year's day as the "Daft Days." Hogmanay, too, is the cry of Scottish children who flood the streets on New Year's eve and demand cakes and fruit from the neighbors.

Twelve grapes are a part of the gay Spanish New Year's eve celebration in the Puerta del Sol, Madrid's Times Square. As the
